The company reserves the right to amend or terminate any of the plans at any time. Such amendments or modifications may be retroactive, if necessary, to meet statutory requirements or for any other appropriate reason.

Benefits for employees represented by a bargaining unit will be in accordance with their collective bargaining agreement.

Important Information Regarding Eligibility

Your eligibility for benefits described in this handbook depends on your employment status.

- Full-time employees regularly scheduled to work 20 or more hours per week are eligible for all of the benefit plans described in this handbook.
- Employees regularly scheduled to work fewer than 20 hours per week and temporary employees are eligible only for business travel accident (BTA) insurance and the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP). See the Business Travel Accident Insurance and RAYSIP sections for a description of these plans.

If you have questions about your eligibility for a particular benefit plan, call the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231.

ABOUT BENEFIT CREDITS

As an SCA employee, you receive hourly benefit credits that you can use to help offset the cost of company-sponsored benefits or keep as additional income if you waive coverage.

If the cost of any benefits you elect exceeds the hourly credits provided, you pay the difference through payroll deduction.

Instructions on how to confirm and/or update beneficiary designation(s) for the life insurance, AD&D and BTA plans, as well as for RAYSIP, can be found in the appropriate section of this handbook.

Can't locate one or more of the documents that are required to add a dependent to some of your benefit plans? For a fee, Vitalchek can provide official government certificates (e.g., birth, marriage, divorce). For more information, go to www.vitalchek.com.

Wellness Programs

Investing in Your Health

From health and wellness benefits to work/life and financial programs, the company provides easy access to a variety of wellness services and programs that you and, in many cases, your family can use to get started or stay on the path to improving your health.

For example, because preventive care plays an important role in identifying disease and maintaining proper health, company-sponsored medical plans cover eligible, in-network preventive-care services (as identified by the Affordable Care Act (ACA) under the Preventive Care Services benefit) at 100% with no out-of-pocket expense.

Beyond these benefits, you have access to:

- LifeResources, an integrated work/life and employee assistance program (EAP);
- Nurse lines, disease management programs, maternity care programs and online services through your medical plan (see the chapter about your medical plan for details);
- At many locations, free, on-site biometric screenings for employees that conclude with a brief health coaching session;
- Flu shots; and
- In some locations, presentations and seminars from on-site nurses, fitness center staff members or EAP counselors.

For information about the wellness programs currently available, see the livewell homepage on oneRTN at <http://home.ray.com>.

*For a description of preventive-care services available with the Kaiser Permanente plan available in Hawaii, see the appropriate Evidence of Coverage.

CUSTOMIZE YOUR WELLNESS REWARD PROGRAM

Administered by Virgin Pulse, the company's Wellness Reward program—livewell—is designed to help you customize your wellness experience. You choose your wellness interests and focus on the areas that are important to you.

You earn points throughout the year by participating in a range of wellness activities, which can include:

- Physical activity (with or without an activity tracker),
- Nutrition,
- Sleep,
- Completing a health assessment,
- Recording the results of a biometric screening, and
- Tracking healthy habits.

The number of points you can earn varies by activity, and every 200 points you earn equals $1. The points you earn automatically turn into cash, which can be deposited into your bank account, or used to purchase Visa gift cards, store gift cards or wellness merchandise, including activity trackers.

Each year that you participate, you can earn up to $250 ($500 if your spouse who is enrolled in a company-sponsored medical plan also participates).

Note that while points accumulate throughout the year, your point balance resets to zero at the beginning of a new calendar year. Any money you leave in your account rolls over into the next calendar year.

Ready to get started? To register from a company-connected computer, go to the Life & Career page on oneRTN and click the Live Well icon. From all other computers, go to <https://engage.virginpulse.com/raytheon>. Then, under "US Employees & Premise Contractors," click on "Enroll Now" at the bottom of the page and follow the instructions to enroll. Your spouse who participates in a company-sponsored medical plan can enroll by clicking on the "Enroll Now" button under "Spouses."

Guarding Your Confidentiality

The company understands that the security of personal health information is extremely important. In the interest of privacy, no one at Raytheon Technologies will see the results of any employee's participation in any company-sponsored wellness program or any other personal health information.

Benefits

This chart provides a brief overview of the benefits described in this handbook. Please be sure to read each section for more details about each plan, including specific plan provisions.

Benefit Plan	Highlights
Medical	With an HSA Advantage plan, you take an active role in managing the cost of your care, often with considerable savings. The company offers two HSA Advantage plans administered by UnitedHealthcare (UHC): UHC HSA Advantage 1 and UHC HSA Advantage 2. An HSA Advantage plan administered by Kaiser Permanente is also available in California, Colorado and the mid-Atlantic states. Note that with the exception of emergency care, the Kaiser plans do not offer coverage if you seek care outside the Kaiser network. If you live in an area where a fully developed UHC provider network is not available, you have access to the UHC Out-of-Area plan. Note that coverage options vary in Hawaii. For more information, see Important Information for Employees in Hawaii later in this section.
Health Savings Account (HSA)	With the HSA Advantage plans, the company makes a lump-sum contribution to a health savings account (HSA) in your name in January. The amount of the company's contribution varies by plan and coverage level. (For new employees: The company's contribution to your HSA is prorated for that year. For more information, see For New Hires in the Health Savings Account section.) You also can choose to make tax-free contributions to your HSA, lowering your taxable income. Note that state income tax laws in Alabama, California, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Tennessee differ from the federal income tax treatment of HSA contributions and earnings. The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit, which varies by coverage level. Note that if you are age 55 or older, you may make an additional $1,000 catch-up contribution to your HSA each year (including the year you turn 55). You always own the money in your HSA. Any unused money carries over to the next year and may earn interest—there are no "use-it-or-lose-it" rules. And if you leave the company or retire, the money in your HSA belongs to you. Note that you are not eligible to make or receive contributions to an HSA if you are enrolled in other medical coverage that is not an HSA-qualified plan, including Medicare, TRICARE or a non-high-deductible plan or health care flexible spending account (FSA), such as may be available through your spouse's employer.
Prescription Drugs	Prescription drug coverage for the UHC plans is administered as a separate program by CVS Caremark. Kaiser Permanente provides prescription drug coverage for the plans it administers.
Vision	The company provides vision coverage through VSP® Vision Care, the nation's largest vision benefits provider. You may choose from two vision plan options—the Basic Vision Plan or, if you need expanded benefits, the Vision Plus Plan.
Dental	Regular dental care is essential to your overall health. The company's dental program offers up to four dental options. You may choose the one that best suits your needs and the needs of your family.
Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs)	The company offers flexible spending accounts, or FSAs, which can reduce your taxable income by paying for certain eligible expenses on a pre-tax basis. All eligible employees, including those who participate in an HSA Advantage plan, can enroll in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, which can only be used for eligible dental and vision expenses. You are eligible to participate in a health care FSA only if you waive medical coverage, participate in a medical plan available in Hawaii, the UHC Out-of-Area plan or the TRICARE Supplement plan, or if you are enrolled in Medicare or TRICARE and elect coverage with an HSA Advantage plan and do not fund an HSA. You can enroll in a dependent care FSA to pay for child or elder care expenses so you (and your spouse, if married) can work or attend school.

Important Information for Employees in Hawaii

Registered Civil Union Partners

According to Hawaii state law, you are eligible to enroll your registered civil union partner in your company-sponsored medical plan. As a result, the term “spouse” used in this section includes your registered civil union partner.

As is the case elsewhere in the U.S., you pay the cost of premiums with pre-tax dollars through payroll deduction. However, there are tax consequences if you purchase coverage for a:

- Registered civil union partner who does not meet the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) definition of a dependent, or
- Child of a registered civil union partner whom you have not adopted.

In this case, you pay for his/her coverage with after-tax dollars and you are taxed on the value of his/her coverage. Because you pay for this coverage on an after-tax basis, you may add or drop coverage for an eligible registered civil union partner or a child of a registered civil union partner whom you have not adopted at any time during the year. To make changes, call the RBC to request the required forms.

Medical Coverage Options

The medical coverage options available in Hawaii vary from options available elsewhere in the U.S. Specifically, employees in Hawaii may choose from two medical plans—the UnitedHealthcare (UHC) Hawaii plan or the Kaiser Permanente health maintenance organization (HMO).

UnitedHealthcare (UHC) Hawaii Plan

The UnitedHealthcare (UHC) Hawaii plan provides the flexibility of both in-network and out-of-network coverage. While not required, it is recommended that a primary care physician (PCP) coordinate your care.

With the UHC Hawaii plan, you are eligible for all of the benefits described under Wellness and Preventive-Care Benefits later in this section, including those listed under Additional Preventive Care Services.

For non-preventive care, after you meet the annual in-network deductible of $300 per person ($900 per family), most in-network care is covered at 90%. Preventive well-child visits are covered at 100% with no deductible (up to age 18), as are preventive screenings such as colonoscopy, mammogram, pap smear, prostate specific antigen test screening, sigmoidoscopy and standard immunizations.

Prescription drug coverage, provided by CVS Caremark, offers you the flexibility of retail coverage, and significant savings when you use Maintenance Choice. For more information, see the CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Program section.

For more information about the UHC Hawaii plan—including how the plan covers preventive care—refer to the plan’s separate summary plan description (SPD). Details are also available on Desktop Benefits by choosing Compare My Medical Plan Choices and then choosing the medical comparison chart for the UHC Hawaii plan.

Kaiser Permanente Health Maintenance Organization (HMO)

With the Kaiser Permanente HMO available in Hawaii, you are required to elect a PCP. You receive care from your PCP or a doctor to whom your PCP refers you. If you do not select a PCP when you first enroll, one will be selected for you. You can change your PCP at any time.

It’s important to note that with the exception of emergency care, this plan does not offer coverage if you visit an out-of-network provider. If you enroll in this plan and choose to receive care from a non-participating provider, those services will not be covered and you will be responsible for the entire cost.

With the Kaiser Permanente HMO, your eligibility for the benefits described under Wellness and Preventive-Care Benefits later in this section may vary. Refer to the plan’s Evidence of Coverage for more information.

Note that references throughout this handbook to the following do not apply to employees who live in Hawaii: HSA Advantage plan, DecisionAssist and health savings accounts (HSAs). In addition, if you live in Hawaii, you are eligible to participate in a health care flexible spending account (FSA) or a limited purpose dental and vision FSA.

The UHC Hawaii plan uses the MDX network, which provides broad comprehensive coverage throughout Hawaii. To check if your provider is in the MDX network, go to www.myuhc.com.

Preventive care is generally covered at 100% with no copayment. General office visits are covered at 100% after you pay a copayment.

To be eligible for coverage, all services and supplies must be medically necessary, as defined by the plan.

For more information on the Kaiser Permanente HMO, refer to the plan's Evidence of Coverage. Details are also available on Desktop Benefits by choosing Compare my medical plan choices and then choosing the medical comparison chart for the Kaiser Permanente Hawaii HMO.

Note for New Hires

As is the case elsewhere in the U.S., you must enroll in medical coverage within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet, or your date of hire, whichever is later. Your coverage becomes effective on your first day of work.

If you live in Hawaii and do not enroll within this 31-day period, you will not be able to enroll in medical coverage until the next annual benefits open enrollment period. The only exception is if you meet the guidelines outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

This coverage remains in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You may change your plan and/or coverage level during the next benefits open enrollment period, held each fall. You are permitted to make certain changes sooner if you meet the guidelines outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Please Note: In accordance with the Hawaii Prepaid Health Care Act, if you wish to waive company-sponsored medical coverage, you must submit a completed HC-5 form to the RBC every year. If you do not submit an HC-5 form, the Hawaii Prepaid Health Care Act requires that you be enrolled in and pay for coverage with the UHC Hawaii plan for yourself only. Once the RBC receives notification of your intent to waive coverage, an HC-5 form will be sent to you.

Enrolling in a Medical Plan

Coverage Levels

When you enroll in a company-sponsored medical plan, you may choose from four coverage levels:

- Employee only;
- Employee and spouse;
- Employee and child(ren); or
- Employee and family (spouse and children).

This allows you to choose the coverage level that best meets your specific family situation while ensuring that you pay for only the coverage you actually need.

Eligible Dependents

You may enroll your eligible dependents for medical coverage. Eligible dependents include your:

- Spouse. A spouse includes a common-law spouse if your common-law marriage was established in a state that legally recognizes common-law marriage; all requirements of that state have been met; and the common-law marriage has not ended.
Note that a spouse from whom you are divorced or legally separated is not eligible for coverage. Note also that with the exception of the Kaiser Permanente plans in Colorado, a party to a civil union is not a spouse. In addition, the Kaiser Permanente plans available in California, Colorado and the mid-Atlantic states provide coverage for registered same-sex domestic partners;
- Children before their 26th birthday, including natural children, legally adopted children (including children lawfully placed for adoption), stepchildren and foster children, regardless of residency, financial dependence, student status, employment status or marital status;
- Children and other dependents up to their age of majority (usually 18) for whom you are a legal guardian. If you or your spouse is not the child's parent (or step-parent) and the child is not a foster or adopted child, you must have a court order designating you or your spouse as the child's legal guardian or as the person who has legal responsibility for the care, control and custody of the child that is equivalent to the responsibility of a legal guardian. (Please note that if the court order extends the guardianship beyond the age of majority, the child's coverage will still end no later than the child's 26th birthday.) In all cases, the child must also meet the IRS definition of a dependent of you or your spouse; and
- Unmarried children age 26 and older who are disabled as well as other dependents age 26 and older for whom you have legal guardianship who are disabled, if approved by a company-sponsored health plan to be disabled. In general, to qualify, the disabled child must have become disabled before age 26 and be incapable of self-sustaining employment because of intellectual disability, serious mental illness, physical sickness or injury.
Coverage may continue for as long as your coverage continues and as long as your child remains incapacitated and is otherwise eligible for coverage.

Note that if you are eligible to add a dependent to your company-sponsored medical plan, you will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate, birth certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received. Complete details are on Desktop Benefits.

Qualified Medical Child Support Order

All company-sponsored medical plans honor qualified medical child support orders (QMCSOs) issued under state domestic relations laws that require health benefits be provided to a child. For more information about QMCSOs, refer to the Administrative section.

You may select different coverage levels for medical, dental and vision coverage. For example, you may choose medical coverage for your entire family and vision coverage for just yourself.

If your covered dependent becomes ineligible for coverage during the year (for example, due to divorce or legal separation), you must remove your dependent from your coverage as of the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for your dependent child who reaches age 26 automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday. For more information, see Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Can't locate one or more of the documents that are required to add a dependent to your company-sponsored medical plan? For a fee, Vitalchek can provide official government certificates (e.g., birth, marriage, divorce). For more information, go to www.vitalchek.com.

Cost of Coverage

You pay for medical coverage in the following ways:

- When you seek care, such as deductibles and coinsurance; and
- With premium payments through payroll deduction.

The amount you pay in premiums is based on:

- The medical plan you enroll in;
- The health status of those enrolled in a particular plan; and
- To what extent participants use plan services.

In all cases, the amount you pay in premiums depends on the level of coverage you choose (employee only, employee and spouse, employee and child(ren) or employee and family). Premium costs are provided in your new hire materials as well as during the annual benefits open enrollment period.

Premium payments are deducted from your paycheck. You pay no federal income taxes or Social Security taxes on this amount for coverage for you, your spouse or your children. In most cases, you also pay no state income taxes.

For current costs and additional information go to Desktop Benefits or call the RBC.

If You and Your Spouse Are Both Employees of Raytheon Technologies and Eligible for Legacy Raytheon Benefits

If you and your spouse both work for Raytheon Technologies and are both eligible for legacy Raytheon benefits, you have three options when electing medical coverage:

1. One of you may elect employee and spouse or, if applicable, family coverage and cover the other as a dependent. In this case, the “other” spouse would waive coverage,
2. You may each elect employee-only coverage, or
3. You may both elect employee and spouse or family coverage and cover the other as a dependent.

If you choose option two, the total deductibles and out-of-pocket maximums that both people combined would need to satisfy is greater than the deductible and out-of-pocket maximum that would need to be satisfied if one employee elects option one and the other waives coverage. For example, with option one, the deductibles and out-of-pocket maximums can be satisfied with claims by only one person or in any combination of two or more persons’ claims.

If you choose option three, note that benefits are payable only up to what is available with employee-only coverage; there are no additional benefits.

Before deciding which option is best for you and your spouse, be sure to consider the premiums, out-of-pocket costs and the company’s HSA contribution associated with each option and coverage level. For assistance, use DecisionAssist (described later in this section).

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

You may enroll in a company-sponsored medical plan within the 31-day period following the date listed on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later. Since Kaiser Permanente plans require referrals for some services, if you enroll in a Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan, you are advised to choose a primary care physician (PCP) for yourself and each family member that you cover when you first enroll. You can elect your PCP online or by calling Kaiser Permanente.

If you do not enroll within this 31-day period, you will not be able to enroll in medical coverage until the next annual benefits open enrollment period. The only exception is if you meet the guidelines outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

This medical coverage option remains in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. (If you enroll in an HSA Advantage plan and do not open your HSA when you are first eligible, you may open your account at any time. See the Health Savings Account section for details.) You may change your plan and/or coverage level during the next benefits open enrollment period, held each fall. You are permitted to make certain changes sooner if you meet the guidelines outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Note that there are no pre-existing condition limitations under any company-sponsored medical plan.

Raytheon Benefit Center

Desktop Benefits
<https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>

Your medical coverage is effective retroactively to your first day of employment, provided you enroll within the 31-day period. Coverage for your dependents generally begins at the same time as your coverage, or as soon as the dependent becomes eligible and his/her verification documents are confirmed (see Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information).

Changing Your Coverage

After you make your initial enrollment elections as a new employee, you are permitted to make changes to your medical coverage as outlined here. In all cases, if you are adding eligible dependents, all necessary verification documents must be confirmed before a dependent's coverage becomes effective. See Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

Each year, the company conducts a benefits open enrollment during which you may make changes to your medical coverage (i.e., add eligible dependents, remove dependents, add or drop coverage, or change plans, if applicable). Any changes you make become effective the following January 1.

In addition, each year during the benefits open enrollment period, you must actively elect how much you want to contribute to your HSA during the following calendar year—your current contribution election does not carry forward.

At Other Times of the Year

Outside of the annual benefits open enrollment period, you are permitted to make changes to your medical coverage (add or remove a dependent, or add or drop coverage) only in the event of the following:

- If you have a qualified change in status, as follows:
 - Marriage.
 - Divorce or legal separation.
 - Gain or loss of an eligible dependent, such as a child reaching age 26.
 - Change in your, your spouse's or your dependent's employment status, for example:
 - Gain or involuntary loss of medical coverage,
 - Change from full time to part time or vice versa,
 - Transfer between different contracts or positions, providing there is a change in the plans that are available to you or a significant change in the cost of coverage (for example, to or from a Service Contract Act or RayTech position), or
 - Begin or end an unpaid leave of absence.
- If your home address changes to outside your current medical plan's service area.

Note that in the situations above, the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. For details, see the following inset Making Changes to Your Coverage Outside the Annual Open Enrollment Period.

- If your spouse's employer holds open enrollment at a time other than the company's and, as a result of its benefit offerings, you would like to make a change.
- If you, your spouse or your dependent becomes enrolled in Medicare or Medicaid, or if you, your spouse or your dependent becomes ineligible for Medicare or Medicaid.
- If you, your spouse or your dependent becomes eligible for a special enrollment opportunity under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA); for a description of your HIPAA rights, see the inset box later in this section.

If any of these situations apply to you, you can make your change on Desktop Benefits or by calling the RBC.

Be sure you understand the enrollment procedures and enroll for the coverage you want when you're first eligible. Once your coverage begins, it will be in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You are not permitted to change your elected coverage during the year unless you meet certain criteria described under Changing Your Coverage.

In general, you are not permitted to change your medical plan until the next annual benefits open enrollment period, unless you move out of the service area covered by your plan. If you move out of the service area for your plan, you are permitted to elect coverage with another company-sponsored medical plan. To enroll in a new plan, you must call the RBC.

In the event of the birth or adoption of a child, you must enroll your child within 31 days of the birth date or, for adoptions, the custody date. You can enroll your child either online through Desktop Benefits or by calling the RBC. Note that if you do not add your newborn or newly adopted child, he/she will not be covered—even if you currently have family coverage.

MAKING CHANGES TO YOUR COVERAGE OUTSIDE THE ANNUAL OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIOD

*Remember: If you are eligible to make a change to your medical coverage due to a qualified change in status (as listed earlier in this section) or because your home address changes to outside your current medical plan’s service area, the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. This means you cannot add or remove other still-eligible dependents from your coverage or, with the exception of a change in your home address that is outside your medical plan’s service area, choose a different plan.

Event	What Happens/Action Required
You gain an eligible dependent by marriage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You have six months from the date of your marriage to add your spouse to your coverage. You must provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent’s coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed.
You divorce, legally separate or your common law marriage to your spouse terminates	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must remove your dependent from your coverage on or before the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for that dependent ends as of 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before the event that makes him/her ineligible for coverage. If you don’t remove your previously eligible dependent from your coverage as of the date of the event, you must reimburse the company for any claims incurred after that date.
You gain an eligible dependent by birth or adoption	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must enroll your child within 31 days of his/her birth/adoption, even if you already have family coverage. You will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (birth certificate or proof of custody). Your dependent’s coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed. Once the verification documents are confirmed, coverage is effective as of the birth or custody date. If you make your change before the date of the qualified change, coverage becomes effective as of the date of the qualified change.
Your child ages out of the plan	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If your child reaches age 26, his/her coverage automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday.
You take or return from a personal leave	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Your active coverage ends and you will be offered COBRA continuation coverage. If you elect COBRA coverage, any amounts you have accrued toward the current calendar-year’s deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s) while you were an active employee will transfer and be applied to your COBRA coverage. If you return to work within the same calendar year, the cumulative totals will then transfer back to your active plan. To ensure an accurate accounting, contact your plan carrier. When you return to work, you will have two options: Enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave (both the same plan and covering the same dependent(s)) or drop coverage completely. If you did not elect COBRA coverage while on leave and you enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave, your plan’s deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s) start over when you return to work. For more information, see Continued Coverage under COBRA in the Administrative section.
Your home address changes and is outside your plan’s service area	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You can change to a plan that is available in your new zip code.

COVID-19 Update

During the national emergency related to COVID-19, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act passed by Congress in 2020 allows for the extension of certain deadlines.

If you need to enroll yourself or an eligible dependent in your benefits because you or he/she has lost other coverage or he/she is newly eligible to be added to your coverage, you now have until 90 days after the national emergency (or “outbreak period”) ends to enroll in coverage, retroactive to the event effective date. You will still be required to pay premiums, retroactively, for the entire time you and any family members are covered.

This section provides an overview of events that are considered qualified changes in status. For questions related to your specific situation, call the RBC.

HIPAA PRIVACY AND SPECIAL ENROLLMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) is designed to help keep personal health information private as well as to make it easier for you and your family members to have continued group health plan coverage when you or a family member loses coverage through an employer. Here is a summary of the act's provisions.

Protected Health Information. The health benefit plans' HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices for Protected Health Information explains what "protected health information" is; how the plans may use and disclose this information; and how you can exercise your rights concerning this information. HIPAA requires that the plans remind you that this notice is available on Desktop Benefits (click on the link to Notice of Privacy Practices under My Resources in the Other Benefits section) or by calling the RBC.

Special Enrollment Opportunities. If you decline coverage for yourself or your eligible family members because of other health insurance coverage, you may be able to enroll yourself or your dependents in a company-sponsored health plan or change your health plan election in the future, provided that you request enrollment within 31 days of when your other coverage ends.

This special enrollment right is available only if one of the following conditions is met:

- You or a family member becomes ineligible for coverage under another employer's health plan or other health insurance;
- An employer's contributions for the other coverage stop; or
- In the case of COBRA coverage, because the maximum COBRA period has expired.

In addition, if you or a dependent gains or loses eligibility for Medicaid, Medicare or a state children's health plan, or if you or a dependent becomes eligible or ineligible for state assistance for coverage under the plan, you may be able to enroll or end coverage for yourself or your dependents, provided you request enrollment within 31 days of the date eligibility was gained or lost or within 60 days in the case of a Medicaid or state assistance event.

You also have a special enrollment opportunity if:

- You marry; or
- You or your spouse acquires a dependent through your marriage or the birth, adoption or placement for adoption of the dependent.

In all cases, if you are adding eligible dependents, all necessary verification documents must be confirmed before a dependent's coverage becomes effective. See Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information.

If Your Coverage Ends. If your coverage under a company-sponsored health plan ends, you may request a written certificate of coverage from the RBC.

About the Medical Plans

The two primary medical plans the company offers are administered by UnitedHealthcare (UHC): UHC HSA Advantage 1 and UHC HSA Advantage 2. The UHC HSA Advantage plans are available in most parts of the country.

If you live in California, Colorado or the mid-Atlantic states, you also have access to an HSA Advantage plan administered by Kaiser Permanente. If you live in an area where a fully developed provider network is not available, you have access to the UHC Out-of-Area plan.

A brief description of the UHC HSA Advantage plans follows. For a detailed description of your medical plan, see the appropriate section. If you participate in an HSA Advantage plan, see also the Health Savings Account section.

UHC HSA Advantage Plans

With the UHC HSA Advantage plans, you take an active role in managing the cost of your care, with tax advantages and often considerable savings.

About Health Savings Accounts (HSAs)

With a UHC HSA Advantage plan, you are eligible to elect an HSA. Here is a brief summary of how HSAs work:

- The company makes a lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January. The amount of the company's contribution varies by plan and coverage level. (For new employees: the company's contribution to your HSA is prorated for that year. For more information, see For New Hires in the Health Savings Account section.)
- You also can choose to make tax-free contributions to your HSA, lowering your taxable income. Note that state income tax laws in Alabama, California, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Tennessee differ from the federal income tax treatment of HSA contributions and earnings.
- The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit, which varies by coverage level. Note that if you are age 55 or older, you may make an additional $1,000 catch-up contribution to your HSA each year (including the year you turn 55).
- You always own the money in your HSA. Any unused money carries over to the next year and may earn interest—there are no “use-it-or-lose-it” rules. And if you leave the company or retire, the money in your HSA belongs to you.
- Depending on your circumstances, you can use your HSA to pay for a variety of eligible health care expenses—including those that help you meet the medical plan's deductible (meaning you have “first-dollar coverage”)—or save it for the future.
- Your HSA debit card makes it easy to access the funds in your HSA. Use this card to pay for eligible expenses wherever the provider accepts Visa.®
- Fidelity Investments® administers the HSAs. Any questions regarding your HSA should be directed to Fidelity at www.netbenefits.com/raytheon or by calling 800-544-3716.
- Note that you are not eligible to make or receive contributions to an HSA if you are enrolled in other medical coverage that is not an HSA-qualified plan, including Medicare, TRICARE or a non-high-deductible plan or health care flexible spending account (FSA), such as may be available through your spouse's employer.

For more information about HSAs, including a description of situations where you may not be eligible to fund an HSA, see the Health Savings Account section.

Each medical plan (except those available in Hawaii) is described in a separate section of this handbook. Refer to each section and its associated chart of benefits for detailed information about the costs (including deductibles, coinsurance and out-of-pocket maximums) associated with common services. The UnitedHealthcare Plans section also includes a list of limitations and exclusions. For details about your HSA, see the Health Savings Account section. A brief description of the plans available in Hawaii can be found earlier in this section.

To help you and other eligible family members manage your health care benefits, the company offers Health Advocate.SM Available to you at no cost, Health Advocate can help you manage any claims and billing issues, help resolve medical- and/or prescription drug-related issues and schedule hard-to-get appointments with specialists.

For more information about Health Advocate, see the description earlier in this section, or call 866-695-8622.

About Medical Coverage

Here is a summary of how medical coverage with a UHC HSA Advantage plan works.

- The federal government regulates the design of health plans that are HSA-eligible.
 - Covered expenses are subject to a deductible, with the following exceptions:
 - Routine in-network preventive care, which is covered at 100% in-network with no deductible. In compliance with the Affordable Care Act (ACA), this coverage extends to include Women’s Health Services, certain preventive supplements and smoking-/tobacco-cessation prescriptions (for a description, see Common Medical Plan Features later in this section);
 - Drugs on the federal Treasury Guidance list, specifically:
 - Generic preventive prescription drugs to treat chronic conditions, including high cholesterol, high blood pressure and asthma, which are covered at 100%, no out-of-pocket cost;
 - Oral and insulin diabetic medications (and supplies, if purchased at the same time), which are covered at 100%, no out-of-pocket cost. Note: To avoid extra steps, your pharmacist must submit the charges for the insulin/medication first (before the supplies). If the supplies are submitted first, you will be charged for them. Should this happen, you’ll need to ask your pharmacist to reprocess the charges in the appropriate order before you pick up your medications/supplies or call Customer Care to request that the charges be reprocessed; and
 - Brand-name preventive prescription drugs—including those used to treat high blood pressure, cardiovascular diseases, osteoporosis and mental health disorders, which are subject to coinsurance.
- To review the Treasury Guidance list, go to www.caremark.com or call CVS Caremark at 866-329-4023.
- Electing a PCP is recommended, but not required.
 - The plans are network-based, meaning you choose whether to visit a network provider and receive the highest level of benefits, or visit an out-of-network provider and pay more out-of-pocket.
 - The deductible can be satisfied by one family member or a combination of family members. If you have family coverage, you must satisfy the family deductible before the deductible is considered satisfied. In other words, benefits are payable only after you satisfy the family deductible.
 - After you meet the applicable deductible, the plans pay a percentage of eligible expenses (in-network services are covered at a higher percentage than services you may receive out-of-network). You pay the remainder of charges until you reach the calendar-year in-network or out-of-network out-of-pocket maximum (both of which include the applicable deductible and coinsurance for all eligible services and supplies).
 - If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plan covers eligible expenses at 100% in-network (up to negotiated amounts out-of-network; see How Eligible Expenses Are Paid Out-of-Network in the UnitedHealthcare Plans section for more information) for the remainder of the calendar year. Note that while the family in-network calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum for UHC HSA Advantage 1 is $8,200, the most any one individual family member needs to spend to satisfy his/her share of this plan’s out-of-pocket maximum is $7,150.
 - Contact information: www.myuhc.com, 800-638-8884.

Have Health-Related Questions? Ask a Nurse!

All company-sponsored medical plans offer a “nurseline” service where you can speak directly with a nurse 24 hours a day, seven days a week. You can call your plan’s nurseline to:

- Find in-network doctors, specialists or hospitals;
- Understand treatment options;
- Ask medication questions;
- Help choose appropriate medical care; and
- Locate available resources.

For more information about your plan’s nurseline, call the Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

NOTE FOR EMPLOYEES WHO ARE ENROLLED IN MEDICARE

Federal regulations prohibit any one who is making or receiving contributions to an HSA from having "other health care coverage," including Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D. That means if you are enrolled in Medicare, you are not eligible to make or receive contributions to an HSA.

Because the HSA Advantage plans are not linked to an HSA, if you are enrolled in Medicare, you can elect an HSA Advantage plan without funding an HSA. In this case, you can elect to contribute to a health care flexible spending account (FSA), if applicable, during the benefits open enrollment period, and use this money to pay for expenses that apply to the deductible and to coinsurance once you meet the deductible. If applicable, you can instead enroll in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, which you can only use for eligible dental and vision expenses.

Note that if you are enrolled in Medicare, you can use an existing HSA to pay for eligible expenses incurred by you and your tax dependents; in this case your HSA is not considered other health care coverage.

Other Company-Sponsored Medical Plans

In addition to the UHC HSA Advantage plans, the company offers:

- An HSA Advantage plan administered by Kaiser Permanente in California, Colorado and the mid-Atlantic states. While these plans work similarly to the UHC HSA Advantage 1 plan, with the exception of emergency care, they do not provide coverage if you seek care outside the Kaiser Permanente network. They do, however, cover preventive prescription drugs at 100% (no deductible, no coinsurance). In addition, since the Kaiser Permanente plans require a referral for certain services, you are advised to elect a PCP for yourself and each family member you cover when you first enroll. You can elect your PCP online or by calling Kaiser Permanente; and
- The UHC Out-of-Area Plan, if you live in an area where a fully developed UHC provider network is not available.

Again, the plan(s) available to you are shown on Desktop Benefits.

TRICARE SUPPLEMENT PLAN*

The TRICARE Supplement Plan is available as a voluntary benefit to eligible employees and their spouses who have retired from any of the U.S. armed forces with at least 20 years of service.

The company does not sponsor this plan but provides access to it through pre-tax deductions.

For more information about the TRICARE Supplement Plan, contact Selman & Company ASI, the plan's administrator, at 800-638-2610 or go to www.asicorporation.com/raytheon. To enroll in the TRICARE Supplement Plan, call the RBC.

Beginning January 1, 2021, the TRICARE Supplement Plan will not be available in Colorado, Maine, New Hampshire, Utah or Washington.*

Choosing a Medical Plan

DecisionAssist

Choosing a medical plan is one of the most important financial decisions you make each year. That's why the company offers DecisionAssist, an easy-to-use online tool that can help you choose which HSA Advantage plan will best match your needs.

DecisionAssist can provide you with a side-by-side comparison of the plans available to you, showing a comprehensive view of your health care costs. All you have to do is:

1. Answer a few questions about yourself, such as what type of coverage you're researching (employee only, family, etc.); and
2. Choose the health care scenario you anticipate for the next year or enter your own cost estimates. Note that if you're currently enrolled in a UHC medical plan, you can choose to have 12 months of your common medical and prescription drug expenses automatically imported into the tool.

DecisionAssist takes into consideration the design of the HSA Advantage plans, including deductibles, coinsurance and out-of-pocket maximums. The tool also has up-to-date service costs, and takes into account the company's HSA contribution, if applicable, the amount you pay in premiums and even your anticipated tax rate. You can easily change your expected health expenses or add family members, and quickly see how these factors affect your results. Plus, you can model as many scenarios as you want.

DecisionAssist takes only a few minutes to use. Model a few scenarios today. Doing so could save you a significant amount of money next year!

Other Tools

To help learn about your medical plan, you also have access to:

- Links to lists of participating doctors and hospitals. Get help finding participating providers in the health care plans you're eligible for; and
- Online medical plan summary charts that compare how benefits are paid and out-of-pocket costs.

To access these tools, see the My Resources listing available on Desktop Benefits.

If you have questions about the HSA Advantage plans, call the RBC. When you call, you can speak with an HSA Service Team representative who can help you assess your options as well as answer any questions you may have. Representatives are available Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. ET. If you have questions about HSAs, call Fidelity at 800-544-3716.

If you participate in a UHC plan, you can elect to have 12 months of common prescription drug costs automatically imported into DecisionAssist. To estimate future expenses, go to www.caremark.com and click on Check Drug Costs. Note that you will need to register with www.caremark.com in order to access this link.

Summary of Benefits and Coverage (SBC)

Group health plans are required to provide consumers with a Summary of Benefits and Coverage (SBC), a document that describes health plan benefits and coverage using simple and consistent language. To view the SBC for your company-sponsored medical plan, go to Desktop Benefits.

APPROACHING AGE 65?BE SURE TO UNDERSTAND YOUR MEDICAL COVERAGE OPTIONS

While Medicare eligibility generally begins when you reach age 65, it's important to know that if you remain covered by a company-sponsored medical plan as an active employee, you are not required to enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B when you turn 65. In addition, you do not incur any Medicare premium penalties if you enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B during the eight-month period that begins the month after your employment ends or your coverage ends, whichever happens first.

Because the transition to Medicare has financial consequences, it's wise to consult your tax advisor before making any decisions about your post-65 medical coverage, such as whether or not to enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B when you are first eligible. It's also important to know that in the majority of cases, tax advisors recommend that you delay enrolling in Medicare until you leave the company. That's because doing so means you continue to be eligible to make and receive contributions to an HSA.

If You Choose to Enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B as an Active Employee

If, in consultation with your tax advisor, you intend to enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B when you first become eligible, you can elect an HSA Advantage plan for the year you will become eligible and elect an HSA. In this case, you are eligible to receive the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January (as long as the company contribution is made before you enroll in Medicare) and make your own contributions (not to exceed the annual federal limit listed in the Health Savings Account section) until you enroll for Medicare. Note that before you enroll in Medicare, your tax advisor may suggest that you maximize your contributions to your HSA, subject to IRS proration rules (including by making a direct contribution to your HSA).

Note that if the timing of your enrollment in Medicare means you were ineligible to receive that year's company contribution to your HSA, Payroll will withdraw the company contribution from your account. To withdraw any ineligible contributions you may have made to your HSA, contact Fidelity. Remember: If contributions are made to your HSA while you are enrolled in Medicare (either by the company or you), you will be subject to taxes and penalties. For more information, see Taxes and Penalties Associated with HSA Contributions Made in Error in the Health Savings Account section.

While all contributions to your HSA must stop once you enroll in Medicare, your participation in an HSA Advantage plan will continue automatically. For years where your Medicare status prohibits you from making or receiving contributions to your HSA, you can elect to contribute to a health care (or a limited purpose dental and vision) FSA during the benefits open enrollment period, if applicable. Note that if your spouse or dependents enroll in Medicare but you (as the employee) do not, you can continue making contributions and receiving company contributions to your HSA. You may also continue to use any funds in your HSA to pay for eligible expenses incurred by your tax dependents.

No matter which company-sponsored medical plan you participate in, as long as you're an active employee, your company-sponsored plan remains the primary payor and Medicare is the secondary payor on any claims incurred.

For more information about making your decisions, refer to the letter the RBC will send you approximately five months before you turn 65. In addition, this document provides detailed information on rules and guidelines. Questions? Call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

In the event the RBC is notified that you have enrolled in Medicare, the RBC will send you a letter asking you to confirm or deny your enrollment. If you:

- Confirm your Medicare enrollment, your HSA contributions will end and Payroll will withdraw any company contributions you were not eligible to receive. To withdraw any ineligible contributions you may have made to your HSA, contact Fidelity.
- Deny that you enrolled in Medicare, or if you do not respond to the RBC inquiry, no changes will be made to your HSA or to your HSA contributions.

Note that in all cases, the tax implications of your Medicare enrollment on your eligibility to receive or make HSA contributions are your responsibility. For more information, see Taxes and Penalties Associated with HSA Contributions Made in Error in the Health Savings Account section.

If you participate in Medicare Part A, B and/or D, you can elect an HSA Advantage plan without funding an HSA. If you currently participate in Medicare, you should not elect an HSA during open enrollment or at any other time during the year if you become eligible to make a medical plan election.

If you will enroll in Medicare during the calendar year following open enrollment, while you may elect an HSA during open enrollment, all contributions to your HSA must stop when your participation in Medicare begins.

If contributions are made to your HSA while you are enrolled in Medicare (either by the company or you), you will be subject to taxes and penalties. For more information, see Taxes and Penalties Associated with HSA Contributions Made in Error in the Health Savings Account section.

Please note: If you apply for Medicare Part A coverage within six months of the month you turn 65, your coverage will begin the month you turned 65. If you apply for Medicare Part A coverage six or more months after you turn 65, your coverage will begin six months prior to the date you file your application. Either way, the IRS does not allow you to make or receive contributions to your HSA during the period you are retroactively covered by Medicare.

Highlights of the Medical Plans

The company's medical plans provide comprehensive benefits for you and your covered family members. Each option covers a range of services and supplies, including:

- Comprehensive wellness and preventive-care coverage (see the Wellness and Preventive-Care Benefits inset box for a description);
- Inpatient care;
- Outpatient care;
- Physician services;
- Emergency and urgent care; and
- Mental health and substance use disorder treatment.

When you enroll in a company-sponsored medical plan, you and your eligible dependents also receive coverage for prescription drugs. CVS Caremark administers prescription drug coverage for the UHC plans (see the CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Program section for details).

Note that prescription drug coverage is provided by the individual medical plan for the Kaiser Permanente plans. For more information about prescription drug benefits for these plans, refer to the applicable medical plan section.

Medical ID Card

When you enroll in a company-sponsored medical plan, you and your covered dependents will receive a medical ID card that lists important information that your health care provider will need when you receive care, as well as the toll-free number that you can call if you have questions about your plan. You should carry your ID card with you at all times and refer to it whenever you need medical care.

If You Participate in a UHC Plan. Your UHC ID cards list the name of your plan's network (Choice Plus for the UHC HSA Advantage plans or the Options PPO for the Out-of-Area plan).

For employees in Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island who participate in a UHC HSA Advantage plan, the Harvard Pilgrim Passport Connect Program® logo also appears on your ID card. Note that in New England, the network you use depends on where you live and where you seek care. For details, see the first page of the UnitedHealthcare Plans section. When you go to www.myuhc.com, be sure to search for providers using the name of your network, not the name of your plan.

ONLINE SERVICES

The company's medical plans offer a variety of services and resources you can access online, such as locating network providers, printing ID cards, getting health information, using a cost-estimator and checking the status of a claim. While services and resources vary by plan carrier, your medical plan's website is a great place to start if you have questions about your plan or about your health in general.

To take advantage of the online information available from your medical plan, go to Desktop Benefits and link to the website for your plan from the Benefit Provider Contacts list under My Resources.

Common Medical Plan Features

While benefits coverage varies among medical plan options, the following features are common to all company-sponsored plans. Note that preventive-care services may vary for the Kaiser Permanente plan available in Hawaii; see the appropriate Evidence of Coverage for details.

WELLNESS AND PREVENTIVE-CARE BENEFITS

All company-sponsored medical plans provide coverage for eligible, in-network preventive-care services (as identified by the ACA under the Preventive Care Services benefit) at 100% with no out-of-pocket expense. Examples of covered preventive-care services include:

- An annual routine physical exam for adults;*
- Routine preventive lab tests;
- Well-woman exam;
- Routine mammogram, beginning at age 40 or as recommended by your physician. Note that UHC covers 3D mammograms for routine exams; contact your plan carrier for details;
- Well-baby and well-child care, from birth through age 18;*
- Immunizations for adults and children;  and
- Preventive nutritional counseling. ***

Each preventive-care benefit is generally limited to one per calendar year, with the exception of well-baby and well-child care, which is available according to a schedule, and preventive nutritional counseling, for which two visits per year are covered. Lab tests and screenings are covered according to age and gender recommendations of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) and/or the guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration.

For the UHC HSA Advantage plans, note that wellness and preventive care received from an out-of-network provider is subject to a deductible and coinsurance.

Additional Preventive Care Services

In addition to the preventive care services outlined above, all company-sponsored medical plans provide 100% coverage without any deductible for the following preventive care services, as required by the ACA:

- Women's Health Services, including:
 - Breast-feeding equipment;
 - Contraceptives for women, including FDA-approved oral, injectable and emergency contraceptives;
 - Domestic violence screenings;
 - Folic acid supplements for women (patients must meet age guidelines);
 - Gestational diabetes screenings; and
 - Voluntary sterilization;
- Iron supplements for infants;
- Oral fluoride supplements for preschool children; and
- Smoking-/tobacco-cessation counseling and prescriptions, such as bupropion; nicotine-replacement patches, gum and lozenges; and Chantix.®

In order to receive 100% coverage for any prescription that qualifies as preventive care, you must use a generic.

For more information about how your plan covers specific services, call the plan's Customer Service number on your medical ID card. For more information about prescriptions that qualify as preventive medications for the UHC plans, go to www.caremark.com or call CVS Caremark at 866-329-4023. For information related to plans administered by Kaiser Permanente, contact Kaiser.

*Physical exams required by a third party, such as a school or camp, are not covered. An exam is considered routine if you are presenting no unusual complaints to your physician.

Travel-related immunizations are not covered.

Preventive nutritional counseling for the Kaiser Permanente plans works differently. For a description, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet for your plan.

For specific information about how your plan covers preventive care, refer to the summary of benefits chart for your plan or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

To be covered at 100%, routine preventive care (exams and associated lab tests) cannot be related to the diagnosis or treatment of an illness or injury and must comply with age and gender recommendations of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force and/or the guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration. If you have any questions, call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

Primary Care

Your PCP is generally the first person you'll call when you have a health care need. Although the UHC plans do not require you to choose a PCP or obtain a PCP referral to see a specialist, it's always recommended. (Note that since the Kaiser Permanente plans require a referral for certain services, it is recommended that you elect a PCP when you first enroll.)

Your PCP is a critical member of your health care team who:

- Knows you and sees you for regular checkups when you're healthy;
- Works with you when you're sick; and
- Is your partner in the health care system, referring you to specialists and arranging for hospitalization when needed.

Seeing your PCP first helps you build a stronger relationship with your doctor and ensures you get the most effective and efficient care possible.

You have the flexibility to choose a different PCP for each member of your family. For example, you may want to choose a pediatrician for your child and an internist for yourself. This way, all family members have access to a PCP who can best serve their health care needs.

If you are establishing yourself as a new patient with a PCP, it is a good idea to schedule an appointment for a new patient exam. This will help your PCP get to know you when you are in good health and establish a baseline for treating you in the future.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT RECEIVING CARE

While choosing a PCP to coordinate your care is always recommended, the UHC plans do not require that you make a PCP election.

Since the Kaiser Permanente plans require a referral for certain services, you are advised to elect a PCP for yourself and each family member that you cover when you first enroll. You can elect your PCP online or by calling Kaiser Permanente.

Even if your medical plan does not require you to choose a PCP, it is your responsibility to confirm in advance that the services you receive are eligible for payment from your plan and that the provider you're seeing is part of your plan's network (if applicable)—even in cases of a referral. If your plan uses a network and you go outside the network for non-emergency care, your benefits will be reduced or not paid at all.

A Note for Participants in the UHC Out-of-Area Plan. Because the Out-of-Area Plan is not network-based, coverage is provided at the same benefit level regardless of your choice of provider or location within the United States. However, you can save money when you use a provider in UHC's Options PPO, which is available nationwide. For more information about the Options PPO, see the description of the Out-of-Area plan in the UnitedHealthcare Plans section.

Specialty Care

All medical plans offer access to specialists, including:

- Cardiologists;
- Chiropractors*;
- Dermatologists;
- Ear/nose/throat doctors;
- OB/GYNs (note that routine annual exams, pap smears and mammograms with a network OB/GYN specialist are covered as preventive care, as described earlier);
- Physical, speech, occupational, cardiac rehabilitation and pulmonary therapists; and
- Podiatrists.

*Note that chiropractic care may require you to use a specific network. Before receiving care, refer to the summary of benefits chart for your plan or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

Outpatient Diagnostic Services

Outpatient diagnostic services (such as simple lab tests and x-rays as well as complex services, such as MRIs, CT scans and PET scans) are covered separately from physician or specialist office visits—even if you receive these services in a physician's office. For information about coverage for outpatient diagnostic services, refer to the summary of benefits chart for your plan.

Note that the Kaiser Permanente plans require a referral for certain services. That's why you are advised to elect a PCP for yourself and each family member that you cover when you first enroll. In addition, for network-based plans that do not require a referral, you must receive care from a network specialist to receive the highest level of benefits.

For information about how your plan covers specialty care, refer to the summary of benefits chart for your plan or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

Pregnancy and Maternity Care

With the ACA, certain services and supplies related to pregnancy and maternity care are covered at 100%. Other services are subject to deductible and coinsurance amounts.

The following provides a general description of how services related to pregnancy and maternity care are covered. In all cases, the amount you pay for a particular service varies by the specific medical plan (for a description of benefits for your plan, see the appropriate section).

Medical Services Generally Covered at 100%

In addition to an annual well-woman exam (which includes a breast exam and pap smear), some services related to pregnancy and maternity care are covered at 100% with no deductible or coinsurance when you visit a network provider. Examples include:

- A preconception counseling visit;
- Routine prenatal care visits (not including the initial consultation visit). Note that in cases of high-risk pregnancies, prenatal care visits are subject to deductible and/or coinsurance;
- Certain screenings, such as for anemia and Rh incompatibility (eligible screenings must be billed using the appropriate diagnosis code);
- Breast pumps (note that eligible breast pumps must generally be purchased from a network supplier and can be ordered within 30 days of the baby's estimated delivery date); and
- Lactation support and counseling provided through a network physician or health care professional.

Services Subject to Deductible and Coinsurance

All other pregnancy- and maternity-related services are subject to the deductible and coinsurance amounts (as outlined by each plan). Examples include:

- Initial pregnancy-related consultation visit;
- Delivery (including midwife and birthing center services);
- Prenatal services that are not considered well-woman care, such as lab tests and radiology services (including obstetrical ultrasounds and sonograms); and
- Postnatal care.

If you have any questions regarding how pregnancy- and maternity-related care is covered, call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

Emergency and Urgent Care

All company-sponsored medical plans pay in-network benefits for initial emergency and urgent care even if you use out-of-network providers—as long as you follow plan rules. Once the initial care has been provided, you must follow plan procedures; otherwise, future services provided in relation to the emergency or urgent care either will not be covered or be paid at the out-of-network benefit level, if available.

For more information about how your plan covers emergency and urgent care, refer to the summary of benefits chart for your plan or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

Reminder for Participants in a Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage Plan

For detailed information about the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plans, you should always refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet—which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs that may be offered—or call the Member Services number on your medical ID card. To view the Evidence of Coverage booklet, go to <http://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, call the toll-free Member Services number on your medical ID card). Note that in the case of any discrepancy between this description and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

Emergency care is usually needed because of an accidental injury or the sudden onset of a medical condition that cannot be safely postponed for the time it takes to contact your doctor; for example, a heart attack or a stroke.

To be covered as an emergency, your condition must be considered an emergency. This means care and treatment provided after a serious medical condition or symptom that resulted from an injury, a sickness, a mental illness or substance use disorders, and that:

- Arises suddenly; and
- In the judgment of a reasonable person, requires immediate care and treatment, generally received within 24 hours of onset, to avoid jeopardy to life or health.

You are covered for emergency care no matter where you are. If you need emergency care, go to the nearest emergency room. In order to receive the highest level of benefits, you must contact your plan or PCP within 48 hours of receiving emergency care or on the next business day (whichever comes first). If follow-up care is not provided by your PCP or a network physician, or authorized by your plan, those services will either not be covered or paid at the lower out-of-network benefit level, if available.

Urgent care is health care that prevents serious deterioration of your health but that can be safely postponed for the time it takes to contact your PCP or a network physician for advice. Examples include a sprained ankle, an earache or a cut requiring stitches.

If you need urgent care and participate in:

- A UHC plan, you may proceed directly to an urgent care facility. Benefits are paid according to how your plan covers eligible services.
- A plan other than a UHC plan, in most cases, you must contact your PCP or a network physician, or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card before receiving care. Your PCP, the network physician or your plan, as applicable, will determine where you can most effectively receive treatment. If this procedure is not followed, services will either not be covered or paid at the lower out-of-network benefit level, if available.

For more information about how your plan covers urgent care, see the appropriate medical plan section.

If you need emergency care, go to the nearest hospital.

If you need urgent care whether at home or away and you participate in a UHC plan, be sure to visit a UHC network urgent care facility and not a hospital's free-standing emergency room (or "urgency" center). That's because the cost of care at a hospital-owned facility can be up to 20 times more than the cost of care at a network urgent care facility!

To compare quality and cost before you seek care, go to www.myuhc.com and link to the myHealthcare Cost Estimator. This tool makes searching for health care options as easy as any online shopping experience, with local cost information about procedures, treatments, providers and facilities.

If you need urgent care and do not participate in a UHC plan, call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card for assistance in how to receive maximum benefits from your plan.

CVS MINUTECLINIC®

If you have a minor health issue when your regular provider isn't available—including if you're away from home, CVS MinuteClinic® walk-in medical clinics are a cost-effective way to get the care you need. Note: If you participate in a Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan, your visit to a MinuteClinic is covered only if you are traveling outside a state where Kaiser Permanente operates.

Staffed by nurse practitioners and physician assistants (in select states) who specialize in family health care, MinuteClinics care for children and adults, every day with no appointment needed.

Practitioners:

- Diagnose, treat and write prescriptions for common family illnesses such as strep throat, bladder infections, pink eye and infections of the ears, nose and throat;
- Provide common vaccinations for flu, pneumonia, pertussis and hepatitis, among others;
- Treat minor wounds, abrasions, joint sprains, and skin conditions such as poison ivy, ringworm, lice and acne; and
- Offer routine lab tests, instant results and education for those with diabetes, high cholesterol or high blood pressure.

With your permission, MinuteClinic will share records with your primary care provider.

Note that you should not seek care at MinuteClinic if you are experiencing severe chest pain, severe shortness of breath or difficulty breathing, suspected poisoning or a high fever. Patients with conditions or health needs outside of the clinical scope available will be directed to other health care providers within the community.

Mental Health and Substance Use Disorder Care

All company-sponsored medical plans provide benefits for medically necessary, confidential counseling and referral services for mental and nervous disorders as well as for substance use disorders. For a description of benefits, see the summary of benefits chart for your plan or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card. To ensure you receive the highest level of benefits, be sure to contact your medical plan before seeking care.

TREATMENT FOR AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDER (ASD)

Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) is a mental health disorder that spans a wide range of symptoms and levels of impairment, from mild to severe. According to recent data from the Centers for Disease Control, the incidence of ASD is growing—with one in 68 children now being diagnosed with ASD.

All company-sponsored medical plans provide coverage for a range of services related to treating ASD, including Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapy. Covered services and any limitations vary by medical plan. For a description of how your plan covers these services, see the appropriate section of this handbook or contact your provider.

COUNSELING SERVICES AVAILABLE THROUGH LIFERESOURCES

Regardless of which medical plan you enroll in, you have access to a confidential counseling and referral service through LifeResources. Provided by ComPsych,[®] this program offers up to eight counseling sessions per issue per calendar year at no out-of-pocket cost to you.

You may call LifeResources before receiving counseling or treatment services through your medical plan. If you need further assistance after the available eight visits (such as for long-term counseling or inpatient care), LifeResources works to assist you. With your permission, the LifeResources specialist will contact a mental health care professional to develop an effective and appropriate treatment plan.

As always, it's important that you check your medical plan's precertification procedures before receiving care beyond the eight visits available through this program. If your plan requires a referral, it is your responsibility to ensure guidelines are followed.

LifeResources trained professionals are available at any time, day or night, to help with any type of personal or work-related problem. For additional information about LifeResources, refer to the Work/Life section.

Participate in a UHC plan?

To help those with a substance use disorder, UHC offers the Substance Use Treatment Program, which includes a helpline. This service is part of your health benefit and is provided at no additional cost to you.

When you call 855-780-5955 (available 24/7), a licensed clinician can answer your questions and help you determine next steps.

To learn more about the warning signs of alcohol and drug use, including ideas about how to support an adult child and descriptions of different treatment methods, call the helpline at 855-780-5955 or go to liveandworkwell.com/recovery.

When You Are Away from Home

The company's medical plans provide coverage at the in-network level for certain care, such as emergency care received while you or a covered family member is traveling, including children who attend school away from home. You must contact your PCP or your plan within 48 hours or the next business day (whichever comes first) of receiving emergency care.

In some cases, a network doctor or facility may be available in the area in which you are traveling or where your child attends school. In this case, you may choose a network provider in that area and receive care at the in-network level. To find network providers or urgent care centers outside of your home area, go to your plan's website or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card. Note that in some cases, you may want to seek care at a CVS MinuteClinic; see the inset box earlier in this section for more information. Note: If you participate in a Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan, your visit to a MinuteClinic is covered only if you are traveling outside a state where Kaiser Permanente operates.

If there are no network providers in the area, all other non-emergency services (for example, physical therapy) will not be covered or will be paid at the out-of-network benefit level, if available. If you or a covered family member needs routine preventive care, such as physicals or well-child visits, you must schedule these with your PCP or a network physician. If you do not, eligible services will not be covered or paid at the out-of-network benefit level, if available.

Coverage for Eligible Dependents Who Live Away from Home

If your covered child or spouse permanently resides outside your plan's service area or is temporarily living away from home, he or she is still covered by your medical plan.

Your covered dependents are always covered for care received in an emergency. (See Emergency and Urgent Care earlier in this section for a definition.)

In the case of non-emergency care, your covered dependent may choose a network provider in his or her area and receive care at the in-network level. To find network providers or urgent care centers outside of your home area, go to your plan's website or call the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card. Note that in some cases, your covered dependent may want to seek care at a CVS MinuteClinic; see the inset box earlier in this section for more information. Note: If you participate in a Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan, your visit to a MinuteClinic is covered only if you are traveling outside a state where Kaiser Permanente operates.

Non-emergency care (including preventive care) received from an out-of-network provider is covered at the out-of-network benefit level, if available. If your plan does not offer out-of-network coverage, non-emergency care is not covered. Note that since the UHC Out-of-Area plan is not network-based, eligible non-emergency care is covered regardless of where your dependent lives.

FINAL COVERAGE DETERMINED BY MEDICAL PLAN CARRIER

The medical plan carrier makes the final decision as to whether or not a particular service is covered. In order to determine what is and is not covered under your plan, see your plan's summary of benefits chart as well as the list of limitations and exclusions, or contact your medical carrier at the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your medical ID card.

For information about how to appeal a denied claim, see Applying for Benefits in the Administrative section.

COORDINATION OF BENEFITS AND SUBROGATION PROVISIONS

All company-sponsored medical plans include coordination of benefits (COB) and subrogation provisions.

COB means that payments from a company-sponsored plan are coordinated with those you may be entitled to receive from other plans. This prevents duplication of payment if you or your dependents are covered by another group insurance plan.

Subrogation applies if you receive payment from a third party that is held liable for any injury that required medical care. In this case, you may be required to reimburse your plan for claim payments.

See the Administrative section for more information about COB and subrogation.

Telehealth and Virtual Visits

Want to schedule a remote appointment with your regular provider? Need to speak with a doctor when your regular provider isn't available? UHC has a program for you.

Telehealth

Whether over the phone or via video, for 2021, the UHC plans provide coverage for scheduled telehealth consultations with medical/mental health providers with whom covered members have an established relationship or for an initial consultation with a new provider.

Retroactively to January 1, 2021, and available through December 31, 2021,* telehealth services are covered as follows:

Reason for Telehealth Appointment	Coverage
COVID-related	100% with no out-of-pocket cost
All other	Same as in-person services (subject to your plan's deductible, coinsurance and out-of-pocket maximum)

*The UHC plans covered telehealth visits in 2020 as part of the CARES Act, which mandated coverage for COVID-related telehealth visits during the national emergency period. With the national emergency period being extended through April, 2021 (subject to further extensions by the federal government), the company will provide coverage for COVID and non-COVID telehealth visits for 2021. If your claim for a telehealth visit early in 2021 was denied, note that UHC will automatically reprocess your claim(s). Questions? Call UHC.

Note that for purposes of this benefit, telehealth means the use of telecommunications, including but not limited to real-time video conferencing-based communication, secure interactive and non-interactive web-based communication and secure asynchronous information exchange, in order to transmit patient medical information, including diagnostic-quality digital images and laboratory results for medical interpretation and diagnosis, for the purposes of delivering enhanced health care services and information to parties separated by distance, establishing a physician-patient relationship, evaluating a patient or treating a patient.

Virtual Visit with a Doctor 24/7 from Anywhere

With UHC's new Virtual Visit program (also referred to as Virtual Care), you have access to urgent on-demand health care delivered through video-conferencing or over the phone for treatment of acute but non-emergency medical needs. Doctors, available 24/7 without a scheduled appointment, can diagnose a variety of common medical conditions, and in some cases, prescribe medications.

Available through myuhc.com or via the UHC app, a Virtual Visits appointment costs $49, which is subject to your plan's deductible, coinsurance and out-of-pocket maximum. In other words, once you meet your deductible, you will pay coinsurance on the $49. If you reach your plan's calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum, the fee is covered in full.

Note that eligibility and benefit confirmation is real time, so if you have met your deductible and out-of-pocket maximum, you will not be required to pay upfront.

Network benefits are available only when services are delivered through Designated Virtual Network Providers, which includes doctors affiliated with Doctors on Demand, Amwell and Teladoc. To access a Designated Virtual Network Provider, go to myuhc.com or use the UHC app.

To learn more, visit myuhc.com or call UHC. Note that not all medical conditions can be treated through virtual care. The Designated Virtual Network Provider will identify any condition for which treatment by in-person physician contact is needed. In addition, note that plan limitations and exclusions apply to virtual care services.

With UHC's Virtual Visits (also referred to as Virtual Care), you can video or phone chat with a doctor any time regarding non-emergency conditions, including allergies, bronchitis, an eye infection, the flu, a headache/migraine, a rash, sore throat or a stomachache.

The NurseLine is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

HOW ELIGIBLE EXPENSES ARE PAID OUT-OF-NETWORK

Network providers/facilities contract with UHC to provide quality medical services at predetermined rates. If you choose to visit an out-of-network provider/facility for a non-emergency service, remember that these providers/facilities are not credentialed by UHC. In addition, the cost of services may vary widely and your out-of-pocket costs will be higher. Before seeking non-emergency care with an out-of-network provider/facility, it is recommended that you call UHC.

Shared Savings Program

Depending on your geographic area and the service(s) you receive from an out-network provider/facility, you may have access to Shared Savings, a program where UHC has negotiated discounts with certain out-of-network providers/facilities for certain covered services (e.g., emergency care). The plan's out-of-network deductible and coinsurance apply to any reduced charges.

When you seek out-of-network care with a Shared Savings provider/facility, eligible services are covered up to the rate UHC has negotiated with that provider/facility. In this case, your out-of-pocket costs may be lower than they would be with out-of-network providers/facilities that are not part of the Shared Savings program.

It's important to note that out-of-network providers/facilities may bill you for the difference between the negotiated rate or percentage of eligible expense that UHC pays and the provider's/facility's actual charge. If your provider/facility charges more than the negotiated charge, you may be required to pay the difference (called "balance billing"). For more information, call UHC.

In addition, if you are billed for amounts in excess of your applicable deductible or coinsurance, contact UHC. UHC will not pay excessive charges or amounts that you are not legally obligated to pay.

If rates haven't been negotiated with the provider/facility, UHC pays covered expenses based on the competitive fees in that provider's/facility's geographic area or an amount permitted by law.

When contractually permitted, the plan may pay the lesser of the Shared Savings program discount or an amount determined by the claims administrator, such as:

- A percentage of the published rates allowed by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) for the same or similar service within the geographic market;
- An amount determined based on available data resources of competitive fees in that geographic area;
- A fee schedule established by a third-party vendor, such as FairHealth or Viant; or
- A negotiated rate with the out-of-network provider/facility.

In cases where plan provisions or administrative practices conflict with the scheduled rate, UHC may determine a different rate. In these cases, the out-of-network provider/facility may bill you for the difference between the billed amount and the rate determined by UHC (see description of balance billing above). If this happens, contact UHC.

In all cases, note that Shared Savings providers/facilities are not network providers/facilities and are not credentialed by UHC.

WHEN SERVICES RECEIVED FROM AN OUT-OF-NETWORK PROVIDER MAY BE COVERED AT THE IN-NETWORK LEVEL

If a covered health service is not available from an in-network provider, you may be eligible to receive in-network benefits from an out-of-network provider. To be eligible, your in-network physician must notify UHC and UHC must confirm that the covered health service is not available from an in-network provider. If confirmed, UHC will work with you and your in-network physician to coordinate care through the out-of-network provider.

Personal Health Support

The UHC Personal Health Support program is designed to encourage personalized, efficient care for you and your covered dependents. By providing authorization for coverage for certain care and determining if an expense is a covered health service, Personal Health Support helps you get the right care, while making the most of your coverage.

UHC requires prenotification for any of the following:

- All inpatient admissions, including out-of-network hospitalizations; admissions to rehabilitation facilities, mental health (including Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapy)/substance-related and addictive disorders facilities; skilled nursing facilities; and elective admissions to out-of-network facilities (five-day notification is required);
- Ambulance transportation that is not an emergency;
- Bariatric surgery (UHC requirements outlined in the inset at the end of this list);
- Breast reduction and reconstruction, except after surgery related to cancer;

Personal Health Support is designed to help you and your doctor coordinate your care, to make sure your needs are met and to minimize any gaps in your coverage. The program is not designed to be a substitute for your provider's medical judgment or otherwise interfere with your care. Only you and your health care provider can make final decisions about the care you or your family member receives. However, Personal Health Support does determine if a service or supply is a covered health service under your plan.

Be sure to contact Personal Health Support in advance of any of the services listed here (with the exception of emergency health services, as noted). If you do not, benefits will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

- Transplantation services (notification must be provided as soon as the possibility of a transplant arises and before the time a pre-transplantation evaluation is performed at a transplant center).

ABOUT INFERTILITY-RELATED SERVICES AND BARIATRIC SURGERY

Before seeking infertility-related services or bariatric surgery, UHC requires that you complete one phone call with a Fertility Solutions or Bariatric Resources Services (BRS) nurse. Since both Fertility Solutions and BRS fall under Personal Health Support, a direct call to either is considered a call to Personal Health Support.

If you do call Personal Health Support before seeking treatment for infertility-related services or bariatric surgery, in order to be eligible for benefits, UHC requires that you also complete one call with a nurse from the respective program. To reach Fertility Solutions directly, call 866-774-4626. To reach BRS directly, call 888-936-7246.

For more information, see Fertility Solutions or UHC Bariatric Surgery Centers of Excellence later in this section.

In general, if you seek care with a network provider/facility, your provider/facility will provide the necessary prenotification. However, it is your responsibility to ensure that your provider/facility has notified UHC of your care.

If you seek care outside the network or if you participate in the Out-of-Area plan, you are responsible for providing prenotification. It's important to note that a referral does not qualify as prenotification.

To provide prenotification, call UHC and follow the prompts for Personal Health Support. In most cases, you must call no later than five days in advance of your scheduled service or, in the case of emergency care, within 48 hours of receiving care.

If you or your provider/facility, as applicable, does not notify Personal Health Support, your benefits will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses. Note that any penalties you pay do not apply to your plan's calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum.

Once a Personal Health Support Nurse receives notification, he or she will decide if your care is a covered health service with your plan. You or your provider will receive a telephone response either at the time you call or shortly thereafter, with written notification to follow. Once you receive authorization, review it carefully to understand what services have been approved and what providers/facilities are authorized to provide those services.

Planning for and Recovering from a Hospital Stay

Once your inpatient stay is authorized, UHC connects you with a Personal Health Support Nurse who works to help ensure you receive the most appropriate and cost-effective care possible through prevention, education and closing any gaps in your care. For example, UHC can offer:

- Admission counseling. Personal Health Support Nurses are available to help you prepare for a successful surgical admission and recovery. Call the number on the back of your ID card for support.
- Inpatient care management. Personal Health Support Nurses work with your physician during your hospitalization to ensure you're getting the care you need and your physician's treatment plan is being carried out effectively.
- Readmission management. If you are at a high risk of being readmitted, Personal Health Support Nurses serve as a bridge between the hospital and your caregivers at home. You may receive a phone call from UHC to confirm that your medications, any needed equipment or follow-up services are in place. The Personal Health Support Nurses can also share important health care information, reiterate and reinforce discharge instructions, and support a safe transition home.
- Risk management. If you have a certain chronic or complex condition, a Personal Health Support Nurse may assist you with accessing medical specialists, understanding medication information, and coordinating any needed equipment or supplies.

While UHC strives to ensure a Personal Health Support Nurse connects with any patient who may benefit, you can initiate the relationship by calling UHC.

Infertility Services

Infertility is a condition of the reproductive tract that prevents the conception of a child or the ability to carry a pregnancy to delivery.

Infertility is defined as the failure to achieve a successful pregnancy after 12 months of therapeutic donor insemination (TDI) if you are a female under age 35; after six months if you are a female age 35 or older. TDI is insemination with a donor sperm sample for the purpose of conceiving a child. The donor can be an anonymous or directed donor.

To be eligible for the infertility services benefit, you must have a diagnosis of infertility and meet one of the following criteria:

- You are a female under age 44 and using own oocytes (eggs) or you are a female under age 55 and using donor oocytes. Note: As long as treatment is initiated prior to the pertinent birthday (44 or 55), services are covered to completion of the initiated cycle;
- You are not able to achieve pregnancy due to impotence/sexual dysfunction;
- You have infertility that is not related to voluntary sterilization or failed reversal of voluntary sterilization;
- There is a diagnosis of a male factor causing infertility (e.g., treatment of sperm abnormalities, including the surgical recovery of sperm).

The waiting period may be waived when you have a known infertility factor, including but not limited to: congenital malformations, known male factor, known ovulatory disorders, diminished ovarian reserve, impotence/sexual dysfunction, moderate or severe endometriosis, or documented compromise of the fallopian tubes. Note that for treatment initiated prior to the pertinent birthday, services will be covered to completion of the initiated cycle.

Coverage is provided to the following individuals as long as they meet the requirements stated above:

- Female member without a male partner;
- Male member without a female partner;
- Child dependents.

Therapeutic services for the treatment of infertility are covered when provided by or under the direction of a physician. Benefits are limited to the following procedures:

- Assisted Reproductive Technologies (ART), the term for procedures involving the manipulation of human reproductive materials (such as sperm, eggs and/or embryos) to achieve pregnancy. Examples of such procedures include:
 - In vitro fertilization (IVF),
 - Gamete Intrafallopian Transfer (GIFT),
 - Pronuclear stage tubal transfer (PROST),
 - Tubal embryo transfer (TET),
 - Zygote intrafallopian transfer (ZIFT);
- Frozen Embryo Transfer cycle (including thawing);
- ICSI (intracytoplasmic sperm injection);
- Insemination procedures (artificial insemination (AI) and intrauterine insemination (IUI));
- Embryo transportation related network disruption;
- Ovulation induction (or controlled ovarian stimulation);
- Testicular Sperm Aspiration/Microsurgical Epididymal Sperm Aspiration (TESA/MESA)—male factor associated surgical procedures for retrieval of sperm;

Before seeking infertility-related services, UHC requires that you complete one phone call with a Fertility Solutions nurse at 866-774-4626. For more information, see Fertility Solutions later in this section.

- Pre-implantation Genetic Testing for a Monogenic Disorder (PGT-M) or Structural Rearrangement (PGT-SR). When the genetic parents carry a gene mutation, PGT-M or PGT-SR is used to determine whether that mutation has been transmitted to the embryo.

SUBSTANCE USE TREATMENT PROGRAM

Studies show nearly two-thirds of Americans report some level of drinking¹, and 10 percent are using an illegal substance². While some people can moderate the use of alcohol and illicit drugs, others are not as fortunate. When alcohol or drug use moves from casual use to abuse and finally, addiction, it becomes a medical condition known as substance use disorder.

How do you know when to seek care for yourself or a loved one? There are many signs indicating it's time to seek help, including:

- Mood swings or mysterious changes in personality,
- Neglecting responsibilities or abruptly changing friends, and
- Weight loss or decline of appearance.

To help those with a substance use disorder, UHC offers the Substance Use Treatment Program, which includes a helpline. This service is part of your health benefit and is provided at no additional cost to you.

When you call 855-780-5955, a licensed clinician can answer your questions and help you determine next steps. Available 24/7, substance use treatment advocates will:

- Take the time to fully understand your personal situation and guide you on the next steps most helpful to you,
- Explain appropriate treatment options and types of providers/facilities, and
- Arrange a face-to-face clinical evaluation for you by a trusted licensed substance use treatment provider—usually within 24 hours.

To learn more about the warning signs of alcohol and drug use, including ideas about how to support an adult child and descriptions of different treatment methods, call the helpline at 855-780-5955 or go to liveandworkwell.com/recovery.

Benefits are available for the following levels of care:

- Inpatient treatment,
- Residential treatment,
- Partial hospitalization/day treatment,
- Outpatient treatment (including intensive outpatient treatment).

Remember:

Prenotification is required prior to a scheduled admission for—or as soon as is reasonably possible for a non-scheduled admission (including an emergency admission)—neurobiological disorders—ASD services (including partial hospitalization/day treatment and services at a residential treatment facility).

In addition, you must provide notification before receiving the following services: Intensive outpatient treatment programs; psychological testing; extended outpatient treatment visits with or without medication management. Prenotification is also required for benefits provided for intensive behavioral therapy, including ABA.

Note: If you do not follow these prenotification procedures, benefits will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) refers to a range of conditions characterized by challenges with social skills, repetitive behaviors, speech and nonverbal communication, as well as by unique strengths and differences. The term “spectrum” reflects the wide variation in challenges and strengths possessed by each person with autism.

Note: To be considered covered services, speech and nonverbal communication services must comply with restorative-only requirements. To be considered restorative, the speech or nonverbal communication function must have been previously intact.

Alternative Care Settings

UHC provides coverage for times when care can be delivered more comfortably and cost-effectively in an alternative setting, such as a skilled nursing facility, your home or a hospice facility.

- Such confinement takes the place of a hospital confinement or immediately follows a hospital confinement for the same illness.

Disease Management Programs

UHC aims to help patients with chronic diseases understand the risks of their disease and what they can do to minimize these risks by focusing on long-term education and self-care. Disease Management Program registered nurses can help guide you through treatment by providing education, consulting with specialists, answering questions and helping to identify lifestyle changes that could help reduce the risk. Nurses can help patients with a chronic illness or complex condition manage self-care, as well as obtain the care, medications and equipment they need.

Disease management programs are available for UHC members and their covered dependents living with:

- Heart failure;
- Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD);
- Asthma;
- Coronary artery disease; and
- Diabetes.

While UHC strives to ensure a Disease Management Program registered nurse connects with any patient who may benefit, you can initiate the relationship by calling UHC.

In addition, UHC offers several extensive programs for covered members with cancer, congenital heart disease (CHD), or who are in need of bariatric surgery or an organ transplant, as described on the following pages.

Centers of Excellence

For certain complex medical conditions, UHC offers access to Centers of Excellence—top-performing providers/facilities that UHC contracts with for their quality metrics. When you seek treatment at a Center of Excellence, your treatment is based on a “best practices” approach from health care professionals with demonstrated expertise.

Note that if you need infertility-related services or bariatric surgery, UHC requires you to contact a specific program that is designed to make sure you get the highest level of care. For specifics, see the descriptions of Fertility Solutions and UHC Bariatric Surgery Centers of Excellence later in this section.

Cancer Resource Services (CRS)

The Cancer Resource Services (CRS) program offers access to CRS Centers of Excellence—leading cancer centers nationwide—even if they are not in the UHC network.

If you or a covered dependent needs treatment for a condition that has a primary or suspected diagnosis related to cancer, you may:

- Be referred to CRS by a UHC registered nurse;
- Call CRS at 866-936-6002; or
- Go to www.myoptumhealthcomplexmedical.com for more information.

To ensure network benefits are received under this program, you or someone on your behalf should contact CRS at 866-936-6002 before receiving care. UHC plans will only pay benefits under the CRS program if CRS provides the proper authorization to the designated provider/facility (even if you self-refer to a provider or facility in that network).

If you choose not to receive benefits for cancer-related treatment with/in a designated provider/facility, your UHC plan will cover eligible services with other providers or at other facilities (in- or out-of-network, if applicable) the same as any other eligible service.

Note that the services described under Transportation and Lodging later in this section are covered only in connection with cancer-related services received from/at a designated provider/facility.

Cancer Support Program

Whether or not you seek care through the CRS program, the UHC Cancer Support Program connects cancer patients with registered nurses who act as patient advocates. This means you may call or be called by a registered nurse who is a specialist in cancer.

To ensure network benefits are received under this program, you or someone on your behalf should contact Cancer Resource Services at 866-936-6002 before receiving care.

Remember: You must notify Personal Health Support if you seek the services described here, or if you seek out-of-network care. If you do not, benefits for covered services will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

Advocates are available to help you:

- Prevent and manage symptoms and side effects of cancer treatments;
- Ensure that your treatment plan, which was developed in consultation with your physicians, is followed;
- Make informed decisions about your care;
- Offer support as you live with cancer, including providing referrals to behavioral health and other specialists as needed;
- Navigate the health care system; and
- If necessary, provide information about hospice services or palliative care.

Advocates work with physicians and other health professionals to coordinate care, including hospital admissions, emergency room visits and prescription management.

Note that this program is not designed to be a substitute for your provider's medical judgment or otherwise interfere with your care. The Cancer Support Program only assists you and your doctor in coordinating your care—to make sure your needs are met and to minimize any gaps in your coverage. Only you and your health care provider can make the final decision about the medical care you or your family member receives.

If you or a family member is diagnosed with cancer, you will receive information directly from the Cancer Support Program. Participation is completely voluntary and without extra charge. If you think you may be eligible to participate or would like additional information, call 866-936-6002.

- Interventional cardiac catheterizations (insertion of a tubular device in the heart);
- Fetal echocardiograms (examination, measurement and diagnosis of the heart using ultrasound technology); and
- Approved fetal interventions.

CHD services other than those listed above are excluded from coverage, unless determined by Personal Health Support to be proven procedures for the involved diagnoses. For more information, call UHC and follow the prompts for Personal Health Support.

If you choose not to receive benefits for CHD-related treatment with/in a designated provider/facility, your UHC plan will cover eligible services with other providers or at other facilities (in- or out-of-network, if applicable) the same as any other eligible service.

Note that the services described under Transportation and Lodging later in this section are covered only in connection with CHD-related services received at a designated facility.

Comprehensive Kidney Solution (CKS) Program

Comprehensive Kidney Solution (CKS) is a voluntary program that provides support to members who are diagnosed with chronic kidney disease (CKD) or end-stage renal disease (ESRD).

For those needing dialysis, CKS provides access to hundreds of top-performing dialysis centers across the country that are considered Centers of Excellence. In situations where a member cannot conveniently access a contracted dialysis center, CKS will negotiate a patient-specific agreement with another center on your behalf. Note that dialysis is covered only at in-network facilities (dialysis received at out-of-network facilities is not covered). To find an in-network facility, go to www.myuhc.com and use the Find a Doctor tool. Questions? Call UHC.

Remember: You must notify Personal Health Support if you seek the services described here, or if you seek out-of-network care. If you do not, benefits for covered services will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

Remember: You must notify Personal Health Support if you seek the services described here. If you do not, benefits for covered services will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

To learn more about CKS, go to www.myoptumhealthcomplexmedical.com or call the number on the back of your ID card.

Note that coverage for dialysis and kidney-related services is based on the terms of your plan, including exclusions, limitations, conditions, eligibility requirements and coverage guidelines. If you decide to no longer participate in the program, please inform CKS of your decision.

Transplantation Services

Organ and tissue transplants are covered when ordered by a physician. Benefits are available for transplants when the transplant meets the definition of a covered health service, and is not an experimental, investigational or unproven service.

Transplants eligible for benefits include the following: Bone marrow, CAR-T cell therapy for malignancies, heart, heart/lung, lung, kidney, kidney/pancreas, liver, liver/small bowel, pancreas, small bowel and cornea.

Benefits are available to the donor and the recipient when the recipient is covered under this plan. Donor costs that are directly related to organ removal or procurement are covered health services for which benefits are payable through the organ recipient's coverage under the plan.

Transplantation services including evaluation for transplant, organ procurement and donor searches and transplantation procedures may be received at a Center of Excellence or with/at the provider/facility of your choice.

UHC has specific guidelines regarding benefits for transplant services. Contact UHC at the number on your ID card for information about these guidelines.

Note: The services described under Travel and Lodging later in this section are covered health services only in connection with transplant services received from/at a designated provider/facility.

Fertility Solutions

Fertility Solutions provides support to members who are beginning infertility services. The program includes education, counseling, infertility treatment management and access to a national network of premier infertility treatment clinics, some of which are considered Centers of Excellence.

To participate in the Fertility Solutions program, call a nurse at 866-774-4626. Note that while you are encouraged to take full advantage of this program, at a minimum, you must complete one initial call with a Fertility Solutions nurse in order for UHC and CVS Caremark to cover eligible infertility-related medical services and prescription drugs.

Note that if you or a covered dependent does not live within a 60-mile radius of a Fertility Solutions designated provider, you are encouraged to contact a Fertility Solutions case manager to determine a network provider/facility prior to starting treatment. Again, for infertility-related services and prescription drugs to be considered covered health care services through this program, you must contact Fertility Solutions and speak with a nurse consultant prior to receiving services.

UHC Bariatric Surgery Centers of Excellence

To be eligible for coverage for bariatric surgery, you must meet the requirements of UHC's clinical policy. If you qualify for coverage, all authorization information and enrollment for bariatric surgery should be initiated through Bariatric Resources Services (BRS). As part of the qualification process for bariatric surgery benefits, UHC requires that you complete one initial call with a BRS nurse by calling at 888-936-7246.

As a UHC member, you have the option of having your bariatric surgery performed at one of the UHC Bariatric Surgery Centers of Excellence—leading treatment centers available nationwide. Note that excision or elimination of hanging skin on any body part is covered after bariatric surgery as long as these services meet UHC's clinical guidelines. For information regarding UHC's clinical policy, and to find Centers of Excellence facilities near you, call 888-936-7246.

You must notify Personal Health Support as soon as the possibility of a transplant arises (and before the time a pre-transplantation evaluation is performed at a transplant center). If Personal Health Support is not notified and services are performed at a facility that is not a designated facility, benefits will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

Note that you are not required to notify Personal Health Support of a cornea transplant. In addition, it is not required that cornea transplants be performed at a designated facility.

Remember: You must notify Personal Health Support if you seek the services described here, or if you seek out-of-network care. If you do not, benefits for covered services will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

When you call, BRS can connect you with specialized bariatric surgery nurses who act as patient advocates. Advocates are available to help with:

- Preventing and managing symptoms and side effects of treatments;
- Ensuring that your treatment plan, which was developed in consultation with your physician, is followed;
- Making informed decisions about your care;
- Offering support, including providing referrals to behavioral health and other specialists as needed;
- Navigating the health care system; and
- If necessary, providing information about palliative care.

Advocates work with physicians and other health professionals to coordinate care, including hospital admissions and prescription management.

Note that if you choose not to receive services in a designated provider/facility, your UHC plan will cover eligible services with other providers or at other facilities (in- or out-of-network, if applicable) the same as any other eligible service.

Note also that the services described under Transportation and Lodging later in this section are covered only in connection with bariatric surgery services received from/at a designated provider/facility.

TRAVEL AND LODGING ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

If you are eligible for the Cancer Support Program, the Congenital Heart Disease (CHD) Resource Services Program, transplantation services or Bariatric Resource Services (BRS), UHC provides travel and lodging assistance if you meet certain qualifications, as outlined below. Eligible expenses are reimbursed after the required expense forms have been completed and submitted with the appropriate receipts.

Provided the patient resides more than 50 miles from the designated provider/facility and is not covered by Medicare, the UHC plans cover:

- Transportation of the patient and one companion who is traveling on the same day(s) to and/or from the site of the qualified procedure provided by a designated provider/facility for the purposes of an evaluation, the procedure or necessary post-discharge follow-up;
- Eligible expenses for lodging for the patient (while not a hospital inpatient) and one companion.

If the patient is an enrolled dependent minor child, the transportation and lodging expenses of two companions will be covered.

The cancer, congenital heart disease, bariatric and transplant programs offer a combined overall lifetime maximum of $10,000 per covered person for all transportation and lodging expenses incurred by you and reimbursed under the plan in connection with all qualified procedures.

The claims administrator must receive valid receipts for such charges before you will be reimbursed. Reimbursement is as follows:

Lodging

- A per diem rate, up to $50 per day, for the patient or the caregiver if the patient is in the hospital.
- A per diem rate, up to $100 per day, for the patient and one caregiver. When the patient is a child, two persons may accompany the child.

Examples of items that are not covered include groceries; alcoholic beverages; personal or cleaning supplies; meals; over-the-counter dressings or medical supplies; deposits; utilities and furniture rentals when billed separately from the rent payment; and phone calls, newspapers or movie rentals.

Note that reimbursement for certain lodging expenses for the patient and his/her companion(s) may be included in the taxable income of the plan participant if the reimbursement exceeds the per diem rate.

For more information about UHC's bariatric surgery provisions, call 888-936-7246.

Remember: You must notify Personal Health Support if you seek the services described here, or if you seek out-of-network care. If you do not, benefits for covered services will be reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

Note that the travel and lodging assistance program does not apply to Fertility Solutions or the Comprehensive Kidney Solution (CKS) program.

Gender Dysphoria (Transgender Surgery and Gender Dysphoria Treatments)

To be eligible for gender dysphoria benefits, you must meet all UHC requirements. Note that the transportation and lodging benefits outlined earlier in this section do not apply. For a complete list of covered services, as well as information about requirements and coverage details, call UHC.

Claims Procedures

In-Network

If you visit a Choice Plus network provider/facility (an Options PPO provider/facility with the Out-of-Area plan), you do not have to file a claim form. Simply show your medical ID card. Note that a network provider/facility may request payment for any required deductible, coinsurance or charges for services that may or may not be covered.

Out-of-Network

If your plan provides out-of-network coverage (or for the Out-of-Area plan, if you visit a provider/facility that does not participate in the Options PPO), follow these steps to file a claim.

1. Be sure that you know your benefits. In order to get the most out of your plan, it's important to understand what is and is not covered, as well as how the plan pays benefits.
2. Get an itemized bill. Be sure the bill includes:
 - Name, phone number, address and tax ID number of the service provider/facility;
 - Patient's full name as well as Social Security or member ID number;
 - Employee's Social Security or member ID number;
 - Date of service;
 - Description of the service/supply rendered;
 - Procedure code;
 - Amount charged; and
 - Diagnosis or nature of illness.

Canceled checks, cash register receipts or personal itemizations are not acceptable as itemized bills.

3. Keep a copy of your itemized bill. Because you must submit originals, it's important to keep a copy for your records. Once your claim is received, itemized bills cannot be returned.
4. Complete a claim form. Make sure all information is completed properly and then date and sign the form. Claim forms are available online at www.myuhc.com under Claims & Accounts or by calling UHC.
5. Attach your itemized bill(s) to the claim form and mail them. Once you have completed and obtained all necessary information, mail the materials to the address on the form:

UnitedHealthcare
P.O. Box 740809
Atlanta, GA 30374

Separate claim forms must be filed for each covered dependent. Be sure to submit all bills for covered health services. All claims must be filed no later than 24 months after the date the supplies or services were rendered.

Once your claim is processed, you may check its status and/or view or print an Explanation of Benefits (EOB) by going to www.myuhc.com. Your EOB lists:

- Provider's/facility's charge and the allowable amount;
- Coinsurance and deductible amounts, if any, that you're required to pay;
- Reason for any denial or partial payment;
- Total benefits payable; and
- How much you owe.

You may also request a paper copy of your EOB by calling UHC.

Claims Appeal

If a claim is denied, you will receive a written explanation. You have the right to request a review of the claim by contacting UHC at:

UnitedHealthcare Appeals
P.O. Box 30432
Salt Lake City, UT 84131-0432

Please see Applying for Benefits in the Administrative section for details or call UHC.

COORDINATION OF BENEFITS

The UHC plans include non-duplication coordination of benefits (COB). The non-duplication COB provision provides payment up to the normal reimbursement level under the plan. This means your combined benefits from all plans will equal, but never exceed, the amount that would normally be payable from your company-sponsored plan when there is no COB with another plan.

See the Administrative section for more information about COB.

SUBROGATION PROVISIONS

The UHC plans include subrogation provisions. Subrogation applies if you receive payment from a third party that is held liable for any injury that required medical care. In this case, you may be required to reimburse your plan for claim payments.

See the Administrative section for more information about subrogation.

UHC HSA Advantage Plans

The company offers two health savings account (HSA)-eligible plans through UnitedHealthcare (UHC)—UHC HSA Advantage 1 and UHC HSA Advantage 2. Deductibles and other cost-sharing arrangements (i.e., coinsurance and out-of-pocket maximums) vary by plan and coverage level.

When you elect a UHC HSA Advantage plan, you are eligible for an HSA. The company makes an annual lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January. Company contributions vary by plan and coverage level. You also can make contributions. The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit.

You always own the money in your HSA. Any unused money carries over to the next year and may earn interest—there are no “use-it-or-lose-it” rules. And if you leave the company, the money in your HSA belongs to you. (For detailed information about HSAs, see the Health Savings Account section.)

While federal regulations prohibit anyone who is making or receiving contributions to an HSA from having other health care coverage, including through a health care flexible spending account (FSA), if applicable, eligible employees do have the option of enrolling in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, which can be used to pay for eligible dental and vision expenses. For more information, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section of this handbook, if applicable.

Note also that while this regulation applies to Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D, as well as TRICARE, since the HSA Advantage plans are not linked to an HSA; Medicare/TRICARE participants can elect an HSA Advantage plan without funding an HSA. In this case, you can use your HSA Advantage plan to pay for eligible expenses incurred by you and your dependents. As long as you are not funding your HSA, it is not considered other health care coverage.

How the Plans Work

Here is a brief overview of how the plans work. The pages that follow illustrate the similarities and differences between the two UHC HSA Advantage plans.

- The federal government regulates the design of health plans with HSAs.
- Covered expenses are subject to a calendar-year deductible, with the following exceptions:
 - Routine in-network preventive care, which is covered at 100% in-network (no out-of-pocket cost). In compliance with the ACA, this coverage extends to include Women’s Health Services, certain preventive supplements and smoking-/tobacco-cessation prescriptions (as defined by CVS Caremark); and
 - Prescription drugs on the federal Treasury Guidance list, specifically:
 - Generic preventive prescription drugs to treat chronic conditions, including high cholesterol, high blood pressure and asthma, which are covered at 100% (no out-of-pocket cost);
 - Oral and insulin diabetic medications (and supplies, if purchased at the same time), which are covered at 100% (again, no out-of-pocket cost).

As part of the Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement and Modernization Act, which was enacted by Congress in 2003, HSAs are designed to help individuals save for qualified health care expenses on a tax-advantaged basis.

Both you and the company are allowed to make contributions to an account that you own, which you use to save for future or pay for current health care expenses. Any money you elect to contribute to your HSA is deducted from your paycheck before taxes, which lowers your annual taxable income and allows you to pay for out-of-pocket costs with pre-tax dollars. For information about the HSAs, see the Health Savings Account section.

Note that if you elect medical coverage with an HSA Advantage plan and do not participate in an HSA (either because you elect not to or because your Medicare or TRICARE status makes you ineligible), you can elect a health care FSA and not be limited to only dental and vision expenses.

Will you soon be eligible for Medicare? See Approaching Age 65? Be Sure to Understand Your Medical Coverage Options in the Medical or Health Savings Account section to learn why it’s wise to consult your tax advisor before making any decisions about your post-65 medical coverage, such as whether or not to enroll in Medicare Part A when you are first eligible.

Note: To avoid extra steps, your pharmacist must submit the charges for the insulin/medication first (before the supplies). If the supplies are submitted first, you will be charged for them. Should this happen, you'll need to ask your pharmacist to reprocess the charges in the appropriate order before you pick up your medications/supplies or call CVS Caremark Customer Care toll-free at 866-329-4023 to request that the charges be reprocessed; and

- Brand-name preventive prescription drugs—including those used to treat high blood pressure, cardiovascular diseases, osteoporosis and mental health disorders (subject to coinsurance).

To review the Treasury Guidance list, go to www.caremark.com or call CVS Caremark at 866-329-4023.

- Electing a PCP is recommended, but not required.
- The plans are network-based, meaning you choose whether to visit a Choice Plus network provider/facility (in New England, you also have access to the Harvard Pilgrim network) and receive the highest level of benefits, or visit an out-of-network provider/facility and pay more out-of-pocket.
- The deductible, which resets each January 1, can be satisfied by one family member or a combination of family members. If you have family coverage, you must satisfy the family deductible before benefits are payable.
- After you meet the applicable deductible, the plans pay a percentage of eligible expenses. Both plans cover in-network services at a higher percentage. You pay the remainder of the charges until you reach the calendar-year in-network or out-of-network out-of-pocket maximum (both of which include the applicable deductible and coinsurance for all eligible services and supplies). If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plans cover eligible expenses at 100% in-network (up to negotiated amounts out-of-network, if applicable; see How Eligible Expenses Are Paid Out-of-Network earlier in this section for more information) for the remainder of the calendar year.
- Contact information: www.myuhc.com, 800-638-8884.

REMINDER

The HSA Advantage plans have both in-network and out-of-network deductibles and out-of-pocket maximums. Claims for services you receive in-network do not apply to the out-of-network deductible or out-of-pocket maximum, and vice versa.

To qualify for maximum benefits, you must call UHC before any scheduled inpatient admission or certain outpatient procedures. For more information, see Personal Health Support earlier in this section.

Note that while the family in-network calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum for UHC HSA Advantage 1 is $8,200, the most any one individual family member needs to spend to satisfy his/her share of the out-of-pocket maximum is $7,150.

ABOUT THE COMPANY'S HSA CONTRIBUTION AND THE CALENDAR-YEAR DEDUCTIBLE AND OUT-OF-POCKET MAXIMUMFor New Hires

If, as a new hire, your UHC HSA Advantage plan coverage becomes effective after January 1, the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA is pro-rated for that year. For details, see For New Hires in the Health Savings Account section.

In terms of the plan's deductible and out-of-pocket maximum, the entire calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum apply regardless of when your coverage with a UHC HSA Advantage plan becomes effective; they are not pro-rated.

If You Have a Change in Status During the Year

If, as the result of a qualified change in status that occurs after January 1 and before December 1, your coverage level increases (such as from employee only to employee plus family), the company contribution to your HSA is adjusted to match your new coverage level and prorated to reflect your new coverage level for the rest of the year. For details, see the Health Savings Account section. In this case, any eligible expenses incurred to date by you and/or your covered dependents prior to your change in status continue to apply toward your new calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum.

If your qualified change in status results in your coverage level decreasing (such as from employee and family to employee only), any company HSA contribution you have received that is in excess of the company contribution amount for your new coverage level remains in your HSA. In this case, any expenses your previously covered dependent(s) had incurred do not apply toward your new deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

For example, assume you start the year with family coverage and meet the UHC HSA Advantage 1 plan's in-network family deductible of $4,200 in June ($1,000 in expenses for you, $1,000 for your spouse and $2,200 for your child). On July 12, your child turns 26 and is removed from your coverage. At that time, your coverage level is adjusted to the employee and spouse level, which has a $3,150 in-network deductible. Since your child's expenses no longer apply toward your deductible, and your and your spouse's eligible expenses are $2,000, you will not have met your new deductible amount. In this case, you and your spouse will need to incur and pay for an additional $1,150 in eligible expenses in order to meet your new deductible.

Likewise, your child's expenses will no longer apply toward your out-of-pocket maximum. Since your new out-of-pocket maximum decreases from $8,200 to $6,150, you and your spouse will need to pay an additional $4,150 in coinsurance toward the cost of eligible expenses to reach your new out-of-pocket maximum.

If you have questions about how a change in status affects your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum, contact UHC at 800-638-8884. If you have questions about how a change in status affects contributions to your HSA, see the Health Savings Account section or call Fidelity at 800-544-3716.

With the exception of telehealth visits related to COVID, which are covered at 100% with no out-of-pocket cost, coverage as shown in this chart applies to both in-person and telehealth visits. For more information, see Telehealth and Virtual Visits, earlier in this section.

The plan only covers care provided by health care professionals or facilities licensed, certified or otherwise qualified under state law to provide health care services.

Note that to be covered at 100%, routine preventive care (exams and associated lab tests) cannot be related to the diagnosis or treatment of an illness or injury and must comply with age and gender recommendations of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force and/or the guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration. ¹Care must be provided by a Choice Plus network provider/facility. It is your responsibility to confirm that you are using a network provider/visiting a network facility. The only exception is for services that meet UHC's definition of an emergency, as defined in Emergency and Urgent Care earlier in this section.

²All coverage is based on the negotiated charge (defined earlier) for a particular covered health service or procedure.

³With only a few exceptions (ACA-required preventive health services, in-network routine preventive care and preventive prescription drugs on the Treasury Guidance list), covered expenses are subject to a deductible, which can be satisfied by one family member or a combination of family members. If you have family coverage, you must satisfy the family deductible before benefits are payable. Regardless of whether you visit an in-network or an out-of-network provider/facility, the plan begins paying benefits only after you satisfy the applicable deductible.

⁴If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plan generally pays 100% of the rest of your covered charges, up to the negotiated charge for each service, for the remainder of that calendar year. Note that the following do not count toward your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum:

- Charges for services that are not covered by the plan or exceed plan limitations;
- Charges in excess of the negotiated amount for provider charges or any negotiated amount for facility charges;
- Charges that are not payable because you did not comply with the plan's prenotification requirements; and
- Any penalty you pay if your provider prescribes—or you request—a preferred brand-name drug specifying "dispense as written" (which means substitutions are not permitted) and a generic equivalent is available. For more information, see the CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Coverage section.

While the family in-network calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum is $8,200, the most any one individual family member needs to spend to satisfy his/her share of the out-of-pocket maximum is $7,150.

⁵The company's HSA contribution represents the company's total annual lump-sum contribution and can be used for in-network or out-of-network services. In other words, the company does not make an in-network contribution and an out-of-network contribution.

⁶Benefits are calculated on a calendar-year basis; you do not need to wait 12 months from the date of your last eligible preventive care visit to schedule your next visit. Lab tests and screenings are covered according to age and gender recommendations of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) and/or the guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration, as determined by UHC. Immunizations are covered according to the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP), as determined by UHC. Note that to be considered routine preventive care, your exam and/or associated lab tests cannot be related to the diagnosis or treatment of an illness or injury. For more information, call UHC.

²All coverage is based on the negotiated charge (defined earlier) for a particular covered health service or procedure.

³With only a few exceptions (ACA-required preventive health services, in-network routine preventive care and preventive prescription drugs on the Treasury Guidance list), covered expenses are subject to a deductible, which can be satisfied by one family member or a combination of family members. If you have family coverage, you must satisfy the family deductible before benefits are payable. Regardless of whether you visit an in-network or an out-of-network provider/facility, the plan begins paying benefits only after you satisfy the applicable deductible.

⁴If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plan generally pays 100% of the rest of your covered charges, up to the negotiated charge for each service, for the remainder of that calendar year. Note that the following do not count toward your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum:

- Charges for services that are not covered by the plan or exceed plan limitations;
- Charges in excess of the negotiated amount for provider charges or any negotiated amount for facility charges;
- Charges that are not payable because you did not comply with the plan's prenotification requirements; and
- Any penalty you pay if your provider prescribes—or you request—a preferred brand-name drug specifying "dispense as written" (which means substitutions are not permitted) and a generic equivalent is available. For more information, see the CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Coverage section.

⁵The company's HSA contribution represents the company's total annual lump-sum contribution and can be used for in-network or out-of-network services. In other words, the company does not make an in-network contribution and an out-of-network contribution.

⁶Benefits are calculated on a calendar-year basis; you do not need to wait 12 months from the date of your last eligible preventive care visit to schedule your next visit. Lab tests and screenings are covered according to age and gender recommendations of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) and/or the guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration, as determined by UHC. Immunizations are covered according to the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP), as determined by UHC. Note that to be considered routine preventive care, your exam and/or associated lab tests cannot be related to the diagnosis or treatment of an illness or injury. For more information, call UHC.

UnitedHealthcare Out-of-Area Plan

If you live in an area where a fully developed network is not available, medical coverage is available through the UnitedHealthcare (UHC) Out-of-Area plan. You make all decisions regarding where, when and how to receive your medical care. It's up to you as a health care consumer to select a provider/facility as well as to ensure that treatment is provided in the most appropriate and cost-effective manner.

How the Plan Works

- Electing a primary care physician (PCP) is recommended, but not required.
- Because the Out-of-Area plan is not network-based, coverage is provided at the same benefit level regardless of your choice of provider/facility or location within the United States. However, you can save money when you use a provider/facility in the Options Preferred Provider Organization (PPO), which is available nationwide. (See the box below for details.)
- Eligible preventive-care services (as identified by the ACA under the Preventive Care Services benefit) are covered at 100% with no out-of-pocket expense. In compliance with the ACA, this coverage extends to include Women's Health Services (as defined by UHC).
- For all other covered services, you generally have to meet a calendar-year deductible before the plan pays benefits. (See the sidebar for information about the deductible.)
- Once you meet the deductible, the plan pays 80% of negotiated charges for most covered health services and supplies. You pay the remaining 20%, up to the calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum.
- If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plan pays 100% (up to negotiated amounts) of your covered charges for the remainder of that calendar year.
- Contact information: www.myuhc.com, 800-638-8884.

UNITEDHEALTHCARE OPTIONS PPO—SAVING YOU TIME AND MONEY

To help you take advantage of lower costs for your care when possible, the Out-of-Area plan offers access to the UnitedHealthcare Options Preferred Provider Organization (PPO)—a network of physicians, specialists and health care providers/facilities that has negotiated discounted rates for covered health services.

When you use a provider/facility that participates in the Options PPO, you enjoy several advantages, including:

- Lower costs for your care. You pay less when you use a PPO provider because your coinsurance (the percentage you pay) is based on a lower fee. And, if your provider/facility charges more than the negotiated charge, you are not required to pay the difference (called "balance billing").
- No claims forms to file. When you use a PPO provider /facility, your doctor or health care facility files your claims for you, saving you time. You will receive a statement of what the plan paid and the coinsurance you owe, based on the lower PPO negotiated fee.
- Flexibility to choose who you see. You always have the option of seeing the doctor, specialist or other health care provider you wish. This means that you can continue to see the medical providers/facilities you currently use, whether or not they participate in the PPO.

UnitedHealthcare Options PPO network providers/facilities are available in most major metropolitan areas. To find participating providers/facilities online, go to www.myuhc.com.

When you receive certain services such as hospitalization, you are responsible for ensuring prenotification policies are followed. For more information, see Personal Health Support earlier in this section.

If you do not satisfy any part of the deductible during the first three quarters of the calendar year (January through September), any deductible met or partially met during the last quarter of the calendar year (October to December) is carried over and applied to the appropriate deductible for the following calendar year, provided that you remain in the same plan.

Limitations and Exclusions

The following limitations and exclusions apply to the UHC plans. To qualify for the highest level of benefits for UHC HSA Advantage 1 and UHC HSA Advantage 2, all services and supplies must generally be received through the Choice Plus network (and, in New England, the Passport Connect program). Note that any references to out-of-network do not apply to the Out-of-Area plan.

COVERED HEALTH SERVICES

Covered health services are those health services, supplies or equipment provided for the purpose of preventing, diagnosing or treating a sickness, injury, mental illness, substance use disorder or their symptoms. Covered health services must be provided:

- When the UHC plan is in effect;
- Before an individual's coverage with the UHC plan ends; and
- Only when the person who receives services is a covered person and meets all eligibility requirements specified in the UHC plan.

A covered health service must meet each of the following criteria:

- It is supported by national medical standards of practice;
- It is consistent with conclusions of prevailing medical research that demonstrate that the health service has a beneficial effect on health outcomes and is based on trials that meet the following designs:
 - Well-conducted randomized controlled trials. (Two or more treatments are compared to each other, and the patient is not allowed to choose which treatment is received); or
 - Well-conducted cohort studies. (Patients who receive study treatment are compared to a group of patients who receive standard therapy. The comparison group must be nearly identical to the study treatment group);
- It is the most cost-effective method and yields a similar outcome to other available alternatives; and
- It is a health service or supply that is described in the plan documents, and that is not excluded under general exclusions.

Decisions about whether to cover new technologies, procedures and treatments will be consistent with conclusions of prevailing medical research, based on well-conducted randomized trials or cohort studies, as described.

Limitations

- Benefits for acupuncture are available for the treatment of chronic pain and nausea only; services must meet UHC guidelines. Services must be provided by a licensed provider (DO, MD, DSS) qualified in the use of acupuncture or an acupuncturist licensed by the state or certified by the National Commission of Acupuncturists.
- With the exception of the Out-of-Area plan, UHC covers charges by a licensed or certified audiologist for physician-prescribed hearing evaluations to determine the location of a disease within the auditory system as well as for validation or organicity tests to confirm an organic hearing problem.
 - Audiologist charges for services relating to prescription hearing aids or basic hearing evaluations are not covered.
- UHC pays benefits for psychiatric services for autism spectrum disorders (ASD) that are both of the following:
 - Provided by or under the direction of an experienced psychiatrist and/or an experienced licensed psychiatric provider; and
 - Focused on treating maladaptive/stereotypic behaviors that are posing danger to self, others and property and impairment in daily functioning.

These benefits describe only the psychiatric component of treatment for autism spectrum disorders.

Final Coverage Determined by UHC

As the claims fiduciary, UHC makes the final decision as to whether or not a particular service is covered, and for covered services, the benefit payable. For questions about what is and is not covered under your plan, call UHC. For information about how to appeal a denied claim, see Applying for Benefits in the Administrative section.

By enrolling in a UHC plan, you agree to allow all providers to give UHC needed information about your care. UHC keeps all such information strictly confidential. If a provider requires specific authorization to release records, you must provide this authorization. Your failure to provide authorization or requested information may result in denial of your claim.

Benefits include the following services provided on either an outpatient or inpatient basis:

- Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapy (see Treating Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD) earlier in this section for a description);
- Crisis intervention;
- Diagnostic evaluations and assessment;
- Individual, family, therapeutic group and provider-based case management services;
- Medication management;
- Referral services; and
- Treatment planning.

Benefits include inpatient partial hospitalization/day treatment and services at a residential treatment facility. Outpatient benefits include those for intensive outpatient treatment.

UHC determines coverage for all levels of care. If an inpatient stay is required, it is covered on a semi-private room basis. You are encouraged to contact UHC for referrals to providers and coordination of care.

- Breast pumps must be purchased from a UHC network supplier.
- Benefits for dental services are only available in the event of an accidental injury. For benefits to be paid, all of the following must be true:
 - Benefits are available only for the treatment of a sound, natural tooth. Before the plan will cover treatment of an injured tooth, the dentist must certify that the tooth is virgin or unrestored, or that it has no decay, has no filling on more than two surfaces, has no gum disease associated with bone loss, has no root canal therapy, is not a dental implant and functions normally in chewing and speech;
 - Treatment is necessary because of accidental damage to the tooth;
 - The dental damage did not occur as a result of normal activities of daily living or extraordinary use of the teeth;
 - The dental services are received from a doctor of dental surgery (DDS) or doctor of medical dentistry (DMD); and
 - The dental damage is severe enough that initial contact with a physician or dentist occurred within 72 hours of the accident. (You may request an extension of this time period provided that you do so within 60 days of the injury and if extenuating circumstances exist due to the severity of the injury.)

Dental services for final treatment to repair the damage caused by accidental injury must be started within three months of the accident (or if not a covered person at the time of the accident, within three months of coverage under the plan) unless extenuating circumstances exist (such as prolonged hospitalization or the presence of fixation wires from fracture care) and completed within 12 months of the accident (or if not a covered person at the time of the accident, within 12 months of coverage under the plan).

UHC pays for treatment of accidental injury only for:

- Emergency examination;
- Endodontic (root canal) treatment;
- Extractions;
- Necessary diagnostic x-rays;
- Post-traumatic crowns if such are the only clinically acceptable treatment;
- Prefabricated post and core;
- Replacement of lost teeth due to the injury by implant, dentures or bridges;
- Simple minimal restorative procedures (fillings); and
- Temporary splinting of teeth.

UHC defines autism spectrum disorders as conditions marked by enduring problems communicating and interacting with others, along with restricted and repetitive behavior, interests or activities.

Limitations (continued)

- UHC pays for durable medical equipment (DME) that is:
 - Ordered or provided by a physician for outpatient use, primarily in a home setting;
 - Used for medical purposes;
 - Not consumable or disposable except as needed for the effective use of DME (note that urinary catheters are covered);
 - Not of use to a person in the absence of a disease or disability; and
 - Durable enough to withstand repeated use.

If more than one piece of DME can meet your functional needs, benefits are available only for the equipment that meets the minimum specifications for your needs. If you purchase an item that exceeds these minimum specifications, the plan will pay only the amount that the plan would have paid for the item that meets the minimum specifications, and you will be responsible for paying any difference in cost. Benefits are provided for a single unit of DME (e.g., one insulin pump) and for repairs of that unit.

Examples of DME include, but are not limited to:

- Braces that stabilize an injured body part, including orthotic braces and necessary adjustments to shoes to accommodate braces. (Note that braces that stabilize an injured body part and braces to treat curvature of the spine are considered DME and are a covered health service. Dental braces are excluded from coverage);
- Burn garments;
- Compression stockings;
- Continuous Positive Air Pressure (CPAP) machines;
- Cranial bands and helmets for infants;
- Delivery pumps for tube feedings;
- Equipment to assist with mobility, such as a standard wheelchair;
- Equipment for the treatment of chronic or acute respiratory failure or conditions;
- External cochlear devices and systems. UHC also covers inpatient or outpatient surgery to place a cochlear implant;
- Insulin pumps, including wireless pumps, such as Omnipod, and all related necessary supplies as described in the plan documents;
- Lymphedema stockings for the arm (as required by the Women's Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998);
- Mechanical equipment necessary to treat chronic or acute respiratory failure (note that air conditioners, humidifiers, dehumidifiers, air purifiers and filters or personal comfort items are not covered);
- Negative pressure wound therapy pumps (wound vacuum);
- Orthotic appliances and devices, including foot orthotics, shoe orthotics, shoes or any braces, are covered only if prescribed by a physician for a medical purpose and are custom-manufactured or custom-fitted to the individual covered person;
- Ostomy bags and related supplies;
- Other prescribed medical and disposable supplies, such as ace bandages, diabetic strips and syringes;
- Oxygen and the rental of equipment to administer oxygen (including tubing, connectors and masks);
- Standard hospital-type beds; and
- Urinary catheters.

Note that any references to out-of-network do not apply to the Out-of-Area plan.

You must notify UHC before obtaining any single item of DME (including oxygen and items related to the management and treatment of diabetes) from an in- or out-of-network provider that costs more than $1,000 (purchase, rental, repair or replacement of DME). If you do not notify UHC, benefits are reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

UHC also covers tubings, nasal cannulas, connectors and masks used in connection with DME. UHC will decide if the equipment should be rented or purchased. For example, CPAP machines must first be rented, not purchased. You must rent or purchase the DME from the vendor UHC identifies or directly from the prescribing network physician.

The benefits described here apply to external DME, and not any device, appliance, pump, machine, stimulator or monitor that is fully implanted into the body. Benefits for implantable devices are provided under the applicable medical/surgical covered health service categories.

At UHC's discretion, replacements are covered for damage beyond repair with normal wear and tear, when repair costs exceed new purchase price, or when a change in the covered person's medical condition occurs sooner than the three-year timeframe. Repairs—including the replacement of essential accessories, such as hoses, tubes, mouth pieces, etc.—for necessary DME are only covered when required to make the item/device serviceable and the estimated repair expense does not exceed the cost of purchasing or renting another item/device. Requests for repairs may be made at anytime and are not subject to the three-year timeline for replacement.

Prenotification Required. You must notify UHC before obtaining any single item of DME from an in- or out-of-network provider that costs more than $1,000 (purchase, rental, repair or replacement of DME). If you do not notify UHC, benefits are reduced to 50% of eligible expenses.

- Enteral nutrition is covered when it is the required source of nutrition and/or prescribed to treat inborn errors of metabolism.
- With the exception of the Out-of-Area plan, UHC covers hearing aids that are required for the correction of a hearing impairment (a reduction in the ability to perceive sound, which may range from slight to complete deafness). Hearing aids are electronic amplifying devices designed to bring sound more effectively into the ear. A hearing aid consists of a microphone, amplifier and receiver.

Benefits are available for a hearing aid that is purchased as a result of a written recommendation by a physician. Benefits are provided for the hearing aid and for charges for associated fitting and testing. Note that if more than one type of hearing aid can meet your functional needs, benefits are available only for the hearing aid that meets the minimum specifications for your needs. If you purchase a hearing aid that exceeds these minimum specifications, the plan will pay only the amount that the plan would have paid for the hearing aid that meets the minimum specifications, and you will be responsible for paying any difference in cost.

Benefits do not include bone-anchored hearing aids. Bone-anchored hearing aids are covered under the applicable medical/surgical covered health services categories of the plan documents only for covered persons who have either of the following:

- Craniofacial anomalies whose abnormal or absent ear canals preclude the use of a wearable hearing aid; or
- Hearing loss of sufficient severity that it would not be adequately remedied by a wearable hearing aid.

All hearing aids, supplies and repairs combined are subject to a $3,000 maximum per person every three calendar years (in- and out-of-network combined).

- Infertility coverage is limited to $25,000 per lifetime for any treatments covered by your medical plan (in- and out-of-network combined) and $10,000 per lifetime for prescription drugs that are related to infertility and covered by your prescription drug program.

For a description of covered services and limitations, see Infertility Services earlier in this section. Note that certain infertility treatment-related services are not covered. For details, see Exclusions later in this section.

Note: The Out-of-Area plan does not cover hearing care or hearing aids.

- Covered expenses for multiple surgical procedures—which occur when you receive more than one surgical procedure during the same operative session—are generally limited as follows:
 - Covered expenses for a secondary procedure are limited to a lesser percentage of the covered expense that would have been performed during a separate operative session; and
 - Covered expenses for any subsequent procedure are limited to a lesser percentage of the covered expenses that would otherwise be considered for the subsequent procedure had it been performed during a separate operative session.

The Multiple Procedure Policy is intended to address multiple surgeries and separate procedures performed by the same provider on the same patient in the same operative session. Multiple procedure reductions apply to additional procedures by the same provider on the same day, including bilateral procedures, based on the medical/surgical “package” associated with the Current Procedural Terminology (CPT) codes billed.

- Nutritional counseling as preventive care is covered at 100% up to two in-network visits per person per calendar year (covered services received out-of-network are subject to coinsurance and deductible). These counseling sessions are in addition to the three individual sessions that are covered when a medical condition requires a special diet.
- Nutritional counseling for medical conditions requiring a special diet is limited to three individual sessions with a registered dietician for each medical condition per lifetime. Examples include:
 - Coronary artery disease;
 - Congestive heart failure;
 - Diabetes mellitus;
 - Gout (a form of arthritis);
 - Hyperlipidemia (excess of fatty substances in the blood);
 - Phenylketonuria (a genetic disorder diagnosed at infancy);
 - Renal failure; and
 - Severe obstructive airway disease.

These counseling sessions are in addition to the two in-network visits per person per calendar year covered at 100% as preventive care (covered services received out-of-network are subject to deductible and coinsurance).

- Oral contraceptives are covered through the CVS Caremark prescription drug program.
- Orthognathic surgery is covered only for the treatment of an acute, traumatic injury, tumor, cancer, congenital anomaly or obstructive sleep apnea.
- Ostomy supplies include pouches, face plates, belts, irrigation sleeves, bags, ostomy irrigation catheters and skin barriers. Benefits are not available for deodorants, filters, lubricants, tape, appliance cleaners, adhesive, adhesive remover or other items not specifically listed as covered.
- UHC covers prosthetic devices and appliances that replace a limb or body part, or help an impaired limb or body part work. Examples include but are not limited to:
 - Artificial arms, legs, feet and hands;
 - Artificial face, eyes, ears and nose; and
 - Breast prosthesis following mastectomy as required by the Women’s Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998, including mastectomy bras and lymphedema stockings for the arm.

If more than one prosthetic device can meet a covered person’s functional needs, benefits are available only for the most cost-effective prosthetic device. The device must be ordered or provided either by a physician or under a physician’s direction.

Benefits are provided for the replacement of a type of prosthetic device once every five calendar years.

Note that any references to out-of-network do not apply to the Out-of-Area plan.

Note that prosthetic devices may be covered for damage beyond repair with normal wear and tear when repair costs are less than the cost of replacement, or when a change in the covered person's medical condition or physical changes (i.e., weight gain/loss, child's growth, etc.) as verified by the doctor occur sooner than the five-year time-frame.

Replacement of artificial limbs or any part of such devices may be covered when the condition of the device or part requires repairs that cost more than the cost of a replacement device or part.

UHC does not cover the repair and replacement of prosthetic devices when damaged due to misuse, malicious breakage or gross neglect; or the replacement of lost or stolen prosthetic devices.

Coverage is subject to UHC review; and any rental or purchase must meet clinical requirements.

- Reconstructive procedures are covered when a physical impairment exists and the primary purpose of the procedure is to improve or restore physiologic function for an organ or body part. Improving or restoring function means that the organ or body part is made to work better.

Benefits for reconstructive procedures include breast reconstruction following a mastectomy and reconstruction of the non-affected breast to achieve symmetry.

With the exception of certain procedures related to gender dysphoria, cosmetic procedures are not covered.

- Benefits for reconstructive surgery are available only to correct or repair damage following an injury or disease.
- Rehabilitation benefits (outpatient physical, occupational, speech (restorative only), pulmonary rehabilitation and cardiac rehabilitation therapy) may be denied or shortened for a covered person who is not progressing in goal-directed rehabilitation services or if rehabilitation goals have previously been met.
- Benefits for reproductive services are provided for voluntary sterilization; surgical, non-surgical or drug-induced pregnancy termination; health services and associated expenses for elective abortion; fetal reduction surgery; and contraceptive supplies and services. Benefits are not provided for surrogate parenting; the reversal of voluntary sterilization; or artificial reproductive treatments for gender or trait selection.
- Spinal treatment, manipulative and osteopathic manipulative therapy is eligible for coverage when provided by a chiropractor who is part of the American Chiropractic Network. Benefits can be denied or shortened for covered persons who are not progressing in goal-directed rehabilitation services or manipulative treatment, or if goals have previously been met.
- UHC covers diagnostic and surgical treatment of conditions affecting the temporomandibular joint (TMJ) when provided by or under the direction of a physician. Coverage includes necessary treatment required as a result of acute traumatic injury, tumor, cancer or congenital anomaly.

Diagnostic treatment includes examination, radiographs and applicable imaging studies and consultation. Non-surgical treatment includes clinical examinations, arthrocentesis and trigger-point injections.

Benefits are provided for surgical treatment if:

- There is clearly demonstrated radiographic evidence of significant joint abnormality;
- Non-surgical treatment has failed to adequately resolve the symptoms; and
- Pain or dysfunction is moderate or severe.

Benefits for surgical services include arthrocentesis, arthroscopy, arthroplasty, arthrotomy, as well as open or closed reduction of dislocations.

Benefits for an inpatient stay in a hospital and hospital-based physician services are described in the plan documents.

Oral appliances for TMJ or any TMJ treatment that is dental in nature are not covered by UHC, but may be covered by your dental plan (check with UHC for details).

- Indwelling and intermittent urinary catheters are covered for incontinence or retention. Benefits are limited to the following urologic supplies related to indwelling catheters: urinary drainage bag and insertion tray (kit), anchoring device and irrigation tubing set.

Exclusions

EXPERIMENTAL, INVESTIGATIONAL OR UNPROVEN SERVICES

UHC does not cover any expenses incurred for services, supplies, medical care or treatment relating to, arising out of or given in connection with medical, surgical, diagnostic, psychiatric, substance-related and addictive disorders or other health care services, technologies, supplies, treatments, procedures, drug therapies or devices that, at the time UHC makes a determination regarding coverage in a particular case, are determined to be:

- Not approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to be lawfully marketed for the proposed use and not identified in the American Hospital Formulary Service, or the United States Pharmacopoeia Dispensing Information, as appropriate for the proposed use; or
- Subject to review and approval by any institutional review board for the proposed use; or
- The subject of an ongoing clinical trial that meets the definition of a Phase I, II or III clinical trial set forth in the FDA regulations, regardless of whether the trial is actually subject to FDA oversight; or
- Not demonstrated through prevailing peer-reviewed medical literature to be safe and effective for treating or diagnosing the condition or illness for which its use is proposed.

Unproven services are health services that, according to prevailing medical research, do not have a beneficial effect on health outcomes and are not based on well-conducted randomized controlled trials or well-conducted cohort studies.

In a randomized trial, two or more treatments are compared to each other, and the patients are not allowed to choose which treatments they receive. In a cohort study, patients who receive study treatment are compared to a group of patients who receive standard therapy. In both cases, the comparison group must be nearly identical to the study treatment group.

If you have a sickness or injury that UHC may, in its judgment, deem an experimental, investigational or unproven service covered under the plan for treating a sickness or condition if it is determined by UHC that the experimental, investigational or unproven service at the time of the determination:

- Is proved to be safe and promising; and
- Is provided in a clinically controlled research setting; and
- Uses a specific research protocol that meets standards equivalent to those defined by the National Institutes of Health.

Coverage may be denied even if the service has received FDA approval but has not yet been deemed a proven treatment by UHC.

Coverage for Clinical Trials for Treatment of Cancer or Other Diseases

Effective for plan years beginning on or after January 1, 2014, all group health plans that are not grandfathered under the ACA must provide members with cancer and other diseases who qualify to participate in an approved clinical trial with coverage for routine patient costs.

This ACA mandate expands any existing clinical trial coverage to include preventive and Phase IV trials that involve monitoring the effectiveness of the device or drug that is part of the trial.

Routine patient costs are all medically necessary health care services provided for the purposes of the trial, including those provided by doctors, diagnostic or laboratory tests, and other services that are consistent with the customary standard of patient care and would be otherwise covered by the medical plan if the member was not a trial participant.

Routine patient costs do not include the actual device, equipment or drug that is being studied as part of the clinical trial. Also excluded are items or services that are not used in the direct clinical management of the patient, such as those solely to satisfy data collection and analysis needs, or items and services clearly inconsistent with accepted standards of care for the particular disease or condition.

Members may qualify for an approved clinical trial if:

- They meet the trial's protocols, and
- A participating provider deems the member eligible and refers him/her to the trial as appropriate for the purpose of the trial, consistent with the member's benefit plan documents.

Members also can provide UHC with medical and scientific information to establish that their participation in the trial is appropriate and consistent with the trial protocol.

Note that any references to out-of-network do not apply to the Out-of-Area plan.

UHC defines sickness to include physical illness, disease or pregnancy. Note that the term sickness includes mental illness, or substance-related and addictive disorders, regardless of the cause or origin of the mental illness, or substance-related and addictive disorder.

Exclusions (continued)

The UHC plans do not cover any expenses incurred for services, supplies, medical care or treatment relating to, arising out of or given in connection with the following:

- Acupressure.

 - Halfway house;
 - Hospice;
 - Skilled nursing facility;
 - Treatment center;
 - Vocational rehabilitation center; and
 - Any other area of a hospital that renders services on an inpatient basis for other than acute care of sick, injured or pregnant persons.

If the facility is otherwise covered under the UHC plan, then benefits for that covered facility that is part of a hospital, as defined, are payable at the coverage level for that facility—not at the coverage level for a hospital.

Examples include pharmacological regimens; nutritional procedures or treatments; tattoo or scar removal, or revision procedures (such as salabrasion, chemosurgery and other such skin abrasion procedures); replacement of an existing intact breast implant if the earlier breast implant was performed as a cosmetic procedure (Note: Replacement of an existing breast implant is considered reconstructive if the initial breast implant followed mastectomy; see reconstructive surgery in the Limitations section for further details); varicose vein treatment of the lower extremities (including vein stripping, ligation and sclerotherapy); and treatment of benign gynecomastia (abnormal breast enlargement in males). It does not matter whether or not it is for psychological or emotional reasons. Note: Certain cosmetic procedures are covered to treat gender dysphoria; see the entry for gender dysphoria later in this section.
- Custodial or maintenance care. This is care made up of services and supplies that meet one of the following conditions:
 - Care furnished mainly to train or assist in personal hygiene or other activities of daily living, rather than to provide medical treatment; and/or
 - Care that does not seek a cure, or can safely and adequately be provided by persons who do not have the technical skills of a covered health care professional.
 Care that meets one of these conditions is custodial care regardless of any of the following:

 - Devices used specifically as safety items or to affect performance in sports-related activities;
 - Orthotic appliances and devices, including, but not limited to foot orthotics, shoe orthotics, shoes or any braces that can be obtained without a physician's order.  - Sober-living arrangements, such as drug-free housing or alcohol/drug halfway houses, that provide stable and safe housing, an alcohol/drug-free environment and support for recovery. Sober-living arrangements may be used as an addition to ambulatory treatment when that treatment does not offer the intensity and structure needed to help with recovery; or
 - Supervised living arrangements, such as facilities, group homes and supervised apartments, that provide stable and safe housing and the opportunity to learn how to manage activities of daily living. Supervised living arrangements may be used as an addition to treatment when that treatment does not offer the intensity and structure needed to help with recovery;
 - Treatment for conduct and impulse control disorders, personality disorders, paraphilias (unusual sexual urges) and other mental illnesses that will not substantially improve beyond the current level of functioning, or that are not subject to favorable modification or management according to prevailing national standards of clinical practice, as determined by the mental health/substance-related and addictive disorders administrator;
 - Treatment provided in connection with involuntary commitments, police detentions and other similar arrangements, unless pre-authorized by the mental health/substance-related and addictive disorders administrator;

 - Prevailing national standards of clinical practice for the treatment of such conditions;
 - Prevailing professional research demonstrating that the services or supplies will have a measurable and beneficial health outcome; or

Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage Plan (California)

Kaiser Permanente, a California nonprofit corporation (Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc.), administers an HSA Advantage plan that is available to employees in California.

Kaiser Permanente provides services directly to members through an integrated medical care program. As a Kaiser Permanente member, you select this medical care program to provide your health care. That means Kaiser Permanente plan providers inside the Kaiser Permanente service area provide the care you need, including:

- Routine care with your own personal plan physician,
- Hospital care,
- Laboratory and pharmacy services,
- Urgent care and emergency services, and
- Other benefits as described in the Evidence of Coverage booklet.

It's important to remember that by selecting Kaiser Permanente to provide your health care, you must receive all covered care from Kaiser Permanente plan providers inside the Kaiser Permanente service area. As described in the Evidence of Coverage booklet, the only exceptions include the following: Authorized referrals, emergency ambulance services, emergency services, post-stabilization care, out-of-area urgent care and hospice care.

Kaiser Permanente also offers a variety of health education programs that provide ways to protect and improve your health.

For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet, which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs, or call Member Services. To view the Evidence of Coverage booklet, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, call Member Services). Note that in the case of any discrepancy between this document and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

Choosing a Primary Care Physician (PCP)

Whether you're new to Kaiser Permanente or a long-time member looking to make a change, it's easy to select a personal physician—called your primary care physician (PCP)—to coordinate your care. Remember that with the exception of certain services (authorized referrals, emergency ambulance services, emergency services, post-stabilization care, out-of-area urgent care and hospice care), your PCP must provide or coordinate all your care.

To find Kaiser Permanente providers and locations:

- Go to www.kp.org/locations. Use the doctor and location search to learn about each practitioner's gender, certifications, specialties, languages, interests and more. If you don't choose a PCP, Kaiser Permanente can select one for you,
- Go to Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> and click on the My Resources tab and Benefit Provider Contacts, or
- If you are a member, call Member Services.

Want to make a switch? You can change your PCP at any time and for any reason. If you make a change, your plan's Member Services representative will tell you when the change will become effective.

This section provides a brief summary of the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan available in California. For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet, which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs that may be offered—or call the Member Services number on your medical ID card. KAISER PERMANENTE: HEALTH FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

At Kaiser Permanente, we believe that good health care begins with selecting a personal physician, one you choose and can change at any time. Our proactive approach to health also includes:

- Coverage for a range of preventive services;
- Simple, no-paperwork referrals to Kaiser Permanente specialists;
- Facilities that offer primary care, laboratory, x-ray and pharmacy services all under one roof—integrating your care and saving multiple trips;
- Telehealth services, so you can connect to primary, specialty and urgent care providers with email, phone and video visits-- from home or while you're traveling (see the inset box Reminder: Non-Preventive Phone and Video Visits Subject to the Deductible for important information about scheduled non-preventive phone and video visits); and
- A secure, electronic medical record that goes wherever you go—giving Kaiser Permanente's doctors, nurses and other authorized health care staff important access to your medical history. Note that any telehealth visits become part of your electronic medical record.

In addition, as a Kaiser Permanente member, you can go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> to access a variety of services, including emailing your doctor's office, requesting routine appointments, viewing certain lab results and ordering prescription refills. You can also access online resources like health and drug encyclopedias, or create a personalized action plan to help you lose weight, eat better or stop smoking. To learn more about available services, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> or call Member Services.

REMINDER: NON-PREVENTIVE PHONE AND VIDEO VISITS SUBJECT TO THE DEDUCTIBLE

To comply with Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rules regarding HSA-qualified plans, scheduled non-preventive phone and video visits are subject to the HSA Advantage plan deductible. Your cost will depend on the service you receive and the length of your visit. Once you satisfy your deductible, these services will be provided at no out-of-pocket cost to you (in other words, coinsurance will not apply).

Generally speaking, scheduled phone and video visits cost less than in-person visits. To request an estimate for a scheduled non-preventive phone or video visit, call Member Services.

After your visit, you'll receive a bill for any deductible amount you owe. If you have more questions about this change, call Member Services. For more information about phone and video visits, go to kp.org/getcare.

Note that this change does not affect emailing your doctor's office with non-urgent questions, or calling a licensed care provider for advice, referrals, prescriptions and more. These services are not subject to the deductible and continue to be provided at no cost to you.

PARTNERING WITH TARGET STORES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

To make routine care and other services more convenient, Kaiser Permanente partners with Target throughout southern California to offer Target Clinics. When you visit a Target Clinic, you pay the same copay as you would pay at a Kaiser Permanente facility.

Kaiser Permanente members, and as well as Target guests who are not members, can visit clinics for a wide range of services, including:

- Treatment for minor illnesses, such as cold and flu;
- Care for chronic illnesses, such as diabetes and high blood pressure;
- Child and adolescent care (starting at 2 weeks old);
- Video consultations with doctors and other providers;
- Vaccinations;
- Women's health services; and
- Basic dermatology services.

Clinics are open seven days a week and are operated by Kaiser Permanente's Southern California Permanente Medical Group. Clinics are staffed with Kaiser Permanente nurse practitioners and licensed vocational nurses (LVNs). Kaiser Permanente physicians also have a physical presence in some locations.

For more information, call Member Services.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH TREATMENT FOR PERVASIVE DEVELOPMENTAL DISORDER (PDD) AND AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDER (ASD)

The Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan available in California covers evidence-based behavioral health treatment, such as Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) for members diagnosed with Pervasive Developmental Disorder (PDD) or Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD). Medically necessary services can be provided in the member's home, clinic or other community-based non-educational setting.

Covered services include those that develop or restore, to the maximum extent practicable, the functioning of a person with pervasive developmental disorder or autism and that meet criteria established by Kaiser Permanente, including that:

- Services are provided inside the service area;
- Treatment is prescribed by a plan physician, or is developed by a plan provider who is a psychologist; and
- Treatment is provided under a treatment plan prescribed and administered by a plan provider who is a qualified autism service provider (as defined by Kaiser Permanente).

The treatment plan must:

- Utilize evidence-based practices, with demonstrated clinical efficacy in treating pervasive developmental disorder or autism;
- Have measurable goals over a specific timeline. The qualified autism service provider must review the treatment plan—and make modifications whenever appropriate—no less than once every six months.

In addition, the qualified autism service provider must follow certain Kaiser Permanente criteria. For example, the intervention plan must include the service type, number of hours and parent participation needed to achieve the plan's goal and objectives, and the frequency at which the member's progress is evaluated and reported. Coverage for intensive behavioral intervention services ends when the treatment goals and objectives are achieved or deemed to be no longer appropriate.

Note that the treatment plan cannot be used for purposes of providing (or for the reimbursement of) respite care, day care, or educational services, or to reimburse a parent for participating in the treatment program.

For a complete description of covered services, view the Evidence of Coverage booklet.

About Limitations, Exclusions and Administrative Information

Please note that this section does not provide a description of Kaiser Permanente's limitations, exclusions or administrative information, including post-service claims and appeals, coordination of benefits (COB) provisions and subrogation provisions. Be sure to review the Kaiser Permanente Evidence of Coverage booklet for this information.

When you elect the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan, you are eligible for a health savings account (HSA). The company makes an annual lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January. Company contributions vary by coverage level. You also can make contributions. The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit.

You always own the money in your HSA. Any unused money carries over to the next year and may earn interest—there are no “use-it-or-lose-it” rules. And if you leave the company, the money in your HSA belongs to you. (For detailed information about HSAs, see the section Health Savings Account.)

While federal regulations prohibit anyone who is making or receiving contributions to an HSA from having other health care coverage, including through a health care flexible spending account (FSA), if applicable, eligible employees do have the option of enrolling in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, which can be used to pay for eligible dental and vision expenses. For more information, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section of this handbook, if applicable.

Note also that while this regulation applies to Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D, as well as TRICARE, since the HSA Advantage plan is not linked to an HSA, Medicare/TRICARE participants can elect an HSA Advantage plan without funding an HSA. In this case, you can use your HSA Advantage plan to pay for eligible expenses incurred by you and your dependents. As long as you are not funding your HSA, it is not considered other health care coverage.

How the Plan Works

Here is a brief overview of how the plan works. The pages that follow provide a Summary of Benefits chart for the plan.

- The federal government regulates the design of health plans with HSAs.
- Most covered expenses—including most prescription drugs—are subject to a calendar-year deductible, which resets each January 1. There are two exceptions:
 - Routine in-network preventive care, which is covered at 100% in-network (no deductible, no coinsurance, no out-of-pocket cost). In compliance with the Affordable Care Act (ACA), this coverage extends to include Women’s Health Services, certain preventive supplements and tobacco-cessation prescriptions (as defined by Kaiser Permanente); and
 - Preventive prescription drugs, which are covered at 100% (again, no deductible, no coinsurance, no out-of-pocket cost).
- The deductible can be satisfied by one family member or a combination of family members. Note that if you have employee and spouse, employee and child(ren) or employee and family coverage, each individual is limited to a $2,800 individual deductible. You do not have to satisfy the family deductible before benefits for that individual are payable.
- After you meet the deductible, the plan pays a percentage of eligible expenses. You pay the remainder of the charges until you reach the calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum (which includes the deductible and coinsurance for all eligible services and supplies). If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plan covers eligible expenses at 100% for the remainder of the calendar year. Note that if you have employee

As part of the Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement and Modernization Act, which was enacted by Congress in 2003, HSAs are designed to help individuals save for qualified health care expenses on a tax-advantaged basis.

Both you and the company are allowed to make contributions to an account that you own, which you use to save for future or pay for current health care expenses. Any money you elect to contribute to your HSA is deducted from your paycheck before federal taxes, which lowers your annual taxable income and allows you to pay for out-of-pocket costs with pre-tax dollars. Note that while California does not offer pre-tax savings on HSA contributions, you still save on the federal tax. For information about the HSAs, see the section Health Savings Account.

Note that if you elect medical coverage with an HSA Advantage plan and do not participate in an HSA (either because you elect not to or because your Medicare or TRICARE status makes you ineligible), you can elect a health care FSA, if applicable, and not be limited to only dental and vision expenses.

Will you soon be eligible for Medicare? See Approaching Age 65? Be Sure to Understand Your Medical Coverage Options in the Medical or Health Savings Account section to learn why it’s wise to consult your tax advisor before making any decisions about your post-65 medical coverage, such as whether or not to enroll in Medicare Part A when you are first eligible.

and spouse, employee and child(ren) or employee and family coverage, each individual is limited to a $4,100 individual out-of-pocket maximum. You do not have to satisfy the family out-of-pocket maximum before benefits for that individual are payable.

- Again, care obtained outside the Kaiser Permanente network is generally covered only in emergencies, as defined by the plan. In certain unusual circumstances, your PCP may refer you to an out-of-network specialist. Unless your PCP receives authorization from the plan, any care you receive outside the network will not be covered.
- Kaiser Permanente provides prescription drug coverage for this plan. The CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Program section does not apply to the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan.

For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet—which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs that may be offered—or call Member Services. To view the Evidence of Coverage, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, simply return the postcard you will receive after you enroll or call Member Services). In the case of any discrepancy between this document and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

If you need emergency or urgent medical care whether at home or while traveling anywhere in the world, follow the procedures on your identification card in order to receive maximum benefits from the plan.

ABOUT THE COMPANY'S HSA CONTRIBUTION AND THE CALENDAR-YEAR DEDUCTIBLE AND OUT-OF-POCKET MAXIMUMFor New Hires

If, as a new hire, your Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan coverage becomes effective after January 1, the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA is pro-rated for that year. For details, see For New Hires in the Health Savings Account section.

In terms of the plan's deductible and out-of-pocket maximum, the entire calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum apply regardless of when your coverage with the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan becomes effective; they are not pro-rated.

If You Have a Change in Status During the Year

If, as the result of a qualified change in status that occurs after January 1 and before December 1, your coverage level increases (such as from employee only to employee and family), the company contribution to your HSA is adjusted to match your new coverage level and prorated to reflect your new coverage level for the rest of the year. For details, see the section Health Savings Account. In this case, any eligible expenses incurred to date by you and/or your covered dependents prior to your change in status continue to apply toward your new calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum.

If your qualified change in status results in your coverage level decreasing (such as from employee and family to employee only), any company HSA contribution you have received that is in excess of the company contribution amount for your new coverage level remains in your HSA. In this case, any expenses your previously covered dependent had incurred do not apply toward your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

For example, assume you start the year with family coverage and meet the family deductible of $4,200 (or $2,800 per individual) in June ($1,000 in expenses for you, $1,000 for your spouse and $2,200 for your child). On July 12, your child turns 26 and is removed from your coverage. Since your child's expenses will no longer apply toward your deductible, and your and your spouse's eligible expenses are $2,000, you and your spouse will need to incur and pay for an additional $2,200 combined (or $1,800 for one individual) in eligible expenses in order to meet your deductible. Likewise, since your child's expenses will no longer apply toward your out-of-pocket maximum, you and your spouse will need to incur and pay for an additional $5,350 combined (or $3,100 for one individual) in coinsurance toward the cost of eligible expenses to reach the plan's $7,350 combined (or $4,100 individual) out-of-pocket maximum.

If you have questions about how a change in status affects your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum, contact Kaiser Permanente. If you have questions about how a change in status affects contributions to your HSA, contact Fidelity at 800-544-3716.

Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage Plan (Colorado)

Kaiser Permanente, a Colorado nonprofit corporation (Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc.), administers an HSA Advantage plan that is available to employees in Colorado.

Kaiser Permanente provides services directly to members through an integrated medical care program. As a Kaiser Permanente member, you select this medical care program to provide your health care. That means Kaiser Permanente plan providers inside the Kaiser Permanente service area provide the care you need, including:

- Routine care with your own personal plan physician,
- Hospital care,
- Laboratory and pharmacy services,
- Urgent care and emergency services, and
- Other benefits as described in the Evidence of Coverage booklet.

It's important to remember that by selecting Kaiser Permanente to provide your health care, you must receive all covered care from Kaiser Permanente plan providers inside the Kaiser Permanente service area. As described in the Evidence of Coverage booklet, the only exceptions include the following: Authorized referrals, emergency ambulance services, emergency services, post-stabilization care and out-of-area urgent care .

Kaiser Permanente also offers a variety of health education programs that provide ways to protect and improve your health.

For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet, which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs, or call Member Services. To view the Evidence of Coverage booklet, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, call Member Services). Note that in the case of any discrepancy between this document and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

Choosing a Primary Care Physician (PCP)

Whether you're new to Kaiser Permanente or a long-time member looking to make a change, it's easy to select a personal physician—called your primary care physician (PCP)—to coordinate your care. Remember that with the exception of certain services (authorized referrals, emergency ambulance services, emergency services, post-stabilization care and out-of-area urgent care), your PCP must provide or coordinate all your care.

To find Kaiser Permanente providers and locations:

- Go to www.kp.org/locations. Use the doctor and location search to learn about each practitioner's gender, certifications, specialties, languages, interests and more. If you don't choose a PCP, Kaiser Permanente can select one for you,
- Go to Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> and click on the My Resources tab and Benefit Provider Contacts, or
- If you are a member, call Member Services.

Want to make a switch? You can change your PCP at any time and for any reason. If you make a change, your plan's Member Services representative will tell you when the change will become effective.

This section provides a brief summary of the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan available in Colorado. For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet, which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs that may be offered—or call the Member Services number on your medical ID card. To view the Evidence of Coverage booklet, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, call Member Services). In the case of any discrepancy between this document and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

KAISER PERMANENTE: HEALTH FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

At Kaiser Permanente, we believe that good health care begins with selecting a personal physician, one you choose and can change at any time. Our proactive approach to health also includes:

- Coverage for a range of preventive services;
- Simple, no-paperwork referrals to Kaiser Permanente specialists;
- Facilities that offer primary care, laboratory, x-ray and pharmacy services all under one roof—integrating your care and saving multiple trips;
- Telehealth services, so you can connect to primary, specialty and urgent care providers with email, phone and video visits-- from home or while you're traveling (see the inset box Reminder: Non-Preventive Phone and Video Visits Subject to the Deductible for important information about scheduled non-preventive phone and video visits); and
- A secure, electronic medical record that goes wherever you go—giving Kaiser Permanente's doctors, nurses and other authorized health care staff important access to your medical history. Note that any telehealth visits become part of your electronic medical record.

In addition, as a Kaiser Permanente member, you can go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> to access a variety of services, including emailing your doctor's office, requesting routine appointments, viewing certain lab results and ordering prescription refills. You can also access online resources like health and drug encyclopedias, or create a personalized action plan to help you lose weight, eat better or stop smoking. To learn more about available services, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> or call Member Services.

REMINDER: NON-PREVENTIVE PHONE AND VIDEO VISITS SUBJECT TO THE DEDUCTIBLE

To comply with Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rules regarding HSA-qualified plans, scheduled non-preventive phone and video visits are subject to the HSA Advantage plan deductible. Your cost will depend on the service you receive and the length of your visit. Once you satisfy your deductible, these services will be provided at no out-of-pocket cost to you (in other words, coinsurance will not apply).

Generally speaking, scheduled phone and video visits cost less than in-person visits. To request an estimate for a scheduled non-preventive phone or video visit, call Member Services.

After your visit, you'll receive a bill for any deductible amount you owe. If you have more questions about this change, call Member Services. For more information about phone and video visits, go to kp.org/getcare.

Note that this change does not affect emailing your doctor's office with non-urgent questions, or calling a licensed care provider for advice, referrals, prescriptions and more. These services are not subject to the deductible and continue to be provided at no cost to you.

About Limitations, Exclusions and Administrative Information

Please note that this section does not provide a description of Kaiser Permanente's limitations, exclusions or administrative information, including post-service claims and appeals, coordination of benefits (COB) provisions and subrogation provisions. Be sure to review the Kaiser Permanente Evidence of Coverage booklet for this information.

When you elect the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan, you are eligible for a health savings account (HSA). The company makes an annual lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January. Company contributions vary by coverage level. You also can make contributions. The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit.

You always own the money in your HSA. Any unused money carries over to the next year and may earn interest—there are no “use-it-or-lose-it” rules. And if you leave the company, the money in your HSA belongs to you. (For detailed information about HSAs, see the section Health Savings Account.)

While federal regulations prohibit anyone who is making or receiving contributions to an HSA from having other health care coverage, including through a health care flexible spending account (FSA), if applicable, eligible employees do have the option of enrolling in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, which can be used to pay for eligible dental and vision expenses. For more information, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section of this handbook, if applicable.

Note also that while this regulation applies to Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D, as well as TRICARE, since the HSA Advantage plan is not linked to an HSA, Medicare/TRICARE participants can elect an HSA Advantage plan without funding an HSA. In this case, you can use your HSA Advantage plan to pay for eligible expenses incurred by you and your dependents. As long as you are not funding your HSA, it is not considered other health care coverage.

How the Plan Works

Here is a brief overview of how the plan works. The pages that follow provide a Summary of Benefits chart for the plan.

- The federal government regulates the design of health plans with HSAs.
- Most covered expenses—including most prescription drugs—are subject to a calendar-year deductible, which resets each January 1. There are two exceptions:
 - Routine in-network preventive care, which is covered at 100% in-network (no deductible, no coinsurance, no out-of-pocket cost). In compliance with the Affordable Care Act (ACA), this coverage extends to include Women’s Health Services, certain preventive supplements and tobacco-cessation prescriptions (as defined by Kaiser Permanente); and
 - Preventive prescription drugs, which are covered at 100% (again, no deductible, no coinsurance, no out-of-pocket cost).
- The deductible can be satisfied by one family member or a combination of family members. If you have family coverage, you must satisfy the family deductible before benefits are payable.
- After you meet the deductible, the plan pays a percentage of eligible expenses. You pay the remainder of the charges until you reach the calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum (which includes the deductible and coinsurance for all eligible services and supplies). If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plan covers eligible expenses at 100% for the remainder of the calendar year.

As part of the Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement and Modernization Act, which was enacted by Congress in 2003, HSAs are designed to help individuals save for qualified health care expenses on a tax-advantaged basis.

Both you and the company are allowed to make contributions to an account that you own, which you use to save for future or pay for current health care expenses. Any money you elect to contribute to your HSA is deducted from your paycheck before federal taxes, which lowers your annual taxable income and allows you to pay for out-of-pocket costs with pre-tax dollars. For information about the HSAs, see the section Health Savings Account.

Note that if you elect medical coverage with an HSA Advantage plan and do not participate in an HSA (either because you elect not to or because your Medicare or TRICARE status makes you ineligible), you can elect a health care FSA, if applicable, and not be limited to only dental and vision expenses.

Will you soon be eligible for Medicare? See Approaching Age 65? Be Sure to Understand Your Medical Coverage Options in the Medical or Health Savings Account section to learn why it’s wise to consult your tax advisor before making any decisions about your post-65 medical coverage, such as whether or not to enroll in Medicare Part A when you are first eligible.

- Again, care obtained outside the Kaiser Permanente network is generally covered only in emergencies, as defined by the plan. In certain unusual circumstances, your PCP may refer you to an out-of-network specialist. Unless your PCP receives authorization from the plan, any care you receive outside the network will not be covered.
- Kaiser Permanente provides prescription drug coverage for this plan. The CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Program section does not apply to the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan.

For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet—which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs that may be offered—or call Member Services. To view the Evidence of Coverage, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, simply return the postcard you will receive after you enroll or call Member Services). In the case of any discrepancy between this document and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

If you need emergency or urgent medical care whether at home or while traveling anywhere in the world, follow the procedures on your identification card in order to receive maximum benefits from the plan.

ABOUT THE COMPANY'S HSA CONTRIBUTION AND THE CALENDAR-YEAR DEDUCTIBLE AND OUT-OF-POCKET MAXIMUMFor New Hires

If, as a new hire, your Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan coverage becomes effective after January 1, the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA is pro-rated for that year. For details, see For New Hires in the Health Savings Account section.

In terms of the plan's deductible and out-of-pocket maximum, the entire calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum apply regardless of when your coverage with the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan becomes effective; they are not pro-rated.

If You Have a Change in Status During the Year

If, as the result of a qualified change in status that occurs after January 1 and before December 1, your coverage level increases (such as from employee only to employee and family), the company contribution to your HSA is adjusted to match your new coverage level and prorated to reflect your new coverage level for the rest of the year. For details, see the section Health Savings Account. In this case, any eligible expenses incurred to date by you and/or your covered dependents prior to your change in status continue to apply toward your new calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum.

If your qualified change in status results in your coverage level decreasing (such as from employee plus family to employee only), any company HSA contribution you have received that is in excess of the company contribution amount for your new coverage level remains in your HSA. In this case, any expenses your previously covered dependent had incurred do not apply toward your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

For example, assume you start the year with family coverage and meet the family deductible of $4,200 in June ($1,000 in expenses for you, $1,000 for your spouse and $2,200 for your child). On July 12, your child turns 26 and is removed from your coverage. Since your child's expenses will no longer apply toward your deductible, and you and your spouse's eligible expenses are $2,000, you and your spouse will need to incur and pay for an additional $2,200 in eligible expenses in order to meet your deductible. Likewise, since your child's expenses will no longer apply toward your out-of-pocket maximum, you and your spouse will need to incur and pay for an additional $5,350 in coinsurance toward the cost of eligible expenses to reach the plan's $7,350 out-of-pocket maximum.

If you have questions about how a change in status affects your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum, contact Kaiser Permanente. If you have questions about how a change in status affects contributions to your HSA, contact Fidelity at 800-544-3716.

Remember that with the exception of certain services (authorized referrals, emergency ambulance services, emergency services, post-stabilization care and out-of-area urgent care), your PCP must provide or coordinate all your care.

To find Kaiser Permanente providers and locations:

- Go to www.kp.org/locations. Use the doctor and location search to learn about each practitioner's gender, certifications, specialties, languages, interests and more. If you don't choose a PCP, Kaiser Permanente can select one for you,
- Go to Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> and click on the My Resources tab and Benefit Provider Contacts, or
- If you are a member, call Member Services.

Want to make a switch? You can change your PCP at any time and for any reason. If you make a change, your plan's Member Services representative will tell you when the change will become effective.

This section provides a brief summary of the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan available in the mid-Atlantic states. For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet, which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs that may be offered—or call the Member Services number on your medical ID card. To view the Evidence of Coverage booklet, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, call Member Services). In the case of any discrepancy between this document and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

KAISER PERMANENTE: HEALTH FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

At Kaiser Permanente, we believe that good health care begins with selecting a personal physician, one you choose and can change at any time. Our proactive approach to health also includes:

- Coverage for a range of preventive services;
- Simple, no-paperwork referrals to Kaiser Permanente specialists;
- Facilities that offer primary care, laboratory, x-ray and pharmacy services all under one roof—integrating your care and saving multiple trips;
- Telehealth services, so you can connect to primary, specialty and urgent care providers with email, phone and video visits—from home or while you're traveling (see the inset box Reminder: Non-Preventive Phone and Video Visits Subject to the Deductible for important information about scheduled non-preventive phone and video visits); and
- A secure, electronic medical record that goes wherever you go—giving Kaiser Permanente's doctors, nurses and other authorized health care staff important access to your medical history. Note that any telehealth visits become part of your electronic medical record.

In addition, as a Kaiser Permanente member, you can go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> to access a variety of services, including emailing your doctor's office, requesting routine appointments, viewing certain lab results and ordering prescription refills. You can also access online resources like health and drug encyclopedias, or create a personalized action plan to help you lose weight, eat better or stop smoking. To learn more about available services, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> or call Member Services.

REMINDER: NON-PREVENTIVE PHONE AND VIDEO VISITS SUBJECT TO THE DEDUCTIBLE

To comply with Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rules regarding HSA-qualified plans, scheduled non-preventive phone and video visits are subject to the HSA Advantage plan deductible. Your cost will depend on the service you receive and the length of your visit. Once you satisfy your deductible, these services will be provided at no out-of-pocket cost to you (in other words, coinsurance will not apply).

Generally speaking, scheduled phone and video visits cost less than in-person visits. To request an estimate for a scheduled non-preventive phone or video visit, call Member Services.

After your visit, you'll receive a bill for any deductible amount you owe. If you have more questions about this change, call Member Services. For more information about phone and video visits, go to kp.org/getcare.

Note that this change does not affect emailing your doctor's office with non-urgent questions, or calling a licensed care provider for advice, referrals, prescriptions and more. These services are not subject to the deductible and continue to be provided at no cost to you.

AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDER (ASD)

Kaiser Permanente covers services for the diagnosis and treatment of Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) for dependent children, age 2 through 10. ASD means any pervasive developmental disorder, including:

- Autistic disorder;
- Asperger's Syndrome;
- Rett Syndrome;
- Childhood disintegrative disorder; or
- Pervasive Developmental Disorder – Not Otherwise Specified, as defined in the most recent edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders of the American Psychiatric Association.

For purposes of this benefit, diagnosis of ASD means medically necessary assessments, evaluations or tests to diagnose whether an individual has ASD. The diagnosis of ASD shall be made by a plan provider or a licensed psychologist who determines the care, including behavioral health treatments and therapeutic care to be medically necessary.

Treatment for ASD must be identified in a treatment plan and may include the following services:

- Behavioral health treatment;
- Pharmacy care;
- Psychiatric and psychological care;
- Therapeutic care; and
- Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapy, when provided or supervised by a board certified behavior analyst licensed by the Virginia Board of Medicine.

The prescribing practitioner must be independent of the provider of ABA therapy. A treatment plan means a plan for the treatment of ASD developed by a plan provider pursuant to a comprehensive evaluation or re-evaluation performed in a manner consistent with the most recent clinical report or recommendation of the American Academy of Pediatrics or the American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry.

About Limitations, Exclusions and Administrative Information

Please note that this section does not provide a description of Kaiser Permanente's limitations, exclusions or administrative information, including post-service claims and appeals, coordination of benefits (COB) provisions and subrogation provisions. Be sure to review the Kaiser Permanente Evidence of Coverage booklet for this information.

ABA therapy is the design, implementation and evaluation of environmental modifications, using behavioral stimuli and consequences, to produce socially significant improvement in human behavior, including the use of direct observation, measurement and functional analysis of the relationship between environment and behavior.

Kaiser Permanente
<https://my.kp.org/raytheon>
 800-777-7902

When you elect the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan, you are eligible for a health savings account (HSA). The company makes an annual lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January. Company contributions vary by coverage level. You also can make contributions. The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit.

You always own the money in your HSA. Any unused money carries over to the next year and may earn interest—there are no “use-it-or-lose-it” rules. And if you leave the company, the money in your HSA belongs to you. (For detailed information about HSAs, see the section Health Savings Account.)

While federal regulations prohibit anyone who is making or receiving contributions to an HSA from having other health care coverage, including through a health care flexible spending account (FSA), if applicable, eligible employees do have the option of enrolling in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, which can be used to pay for eligible dental and vision expenses. For more information, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section of this handbook, if applicable.

Note also that while this regulation applies to Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D, as well as TRICARE, since the HSA Advantage plan is not linked to an HSA, Medicare/TRICARE participants can elect an HSA Advantage plan without funding an HSA. In this case, you can use your HSA Advantage plan to pay for eligible expenses incurred by you and your dependents. As long as you are not funding your HSA, it is not considered other health care coverage.

How the Plan Works

Here is a brief overview of how the plan works. The pages that follow provide a Summary of Benefits chart for the plan.

- The federal government regulates the design of health plans with HSAs.
- Most covered expenses—including most prescription drugs—are subject to a calendar-year deductible, which resets each January 1. There are two exceptions:
 - Routine in-network preventive care, which is covered at 100% in-network (no deductible, no coinsurance, no out-of-pocket cost). In compliance with the Affordable Care Act (ACA), this coverage extends to include Women’s Health Services, certain preventive supplements and tobacco-cessation prescriptions (as defined by Kaiser Permanente); and
 - Preventive prescription drugs, which are covered at 100% (again, no deductible, no coinsurance, no out-of-pocket cost).
- The deductible can be satisfied by one family member or a combination of family members. If you have family coverage, you must satisfy the family deductible before benefits are payable.
- After you meet the deductible, the plan pays a percentage of eligible expenses. You pay the remainder of the charges until you reach the calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum (which includes the deductible and coinsurance for all eligible services and supplies). If you reach the out-of-pocket maximum, the plan covers eligible expenses at 100% for the remainder of the calendar year.

As part of the Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement and Modernization Act, which was enacted by Congress in 2003, HSAs are designed to help individuals save for qualified health care expenses on a tax-advantaged basis.

Both you and the company are allowed to make contributions to an account that you own, which you use to save for future or pay for current health care expenses. Any money you elect to contribute to your HSA is deducted from your paycheck before federal taxes, which lowers your annual taxable income and allows you to pay for out-of-pocket costs with pre-tax dollars. For information about the HSAs, see the section Health Savings Account.

Note that if you elect medical coverage with an HSA Advantage plan and do not participate in an HSA (either because you elect not to or because your Medicare or TRICARE status makes you ineligible), you can elect a health care FSA, if applicable, and not be limited to only dental and vision expenses.

Will you soon be eligible for Medicare? See Approaching Age 65? Be Sure to Understand Your Medical Coverage Options in the Medical or Health Savings Account section to learn why it’s wise to consult your tax advisor before making any decisions about your post-65 medical coverage, such as whether or not to enroll in Medicare Part A when you are first eligible.

- Again, care obtained outside the Kaiser Permanente network is generally covered only in emergencies, as defined by the plan. In certain unusual circumstances, your PCP may refer you to an out-of-network specialist. Unless your PCP receives authorization from the plan, any care you receive outside the network will not be covered.
- Kaiser Permanente provides prescription drug coverage for this plan. The CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Program section does not apply to the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan.

For detailed information about the plan, refer to the Evidence of Coverage booklet—which describes covered services, any limitations and special programs that may be offered—or call Member Services. To view the Evidence of Coverage, go to <https://my.kp.org/raytheon> (for a hard copy, simply return the postcard you will receive after you enroll or call Member Services). In the case of any discrepancy between this document and the Evidence of Coverage, the Evidence of Coverage governs.

If you need emergency or urgent medical care whether at home or while traveling anywhere in the world, follow the procedures on your identification card in order to receive maximum benefits from the plan.

ABOUT THE COMPANY'S HSA CONTRIBUTION AND THE CALENDAR-YEAR DEDUCTIBLE AND OUT-OF-POCKET MAXIMUMFor New Hires

If, as a new hire, your Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan coverage becomes effective after January 1, the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA is pro-rated for that year. For details, see For New Hires in the Health Savings Account section.

In terms of the plan's deductible and out-of-pocket maximum, the entire calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum apply regardless of when your coverage with the Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage plan becomes effective; they are not pro-rated.

If You Have a Change in Status During the Year

If, as the result of a qualified change in status that occurs after January 1 and before December 1, your coverage level increases (such as from employee only to employee and family), the company contribution to your HSA is adjusted to match your new coverage level and prorated to reflect your new coverage level for the rest of the year. For details, see the section Health Savings Account. In this case, any eligible expenses incurred to date by you and/or your covered dependents prior to your change in status continue to apply toward your new calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum.

If your qualified change in status results in your coverage level decreasing (such as from employee plus family to employee only), any company HSA contribution you have received that is in excess of the company contribution amount for your new coverage level remains in your HSA. In this case, any expenses your previously covered dependent had incurred do not apply toward your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

For example, assume you start the year with family coverage and meet the family deductible of $4,200 in June ($1,000 in expenses for you, $1,000 for your spouse and $2,200 for your child). On July 12, your child turns 26 and is removed from your coverage. Since your child's expenses will no longer apply toward your deductible, and you and your spouse's eligible expenses are $2,000, you and your spouse will need to incur and pay for an additional $2,200 in eligible expenses in order to meet your deductible. Likewise, since your child's expenses will no longer apply toward your out-of-pocket maximum, you and your spouse will need to incur and pay for an additional $5,350 in coinsurance toward the cost of eligible expenses to reach the plan's $7,350 out-of-pocket maximum.

If you have questions about how a change in status affects your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum, contact Kaiser Permanente. If you have questions about how a change in status affects contributions to your HSA, contact Fidelity at 800-544-3716.

Medical Administrative

As Your Needs Change

If You Take a Leave of Absence

Medical Leave

If you have elected medical coverage and are on an authorized medical leave of absence, medical coverage for you and your dependents will continue for up to 24 months. You pay the premium rate in effect during your leave. If your leave is for fewer than 90 days, your deductions for medical coverage will be taken from your paycheck on a retroactive basis when you return to work. These deductions will be taken over the same number of pay periods that you were out. If your leave is for 90 days or more, you will receive a bill for the cost of medical coverage from the first day of your leave and instructions for payment.

If you participate in an HSA Advantage plan, you can make your own contributions to your HSA while you are on leave. To set up automatic contributions from your bank account, go to www.netbenefits.com/raytheon or call Fidelity Investments® at 800-544-3716. If you are on leave in January, you will receive the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA at the same time as active employees.

After you have been on a medical leave of absence for 24 months, your employment will be administratively terminated and your medical coverage will end. You may extend your coverage under COBRA regulations (see Extending Your Coverage later in this section). (In addition, the company will no longer make contributions to your HSA. You can continue to make contributions to your HSA if you elect an HSA Advantage plan through COBRA.) You'll receive an administrative termination notice that explains your options and the steps you need to take to ensure your coverage continues uninterrupted.

Industrial Leave

If you're on an authorized industrial leave of absence due to an industrial injury, medical coverage for you and your dependents will continue for the duration of the leave on the same basis as a medical leave of absence, as described earlier in this section.

Family and Medical Leave

If you take an authorized family and medical leave, medical premiums will be withheld from any vacation time paid to you while on family and medical leave, or from your pay on a retroactive basis when you return from your leave. Therefore, medical coverage for you and your dependents will be continued for up to 12 weeks (or as required by state law). The amount of time off for which you are eligible may vary based on state regulations. For more information, see the Work/Life section or contact your Human Resources representative.

Other Types of Leaves

If you take an authorized leave of absence other than a medical, industrial, family and medical or paid parental leave (such as personal or educational leave), medical coverage for you and your dependents may be continued through COBRA, as defined in each applicable policy. For details about COBRA coverage, see the Administrative section.

If you take an authorized military leave of absence, see your local HR representative for information on continuing your benefits.

If You Are Laid Off

If you are laid off, contact your Human Resources representative for information regarding your last day of coverage.

COVID-19 Update

During the national emergency related to COVID-19, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act passed by Congress in 2020 allows for the extension of certain deadlines.

For example, if you or a covered dependent is eligible to extend medical benefits through COBRA, you have until 120 days after the national emergency (or "outbreak period") ends to enroll in COBRA continuation coverage.

For details about COBRA, see the Administrative section. For questions related to your specific situation, call the RBC.

About Paid Parental Leave

There is no effect to your pay or benefits when you are on parental leave; you remain in an active status.

Coverage at Age 65

If you continue to work at the company beyond age 65, medical coverage under your company-sponsored plan will continue for you and your covered dependents. You may apply for Medicare, as described later in this section. However, regardless of whether or not you're covered by Medicare, your company-sponsored plan will pay benefits while you are covered by the plan for active employees. Then, any charges not covered by your company-sponsored plan may be eligible for payment under Medicare (if they qualify as covered Medicare expenses).

While eligible dependents age 65 and older also continue to be covered by the company-sponsored plan after they enroll for Medicare, they aren't required to enroll until after coverage under the company-sponsored plan ends. See the following section for more information.

If you participate in an HSA Advantage plan while you are enrolled in Medicare, note that while tax laws do not permit you to make HSA contributions or receive company contributions to your HSA, your participation in the HSA Advantage plan will continue and you may continue to use your HSA to pay for eligible expenses.

Medicare Benefits

Medicare is divided into three parts—Part A is hospital insurance, Part B is supplemental medical insurance and Part D provides prescription drug coverage. While Medicare eligibility generally begins when you reach age 65, it's important to know that if you remain an active employee, you are not required to enroll in Medicare Part A, Part B or Part D when you turn 65. In addition, you do not incur any Medicare premium penalties if you wait until you leave the company to enroll in Medicare (Part A, Part B or Part D). If you wait until you leave the company to enroll in Medicare, you are eligible for a special enrollment period, which ends eight months from the date your employment ends or your participation in the plan for active employees ends, whichever is earlier.

Because the transition to Medicare has financial consequences, it's wise to consult your tax advisor before making any decisions about your post-65 medical coverage, such as whether or not to enroll in Medicare when you are first eligible. It's also important to know that in the majority of cases, tax advisors recommend delaying your enrollment until you leave the company.

If you do decide to enroll in Medicare, as long as you're an active employee, your company-sponsored plan remains the primary payor and Medicare is the secondary payor on any claims incurred.

For more information about making your decisions, refer to the letter the RBC will send you approximately five months before you turn 65. Questions? Call the RBC. Note that if you are disabled and receiving Medicare before age 65, contact your Social Security office when you're nearing your 65th birthday.

In the Event of Your Death

If you die while you are an active employee covered under a company-sponsored medical plan, your covered family members will have company-paid coverage for 90 days following your death. After that, they may extend their coverage under the provisions of COBRA (see Extending Your Coverage later in this section). Note that the 90-day period of company-paid coverage is included in your COBRA-eligible period.

Other Important Information

When Coverage Normally Ends

When Your Coverage Ends

Your company-sponsored medical coverage will end when you:

- Terminate employment. In this case, your coverage ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on your last day worked;
- No longer meet the plan's eligibility requirements;
- Cancel your coverage;
- Fail to make any required premium payments; or
- Commit an act, practice or omission that constitutes fraud or an intentional misrepresentation of a material fact, including, but not limited to, providing false information regarding eligibility or status as a dependent.

Your coverage also will end if the plan is terminated for all employees.

When Coverage for Your Dependents Ends

Coverage for a dependent will end when:

- Your coverage ends;
- He/she no longer meets the definition of an eligible dependent, such as if you and he/she divorce or if he/she reaches age 26. In this case, coverage ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before the event that makes him/her ineligible for coverage (i.e., the date of your divorce or the dependent's 26th birthday);
- You cancel your dependent coverage; or
- You fail to make any required premium payments.

Your dependent's coverage will also end if the plan is terminated.

Extending Your Coverage

You and your covered dependents may be eligible to extend medical coverage for up to 18 or 36 months if you experience a "qualifying event" under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA). Qualifying events include loss of a job, death, divorce or an eligible dependent reaching age 26. Under COBRA, you and/or each affected dependent may purchase coverage at 100% of the full group cost plus an additional 2% for administrative costs.

If the qualifying event is your divorce or legal separation, or if your dependent no longer qualifies for coverage under the plan, you must notify the RBC within 31 days from the last day covered to qualify for COBRA coverage. Refer to the Administrative section for details about COBRA coverage.

Tax Considerations

Premiums for medical coverage are paid through payroll deduction with pre-tax dollars. Since premium payments are deducted from your pay before taxes are withheld, you will not pay federal, Social Security and, in many cases, state and local income tax on this money. The actual amount of your tax savings will depend on your income tax bracket and local tax laws.

This reduction in your taxable pay may slightly impact your future Social Security benefits because you may be paying lower Social Security taxes. Generally, the tax savings you receive now far outweigh any nominal decrease in your future Social Security benefit. However, if you have any questions, you should consult a personal tax advisor.

Effect on Your Other Benefits

While pre-tax deductions reduce your pay for tax purposes, they do not have any effect on your other pay-related benefits, such as life insurance coverage or the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP). These benefits are based on your annual base pay, before any deductions are withheld.

Your Rights

This section describes your medical coverage in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan documents, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan document will govern in all cases. See the Administrative section for information related to the administration of the company's medical plans.

Other Important Information

- When you enroll in an HSA Advantage plan, you have the opportunity to open a health savings account (HSA).

- The company makes an annual contribution to your HSA in January. The amount of the company's contribution varies by plan and coverage level. If, as a new hire, your HSA Advantage plan coverage becomes effective after January 1, the company's contribution to your HSA is pro-rated as described in the section For New Hires.

- You also can choose to make tax-free contributions to your HSA, lowering your taxable income. Note that state income tax laws in Alabama, California, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Tennessee differ from the federal income tax treatment of HSA contributions and earnings. You always own the money in your HSA, including the company's lump-sum contributions.

- The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit, which varies by your HSA Advantage plan coverage level. Note that if you are age 55 or older, you may make an additional $1,000 catch-up contribution to your HSA each year (including the year you turn 55).

- Note: You are not eligible to make or receive contributions to an HSA if you are enrolled in other medical coverage that is not an HSA-qualified plan, including Medicare, TRICARE, or a non-high-deductible plan or health care flexible spending account (FSA), such as may be available through your spouse's employer.

- Whenever you incur eligible health care expenses, you decide how to pay for them: using the money in your HSA and/or with personal funds, which will allow your HSA to grow.

- You can use the money in your HSA to pay for:
 - Covered health care expenses as defined in Section 213 of the Internal Revenue Code. This includes medical and prescription drug expenses that count toward your medical plan’s deductible as well as those for which you pay coinsurance after you have satisfied the deductible;
 - Certain health expenses that an HSA Advantage plan does not cover (such as prescribed massage therapy or acupuncture) and, as such, do not count toward your deductible; and
 - Other health care expenses, such as eligible dental and vision expenses.

- Because your balance rolls over from year to year (there are no “use it or lose it” rules)—and can grow tax-free—funds in your HSA can be used to help pay for health care costs incurred in retirement, including Medicare premiums, expenses not covered by Medicare, as well as long-term care insurance premiums and eligible dental and vision expenses.

Enrolling in a Health Savings Account (HSA)

When you enroll in a company-sponsored HSA Advantage plan—either through UnitedHealthcare (UHC) or Kaiser Permanente—you are generally eligible to make contributions to a health savings account (HSA).

The company makes an annual lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January. The amount of the company's contribution varies by plan and coverage level. If, as a new hire, your HSA Advantage plan coverage becomes effective after January 1, the company's contribution to your HSA is pro-rated as described in the section For New Hires.

You also can choose to make tax-free contributions to your HSA, lowering your taxable income. Note that state income tax laws in Alabama, California, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Tennessee differ from the federal income tax treatment of HSA contributions and earnings.

The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute is subject to an annual federal limit, which varies by your HSA Advantage plan coverage level. Note that if you are age 55 or older, you may make an additional $1,000 catch-up contribution to your HSA each year (including the year you turn 55). Note that you are not eligible to make or receive contributions to an HSA if you are enrolled in other medical coverage that is not an HSA-qualified plan, including Medicare, TRICARE, or a non-high-deductible plan or health care flexible spending account (FSA), such as may be available through your spouse's employer.

You always own the money in your HSA, including the company's contributions. Your HSA balance rolls over year after year; there are no "use-it-or-lose-it" provisions. That means the money in your HSA is yours to keep until you spend it, even if you leave the company or retire.

You choose to spend the money in your HSA to pay for eligible expenses as you incur them and/or save it to pay for eligible expenses and premiums during retirement. Your HSA debit card makes it easy to access the money in your account. Plus, you don't have to submit receipts to be reimbursed for eligible expenses (just keep your receipts for tax purposes).

Fidelity Investments® administers the HSAs.

If you enroll in an HSA Advantage plan after January 1 or if you experience a qualified change in status during the year, see For New Hires or If You Have a Change in Status During the Year later in this section for important information regarding contributions to your HSA and your HSA Advantage plan's calendar-year deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s).

IF YOU AND YOUR SPOUSE ARE BOTH EMPLOYEES OF RAYTHEON TECHNOLOGIES AND ELIGIBLE FOR LEGACY RAYTHEON BENEFITS

If you are married to a Raytheon Technologies employee and you both are eligible for legacy Raytheon benefits, in the event either you or your spouse:

- Enrolls in an HSA Advantage plan and covers the other as a dependent, the spouse who enrolls in the HSA Advantage plan cannot make contributions to an HSA or receive company contributions if either of you elects to participate in a health care flexible spending account (FSA). Note that you both, however, can elect to participate in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA as described under Effects on Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs) later in this section.
- Has enrolled in Medicare, the employee not enrolled in Medicare should enroll in the HSA Advantage plan and cover the other as a dependent. By doing so, the employee enrolled in the HSA Advantage plan is eligible to make HSA contributions and receive the company's HSA contributions.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT HSASCoordination with Other Types of Medical Coverage

To be eligible to make and receive contributions to an HSA, the only medical coverage you (the employee) can have is through a qualified high-deductible health plan, such as an HSA Advantage plan. (Note that federal regulations allow any one who is making or receiving contributions to an HSA to carry coverage for a specific disease or illness, such as cancer coverage. If you have questions about specific additional medical coverage, call UHC at 800-638-8884 or contact Kaiser Permanente.)

This regulation means you (the employee) cannot be covered by and/or receive benefits from:

- Your spouse's non high-deductible medical plan or health care FSA, such as may be offered through his/her employer;
- Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D;*
- TRICARE;*
- Medicaid;
- A health plan made available to retired federal employees; or
- The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) or Indian Health Services (IHS) during the three months prior to you making or receiving contributions to an HSA. Note that this is an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) exclusion and does not apply to employees who received VA or IHS preventive care, vision and/or dental services.

You also cannot be claimed as a dependent on a tax return. In addition, note that children are not eligible to establish their own HSAs.

*If you are enrolled in Medicare or TRICARE (meaning you are not eligible to make or receive contributions to an HSA), you may enroll in an HSA Advantage plan and elect to participate in a health care FSA, if eligible. In this case, you may use your pre-tax FSA contributions to pay for eligible medical, dental and vision expenses that other benefit plans do not cover or cover only in part, including the HSA Advantage plan's deductible and coinsurance, as well as those listed in IRS Publication 502, available at www.irs.gov. Note that you have the option of enrolling in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA instead of a health care FSA. Keep in mind that, if applicable, enrollment in a health care or limited purpose dental and vision FSA is limited to the annual benefits open enrollment period or if you experience a qualified change in status. In the event of a qualified change in status, the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. For a description of the FSAs, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section, if applicable.

If you receive hospital and/or medical services from the VA for a service-related disability, you are continuously eligible to make and/or receive contributions to an HSA; the three-month period described here does not apply. In addition, as described in the above footnote, if you use the VA for non-service-related disability care, you may enroll in an HSA Advantage plan and elect to participate in either a health or a limited purpose dental and vision care FSA, if applicable.

Effects on Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs)

Since health care FSAs meet the IRS definition of other medical coverage, employees who are making or receiving contributions to an HSA cannot also participate in a health care FSA, either through the company, if applicable, or a spouse's employer. Note that HSA participants may use a limited purpose dental and vision FSA for eligible dental and vision expenses, if applicable. For more information about the limited purpose dental and vision FSA for HSA participants, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section of this handbook, if applicable.

Effects on Other Benefits

Participating in an HSA does not affect eligibility for all other company-provided benefits you are otherwise eligible for, such as dental, vision, accidental death and dismemberment insurance, disability coverage, as well as participation in LifeResources, the company's employee assistance program, and company wellness programs. To confirm your eligibility for these benefits, see the other sections of this handbook or go to Desktop Benefits.

If You and Your Spouse Are Both Employees ofRaytheon Technologies and Eligible for Legacy Raytheon Benefits

If you and your spouse are both employees of Raytheon Technologies and eligible for legacy Raytheon benefits, you may each have an HSA as long as you both enroll separately in an HSA Advantage plan. If one of you enrolls in an HSA Advantage plan and covers the other, only the one who enrolls in the HSA Advantage plan can open an HSA. Before deciding, you should consider premiums, out-of-pocket costs and the company's HSA contribution associated with each option and coverage level. For more information and examples, see If You and Your Spouse Are Both Employees of Raytheon Technologies and Eligible for Legacy Raytheon Benefits in the Medical section.

The restrictions listed here do not apply to your HSA-covered dependents. That means if your HSA Advantage plan-enrolled spouse or dependent child becomes eligible for another form of medical coverage, he/she continues to remain eligible for coverage with your company-sponsored HSA Advantage plan and you may continue to use any funds in your HSA to pay for eligible expenses that your dependent incurs. For more information, contact Fidelity or call the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231 and follow the prompts to speak with an HSA Advantage plan expert.

If your spouse has a health care FSA through his/her employer and carries a balance for use on claims incurred in the first quarter of the following calendar year (meaning that company offers a grace period), IRS rules prohibit you from contributing to your HSA, receiving the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA and using your HSA to pay for eligible expenses until after April 1.

APPROACHING AGE 65?BE SURE TO UNDERSTAND YOUR MEDICAL COVERAGE OPTIONS

While Medicare eligibility generally begins when you reach age 65, it's important to know that if you remain covered by a company-sponsored medical plan as an active employee, you are not required to enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B when you turn 65. In addition, you do not incur any Medicare premium penalties if you enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B during the eight-month period that begins the month after your employment ends or your coverage ends, whichever happens first.

Because the transition to Medicare has financial consequences, it's wise to consult your tax advisor before making any decisions about your post-65 medical coverage, such as whether or not to enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B when you are first eligible. It's also important to know that in the majority of cases, tax advisors recommend that you delay enrolling in Medicare until you leave the company. That's because doing so means you continue to be eligible to make and receive contributions to an HSA.

If You Choose to Enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B as an Active Employee

If, in consultation with your tax advisor, you intend to enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B when you first become eligible, you can elect an HSA Advantage plan for the year you will become eligible and elect an HSA. In this case, you are eligible to receive the company's lump-sum contribution to your HSA in January (as long as the company's contribution is made before you enroll in Medicare) and make your own contributions (not to exceed the annual federal limit listed later in this section) until you enroll for Medicare. Note that before you enroll in Medicare, your tax advisor may suggest that you maximize your contributions to your HSA, subject to IRS proration rules (including by making a direct contribution to your HSA).

Note that if the timing of your enrollment in Medicare means you were ineligible to receive that year's company contribution to your HSA, Payroll will withdraw the company contribution from your account. To withdraw any ineligible contributions you may have made to your HSA, contact Fidelity. Remember: If contributions are made to your HSA while you are enrolled in Medicare (either by the company or you), you will be subject to taxes and penalties. For more information, see Taxes and Penalties Associated with HSA Contributions Made in Error later in this section.

While all contributions to your HSA must stop once you enroll in Medicare, your participation in an HSA Advantage plan will continue automatically. For years where your Medicare status prohibits you from making or receiving contributions to your HSA, you can elect to contribute to a health care (or a limited purpose dental and vision) FSA during the benefits open enrollment period, if applicable. Note that if your spouse or dependents enroll in Medicare but you (as the employee) do not, you can continue making contributions and receiving company contributions to your HSA. You may also continue to use any funds in your HSA to pay for eligible expenses incurred by your tax dependents.

No matter which company-sponsored medical plan you participate in, as long as you're an active employee, your company-sponsored plan remains the primary payor and Medicare is the secondary payor on any claims incurred.

For more information about making your decisions, refer to the letter the RBC will send you approximately five months before you turn 65. In addition, the document available by going to <https://www.cms.gov/Outreach-and-Education/Find-Your-Provider-Type/Employers-and-Unions/FS3-Enroll-in-Part-A-and-B.pdf> provides detailed information on rules and guidelines. Questions? Call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

In the event the RBC is notified that you have enrolled in Medicare, the RBC will send you a letter asking you to confirm or deny your enrollment. If you:

- Confirm your Medicare enrollment, your HSA contributions will end and Payroll will withdraw any company contributions you were not eligible to receive. To withdraw any ineligible contributions you may have made to your HSA, contact Fidelity.
- Deny that you enrolled in Medicare, or if you do not respond to the RBC inquiry, no changes will be made to your HSA or to your HSA contributions.

Note that in all cases, the tax implications of your Medicare enrollment on your eligibility to receive or make HSA contributions are your responsibility. For more information, see Taxes and Penalties Associated with HSA Contributions Made in Error later in this section.

If you participate in Medicare Part A, B and/or D, you can elect an HSA Advantage plan without funding an HSA. If you currently participate in Medicare, you should not elect an HSA during open enrollment or at any other time during the year if you become eligible to make a medical plan election.

If you will enroll in Medicare during the calendar year following open enrollment, while you may elect an HSA during open enrollment, all contributions to your HSA must stop when your participation in Medicare begins.

If contributions are made to your HSA while you are enrolled in Medicare (either by the company or you), you will be subject to taxes and penalties. For more information, see Taxes and Penalties Associated with HSA Contributions Made in Error later in this section.

Please note: If you apply for Medicare Part A coverage within six months of the month you turn 65, your coverage will begin the month you turned 65. If you apply for Medicare Part A coverage six or more months after you turn 65, your coverage will begin six months prior to the date you file your application. Either way, the IRS does not allow you to make or receive contributions to your HSA during the period you are retroactively covered by Medicare.

Contributions to Your HSA

Each year, the IRS determines the maximum amount that the combination of you and the company may contribute to HSAs.

You choose how much you want to contribute to your HSA, up to a certain limit. Contributions are deducted from your paycheck on a pre-tax basis in equal installments throughout the year. You also have the option of making a lump-sum contribution directly to your account, in which case you realize any tax savings when you file your tax return. To make a lump-sum contribution to your HSA, go to www.netbenefits.com/raytheon.

You may decrease or increase the amount of your HSA contribution (up to the annual limit) at any time through Desktop Benefits (from the My Life Changes tab, select Change Your HSA Contribution Amount) or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231. Any change you request, including stopping or starting contributions, becomes effective with the next available pay period. Your new HSA contribution election amount will be deducted in equal amounts over the remaining pay periods in the year, after adjusting for any contributions you and/or the company made prior to you making the change. Note that the amount you elect to contribute via payroll deduction when you enroll remains on record until the end of the calendar year or until you make another election, whichever comes first.

The amount of the company's contribution depends upon the HSA Advantage plan and coverage level you elect, and is subject to change each year depending on general health-care costs and business needs. The company's contribution is deposited annually in January in a lump sum regardless of how much you choose to contribute.

The maximum amount you and the company combined can contribute to your HSA is subject to an annual federal limit. For 2021 limits, see the chart on this page.

2021 HSA Contribution Limits

Coverage Level	Total Maximum Contribution*	UHC HSA Advantage 1 Kaiser Permanente HSA Advantage Plans <small>(The Kaiser Permanente Plans Are Available in California, Colorado and the Mid-Atlantic States)</small>		UHC HSA Advantage 2
		Company Contribution	Your Maximum Contribution*	Company Contribution	Your Maximum Contribution*
Employee only	$3,600	$ 750	$2,850	$ 500	$3,100
Employee and spouse	$7,200	$1,125	$6,075	$ 750	$6,450
Employee and child(ren)	$7,200	$1,125	$6,075	$ 750	$6,450
Employee and family	$7,200	$1,500	$5,700	$1,000	$6,200

*If you are age 55 or older, you may make an additional $1,000 catch-up contribution to your HSA each year. If both you and your spouse are 55 or older, you each must have an HSA in order for both of you to be eligible to make a catch-up contribution. While you may continue to participate in an HSA Advantage plan when you enroll in Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D, all HSA contributions must stop.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

Each year during the benefits open enrollment period, you must actively elect how much you want to contribute to your HSA during the following calendar year—your current contribution election does not carry forward.

If you do not make an election during the annual benefits open enrollment period, your contributions will default to $0 as of the following January 1. Note that if this occurs, you can later choose to increase your contribution by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231.

For New Hires

If your HSA Advantage plan coverage becomes effective after January 1, such as is the case for new hires, the company's contribution to your HSA is prorated based on the number of pay periods that remain in the calendar year once all the following have occurred:

- Your enrollment in an HSA Advantage plan is complete and you have provided any required dependent verification, and
- You have successfully opened your HSA at Fidelity, and
- Data exchanges among the Payroll, RBC and Fidelity systems are complete. Note that depending on the timing of the various data exchanges, the date used to prorate the company's HSA contribution may be delayed by one or more pay periods.

For example, if you join the company during the company's 18th biweekly pay period and enroll in individual coverage with UHC HSA Advantage 1 within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or of your date of hire (whichever is later), your medical coverage is effective on your first day of work. Assuming everything is in order by the 20th biweekly pay period and you do not have other health care coverage that would make you ineligible to make or receive HSA contributions (described earlier in this section), the company would contribute a pro-rated amount of $201.92 (7/26 of the total annual contribution amount, representing the number of biweekly pay periods remaining in that year, including the 20th) of the $750 annual company contribution—in a lump sum to your HSA. Note that it may take one or two pay periods for charges for medical plan premiums to go into effect. In that case, you are not charged for premiums back to the date your coverage began.

Continuing with this example (individual coverage with UHC HSA Advantage 1), in addition to being eligible to contribute the maximum employee amount for the year (for 2021, $2,850), you may choose to make up any difference between the pro-rated amount the company contributes and the total IRS maximum contribution amount for the year ($3,600 for 2021). For example, you may contribute a total of $3,398.08 to your HSA in 2021—the maximum employee contribution for your coverage level ($2,850) plus the remaining amount of what the company would have contributed had you been employed for the full year ($548.08). Note that to be eligible to make this additional contribution, you must enroll in an HSA by December 1 and remain covered by an HSA Advantage plan the following year.

Remember that if you are eligible to make a catch-up contribution, you may contribute an additional $1,000 to your HSA each year beyond the limits stated earlier.

In terms of the deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s) for your HSA Advantage plan, note that regardless of when your coverage with an HSA Advantage plan becomes effective, the entire calendar-year deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s) apply for the remainder of that year; they are not pro-rated.

If You Have a Change in Status During the Year

If, as the result of a qualified change in status that occurs after January 1 and before December 1, your coverage level increases (such as from employee only to employee plus family):

- The company's contribution to your HSA is adjusted to match your new coverage level and prorated to reflect your new coverage level for the rest of the year, and you may contribute up to the new employee maximum contribution amount.
- Any eligible expenses incurred to date by you and/or your covered dependents prior to your change in status continue to apply toward your medical plan's new calendar-year deductible and out-of-pocket maximum.

If your qualified change in status results in your coverage level decreasing (such as from employee plus family to employee only):

- Any company contribution you have received that is in excess of the company contribution amount for your new coverage level remains in your account.

In determining the annual IRS limit, note that any contributions made to an HSA with a previous employer are combined with contributions made to your Fidelity HSA (both yours and the company's). It is your responsibility to keep track of the combined total, as the company has no knowledge of your prior HSA participation.

If you make excess contributions to your HSA (including any contributions you may make when not eligible), you will be subject to taxes and penalties. For more information, see Taxes and Penalties Associated with HSA Contributions Made in Error later in this section.

You can change your HSA contribution amount at any time through Desktop Benefits or by calling the RBC. Your change will become effective within one or two pay periods after the date you request the change. Keep in mind that if you exceed the annual IRS maximum contribution amount, you will be subject to standard income tax rates plus a penalty.

Note that you may need to adjust the amount you contribute to your HSA to ensure you do not exceed the maximum total contribution amount for your new coverage level. Any excess contributions are subject to standard income tax rates plus a penalty. For more information, consult with your tax advisor.

- Any expenses your previously covered dependent(s) had incurred do not apply toward your medical plan's new deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

If you have questions about how a change in status affects contributions to your HSA, contact Fidelity.

For details and examples about how a change in status affects your medical plan's deductible or out-of-pocket maximum, see the section that describes your medical plan. Questions about your situation? Contact your medical plan.

Owning the Money in Your Account

There are no vesting rules for your HSA. You always own all of the money in your account.

Carryover Feature

Any money remaining in your HSA at the end of the calendar year carries over from year to year—there aren't any "use it or lose it" rules. You decide how you want to use your account balance and, if you leave or retire from the company, your HSA is portable. That means you can choose to keep your HSA with Fidelity or transfer it to an alternate trustee.

If you carry your account balance forward into the next calendar year, you can invest the money in your HSA. For details, see Investing Your HSA.

Transferring Money from Another HSA to Your Fidelity HSA

If you have an HSA balance with another trustee (such as was available through a previous employer) and would like to consolidate it with your HSA at Fidelity, you can transfer balances from another HSA custodian to your Fidelity HSA through a transfer of assets transaction. The tax advantages will stay in effect—and transfers are not included when calculating your maximum annual HSA contribution amount. To initiate a transfer of assets, contact Fidelity.

Note that the following restrictions may apply:

- You may make only one transfer of assets to an HSA during a 12-month period. Transfers must be completed within 60 days of the date you receive the distribution from the other HSA. Direct transfers from retirement accounts, such as 401(k), 403(b), and 457 plans, are not permitted.
- You may also make a one-time contribution to an HSA from amounts distributed from an IRA as a direct trustee-to-trustee transfer. Note that this contribution will count toward your maximum annual contribution amount.

Opening and Activating Your HSA

Whether as a new hire or during the benefits open enrollment period, the process to open your HSA with Fidelity begins when you enroll in an HSA Advantage plan and any other benefits via Desktop Benefits.

After you enroll in an HSA Advantage plan, Desktop Benefits will prompt you to make an HSA contribution election (for new hires, for the remainder of that calendar year; for all participants during open enrollment, for the following calendar year). You will also be required to review and agree to the terms and conditions of the Custodial Agreement. When you click on Accept and Return to Summary, you provide electronic consent and agree to the stated terms that will open your HSA. After you have made or revised your other benefit elections, click on Accept All and then Submit to finish the enrollment process. This brings you to the Process Complete page.

Once Fidelity receives notification that you have enrolled (generally within one week), you can log on to NetBenefits and click on Activate HSA. From here, simply follow the instructions to activate the features of your account, including making your beneficiary election(s) and requesting your Fidelity HSA® debit card.

By offering access to payroll deduction, using Fidelity to manage your HSA is convenient. Please note that you can open an HSA with an alternate trustee at any point while enrolled in an HSA Advantage plan. You can choose to roll over your entire account balance (including the company's contributions) to an alternate trustee while you are still employed by the company.

Fidelity Investments

Keep in mind that the USA Patriot Act requires financial institutions, in this case Fidelity, to acquire and maintain a physical address for all account holders. If your address on file with the RBC is a PO box, you must provide Fidelity with a physical address in order to open your HSA. To do so, go to NetBenefits, click Activate HSA and enter your legal/residential address and the other required information under Personal Information. If you have any questions, call Fidelity.

It's important to note that until Fidelity is provided with your physical address, your HSA cannot be opened. Also, by providing a physical address to Fidelity, you are not changing your address of record with the RBC.

Once everything is in order, Fidelity will mail you a welcome kit verifying that your HSA is opened. This kit will contain your account number, customer service and website information, bank disclosures, a schedule of fees and other important information.

HSA Debit Card

If you request an HSA debit card when you activate the features of your HSA through NetBenefits (click on Activate HSA), Fidelity will send you a debit card. You can use your debit card to pay for eligible expenses—such as specialist visits, emergency room care and prescription drugs—wherever the provider accepts Visa®. You can only use the debit card to access funds deposited to your account.

For security purposes, your HSA debit card is mailed in an unmarked envelope. The letter you receive with your debit card will include instructions on how to activate your card.

HOW TO INCREASE THE SECURITY OF YOUR FIDELITY HSA DEBIT CARD

To enhance the security of your HSA debit card, you can set up a personal identification number (PIN)—a four-digit code that many pharmacies and provider offices now require.

To establish your PIN, simply call 844-201-8403 from the phone you registered when you opened your account. Select option 1, and then option 4. Note that if you call from any other phone, you'll need to provide additional information to complete the authentication process.

When you call, you'll need:

- Your debit card (number, expiration date and security code);
- The cardholder's Social Security number and date of birth; and
- The account number for your Fidelity HSA.

Are any supplemental cards associated with your account? Either you or the cardholder must establish a PIN for each card.

Note that your HSA debit card can be processed as a debit or credit payment transaction.

Remember that the card can only be used for qualified health care expenses and cannot be used at an ATM or to get cash back on purchases.

Naming Your Beneficiary

Because you always own the money in your HSA, you should elect a beneficiary(ies) when you activate the features of your HSA through NetBenefits (click on Activate HSA). To designate a beneficiary, follow the prompts when you activate your account via NetBenefits.

If there is no beneficiary(ies) designation on record at the time of your death, your account balance will be transferred to your legal spouse, or if you are not married, to your estate.

For more information about what happens to your HSA in the event of your death, see the Custodial and Deposit Agreement in the welcome kit you will receive when your account is first opened.

Managing Your HSA

Account Statements

To check your account, go to NetBenefits. Your account statement shows:

- Your current balance;

If you need additional debit cards, go to NetBenefits. If you encounter any problems ordering cards online, call Fidelity.

- All transactions you made during the plan year;
- Investment earnings; and
- Any fees charged.

Using Your HSA

You can use your HSA to pay for a variety of medical, pharmacy, dental and vision expenses, including surgery, inpatient hospital care, maternity care, lab tests, doctor visits, mental health and treatment for substance-related and addictive disorders, dental cleanings, fillings, vision exams, contact lenses and laser-vision surgery.

You can also use your HSA to pay for deductibles, coinsurance, COBRA premiums, long-term care insurance and Medicare expenses. In addition, in 2020, the IRS expanded the list of eligible expenses to include menstrual products and over-the-counter medications, including antacids, pain relievers and treatments for cold, flu and allergy symptoms, without a prescription from a physician.

For a complete list of eligible expenses, see IRS Publication 502. IRS Publication 969 also lists a few additional expenses that are eligible to be paid from an HSA. Both publications can be found on the IRS website (www.irs.gov).

Accessing the Funds in Your HSA

Generally, your network provider will send the bill directly to the administrator of your medical plan (UHC or Kaiser Permanente). UHC or Kaiser Permanente will then send you and your provider an Explanation of Benefits, showing the amount that is owed. If you have not yet met your deductible, your provider will send you a bill, based on the information from the Explanation of Benefits.

You can choose how to pay your bill: using money in your HSA and/or with personal funds. If you choose to use your HSA, you can pay with your HSA debit card, write a check from your HSA or use the online bill payment feature available via NetBenefits.

If you choose to use your HSA to pay for your expenses, you may only use funds that are in your HSA at the time you pay your bill. In other words, if you have an eligible expense that exceeds your current HSA balance, you cannot pay for it using your HSA until your HSA contributions exceed the amount owed.

You may use your available HSA funds to pay for eligible expenses incurred by those dependents you claim on your federal tax return, even if they are not covered by your HSA Advantage plan.

Note that if you use HSA funds for non-qualified expenses, the money used is included in your annual income and becomes taxable. In addition, the money is subject to a 20% penalty. This penalty is waived if you are older than age 65, if you become disabled or if you die.

Investing Your HSA

When you open a Fidelity HSA, which is a brokerage account, your contributions are initially invested in a “core account,” Fidelity Cash Reserves, which unlike other investment options is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). This conservative money market fund holds both the company’s and your contributions until you invest or withdraw them.

As described in the welcome kit you will receive from Fidelity, you can choose to invest the money in your HSA in a variety of investment options—including more than 5,000 mutual funds, individual stocks and bonds, treasuries and certificates of deposit (CDs). The choices you make depend on your investment objective, time horizon and risk tolerance.

After your account is open and funded, you can invest the money in your account using various “Trade” options available on NetBenefits (from the homepage, click on the Quick Links dropdown list from the Health Savings Account tile).

If you’d like a paper copy of your HSA statement, go to NetBenefits and print it or call Fidelity to request one.

Remember: One of the biggest benefits of an HSA is that it allows you to save for future health care expenses. If you pay for eligible expenses with personal funds, your HSA balance can continue to grow.

Other Important Information

Taxes

Federal taxes are not applied to:

- Your contributions (both pre-tax contributions made through payroll deduction and any lump-sum contributions), any catch-up contributions, the company's contributions and any investment earnings on any contributions to your account while the money remains in an HSA; or
- Payments made from an HSA for qualified health-care-related expenses.

Although most states comply with federal regulations regarding HSA taxation, state income tax laws in Alabama, California, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Tennessee differ from the federal income tax treatment of HSA contributions and earnings. You are encouraged to consult a tax advisor for the applicable state tax information where you live.

Taxes and penalties will apply if you use HSA funds for non-qualified expenses. You are also subject to tax penalties if you and/or the company contributes to your HSA once your participation in Medicare Part A, B and/or D begins.

Each year, Fidelity is required to provide you with a:

- Form 1099-SA, which shows all distributions; and
- Form 5498-SA, which shows all contributions and your year-end account value.

HSA participants are required to file a Form 8889 with their annual tax returns, showing their total distributions for qualified health care expenses.

TAXES AND PENALTIES ASSOCIATED WITH HSA CONTRIBUTIONS MADE IN ERROR

If you made HSA contributions in excess of the amount that you're permitted to make or you receive or make contributions when you are not eligible (such as if you enroll in Medicare Part A and/or Part B), you will be subject to taxes and penalties on the excess or ineligible amount. In some specific situations, you may be able to avoid the penalties if you arrange to have the excess amount distributed to you before your tax-filing deadline. A refund of excess contributions can be processed through NetBenefits. For assistance, call Fidelity.

Fees

Similar to many bank accounts, your HSA is charged a quarterly maintenance fee. Additional fees—such as a check re-order fee and an overdraft fee (for writing a check for more than the balance in your HSA)—may also apply. Fidelity determines all fees. The welcome kit you will receive shortly after your account is open will include a complete list of fees, including those charged by the investment fund manager, as detailed in each available fund's prospectus.

Plan Security

Your HSA is a proprietary savings account that you—as the account holder—own to save or spend at your discretion. Your HSA can only be used for current or future qualified health care expenses.

Your Rights

This section describes HSAs in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan document or the Health Savings Account (HSA) Custodial and Deposit Agreement or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan document or the Health Savings Account (HSA) Custodial and Deposit Agreement will govern in all cases.

If you have any questions about the HSA Advantage plans or your participation in one of the plans or this section of your handbook, call your medical plan and see the Administrative section of this handbook. If you have questions about the HSAs, call Fidelity.

Prescription Drug Benefit

Other Important
Information

- Prescription drug coverage for company-sponsored UnitedHealthcare (UHC) medical plans is administered as a separate program by CVS Caremark. CVS Caremark also administers prescription drug coverage for eligible expatriate employees and their Global Choice–enrolled dependents who fill a prescription inside the United States.
- Prescription drug benefits with CVS Caremark do not apply to participants covered by Kaiser Permanente or to expatriate employees and their Global Choice–enrolled dependents who fill a prescription outside the United States. For information about prescription drug benefits for these plans, refer to the applicable medical plan section.
- You automatically receive coverage for prescription drugs when you enroll in any company-sponsored medical plan. There is no additional cost to you for this coverage. You cannot elect prescription drug coverage separately from medical coverage.
- Your out-of-pocket cost for prescription drugs varies based on your medical plan; if you need a short-term or long-term prescription; and, in most cases, whether your prescription is for a generic, preferred brand or non-preferred brand drug. In all cases, your out-of-pocket costs are lower when you use a CVS Caremark network pharmacy.
- If you have specific questions about your CVS Caremark prescription drug coverage, or for more information about covered services and supplies, go to www.caremark.com or call Customer Care toll-free at 866-329-4023.

CVS Caremark-Administered Prescription Drug Program

The CVS Caremark-administered prescription drug program provides benefits for a wide range of prescription drugs. The amount you pay for your prescription depends on your medical plan and whether you are purchasing a generic, preferred brand or non-preferred brand drug.

For short-term prescriptions—those prescribed for up to 30 days—you have access to CVS Caremark’s national network, which includes over 65,000 retail locations, such as Walgreen’s, Rite-Aid, Walmart, Kroger and CVS Pharmacy (including those located in Target stores). Your out-of-pocket costs are lower when you use a CVS Caremark network pharmacy.

Note that you are not required to use a CVS Pharmacy when you purchase a 30-day supply of a prescription.

For long-term prescriptions—maintenance drugs you take on an ongoing basis, prescribed for 90 days, plus refills—you have access to Maintenance Choice. This program gives you the flexibility to choose how to fill your maintenance prescriptions:

1. Through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, or
2. At any CVS Pharmacy, including those located in Target stores (for the same cost as the mail service). (Note that in-network benefits are extended to additional pharmacies where there isn’t a strong CVS Pharmacy presence, as described below.)

Note that your out-of-pocket costs are lower when your doctor prescribes up to a 90-day supply. For example, with the UHC HSA Advantage plans, your out-of-pocket costs with Maintenance Choice are lower because the percentage you pay is based on lower contracted rates for mail-service prescriptions. With the UHC Out-of-Area plan, the UHC Hawaii plan and Global Choice (inside the United States), a 90-day supply of a generic maintenance drug is available for the same out-of-pocket cost as two 30-day supply copayments or coinsurance amounts.

Important note: Under the plan provisions, you may only purchase up to three 30-day supplies of each maintenance drug prescribed at any network pharmacy. Before your third refill, if you are using a CVS Pharmacy, CVS Caremark will remind you to obtain a 90-day prescription from your provider and choose a Maintenance Choice option as described earlier. You must get a 90-day prescription and select a Maintenance Choice option before the fourth time you attempt to refill your prescription at a network pharmacy. If you do not, beginning with the fourth fill, your claim will be rejected and you will be charged 100% of the drug’s non-negotiated cost.

Important Information for Members Residing in Arkansas, Colorado, Idaho, Oregon or Washington. Because you do not have access to a CVS Pharmacy or Maintenance Choice, you can fill your 90-day supply of maintenance prescriptions at any participating Walmart or Kroger pharmacy for the same out-of-pocket cost as with the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy.

Important Information for Members Residing in New Mexico. Because you do not have access to a CVS Pharmacy or Maintenance Choice, you can fill your 90-day supply of maintenance prescriptions at any participating Walmart pharmacy for the same out-of-pocket cost as with the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy.

Important Information for Members Residing in Hawaii. Note that you can visit a Longs Drugs store to purchase short-term prescriptions as well as maintenance prescriptions through the Maintenance Choice program.

CVS Caremark Prescription Drug ID Card

If your prescription drug benefits are administered by CVS Caremark, you and your eligible dependents will receive a CVS Caremark prescription drug ID card(s). Be sure to show this card to the pharmacist each time you fill a prescription.

Your prescription drug ID card includes the toll-free Customer Care number, which is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Prescription drug benefits for company-sponsored UHC medical plans are administered as a separate program by CVS Caremark. CVS Caremark also administers prescription drug coverage for eligible expatriate employees and their Global Choice-enrolled dependents who fill a prescription inside the United States.

While your coverage is accepted at any retail pharmacy nationwide, your out-of-pocket costs are lower when you use one of the more than 65,000 pharmacies nationwide that participate in CVS Caremark’s national network (including Walgreen’s, Rite-Aid, Walmart, Kroger and CVS Pharmacy (including those located in Target stores)). Note that you are not required to use a CVS Pharmacy when you purchase a 30-day supply of a prescription.

Prescription drug coverage with CVS Caremark does not apply to participants covered by Kaiser Permanente or to expatriate employees and their Global Choice-enrolled dependents who fill a prescription outside the United States. For information about prescription drug benefits for these plans, refer to the applicable medical plan section.

SAVING MONEY ON PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

Before you head to the pharmacy to fill your next prescription for a generic drug, it pays to check for less costly alternatives—especially since CVS Caremark frequently reviews and updates its list of generic alternatives.

To see if generic alternatives are available and determine how much certain medications will cost you, go to www.caremark.com (click on Check Drug Costs). Note that you will need to register with www.caremark.com in order to access this site; see Using the CVS Caremark Website later in this section for details.

In addition, some brand-name drugs are available in an over-the-counter version. Purchasing the over-the-counter version directly (not using your prescription drug benefit through CVS Caremark) can often mean significant savings.

To find the best price on both prescription and over-the-counter versions of brand-name drugs, go to www.goodrx.com. Enter the name and strength of the drug, and you'll see the cost of the drug at a number of pharmacies in your area. This website even provides access to manufacturers' coupons, if available.

If you do end up purchasing an over-the-counter version or using a manufacturer's coupon, the amount you pay will not count toward your medical plan's calendar-year deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

Remember: The UHC HSA Advantage plans cover generic preventive prescription drugs that treat chronic conditions as well as diabetes insulin at 100% (no deductible, no coinsurance, no out-of-pocket cost). Note that the list of drugs that are covered at 100% is subject to change.

Want to save money on prescription drugs? Do a little research and talk with your doctor to see if the drug you take is available in a less costly generic alternative. Many times, alternative generics are just as effective and can be purchased for a fraction of the cost.

For example, Esomeprazole, the generic version of Nexium,[®] is used to treat heartburn and acid reflux. This common drug can cost as much as $184 for a 30-day supply. Consider talking to your doctor about switching to the generic Omeprazole, another alternative to Nexium, which costs just $1.22 for a 30-day supply!*

* Note that prescription drug prices are subject to change.

In-Network Prescription Drug Benefits

UHC HSA Advantage Plans

With the UHC HSA Advantage plans, eligible prescriptions are covered at a certain percentage after you meet the plan's deductible (see the chart below). The only exceptions are for certain prescriptions that qualify as preventive care as mandated by the Affordable Care Act (ACA), see the sidebar to the right for a description, and those on the Treasury Guidance list, specifically:

- Generic preventive prescription drugs to treat chronic conditions, including high cholesterol, high blood pressure and asthma (covered at 100%, no out-of-pocket cost);
- Oral and insulin diabetic medications (and supplies, if purchased at the same time) (covered at 100%, no out-of-pocket cost). Note: To avoid extra steps, your pharmacist must submit the charges for the insulin/medication first (before the supplies). If the supplies are submitted first, you will be charged for them. Should this happen, you'll need to ask your pharmacist to reprocess the charges in the appropriate order before you pick up your medications/supplies or call Customer Care to request that the charges be reprocessed; and
- Brand-name preventive prescription drugs—including those used to treat high blood pressure, cardiovascular diseases, osteoporosis and mental health disorders (while not subject to the deductible, coinsurance applies).

To review the Treasury Guidance list, go to www.caremark.com or call Customer Care. Note that any coinsurance you pay for brand-name preventive prescription drugs on the Treasury Guidance list does not apply to the plan's in-network deductible; see the chart below for details.

Your coinsurance depends on your UHC HSA Advantage plan, as shown in this chart:

Plan	Your Cost* For
	Up to a 30-Day Supply At a CVS Caremark Network Pharmacy	Up to a 90-Day Supply Through Maintenance Choice (CVS Caremark Mail Service or CVS Pharmacy)
UHC HSA Advantage 1	Covered at 80% after deductible	Covered at 80% after deductible
UHC HSA Advantage 2	Covered at 90% after deductible	Covered at 90% after deductible

*In most cases, the full cost you pay for a prescription drug before you meet the deductible and any coinsurance you pay toward the cost of a prescription drug after you have met the deductible apply to your plan's in-network deductible and/or in-network out-of-pocket maximum. This helps you receive a higher level of benefits sooner. Note that if your provider prescribes—or you request—a preferred brand-name drug specifying “dispense as written” (which means substitutions are not permitted) and a generic equivalent is available, you pay the difference between the retail costs of the brand-name drug and its generic equivalent plus the applicable coinsurance. The cost difference you pay does not apply to your plan's deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

You may purchase up to three 30-day supplies of each maintenance drug prescribed at any CVS Caremark network pharmacy. Before your third refill, if you are using a CVS Pharmacy, CVS Caremark will remind you to obtain a 90-day prescription from your provider and choose a Maintenance Choice option. You must get a 90-day prescription and select a Maintenance Choice option before the fourth time you attempt to refill your prescription at a network pharmacy. If you do not, beginning with the fourth fill, your claim will be rejected and you will be charged 100% of the drug's non-negotiated cost.

As described above, the UHC HSA Advantage plans cover preventive prescription drugs on the federal Treasury Guidance list before you meet the plan's deductible (generics covered at 100%, no out-of-pocket cost, coinsurance applies for brand-name drugs). Note that any coinsurance you pay does not apply to the UHC HSA Advantage plan's in-network deductible. To review the Treasury Guidance list, go to www.caremark.com or call Customer Care.

IMPORTANT NOTE REGARDING THE UHC HSA ADVANTAGE PLANS

In most cases, any amount you pay toward the cost of a prescription drug applies to your UHC HSA Advantage plan's in-network deductible and in-network out-of-pocket maximum. This helps you receive a higher level of benefits sooner.

*If your provider prescribes—or you request—a preferred brand-name drug specifying “dispense as written” (which means substitutions are not permitted) and a generic equivalent is available, you pay the difference between the retail costs of the brand-name drug and its generic equivalent plus the applicable coinsurance. The cost difference you pay does not apply to your plan's deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

In accordance with the ACA, the company's medical plans provide 100% coverage with no out-of-pocket cost for certain prescriptions that qualify as preventive care, including contraceptives for women, iron supplements for infants and oral fluoride supplements for preschool children. For a complete list and more information, contact CVS Caremark.

If you are a new employee and want to know more about prescription drug coverage, go to www.caremark.com. From here you can locate network providers and see how much certain medications will cost you (click on Check Drug Costs). Note that you will need to register with www.caremark.com in order to access this site.

You can reduce your out-of-pocket prescription drug costs by using generic drugs whenever possible. Tell your doctor you prefer generic medications, which meet the same standards for safety, strength, purity and quality as the brand-name alternatives. Then, confirm with your pharmacist that you are receiving a generic-equivalent medication. For more information, see Generic Drugs later in this section.

UnitedHealthcare Out-of-Area Plan, UnitedHealthcare Hawaii Plan and Global Choice (Inside the United States)

Your out-of-pocket cost depends on the type of medication (generic, preferred brand or non-preferred brand), its cost and where you purchase it, as described in this chart:

Type of Prescription	Your Cost* For
	Up to a 30-Day Supply At a CVS Caremark Network Pharmacy	Up to a 90-Day Supply Through Maintenance Choice (CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy or CVS Pharmacy)
Generic	$7 copayment	$14 copayment
Preferred brand	You pay 20% of the drug's cost	You pay 20% of the drug's cost
Non-preferred brand	You pay 30% of the drug's cost	You pay 30% of the drug's cost

For the UHC Out-of-Area and Hawaii plans only: While amounts you pay toward the cost of prescription drugs do not apply to the plan's deductible, prescription drug copayments and coinsurance apply to the plan's out-of-pocket maximum. This helps you receive a higher level of benefits sooner.

If your provider prescribes—or you request—a preferred brand-name drug specifying "dispense as written" (which means substitutions are not permitted) and a generic equivalent is available, you pay the difference between the retail costs of the brand-name drug and its generic equivalent plus the applicable generic copayment. The cost difference you pay does not apply to your medical plan's deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

You may purchase up to three 30-day supplies of each maintenance drug prescribed at any CVS Caremark network pharmacy. Before your third refill, if you are using a CVS Pharmacy, CVS Caremark will remind you to obtain a 90-day prescription from your provider and choose a Maintenance Choice option. You must get a 90-day prescription and select a Maintenance Choice option before the fourth time you attempt to refill your prescription at a network pharmacy. If you do not, beginning with the fourth fill, your claim will be rejected and you will be charged 100% of the drug's non-negotiated cost.

The CVS Caremark-administered prescription drug benefit uses a formulary for paying claims. Any brand-name drug that is not on the formulary is considered a non-preferred brand and is subject to the non-preferred brand coinsurance.

IMPORTANT NOTE REGARDING THE UHC OUT-OF-AREA AND HAWAII PLANS

While amounts you pay toward the cost of prescription drugs do not apply to the Out-of-Area or Hawaii plan's deductible, prescription drug copayments and coinsurance apply to the plan's out-of-pocket maximum. This helps you reach the plan's out-of-pocket maximum and receive a higher level of benefits sooner.

*If your provider prescribes—or you request—a preferred brand-name drug specifying "dispense as written" (which means substitutions are not permitted) and a generic equivalent is available, you pay the difference between the retail costs of the brand-name drug and its generic equivalent plus the applicable generic copayment. The cost difference you pay does not apply to your medical plan's deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

Save Money with Maintenance Choice!

As illustrated here, a 90-day supply of a generic maintenance drug is available for the same out-of-pocket cost as you would pay for a 60-day supply (two fills of a 30-day supply) at a CVS Caremark network pharmacy.

Out-of-Network Prescription Drug Benefits

If you choose to fill a prescription at a retail pharmacy that does not participate in CVS Caremark's national network, your claim will be reimbursed at a lower rate. In this case, the amount you pay depends on the medical plan you're enrolled in, as shown below:

Medical Plan	Your Cost*
UHC HSA Advantage 1	After you meet the deductible, you pay 40% of the cost plus the difference between the amount charged by a CVS Caremark-network pharmacy and the out-of-network pharmacy
UHC HSA Advantage 2	After you meet the deductible, you pay 10% of the cost plus the difference between the amount charged by a CVS Caremark-network pharmacy and the out-of-network pharmacy
UHC Out-of-Area plan, UHC Hawaii plan and Global Choice (inside the United States)	You pay 20% of the cost plus the difference between the cost of a CVS Caremark-network pharmacy and the out-of-network pharmacy

*Note that benefits described apply to prescriptions that are not required to be filled through Maintenance Choice or the CVS Caremark Specialty Pharmacy Program.

Your prescription is covered the same at an out-of-network pharmacy regardless of whether you fill a generic, preferred brand-name or non-preferred brand-name prescription.

You must pay for your out-of-network prescription at the pharmacy, complete a Prescription Drug Reimbursement Form (Direct Claim Form) and submit it to CVS Caremark. Prescription Drug Reimbursement Forms (Direct Claim Forms) are available at www.caremark.com or by calling Customer Care.

With CVS Caremark, you will receive an ExtraCare Health card. When you use this card at a CVS Pharmacy or through www.cvs.com, you receive a 20% discount on CVS Pharmacy-brand health items, some of which are also eligible for reimbursement from a health care flexible spending account (FSA), if applicable. FSA-eligible expenses include bandages, contact lens solutions, first-aid supplies and thermometers. (For more information about FSA-eligible expenses, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section, if applicable.) Other items that are eligible for the ExtraCare Health card discount but not for FSA reimbursement include digital thermometers, hand sanitizer, vitamins and supplements. (For a complete list, call the toll-free number on the back of your ExtraCare Health card.)

This discount is available to all employees with prescription drug benefits through CVS Caremark; you do not have to be enrolled in a health care FSA to use the ExtraCare Health card. Note that the discount does not apply to brand-name over-the-counter items, prescription drugs or sale items.

Using the ExtraCare Health Card

In order to receive the discount, simply show your ExtraCare Health card when you make your purchase at a CVS Pharmacy. You can also use your ExtraCare Health card when you shop at www.cvs.com. To do so, create an account (or log on to your existing account) and add your ExtraCare Health card number under ExtraCare Information. Additional Benefits with the ExtraCare Health Card

In addition to the 20% discount, your ExtraCare Health card maintains the same benefits as the standard CVS ExtraCare card, which is available to any CVS Pharmacy customer. In other words, you'll also be eligible to receive:

- One Extra Buck® for every two prescriptions filled at a CVS Pharmacy;
- 2% back in Extra Bucks on all your in-store and online CVS purchases; and
- Instant savings on items featured in the CVS weekly circular.

If you currently have an ExtraCare card, you should replace it with your ExtraCare Health card to receive the 20% discount on CVS Pharmacy-brand health items. You can call the toll-free number on the back of your ExtraCare Health card to transfer any accumulated savings from your existing ExtraCare card.

Using the CVS Caremark Prescription Drug Benefit

Short-Term Prescriptions

When you need to fill a short-term prescription—for example, if you need an antibiotic to treat an infection—you have access to more than 65,000 retail pharmacy locations nationwide. The CVS Caremark network includes independent pharmacies and chains such as Walgreen's, Rite-Aid, Walmart, Kroger and CVS Pharmacy (including those located in Target stores). Note that you are not required to use a CVS Pharmacy when you purchase a 30-day supply of a prescription.

While your benefits are accepted at any retail pharmacy nationwide, your out-of-pocket costs are lower when you use a pharmacy in the CVS Caremark network. To find out if a pharmacy participates in the CVS Caremark network:

- Ask your retail pharmacist;
- Use the online pharmacy locator at www.caremark.com; or
- Call Customer Care.

If you purchase a prescription drug at a participating pharmacy, simply:

- Show your prescription drug ID card at the pharmacy; and
- Pay your share of the cost when you pick up your prescription.

Note that for maintenance medications (described below), you have the option of purchasing up to three 30-day supplies of each maintenance drug at a CVS Caremark network pharmacy before you select a Maintenance Choice option (also described below). If you do not, beginning with the fourth fill, your claim will be rejected and you will be required to pay 100% of the drug's non-negotiated cost at a retail pharmacy—including a CVS Pharmacy.

Maintenance Choice (Long-Term Prescriptions)

If you need medication on an ongoing basis—such as to manage high blood pressure, asthma, diabetes or high cholesterol—Maintenance Choice offers flexibility in how you can purchase maintenance drugs. With Maintenance Choice, you choose whether to fill up to 90-day supplies of your maintenance prescriptions:

1. Through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, or
2. At any CVS Pharmacy, including those located in Target stores (for the same cost as the mail service). (Note that in-network benefits are extended to additional pharmacies where there isn't a strong CVS Pharmacy presence, as described earlier.)

For each prescription, you choose the approach that works best.

As stated earlier, you may purchase up to three 30-day supplies of each maintenance drug at a CVS Caremark network pharmacy. Before your third refill, if you are using a CVS Pharmacy, CVS Caremark will remind you to obtain a 90-day prescription from your provider and choose a Maintenance Choice option. You must get a 90-day prescription and select a Maintenance Choice option before the fourth time you attempt to refill your prescription at a network pharmacy. If you do not, beginning with the fourth fill, your claim will be rejected and you will be charged 100% of the drug's non-negotiated cost.

No matter which option you choose, you have access to a number of support services, as outlined in the following section.

If you have a 90-day supply of a maintenance prescription, you can fill it by mail or at any CVS Pharmacy (or applicable alternate pharmacy as described earlier). Remember, for any prescriptions you take on an ongoing basis, you must get a 90-day prescription and choose a Maintenance Choice option.

Using the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy

When you fill a maintenance prescription through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, your medications are dispensed by the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy and shipped to you by standard delivery at no additional cost (express shipping is available for an additional charge).

The CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy can be used with either a new prescription or to refill an existing prescription. For a new prescription, ask your doctor to write it for up to a 90-day supply, plus refills (if appropriate) for up to one year. Then follow these steps:

Using a CVS Pharmacy to Fill Your Long-Term Prescription

If you purchase a long-term (maintenance) prescription drug at a CVS Pharmacy, simply:

- Show your prescription drug ID card; and
- Pay your share of the prescription's cost when you pick it up.

Remember: You may purchase up to three 30-day supplies of a maintenance drug at a pharmacy that participates in the CVS Caremark network. Before your third refill, if you are using a CVS Pharmacy, CVS Caremark will remind you to obtain a 90-day prescription from your provider and choose a Maintenance Choice option as described previously. You must get a 90-day prescription and select a Maintenance Choice option before the fourth time you attempt to refill your prescription at a network pharmacy. If you do not, beginning with the fourth fill, your claim will be rejected and you will be charged 100% of the drug's non-negotiated cost.

If you are eligible for in-network coverage with a pharmacy other than a CVS Pharmacy as described earlier, contact that pharmacy for information on filling a prescription there.

Eligible prescriptions include 30-day medications taken on a regular basis for an ongoing medical condition. Controlled substances are not eligible for this service.*

Paying for Your Prescriptions

You may pay for your medication at an in-network pharmacy with a credit or debit card (i.e., Visa®, MasterCard®, Discover®/NOVUS® or American Express®); a check; or a money order.

If you use the CVS Caremark Mail Service, you also may choose to pay with electronic check processing (note that preregistration is required through www.caremark.com or by calling Customer Care).

Please note: The pharmacist's judgment and dispensing restrictions—such as quantities allowable—govern certain controlled substances and other prescribed drugs. Federal law prohibits the return of dispensed controlled substances.

CVS CAREMARK'S PHARMACY ADVISOR

A More Personal Approach to Diabetes Care

Living with a chronic condition adds a few more "to do" items to your everyday lists. To help make it easier to get the best possible treatment, CVS Caremark offers the Pharmacy Advisor Program to employees and their covered family members living with diabetes.

Once CVS Caremark receives information that you have filled a medication typically associated with diabetes, you have the option to be connected with a pharmacy advisor representative who is familiar with your individual medication history and who is educated to help you stay on track with your medications and offer one-on-one advice. Here's how the program works.

- Medication counseling. With every medication, all CVS Pharmacy pharmacists will provide information such as the medication dosage, possible side effects and the benefits of the prescription. However, when a prescription for diabetes treatment is filled, CVS Pharmacy pharmacists take it a step further and talk about why it's important to take the medication exactly as it's prescribed as well as explain any available cost-savings opportunities. (If you fill your prescription through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, you'll receive information by mail and receive a follow-up phone call.)
- Gaps in care counseling. CVS Caremark will review your medication history with clinical guidelines to ensure you're getting the recommended treatment. If a CVS Caremark pharmacist has concerns or suggestions about your treatment plan, he/she will ask your permission to contact your provider. For example, most patients with diabetes should be taking a medication that protects the kidneys. If you're not currently prescribed such a medication, the pharmacist and your provider can discuss the importance of including it in your treatment plan, if appropriate.

It's important to note that this service is provided at no out-of-pocket expense to you as part of your CVS Caremark prescription drug coverage. You do not have to enroll in the Pharmacy Advisor Program—you will be contacted if you are currently eligible or if you become eligible in the future.

CVS CAREMARK'S FASTSTART® PROGRAM

*FastStart® is designed to make it easier to manage chronic conditions. Through FastStart, CVS Caremark can contact your doctor for a new prescription for most common maintenance medications used for chronic conditions or long-term therapies, such as high blood pressure, high cholesterol or diabetes.

To find out if FastStart can help you:

- Call 800-875-0867. FastStart representatives are available Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Central Time (CT), or
- Go to www.caremark.com/portal/asset/NewRX_Fax_Form_v91.pdf. You will need to register before your participation begins.

When contacting FastStart, please have your prescription drug ID card number, name of your medication, your doctor's contact information and your payment information ready.

Note that FastStart complies with pharmacy law and aims to ensure appropriate drug therapy. As such, some medications—such as controlled substances and specialty drugs—are not eligible for this program. Please contact your doctor directly for a new prescription for a controlled substance.*

For more information about living with diabetes, go to <https://info.caremark.com/dig/managingdiabetes>. Once you register with CVS Caremark, you can also access information about your prescription benefit plan. If you have any questions, call Customer Care.

SPECIALTY PHARMACY PROGRAM

The CVS Caremark Specialty Pharmacy Program provides benefits for your and/or your eligible enrolled dependents' special pharmacy products, often in the form of injected or infused medicines as well as the corresponding supplies, equipment and care coordination needed.

These medications often are used to treat complex, chronic conditions, including asthma, hepatitis C, cancer, HIV, infertility, multiple sclerosis, osteoporosis, pulmonary arterial hypertension (high blood pressure), pulmonary disorders and rheumatoid arthritis. (Go to www.caremark.com or call Customer Care for a complete list.)

When you participate in the CVS Caremark Specialty Pharmacy Program, you have access to:

- Personalized, expert attention, including help identifying coverage for new drugs and therapies; assistance with insurance paperwork and preauthorization; access to a personalized CareTeam that is led by either a pharmacist or a nurse; and counseling programs on living with a chronic condition.
- Education and support, including access to information about your condition, telephone training and support groups; evaluations to assess your progress while on a particular therapy; opportunities to speak with a pharmacist or nurse to discuss any concerns; and 24-hour-a-day access to emergency consultations with a pharmacist.
- Convenient features, including fast, confidential mail service delivery of your medications; refill reminders; and easy online or phone enrollment.

When you are prescribed a specialty drug for the first time, you may use a retail pharmacy to fill the prescription and to obtain one refill. You will then receive a letter from CVS Caremark introducing the specialty pharmacy. Going forward, in order to receive benefits for your specialty prescription, you must follow the instructions in the letter. Otherwise, you will pay 100% of the cost of future refills at a retail pharmacy.

A Note about Infertility Coverage

Infertility coverage is limited to $10,000 per lifetime for prescription drugs that are related to infertility and covered by CVS Caremark.

Generic Drugs

Many prescription drugs have two names: the trademark or brand name, and the chemical or generic name. Be assured that a generic drug and its brand-name counterpart have the same active ingredients and are manufactured according to the same strict federal regulations.

Generic drugs may differ in color, size or shape, but the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) requires that they meet the same standards for safety, strength, purity and quality as the brand-name alternatives.

Prescriptions filled with generic drugs will have lower out-of-pocket costs at participating retail pharmacies or through the mail service. Therefore, you can get the same health benefits at a lower cost. Whenever your provider writes you a prescription, you should check to see if a generic equivalent is available. If your provider prescribes—or you request—a brand-name drug specifying “dispense as written” (which means substitutions are not permitted) and a generic equivalent is available, you will be responsible for paying the cost difference between the brand-name and the generic equivalent plus the applicable coinsurance (copayment if applicable). In this case, the cost difference does not apply to your medical plan's out-of-pocket maximum.

Primary/Preferred Drug List

Although generic drugs should always be considered first, the CVS Caremark prescription drug benefit includes a formulary, which is a list of preferred drugs that the FDA has determined to be safe and effective. This list includes a wide selection of drugs and is preferred because it offers you choices while helping to keep the cost of your prescription drug benefit affordable. Each drug is approved by the FDA and reviewed by an independent group of doctors and pharmacists for safety and efficacy.

CVS Caremark may contact your doctor to request that he/she consider prescribing either a generic equivalent or a medicine on the formulary. Of course, the final decision about which prescription to use is yours and your doctor's. However, your out-of-pocket costs are affected by your decision.

Protecting Your Privacy and Safety

CVS Caremark promotes the safe and effective use of medications. When your prescription is filled through a CVS Caremark network pharmacy or the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, CVS Caremark pharmacists use the health and prescription information they have on file for you to consider many important clinical factors, including drug selection, dosing, interactions, duration of therapy and allergies.

If there is a potential problem, an experienced, registered pharmacist may contact your doctor. If you have any questions about your prescriptions, call Customer Care and talk to a CVS Caremark pharmacist.

CVS Caremark includes educational and safety information with every new prescription ordered at a participating retail pharmacy or through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy. In addition, CVS Caremark may contact your prescribing doctor to discuss certain clinical factors and benefit management matters. CVS Caremark may also contact you from time to time with information about the prescription drug(s) you are taking.

Prior Authorization

Some medications are covered only for certain uses or in certain quantities, and/or may require prior authorization or step therapy. (For example, a drug may not be covered when it is used for cosmetic purposes. Also, the quantity covered may be limited to certain amounts over certain time periods.)

Coverage for drugs that are administered in a hospital or other medically supervised setting (as they must be injected into the body via a route that is not the bloodstream; such as into the fluid surrounding the spinal cord) may be obtained from the prescription drug benefit or medical plan benefit. Plan limitations, such as prior authorization, may apply. These limits are based on clinically approved prescribing guidelines that are routinely reviewed by CVS Caremark.

If you present a prescription for a medication that requires prior authorization, it cannot be filled until your doctor calls the Clinical Prior Authorization Department at 866-329-4023 to provide additional clinical information.

To see if your prescription requires prior authorization, go to www.caremark.com and enter the name of the prescription, or call Customer Care. If you know in advance that your prescription requires prior authorization, ask your doctor to call the prior authorization unit before you go to the pharmacy.

EXPERIMENTAL, INVESTIGATIONAL OR UNPROVEN PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

This plan does not cover any expenses incurred for treatments, drug therapies or devices that, at the time CVS Caremark makes a determination regarding coverage in a particular case, are determined to be:

- Not approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to be lawfully marketed for the proposed use and not identified in the American Hospital Formulary Service, or the United States Pharmacopoeia Dispensing Information, as appropriate for the proposed use; or
- The subject of an ongoing clinical investigation to determine FDA approval, regardless of whether the trial is actually subject to FDA oversight; or
- Not demonstrated through prevailing peer-reviewed medical literature to be safe and effective for treating or diagnosing the condition or illness for which its use is proposed.

Please note: Coverage may be denied even if the treatment, drug therapy or device has received FDA approval. Please check with CVS Caremark to confirm coverage.

Note: The dispensing of certain controlled substances and other prescribed drugs is governed by the pharmacist's judgment and dispensing restrictions, such as quantities allowable. Federal law prohibits the return of dispensed controlled substances.

Enrolling in a Vision Plan

Coverage Levels

If you choose to enroll in a company-sponsored vision plan, you may choose from four coverage levels. This allows you to choose the coverage level that best meets your specific family situation while ensuring that you only pay for the coverage you actually need.

The four coverage levels are:

- Employee only;
- Employee and spouse;
- Employee and child(ren); or
- Employee and family (spouse and children).

You may select different coverage levels for medical, dental and vision coverage. For example, you may choose medical and dental coverage for your entire family and vision coverage for just yourself.

If you are married to a Raytheon Technologies employee and you are both eligible for legacy Raytheon benefits, you may each select the plan of your preference or only one of you may elect coverage, depending upon your needs and the cost of your plan options.

Note that when you cover eligible dependents, you and your dependents must be enrolled in the same vision plan. In other words, you cannot choose the Basic Vision Plan for yourself and the Vision Plus Plan for your children.

Eligible Dependents

You may enroll your eligible dependents for vision coverage. Eligible dependents include your:

- Spouse. A spouse includes a common-law spouse if your common-law marriage was established in a state that legally recognizes common-law marriage; all requirements of that state have been met; and the common-law marriage has not ended.

Note that a spouse from whom you are divorced or legally separated is not eligible for coverage. Note also that a party to a civil union is not a spouse;

- Children before their 26th birthday, including natural children, legally adopted children (including children lawfully placed for adoption), stepchildren and foster children, regardless of residency, financial dependence, student status, employment status or marital status;
- Children and other dependents up to their age of majority (usually 18) for whom you are a legal guardian. If you or your spouse is not the child's parent (or step-parent) and the child is not a foster or adopted child, you must have a court order designating you or your spouse as the child's legal guardian or as the person who has legal responsibility for the care, control and custody of the child that is equivalent to the responsibility of a legal guardian. (Please note that if the court order extends the guardianship beyond the age of majority, the child's coverage will still end no later than the child's 26th birthday.) In all cases, the child must also meet the IRS definition of a dependent of you or your spouse; and
- Unmarried children age 26 and older who are disabled as well as other dependents age 26 and older for whom you have legal guardianship who are disabled, if approved by a company-sponsored health plan to be disabled. In general, to qualify, the disabled child must have become disabled before age 26 and be incapable of self-sustaining employment because of intellectual disability, serious mental illness, physical sickness or injury. Coverage may continue for as long as your coverage continues and as long as your child remains incapacitated and is otherwise eligible for coverage.

Note that if you are eligible to add a dependent to your company-sponsored vision plan, you will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate, birth certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received. Complete details are on Desktop Benefits.

If your covered dependent becomes ineligible for coverage during the year (for example, due to divorce or legal separation), you must remove your dependent from your coverage as of the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for your dependent child who reaches age 26 automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday. For more information, see Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Can't locate one or more of the documents that are required to add a dependent to your company-sponsored vision plan? For a fee, Vitalchek can provide official government certificates (e.g., birth, marriage, divorce). For more information, go to www.vitalchek.com.

Cost of Coverage

The amount you pay for vision coverage depends on:

- The vision plan you choose; and
- Your level of coverage.

The amount you pay for coverage is deducted from your paycheck. You pay no federal income taxes or Social Security taxes on the cost of coverage for you, your spouse or your children. In most cases, you also pay no state income taxes.

The cost of coverage is provided in your new hire materials as well as during annual benefits open enrollment. For current costs and additional information, contact the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231.

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

As a newly hired employee, you may enroll in a company-sponsored vision plan within the 31-day period following the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later. This coverage remains in effect for the rest of the calendar year. Note that there is no default vision coverage; if you do not enroll within the 31-day period, you will not have vision coverage for the remainder of that calendar year.

The coverage you elect is effective retroactively to your first day of work, provided you enroll within the 31-day period. Coverage for your dependents generally begins at the same time as your coverage, or as soon as the dependent becomes eligible and his/her verification documents are confirmed (see Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information). This coverage remains in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You may change your vision plan and/or coverage level during the next benefits open enrollment period or sooner if you meet the guidelines outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

It's very important that you understand the enrollment procedures and enroll for the coverage you want when you are first eligible. Once your coverage begins, it will be in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You may not change your elected coverage during the year (unless you meet certain criteria described in Changing Your Coverage later in this section).

Changing Your Coverage

After you make your initial enrollment elections as a new employee, you are permitted to make changes to your vision coverage as outlined here. In all cases, if you are adding eligible dependents, all necessary verification documents must be confirmed before a dependent's coverage becomes effective. See Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

Each year, the company conducts a benefits open enrollment during which you may make changes to your vision coverage (i.e., add or drop dependents, add or drop coverage, or change plans). Any changes you make become effective the following January 1.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT CHANGING YOUR VISION PLAN

If you are enrolled in the Vision Plus Plan and receive glasses and frames or contact lenses during the year, and then elect to change from the Vision Plus Plan to the Basic Vision Plan during open enrollment, you will not be eligible for glasses and frames or contact lenses until the second year you're enrolled in the Basic Vision Plan. For more information about switching between the Vision Plus Plan and the Basic Vision Plan, contact the RBC at 800-358-1231.

At Other Times of the Year

Outside of the annual benefits open enrollment period, you are permitted to make changes to your vision coverage (add or remove a dependent, or add or drop coverage) only in the event of the following:

- If you have a qualified change in status, as follows:
 - Marriage.
 - Divorce or legal separation.
 - Gain or loss of an eligible dependent, such as a child reaching age 26.
 - Change in your, your spouse's or your dependent's employment status, for example:
 - Gain or involuntary loss of vision coverage,
 - Change from full time to part time or vice versa,
 - Transfer between different contracts or positions, providing there is a change in the plans that are available to you or a significant change in the cost of coverage (for example, to or from a Service Contract Act or RayTech position), or
 - Begin or end an unpaid leave of absence.

In the situations above, the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. For details, see the following inset Making Changes to Your Coverage Outside the Annual Open Enrollment Period.

- If your spouse's employer holds benefits open enrollment at a time other than the company's—and, as a result of its benefit offerings, you would like to make a change.
- If you, your spouse or your dependent enrolls in Medicare or Medicaid, or if you, your spouse or your dependent loses eligibility for Medicare or Medicaid.

If any of these situations apply to you, you can make your change on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231.

The only time you can change your vision plan is during the annual benefits open enrollment period.

If you enroll in a vision plan and add to your family through birth or adoption during that year, you must enroll your child within 31 days of the birth date or, for adoptions, the custody date. You can enroll your child either online through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231. Note that if you do not add your newborn or newly adopted child, he/she will not be covered—even if you currently have family coverage.

MAKING CHANGES TO YOUR COVERAGE OUTSIDE THE ANNUAL OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIOD

Remember: If you are eligible to make a change to your vision coverage due to a qualified change in status (as listed earlier in this section), the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. This means you cannot add or remove other still-eligible dependents from your coverage or choose a different plan.

Event	What Happens/Action Required
You gain an eligible dependent by marriage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You have six months from the date of your marriage to add your spouse to your coverage. You must provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent’s coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed.
You divorce, legally separate or your common law marriage to your spouse terminates	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must remove your dependent from your coverage on or before the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for that dependent ends as of 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before the event that makes him/her ineligible for coverage. If you don’t remove your previously eligible dependent from your coverage as of the date of the event, you must reimburse the company for any claims incurred after that date.
You gain an eligible dependent by birth or adoption	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must enroll your child within 31 days of his/her birth/adoption, even if you already have family coverage. You will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (birth certificate or proof of custody). Your dependent’s coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed. Once the verification documents are confirmed, coverage is effective as of the birth or custody date. If you make your change before the date of the qualified change, coverage becomes effective as of the date of the qualified change.
Your child ages out of the plan	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If your child reaches age 26, his/her coverage automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday.
You take or return from a personal leave	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Your active coverage ends and you will be offered COBRA continuation coverage. If you elect COBRA coverage, any amounts you have accrued toward the current calendar-year’s plan allowances while you were an active employee will transfer and be applied to your COBRA coverage. If you return to work within the same calendar year, the cumulative totals will then transfer back to your active plan. To ensure an accurate accounting, contact your plan carrier. Note that when you return to work, you will have two options: Enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave (both the same plan and covering the same dependent(s)) or drop coverage completely. For more information, see Continued Coverage under COBRA in the Administrative section. Note that if you return to work during the same calendar year and enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave, any previously incurred claims will continue to apply toward the current calendar-year’s plan allowances.

COVID-19 Update

During the national emergency related to COVID-19, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act passed by Congress in 2020 allows for the extension of certain deadlines.

If you need to enroll yourself or an eligible dependent in your benefits because you or he/she has lost other coverage or he/she is newly eligible to be added to your coverage, you now have until 90 days after the national emergency (or “outbreak period”) ends to enroll in coverage, retroactive to the event effective date. You will still be required to pay premiums, retroactively, for the entire time you and any family members are covered.

This section provides an overview of events that are considered qualified changes in status. For questions related to your specific situation, call the RBC.

ABOUT HIPAA

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) is designed to help keep personal health information private as well as to make it easier for you and your family members to have continued group health plan coverage when you or a family member loses coverage through an employer. Here is a summary of the act's provisions.

Protected Health Information. The company's health benefit plans' HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices for Protected Health Information explains what "protected health information" is; how the plans may use and disclose this information; and how you can exercise your rights concerning this information. HIPAA requires that the plans remind you that this notice is available on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> (click on the link to Notice of Privacy Practices in the Resource Library under My Resources) or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231.

If Your Coverage Ends. If your coverage under a company-sponsored health plan ends, you may request a written certificate of coverage from the RBC.

VSP® Vision Care

Routine eye care is an important part of your overall health. That's why the company offers two vision plans to choose from:

- Basic Vision Plan, and
- Vision Plus Plan.

Both plans provide coverage for routine examinations and services. The vision plans are provided through VSP Vision Care—the nation's largest vision benefits provider.

No matter which plan you choose, each time you need routine vision care, you may choose either a VSP doctor or a non-VSP provider. You may receive care from any licensed optometrist, ophthalmologist or optician. Generally, your cost is lower when you use a VSP doctor.

For the names of VSP doctors in your area, go to www.vsp.com or call VSP Customer Care at 888-426-3937. VSP Vision Care administers all routine vision-related claims regardless of whether your care is provided by a VSP doctor or a non-VSP provider.

Using a VSP Doctor

Using a VSP doctor can help you save money on routine vision expenses. To make the most of your benefits, simply follow these steps:

1. Choose a VSP doctor;
2. Make an appointment, identifying yourself as a VSP Vision Care-covered individual through Raytheon Technologies. Your doctor will confirm your eligibility and coverage with VSP Vision Care; and
3. Pay only your copayment for care when you receive it. You will also be responsible for any charges that your plan does not cover, such as cosmetic items, tinted lenses and, in the case of the Basic Vision Plan, polycarbonate lenses for adults after the discount has been applied.

When you follow these steps, VSP Vision Care will pay the balance directly to your doctor. You do not need to complete any claim forms.

Note: If you do not follow these steps, your provider will be considered a non-VSP provider and benefits will be limited to the reimbursement amounts listed on the appropriate summary of benefits chart under "From a Non-VSP Provider."

ABOUT VSP PARTICIPATING PROVIDERS

VSP offers a nationwide network of VSP doctors and participating retail chains—including Costco, Visionworks, Cohen's Fashion Optical, Wisconsin Vision, Walmart, Sam's Club and Rx Optical—providing many options in finding the eye-care provider that is right for you. You can choose from more than 38,000 providers in 98,000 locations. This means chances are good that your current eye care doctor is a VSP doctor.

If you go to a participating retail chain partner, tell your provider your coverage is with VSP—you don't need an ID card and there are no claim forms. Note that while ID cards are not required, you can obtain an ID card when you go to www.vsp.com and enter your user ID and password.

To find participating doctors and retail chain partners in your area, confirm eligibility or verify benefits, contact VSP. Note that coverage and discounts at participating retail chains may differ from coverage and discounts available through VSP doctors.

Using a Non-VSP Provider

If you choose to receive routine vision care from a non-VSP provider, you may ask the provider to contact VSP directly to confirm your eligibility before your appointment. Once confirmed, your provider may submit your claim to VSP. In this case, VSP will directly reimburse your provider the allowed amount, which can then be deducted from your bill. Note that VSP will ask for your permission before discussing allowed reimbursement amounts with your non-VSP provider.

If your provider does not contact VSP to confirm your eligibility, you must pay the full cost of your care when you receive it. To receive reimbursement, you can upload receipts and submit your request online at www.vsp.com (link to the Benefits & Claims section), or submit a VSP Member Reimbursement Form along with a copy of your itemized receipt (keep your original receipt for your records) to:

VSP Vision Care
Attn: Out-of-Network Claims
P.O. Box 385018
Birmingham, AL 35238-5018

VSP will reimburse either a provider or you for up to the amounts shown in the summary of benefits chart for your plan (see the column "From a Non-VSP Provider" in the charts for both plans, which appear later in this section). If your provider charges more than this amount, you are responsible for paying the difference. Your claim must be submitted within one year of the date you receive the vision services or supplies.

If a claim is denied, you will receive a written explanation. You have the right to request a review of the claim by contacting the carrier. See Applying for Benefits in the Administrative section for more details.

What the Vision Plus Plan Covers

The Vision Plus Plan covers a wide variety of vision services when you use a VSP doctor, including the following:

- Routine eye exams are covered in full every calendar year after a $10 copayment.
- Frames are covered in full up to the plan allowance, after a $10 copayment (total for frames and/or lenses). Benefits are provided for one pair every calendar year in lieu of contact lenses. If the frame costs more than the plan allowance, you will receive a 20% discount on the amount over the plan allowance (the additional amount you pay), as long as you see a VSP doctor. For 2021, the plan allowance is $140 ($190 for featured brands). Note that featured frame brands are available only from VSP doctors, not participating retail chains. For details, contact VSP.
- Spectacle lenses are covered in full after a $10 copayment (total for frames and/or lenses). Benefits are provided for one pair every calendar year in lieu of contact lenses. Covered lenses include single vision, lined bifocal, lined trifocal or lenticular lenses. Polycarbonate lenses and anti-reflective coatings for children and adults are covered at 100% when purchased from a VSP doctor only. The cost of lenses or lens options that are not necessary for visual welfare is not covered.
- Medically necessary contact lenses are covered in full after a $10 copayment with a VSP doctor when prescribed for certain medical conditions, including:
 - Following cataract surgery;
 - To correct extreme vision problems that cannot be corrected with spectacle lenses; and
 - Certain conditions of anisometropia or keratoconus.
 Benefits are provided once every calendar year.
- Elective contact lenses are covered for up to $120 toward the cost of the contact lens materials and the provider's professional fees, including contact lens evaluation examination, fitting costs and any follow-up evaluations (in lieu of lenses and frames). Benefits are provided once every calendar year. If you obtain contact lenses from a participating provider, you are also eligible for a 15% discount off the provider's professional services (discount does not apply to materials).

Additional Available Benefits

Value-Added Discounts and Special Programs

With either the Basic Vision Plan or the Vision Plus Plan, you can take advantage of value-added discounts and special programs (subject to change) through VSP doctors (not through participating retail chains):

- If you order additional prescription or non-prescription glasses or sunglasses (lenses and frames) from a VSP doctor within 12 months of your routine exam, you are eligible for a 20% discount.
- VSP partners with leading contact lens manufacturers to provide VSP members with exclusive discount offers.
- A 15% discount on fees for contact lens exams (fitting and evaluation) as long as you see a VSP doctor within 12 months of a covered routine eye exam.
- Discounts on laser-vision-correction surgery through VSP-contracted surgery centers. Discounts vary by location, but average between 15% and 20% off the usual and customary price. If the participating laser center is offering a temporary price reduction, VSP members receive 5% off the advertised price. After surgery, you may use your frame allowance (if eligible) for non-prescription sunglasses from any VSP doctor. Go to www.vsp.com for the name of a VSP-participating laser vision doctor near you.

For more information on any of these discounts and programs, go to www.vsp.com or ask your VSP doctor for details.

Low-Vision Coverage

The vision plans provide low-vision coverage from either a VSP doctor or a non-VSP provider (not through participating retail chains). This benefit is available for those patients whose vision loss is sufficient enough to prevent reading, moving around in unfamiliar surroundings and completing desired tasks. If the patient is eligible for low-vision benefits, the VSP doctor will obtain prior authorization from VSP Vision Care. Benefits under this plan include, but are not limited to:

- Supplemental testing for low-vision evaluation;
- Low-vision prescription services; and
- Optical and non-optical aids.

If low-vision supplemental testing is approved, VSP Vision Care will pay up to a maximum of $125 per covered individual every two calendar years. If low-vision aids are approved, VSP Vision Care will pay 75% of the approved amount, up to a maximum of $1,000 per covered individual (less any amount paid for supplemental testing) every two calendar years. The patient is responsible for the remaining 25% of the approved amount in addition to any amount over the maximum.

Extra Cost Items

Vision coverage is designed to cover your vision needs rather than cosmetic materials. Therefore, if you select certain optional items, you will have to pay an additional amount. However, the cost of such items is generally less if you purchase them from a VSP doctor. For some items, such as frames that cost more than the plan allowance, discounts are available when you use a VSP doctor.

Examples of optional items include:

- Blended or progressive multifocal lenses;
- Coated or laminated lenses, such as scratch-resistant and anti-glare coatings for the Basic Vision Plan;
- Contact lenses, in excess of the plan allowance;
- Cosmetic lenses;
- Frames that are valued at more than the plan allowance;
- Optional cosmetic processes;
- Oversized lenses; and
- UV-protected lenses.

For more information about extra cost items, contact VSP.

SAFETY EYEGLASSES AS REQUIRED BY OSHA

If you work in an area or on a job that requires eye protection, you are eligible to receive prescription safety eyeglasses with permanently affixed or attachable side shields from a VSP doctor every two calendar years (not through participating retail chains). This benefit includes one repair every two years, based on the date of the first repair. You are eligible for the safety eyeglasses benefit even if you do not enroll in a vision plan. There are no copayments for safety glasses. However, you will be responsible for the cost of any lens options not covered under the plan and/or frame costs that exceed the plan allowance.

You must obtain authorization for safety eyeglasses from your manager or supervisor. The authorization must be presented to the VSP doctor at the time of your appointment. You can receive your safety eyeglasses from your network provider at the same time you receive your examination and regular eyewear. However, if you receive an eye exam for regular eyewear and safety eyewear at the same time, you will be responsible for paying the eye exam copayment.

For more information on how the safety eyeglasses program works, call VSP Customer Care; check with your manager or supervisor; or refer to the Environmental, Health and Safety section of the oneRTN homepage at <http://onertn.ray.com/resources/ehs/ih/SafetyGlasses/index.com>.

As Your Needs Change

If You Take a Leave of Absence

Medical Leave

If you're on an authorized medical leave of absence, vision coverage for you and your dependents will continue for up to 24 months. You pay the premium cost in effect during your leave directly to the company. If your leave is for fewer than 90 days, your deductions for vision coverage will be taken from your paycheck on a retroactive basis when you return to work. These deductions will be taken over the same number of pay periods that you were out. If your leave is for 90 days or more, you will receive a bill for the premium cost of your vision coverage and instructions for payment.

After you have been on a medical leave of absence for 24 months, your employment will be administratively terminated and your vision coverage will end. You can extend your coverage under COBRA regulations (see Extending Your Coverage later in this section). You'll receive an administrative termination notice that explains your options and the steps you need to take to ensure your coverage continues uninterrupted.

Industrial Leave

If you're on an authorized industrial leave of absence due to an industrial injury, vision coverage for you and your dependents will continue for the duration of the leave on the same basis as a medical leave of absence, as described earlier in this section.

Family and Medical Leave

If you take an authorized family and medical leave, and make arrangements to continue to pay the cost of your coverage, vision coverage for you and your dependents will be continued for up to 12 weeks (or as required under state law).

Remember, if you participate in an HSA Advantage plan, you can use your HSA to pay for eligible expenses that your vision plan does not cover or covers only in part. To take advantage of additional tax-savings, you may also enroll in a limited purpose dental and vision flexible spending account (FSA).

If you participate in another type of company-sponsored medical plan, or if you are not eligible to fund an HSA (such as if you participate in Medicare or TRICARE), you can open a health care FSA and use it to pay for eligible expenses that your vision plan does not cover or covers only in part.

For more information about HSAs, see the Health Savings Account section. For details about the FSAs, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section.

About Paid Parental Leave

There is no effect to your pay or benefits when you are on parental leave; you remain in an active status.

Other Types of Leaves

If you take an authorized leave of absence other than a medical, industrial or family and medical leave, you can continue vision coverage for you and your dependents through COBRA. For more information, see Extending Your Coverage later in this section.

If you take an authorized military leave of absence, see your local HR representative for information on continuing your benefits.

If You Are Laid Off

If you are laid off, contact your Human Resources representative for information regarding your last day of coverage.

Other Important Information

When Your Coverage Ends

Your vision coverage will end when you:

- Terminate employment. In this case, your coverage ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on your last day worked;
- No longer meet the plan's eligibility requirements;
- Cancel your coverage; or
- Fail to make the required payment.

Your coverage will also end if a plan is terminated for all employees.

When Coverage for Your Dependents Ends

Coverage for a dependent will end when:

- Your coverage ends;
- He/she no longer meets the definition of an eligible dependent, such as if you and he/she divorce or if he/she reaches age 26. In this case, coverage ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before the event that makes him/her ineligible for coverage (i.e., the date of your divorce or the dependent's 26th birthday);
- You cancel your dependent coverage; or
- You fail to make the required payment.

Coverage will also end if dependent coverage under the plan is terminated for all employees.

Extending Your Coverage

You and your covered dependents may be eligible to extend vision coverage for up to 18 or 36 months if you lose coverage as the result of a "qualifying event" under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA). Qualifying events include loss of a job, death, divorce or a dependent reaching age 26. Under COBRA, you and/or each affected dependent may purchase coverage at 100% of the full group cost plus an additional 2% for administrative costs.

If the qualifying event is your divorce or legal separation, or if your dependent no longer qualifies for coverage under the plan, you must notify the RBC at 800-358-1231 within 31 days from the last day covered to qualify for COBRA coverage. Refer to the Administrative section for details about COBRA coverage.

Tax Considerations

You pay for vision coverage through payroll deduction with pre-tax dollars. Since the cost is deducted from your pay before taxes are withheld, you will not pay federal, Social Security and, in many cases, state and local income tax on this money. The actual amount of your tax savings will depend on your income tax bracket and local tax laws.

This reduction in your taxable pay may slightly impact your future Social Security benefits because you may be paying lower Social Security taxes. Generally, the tax savings you receive now far outweigh any nominal decrease in your future Social Security benefit. However, if you have any questions, you should consult a personal tax advisor.

Effect on Your Other Benefits

While pre-tax deductions reduce your pay for tax purposes, they do not have any effect on your other pay-related benefits, such as life insurance coverage or Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP) participation. These benefits are based on your annual base pay before any deductions are withheld.

Claims Appeal

If a claim is denied, you will receive a written explanation. You have the right to request a review of the claim by contacting the vision carrier. Please see Applying for Benefits in the Administrative section for details.

Your Rights

This section describes the vision plans in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan documents, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan documents will govern in all cases. See the Administrative section for information related to the administration of the vision plans.

Enrolling in a Dental Plan

Coverage Levels

When you enroll in a company-sponsored dental plan, you may choose from four coverage levels. This allows you to choose the coverage level that best meets your specific family situation while ensuring that you only pay for the coverage you actually need.

The four coverage levels are:

- Employee only;
- Employee and spouse;
- Employee and child(ren); or
- Employee and family (spouse and children).

You may select different coverage levels for medical, dental and vision coverage. For example, you may choose medical coverage for your entire family and dental and vision coverage for just yourself.

If you are married to a Raytheon Technologies employee and you are both eligible for legacy Raytheon benefits, you may each select the plan of your preference or only one of you may elect coverage, depending upon your needs and the cost of your plan options.

Eligible Dependents

You may enroll your eligible dependents for dental coverage. Eligible dependents include your:

- Spouse. A spouse includes a common-law spouse if your common-law marriage was established in a state that legally recognizes common-law marriage; all requirements of that state have been met; and the common-law marriage has not ended.
Note that a spouse from whom you are divorced or legally separated is not eligible for coverage. Note also that a party to a civil union is not a spouse;
- Children before their 26th birthday, including natural children, legally adopted children (including children lawfully placed for adoption), stepchildren and foster children, regardless of residency, financial dependence, student status, employment status or marital status;
- Children and other dependents up to their age of majority (usually 18) for whom you are a legal guardian. If you or your spouse is not the child's parent (or step-parent) and the child is not a foster or adopted child, you must have a court order designating you or your spouse as the child's legal guardian or as the person who has legal responsibility for the care, control and custody of the child that is equivalent to the responsibility of a legal guardian. (Please note that if the court order extends the guardianship beyond the age of majority, the child's coverage will still end no later than the child's 26th birthday.) In all cases, the child must also meet the IRS definition of a dependent of you or your spouse; and
- Unmarried children age 26 and older who are disabled as well as other dependents age 26 and older for whom you have legal guardianship who are disabled, if approved by a company-sponsored health plan to be disabled. In general, to qualify, the disabled child must have become disabled before age 26 and be incapable of self-sustaining employment because of intellectual disability, serious mental illness, physical sickness or injury.
Coverage may continue for as long as your coverage continues and as long as your child remains incapacitated and is otherwise eligible for coverage.

Note that if you are eligible to add a dependent to your company-sponsored dental plan, you will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate, birth certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received. Complete details are on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>.

If your covered dependent becomes ineligible for coverage during the year (for example, due to divorce or legal separation), you must remove your dependent from your coverage as of the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for your dependent child who reaches age 26 automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday. For more information, see Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Can't locate one or more of the documents that are required to add a dependent to your company-sponsored dental plan? For a fee, Vitalchek can provide official government certificates (e.g., birth, marriage, divorce). For more information, go to www.vitalchek.com.

Cost of Coverage

The amount you pay for dental coverage depends on:

- The dental plan you choose; and
- Your level of coverage (employee only, employee and spouse, employee and child(ren) or employee and family).

Rates are provided in your new hire materials as well as during annual benefits open enrollment.

The amount you pay in premiums is deducted from your paycheck. You pay no federal income taxes or Social Security taxes on the amount you pay for coverage for you, your spouse or your children. In most cases, you also pay no state income taxes.

For current rates and additional information, contact the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231.

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

As a newly hired employee, you may enroll in a company-sponsored dental plan within the 31-day period following the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later. If you do not enroll within this 31-day period, you will not be eligible to enroll in a dental plan for the rest of the calendar year. Your next opportunity to enroll in a company-sponsored dental plan will be during the next benefits open enrollment period (held each fall).

The coverage you elect is effective retroactively to your first day of work, provided you enroll within the 31-day period. Coverage for your dependents generally begins at the same time as your coverage, or as soon as the dependent becomes eligible and his/her verification documents are confirmed (see Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information). This coverage remains in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You may change your plan and/or coverage level during the next benefits open enrollment period, held each fall. You are permitted to make certain changes sooner if you meet the guidelines outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Note that if you enroll in the DeltaCare or DeltaCare USA DMO, you will need to name a dentist for yourself and each family member that you cover. You should contact the DMO directly to request an information kit, including a provider election form.

Be sure you understand the enrollment procedures and enroll for the coverage you want when you're first eligible. Once your coverage begins, it will be in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You are not permitted to change your elected coverage during the year unless you meet certain criteria described in Changing Your Coverage.

Changing Your Coverage

After you make your initial enrollment elections as a new employee, you are permitted to make changes to your dental coverage as outlined here. In all cases, if you are adding eligible dependents, all necessary verification documents must be confirmed before a dependent's coverage becomes effective. See Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

Each year, the company conducts a benefits open enrollment during which you are permitted to make changes to your dental coverage (i.e., add eligible dependents, remove dependents, add or drop coverage, or change plans). Any changes you make become effective the following January 1.

At Other Times of the Year

Outside of the annual benefits open enrollment period, you are permitted to make changes to your dental coverage (add or remove a dependent, or add or drop coverage) only in the event of the following:

- If you have a qualified change in status, as follows:
 - Marriage.
 - Divorce or legal separation.
 - Gain or loss of an eligible dependent, such as a child reaching age 26.
 - Change in your, your spouse's or your dependent's employment status, for example:
 - Gain or involuntary loss of dental coverage,
 - Change from full time to part time or vice versa,
 - Transfer between different contracts or positions, providing there is a change in the plans that are available to you or a significant change in the cost of coverage (for example, to or from a Service Contract Act or RayTech position), or
 - Begin or end an unpaid leave of absence.
- If your home address changes to outside your current dental plan's service area.

Note that in the situations above, the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. For details, see the following inset Making Changes to Your Coverage Outside the Annual Open Enrollment Period.

- If your spouse's employer holds benefits open enrollment at a time other than the company's and, as a result of its benefit offerings, you would like to make a change.
- If you, your spouse or your dependent enrolls in Medicare or Medicaid, or if you, your spouse or your dependent loses eligibility for Medicare or Medicaid.

If any of these situations apply to you, you can make your change through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231.

In general, you may not change your dental plan until the next annual benefits open enrollment period, unless you move out of the service area covered by your plan. If you move out of the service area for your plan, you may elect coverage with another company-sponsored dental plan. To enroll in a new plan, you must call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

In the event of the birth or adoption of a child, you must enroll your child within 31 days of the birth date or, for adoptions, the custody date. You can enroll your child either online through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231. Note that if you do not add your newborn or newly adopted child, he/she will not be covered—even if you currently have family coverage.

MAKING CHANGES TO YOUR COVERAGE OUTSIDE THE ANNUAL OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIOD

Remember: If you are eligible to make a change to your dental coverage due to a qualified change in status (as listed earlier in this section) or because your home address changes to outside your dental plan's service area, the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. This means you cannot add or remove other still-eligible dependents from your coverage or, with the exception of a change in your home address that is outside your dental plan's service area, choose a different plan.

Event	What Happens/Action Required
You gain an eligible dependent by marriage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You have six months from the date of your marriage to add your spouse to your coverage. You must provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed.
You divorce, legally separate or your common law marriage to your spouse terminates	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must remove your dependent from your coverage on or before the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for that dependent ends as of 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before the event that makes him/her ineligible for coverage. If you don't remove your previously eligible dependent from your coverage as of the date of the event, you must reimburse the company for any claims incurred after that date.
You gain an eligible dependent by birth or adoption	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must enroll your child within 31 days of his/her birth/adoption, even if you already have family coverage. You will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (birth certificate or proof of custody). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed. Once the verification documents are confirmed, coverage is effective as of the birth or custody date. If you make your change before the date of the qualified change, coverage becomes effective as of the date of the qualified change.
Your child ages out of the plan	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If your child reaches age 26, his/her coverage automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday.
You take or return from a personal leave	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Your active coverage ends and you will be offered COBRA continuation coverage. If you elect COBRA coverage, any amounts you have accrued toward the current calendar-year's deductible and benefit maximum (if applicable) while you were an active employee will transfer and be applied to your COBRA coverage. If you return to work within the same calendar year, the cumulative totals will then transfer back to your active plan. To ensure an accurate accounting, contact your plan carrier. When you return to work, you will have two options: Enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave (both the same plan and covering the same dependent(s)) or drop coverage completely. For more information, see Continued Coverage under COBRA in the Administrative section. Note that if you return to work during the same calendar year and enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave, any previously incurred claims will continue to apply toward the current calendar-year's deductible and benefit maximum (if applicable).
Your home address changes and is outside your plan's service area	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You can change to a plan that is available in your new zip code.

COVID-19 Update

During the national emergency related to COVID-19, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act passed by Congress in 2020 allows for the extension of certain deadlines.

If you need to enroll yourself or an eligible dependent in your benefits because you or he/she has lost other coverage or he/she is newly eligible to be added to your coverage, you now have until 90 days after the national emergency (or "outbreak period") ends to enroll in coverage, retroactive to the event effective date. You will still be required to pay premiums, retroactively, for the entire time you and any family members are covered.

This section provides an overview of events that are considered qualified changes in status. For questions related to your specific situation, call the RBC.

ABOUT HIPAA

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) is designed to help keep personal health information private as well as to make it easier for you and your family members to have continued group health plan coverage when you or a family member loses coverage through an employer. Here is a summary of the act's provisions as they relate to dental coverage.

Protected Health Information. The health benefit plans' HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices for Protected Health Information explains what "protected health information" is; how the plans may use and disclose this information; and how you can exercise your rights concerning this information. HIPAA requires that the plans remind you that this notice is available on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> (click on the link to Notice of Privacy Practices under My Resources in the Other Benefits section) or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231.

If Your Coverage Ends. If your coverage under a company-sponsored health plan ends, you may request a written certificate of coverage from the RBC.

Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier

You may elect dental coverage from one of three Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier options: High, Low and Essential. All three options provide coverage for a wide range of dental services, including periodic evaluations, cleanings, x-rays and fillings. The plans differ in covered services, how much you pay for your coverage and how much you pay when you receive care. While you may go to any dentist you choose, your costs are always lower when you visit a network dentist. For details, see the section Network Providers.

No matter which option you choose, there is no deductible for preventive services and routine care. The High and Low options cover these services at 100% if you see a network dentist, up to the maximum allowable charge if you see an out-of-network dentist. The Essential Option covers these services at 90% of the maximum allowable charge whether you see a network or an out-of-network dentist. In all cases, out-of-network services are subject to balance billing, which means you may be required to pay any difference between the out-of-network dentist's charge and the maximum allowable charge. For more information about out-of-network services, see the section Non-Network Providers.

If your needs go beyond preventive services and routine care, you must first meet the calendar-year deductible for the option you choose. Then, benefits are paid as a percentage of eligible costs, up to a per-person annual benefit maximum (see the Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier Summary of Benefits Chart). If you elect the High Option, you may add to your annual benefit maximum with Rollover Max, described later in this section. Note that if you receive treatment after you have reached the annual benefit maximum (including any Rollover Max amount, if applicable), while you will be responsible for the cost of such treatment, you will be billed at the dentist's Delta Dental negotiated rate. For more information, see the inset box Delta Dental Offers Expanded Access to Network Discounts.

For a complete list of services covered by Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier, see What the Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier Covers later in this section.

Network Providers

With the Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier, you have access to both the Delta Dental PPO and Delta Dental Premier networks. When you use a network provider:

- You generally pay less each time you receive eligible services, since your share of the cost is based on specially negotiated rates. (Note that you realize the most significant savings when you see a Delta Dental PPO dentist.)
- There is no balance billing. You are not billed for charges in excess of the maximum allowable charge for an eligible service.
- There are no claim forms to file. Your provider takes care of all the paperwork.

To take advantage of all that Delta Dental has to offer, check that your dentist participates in either the Delta Dental PPO or Delta Dental Premier network before receiving care.

DELTA DENTAL OFFERS EXPANDED ACCESS TO NETWORK DISCOUNTS

When dentists join the Delta Dental PPO and/or Delta Dental Premier network, they agree to accept lower negotiated fees for providing care. Delta Dental network providers also extend these same discounted rates for services that your plan would generally cover, but are not covered due to certain circumstances, such as when you:

- Exceed your visit limit for a certain service, including cleanings or X-rays;
- Exceed your annual benefit maximum;
- Are over the age limit for a certain service, such as for fluoride varnish; or
- Receive a service that is covered by an alternative benefit, such as posterior tooth white fillings.

Questions? Delta Dental representatives are available by calling 877-335-8227, Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Eastern Time (ET).

With Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier, you may always see the dentist of your choice. Your claims are paid based on the option you have elected, the services performed, and whether you use a participating or a nonparticipating dentist.

To check if your dentist participates in either the Delta Dental PPO or Delta Dental Premier network, go to www.deltadentalma.com/raytheon, click on Find a Dentist and choose the appropriate network. If your dentist is not a member of either network, call Delta Dental to recommend your dentist. A Delta Dental provider relations representative will then contact your dentist.

Note that having access to discounted rates under certain circumstances does not mean you are eligible for additional benefits from the plan. For example:

- The Delta Dental Plus Premier plans cover two cleanings per calendar year and Susan likes to have three cleanings per year. While the plan will not cover the third cleaning, Susan will be charged the full, negotiated rate instead of the retail rate for the third cleaning.
- Mike is in the Delta Dental Plus Premier Low Option and just learned he needs a root canal. While root canals are generally covered, he'll be responsible for 100% of the cost of the procedure since he has already hit the plan's $500 benefit maximum. Mike will be charged the full, negotiated rate for the procedure, not the retail rate.

Note that extended discounts apply only to services that are considered core benefits of your plan. Discounts do not apply to services your plan does not cover. In addition, certain services are excluded, including:

- General anesthesia and IV sedation that is not in conjunction with the surgical removal of impacted teeth;
- Implants that are not received in lieu of a three-unit bridge;
- Orthodontia, including Invisalign, medically necessary orthodontia and age-based restrictions for standard orthodontia care.

This change went into effect on November 1, 2016. It applies to all claims with dates of service on or after this date, and does not apply to any claims with dates of service prior to the effective date.

Non-Network Providers

With Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier, you always have the option of seeing a provider who does not participate in the plan's networks. In this case, you generally pay a larger share of the cost for your care. Here's an overview:

- Eligible services are covered up to the maximum allowable charge for dentists in your area. For purposes of the plan, the maximum allowable charge means the lowest of:
 - The usual charge by the dentist or other provider for the same or similar service or supplies;
 - The prevailing charge of most other dentists or other providers in the same or a similar geographic area for the same or similar service or supplies; or
 - The actual charge.
- If your dentist charges more than the maximum allowable charge for your geographic area, your care is subject to balance billing.
- You may be asked by your dentist to pay for your care up front and then submit a claim for reimbursement to Delta Dental.

Delta Dental will reimburse you directly for eligible charges from non-network providers. You are responsible for payment to the dental provider.

*All coverage is based on the participating provider's fee if services are rendered by a dentist who participates in the Delta Dental PPO or Delta Dental Premier networks. With an out-of-network provider, coverage is based on the maximum allowable charge for a particular service or procedure; you may be responsible for paying the difference between the actual charge and the maximum allowable charge.

The Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier High Option offers Rollover Max, a program that allows participants to roll forward a portion of unused dental benefits to accumulate for future use. See Rollover Max later in this section for details.

Coverage for periodic evaluations is available twice per calendar year regardless of whether care is routine.

While the Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier High, Low and Essential options cover many of the same services, certain types of care are covered under the Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier High Option only. For more information, see Services Covered under the High Option Only later in this section.

Rollover Max

The Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier High Option offers access to Rollover Max, a program that allows participants to roll forward a portion of unused dental benefits to accumulate for future use.

Provided you receive at least one cleaning or periodic evaluation each calendar year, you can roll forward up to $600 of your unused annual benefit maximum to help pay for more expensive procedures down the road (excluding orthodontia). To qualify, your total claims paid in any given year cannot exceed $800—the annual threshold amount. The maximum amount you can accumulate is $1,500. Note that if you qualify for Rollover Max and then opt out of the High Option, you forfeit access to the rolled over amount, including if you later re-enroll in the High Option.

Here's an example of how Rollover Max works (assumes you have at least one cleaning or periodic evaluation each year):

Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier High Option Feature	Years You Participate in the High Option
	First Year*	Second Year	Third Year	Fourth Year
Annual Benefit Maximum	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000
Rollover Amount from Previous Year	N/A (this is the first year you participate in the High Option)	$600 (From the prior year)	$600 (From your first year, since you were not eligible in your second year)	$300 (Remainder from your second year, since you were not eligible for an additional rollover in your third year)
Adjusted Annual Maximum	$2,000	$2,600	$2,600	$2,300
Total Claims Paid	$600	$1,200	$2,300	$600
Eligible for Rollover Max	Yes	No	No	Yes
Accumulated Rollover Max Total	$600*	$600 (the amount you accumulated in your first year still applies)	$300 (($600 from your second year minus $300 applied to this year's claims)	$900

*The first year (the qualifying year for Rollover Max) assumes you have enrolled in the High Option prior to October 1.

To be eligible for Rollover Max, total claims paid cannot exceed the annual threshold amount ($800) in any given year.

In this example, while the total claims paid exceeded the annual benefit maximum of $2,000, thanks to Rollover Max, the plan paid an additional $300 in benefits.

Pre-Treatment Estimates

Before undergoing any dental treatment that will cost more than $300, you should request a pre-treatment estimate to find out what the plan will cover for the proposed treatment. You are encouraged to request a pre-treatment estimate before beginning any costly or extensive dental treatment (for example, a root canal or bridgework).

To request a pre-treatment estimate, ask your dentist to complete the regular dental claim form, indicating the type of work planned and the estimated cost. Delta Dental will provide you and your dentist with a statement showing the estimate of benefits payable under your plan.

If you enroll in the High Option during the fourth quarter of any year (October 1 to December 31), such as if you are a new hire, you are not eligible to participate in Rollover Max for that year.

When you request a pre-treatment estimate, you find out up front how much your dental plan will pay for that treatment. You also have the opportunity to learn about alternative treatment methods that may meet your needs.

Alternative Treatments

For many dental conditions, there may be more than one acceptable course of treatment. When you request a pre-treatment estimate, Delta Dental may suggest one or more alternative treatment methods that meet professional dental standards. In this case, you may still choose the original treatment proposed by your dentist. However, the plan will only pay benefits equal to the less expensive treatment. You are responsible for paying any difference in addition to any deductible or coinsurance.

HEALTHY MOUTHS FOR LIFESM

Healthy Mouths for Life, Delta Dental's comprehensive oral health program, offers education on treatment and prevention of oral disease. You also have coverage for enhanced benefits, such as:

- Periodontal cleaning, available once every three months following active periodontal treatment;
- Fluoride toothpaste, as a covered benefit when administered and dispensed in the dentist's office following periodontal surgery; and
- Sealants, which are covered for members age 16 through 19 for those who had a recent cavity and are at risk for decay.

For more information about Healthy Mouths for Life, go to www.deltadentalma.com/raytheon.

How to File a Claim

When you receive care from a network dentist, your dentist will file claims directly with Delta Dental.

If you use a non-network dentist, you may have to pay the dentist up front for your care and file a claim for reimbursement by following these steps:

1. Before your appointment, go to www.deltadentalma.com/raytheon to download a dental claim form. (You may also use a standard American Dental Association (ADA) claim form);
2. Complete and sign the following sections of the form:
 - Insurance Company/Dental Benefit Plan Information,
 - Policyholder/Subscriber Information,
 - Other Coverage,
 - Patient Information, and
 - Authorizations;
3. Give the form to your dentist to complete and sign the remaining sections; and
4. Submit the completed form, together with your original itemized dental bill(s) and the plan group number (called the Subscriber Number on your dental ID card), to:

Delta Dental of Massachusetts
P.O. Box 2907
Milwaukee, WI 53201-2907

If your claim for benefits is denied in whole or in part, you have the right to an appeal, as described in the Administrative section. All claims must be submitted within one year from date of service.

If you receive payment from a third party that is held liable for any injury that required dental care, you may be required to reimburse Delta Dental for claim payments. For more information, see Subrogation and Recoveries (All Plans Except UHC) in the Administrative section.

Services Covered under the High Option Only

- Adding teeth to an existing partial removable denture or to bridgework when needed to replace one or more natural teeth after the existing denture or bridgework was installed, once per tooth every 12 months. If the dentist is adding a missing tooth (pontic crown) to an existing bridge, Delta Dental prior authorization is required;
- For covered persons age 12 or older, crowns (onlays, build-ups and post and cores), when a tooth is damaged by decay or fracture to the point that it cannot be restored by a regular filling. Once every five years per tooth;
- Replacement of an existing immediate temporary full denture by a new permanent full denture when:
 - The existing denture cannot be made permanent, and

- Replacement of an existing removable denture or fixed bridgework if needed because the existing denture or bridgework can no longer be used and was installed at least five years prior to replacement;
- Implants, once per tooth per five years. An implant is covered only when:
 - A three-unit bridge is the primary course of treatment,
 - One tooth is missing (instead of a three-unit bridge),
 - The two adjacent teeth have a good prognosis from both a restorative and periodontal perspective and do not require crowns (otherwise they would only be eligible for a three-unit bridge), and
 - There are fewer than three teeth missing in the arch.

If multiple three-unit bridges are necessary, each implant space is evaluated separately. To qualify for a surgical implant, the patient must be at least age 16. For specific information about available coverage, contact Delta Dental. You are encouraged to request a pre-treatment estimate before receiving any implants;

- Inlays. Note that multi-surfaces will be processed as an alternate benefit of an amalgam filling and the patient is responsible up to the dentist's Delta Dental negotiated rate;

What the Delta Dental PPO Plus Premier Does Not Cover

- Services or supplies received before your coverage becomes effective;
- Bleaching;

 - Fluoride treatments;
- Services or supplies for which a covered person is not required to pay;
- Office visits after regular office hours;
- Repair or replacement of an orthodontic appliance;

Remember, if you participate in an HSA Advantage plan, you can use your HSA to pay for eligible expenses that your dental plan does not cover or covers only in part. To take advantage of additional tax-savings, you may also enroll in a limited purpose dental and vision flexible spending account (FSA).

If you participate in another type of company-sponsored medical plan, or if you are not eligible to fund an HSA (such as if you participate in Medicare or TRICARE), you can open a health care FSA and use it to pay for eligible expenses that your dental plan does not cover or covers only in part.

For more information about HSAs, see the Health Savings Account section. For details about the FSAs, see the Flexible Spending Accounts section.

DeltaCare Dental Maintenance Organization (DMO) or DeltaCare USA DMO

If you live in Massachusetts, you have the option of choosing coverage with the DeltaCare Dental Maintenance Organization (DMO). If you live in Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Virginia or Texas, you have the option of enrolling in the DeltaCare USA DMO. A DMO works similarly to a medical health maintenance organization (HMO), in that you and your covered family members receive care from a network of participating dentists.

With a DMO, there is little to no cost to you for diagnostic and preventive care, such as periodic evaluations, fluoride treatments and cleanings. For other dental care, there is no annual deductible and no annual benefit maximum. You simply pay a fixed amount (called a copayment) when you receive care. This means that you always know exactly how much your care will cost. And, there are no claim forms to file. It's important to note that care received outside your DMO's network is not covered except in emergencies (see Emergency Care later in this section for details).

Choosing Your Dentist

When you enroll in a DMO, you must choose a primary care dentist (PCD) for yourself and your eligible dependents from the DeltaCare (in Massachusetts) or the DeltaCare USA (in all other available locations) network of providers. You may each choose a different PCD or you may choose one PCD to provide care for all covered family members. (Note that if you live in a state other than Massachusetts and cover your eligible dependents, you cannot choose more than three different PCDs for your family.)

To find a network dentist in your area, consult the appropriate provider directory, which is available online, or call DeltaCare or DeltaCare USA. All dentists who participate in DMO networks meet or exceed strict quality standards.

Changing Your Dentist. You may change your PCD at any time by calling DeltaCare or DeltaCare USA. Changes become effective the following month.

Visits to Specialists. If you need to see a specialist, your dentist will refer you to another provider in the DeltaCare or DeltaCare USA network.

Emergency Care

You are always covered for emergency care under a DMO. If you are in your DMO's network area, you should contact your network dentist immediately. If you cannot reasonably reach your dentist (for example, you are traveling outside your DMO's network area), you should see a local licensed dentist for treatment. The DMO will provide limited coverage for emergency services required to reduce swelling, relieve pain and reduce the potential for infection. Your network dentist must coordinate all follow-up care.

The DeltaCare DMO is available to employees in Massachusetts. The DeltaCare USA DMO is available to employees in Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Virginia and Texas.

When you choose a dentist, make sure he or she participates in the network in the state where you live.

- In Massachusetts: Go to www.deltadentalma.com/raytheon, click on Find a Dentist and select "DeltaCare" as your network,
- For all other available locations: Go to www.deltadentalins.com, click on Find a Dentist and select "DeltaCare USA" as your network.

Note that with DMOs, your dentist is responsible for coordinating your care. Care received outside your DMO's network is covered only in emergencies.

As Your Needs Change

If You Take a Leave of Absence

Medical Leave

If you're on an authorized medical leave of absence, dental coverage for you and your covered dependents will continue for up to 24 months. You pay the premium rate in effect during your leave directly to the company. If your leave is for fewer than 90 days, your deductions for dental coverage will be taken from your paycheck on a retroactive basis when you return to work. These deductions will be taken over the same number of pay periods that you were out. If your leave is for 90 days or more, you will receive a bill for the cost of dental coverage from the first day of your leave and instructions for payment.

After you have been on a medical leave of absence for 24 months, your employment will be administratively terminated and your dental coverage will end. You can extend your coverage under COBRA regulations (see Extending Your Coverage later in this section). You'll receive an administrative termination notice that explains your options and the steps you need to take to ensure your coverage continues uninterrupted.

Industrial Leave

If you're on an authorized industrial leave of absence due to an industrial injury, dental coverage for you and your covered dependents will continue for the duration of the leave on the same basis as a medical leave of absence, as described earlier.

Family and Medical Leave

If you take an authorized family and medical leave, the cost of your coverage will be withheld from any vacation time paid to you while on family and medical leave, or from your pay on a retroactive basis when you return from your leave. Therefore, dental coverage for you and your covered dependents will be continued for up to 12 weeks (or as required by state law). The amount of time off for which you are eligible may vary based on state regulations. For more information, see the Work/Life section or contact your Human Resources office.

Other Types of Leaves

If you take an authorized leave of absence other than a medical, workers' compensation, industrial, family and medical or paid parental leave, dental coverage for you and your covered dependents may be continued through COBRA, as defined in each applicable policy. For more information, see Extending Your Coverage later in this section.

If you take an authorized military leave of absence, see your local HR representative for information on continuing your benefits.

If You Are Laid Off

If you are laid off, contact your Human Resources representative for information regarding your last day of coverage.

About Paid Parental Leave

There is no effect to your pay or benefits when you are on parental leave; you remain in an active status.

Other Important Information

When Your Coverage Ends

Your dental coverage will end when you:

- Terminate employment. In this case, your coverage ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on your last day worked;
- No longer meet the plan's eligibility requirements;
- Cancel your coverage; or
- Fail to pay the premiums.

Your coverage will also end if a plan is terminated for all employees.

When Coverage for Your Dependents Ends

Coverage for a dependent will end when:

- Your coverage ends;
- He/she no longer meets the definition of an eligible dependent, such as if you and he/she divorce or if he/she reaches age 26. In this case, coverage ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before the event that makes him/her ineligible for coverage (i.e., the date of your divorce or the dependent's 26th birthday);
- You cancel your dependent coverage; or
- You fail to pay the premiums.

Coverage will also end if dependent coverage under the plan is terminated for all employees.

Extending Your Coverage

You and your covered dependents may be eligible to extend dental coverage for up to 18 or 36 months if you lose coverage as the result of a "qualifying event" under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA). Qualifying events include loss of a job, death, divorce or a dependent reaching age 26. Under COBRA, you and/or each affected dependent may purchase coverage at 100% of the full group cost plus an additional 2% for administrative costs.

If the qualifying event is your divorce or legal separation, or if your dependent no longer qualifies for coverage under the plan, you must notify the RBC at 800-358-1231 within 31 days from the last day covered to qualify for COBRA coverage. Refer to the Administrative section for details about COBRA coverage.

Tax Considerations

You pay for dental coverage through payroll deduction with pre-tax dollars. Since the amount you pay is deducted from your pay before taxes are withheld, you will not pay federal, Social Security and, in many cases, state and local income tax on this money. The actual amount of your tax savings will depend on your income tax bracket and local tax laws.

This reduction in your taxable pay may slightly impact your future Social Security benefits because you may be paying lower Social Security taxes. Generally, the tax savings you receive now far outweigh any nominal decrease in your future Social Security benefit. However, if you have any questions, you should consult a personal tax advisor.

Effect on Your Other Benefits

While using pre-tax dollars reduces your pay for tax purposes, they do not have any effect on your other pay-related benefits, such as life insurance coverage or the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP). These benefits are based on your base annual salary, before any deductions are withheld.

Claims Appeal

If a claim is denied, you will receive a written explanation. You have the right to request a review of the claim by contacting the dental carrier. Please see Applying for Benefits in the Administrative section for details.

Your Rights

This section describes the dental plans in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan documents, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan documents will govern in all cases. See the Administrative section for information related to the administration of the dental plans.

FINAL COVERAGE DETERMINED BY DENTAL PLAN CARRIER

The dental plan carrier makes the final decision as to whether or not a particular service is covered. In order to determine what is and is not covered under your plan, see your plan's summary of benefits chart as well as the list of limitations and exclusions, or contact your dental carrier at the toll-free Customer Service number listed on your dental ID card.

*For information about how to appeal a denied claim, see Applying for Benefits in the Administrative section.*

COORDINATION OF BENEFITS

The company's dental plans include non-duplication coordination of benefits (COB). The non-duplication COB provision provides payment up to the normal reimbursement level under the plan. This means your combined benefits from all plans will equal, but never exceed, the amount that would normally be payable from your company-sponsored plan when there is no COB with another plan.

*See the Administrative section for more information about COB.*

SUBROGATION PROVISIONS

The company's dental plans include subrogation provisions. Subrogation applies if you receive payment from a third party that is held liable for any injury that required dental care. In this case, you may be required to reimburse your plan for claim payments.

*See the Administrative section for more information about subrogation.*

How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement

As Your Needs Change
Other Information

- With flexible spending accounts (FSAs), you can reduce your taxable income by paying for certain eligible expenses before taxes are withheld from your pay. Participation is optional.
- The company offers the following FSAs:
 - Limited purpose dental and vision FSA, which is available to all employees regardless of their medical plan election (including those who waive company-sponsored medical coverage). You can use this FSA to pay for eligible expenses that your own or your spouse's dental and vision plans through another employer do not cover or cover only in part, such as deductibles, copayments and orthodontia, or
 - Health care FSA, which is available only to employees who do not participate in an HSA Advantage plan or participate in an HSA Advantage plan but do not fund a health savings account (HSA). A health care FSA works the same as a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, but can also be used for eligible medical expenses.

Note that if you participate in an HSA Advantage plan, you cannot open a health care FSA, even if it is your intention to use it only for eligible dental and vision expenses. In addition, if you waive company-sponsored medical coverage and your spouse's plan is HSA eligible, having a company-sponsored health care FSA might disqualify your spouse from making or receiving contributions to his/her HSA, and
 - Dependent care FSA. You can use this FSA to pay for child or elder care expenses so you (and your spouse, if married) can work or attend school.

For more information about eligibility for the limited purpose dental and vision FSA and the health care FSA, see the section Limited Purpose Dental and Vision Flexible Spending Account (FSA).

Note: Since the majority of legacy Raytheon employees participate in an HSA Advantage plan and are therefore not eligible to participate in a health care FSA, the focus of this section is on the limited purpose dental and vision FSA. Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs in this section also apply to health care FSAs. In addition, references to eligible dental and vision expenses extend to the health care FSA.

- To participate in an FSA(s), you contribute money to an account in your name each pay period on a pre-tax basis—meaning before federal and Social Security, as well as most state and local taxes, are withheld from your pay. If you are enrolled in:
 - A limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you are issued a personalized, chip-enabled BenefitWallet debit card that you can use to pay for eligible expenses in dental and vision providers' offices. In this case, funds are automatically deducted from your account, or
 - A dependent care FSA, you must pay for eligible expenses and then request reimbursement from your account.
- You may enroll in an FSA(s) within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later.
- You may change your election(s) or the amount you contribute each year during the benefits open enrollment period. If you wish to participate in an FSA(s), you must actively enroll each year during the benefits open enrollment period, even if you do not wish to make changes to your previously elected contribution amount.
- Outside of the annual benefits open enrollment period, you may make changes to your FSA participation or election only under certain circumstances as outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

- FSAs are administered in accordance with Internal Revenue Service (IRS) regulations. Each type of account has specific guidelines regarding which expenses are eligible for reimbursement.

It's important to note that not all expenses you incur are eligible for reimbursement; expenses must be deemed eligible by the IRS. Partial listings of eligible expenses can be found later in this section. For detailed guidelines on eligible expenses:

- Access the BenefitWallet member portal via Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> (note that you will first need to establish a user ID and password), or
- Review Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Publication 502 (dental and vision/health care) or 503 (dependent care), available at www.irs.gov.

Flexible Spending Accounts at a glance

Enrolling in a Flexible Spending Account(s)

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

As a newly hired employee, you may enroll in the appropriate flexible spending account(s) (FSA(s)) within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later. Your participation is optional and becomes effective on the date you enroll. Deductions begin as soon as administratively feasible, generally within two pay periods after you enroll. If you do not enroll within this 31-day period, you must wait until the next annual benefits open enrollment period to enroll.

This coverage remains in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You may change your coverage during the next benefits open enrollment period, held each fall, or sooner if you meet the guidelines outlined in the next section.

Changing Your Coverage

After you make your initial enrollment elections as a new employee, you are permitted to make changes to your FSA participation or election as outlined in this section.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

Each year, the company conducts a benefits open enrollment during which you may make changes to your FSA participation or election. Any changes you make become effective the following January 1 and remain in effect for the full calendar year. (Note that if you want to continue your participation in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you must continue your participation in an HSA Advantage plan.) Your enrollment does not carry over from year to year—you must enroll for each year that you wish to participate in an FSA(s).

At Other Times of the Year

Outside of the annual benefits open enrollment period, you are permitted to make changes to your FSA participation (begin or end your participation, or change the amount you contribute) or election in the event of the following.

All FSAs

- If you have a qualified change in status, as follows:
 - Marriage.
 - Divorce or legal separation.
 - Loss or gain of an eligible dependent.
 - Change in your, your spouse's or your dependent's employment status, for example:
 - Gain or involuntary loss of coverage,
 - Change from full time to part time or vice versa, or
 - Begin or end an unpaid leave of absence.

Dependent Care FSA Only

- A change in the cost of your dependent's care (e.g., if you signed up to have $5,000 deducted from your pay and mid-year you switch to a less expensive provider, you may change your contributions to a dependent care FSA for the remainder of the year).

If any of these situations apply to you, you can make your change on Desktop Benefits or by calling the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC). (Note: If your qualified change in status means you can elect to decrease the amount you contribute or end your participation, you must call the RBC to make your change.) The change you request will become effective as soon as administratively feasible.

You may only make changes that are due to and consistent with the change in status. For details, see the following inset Making Changes to Your Coverage Outside the Annual Open Enrollment Period.

Please note: FSAs do not earn interest during the year. Also, setting aside part of your pay in an FSA does not affect your other salary-related benefits, such as your contributions to the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP) or your life insurance and disability coverage. That's because benefits for these plans are calculated before any FSA deductions are taken from your pay. Because you do not pay Social Security taxes on any pre-tax contributions, your future Social Security benefits could be reduced if you participate in an FSA.

Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs also apply to health care FSAs. In addition, references to eligible dental and vision expenses extend to the health care FSA.

MAKING CHANGES TO YOUR COVERAGE OUTSIDE THE ANNUAL OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIOD

*Remember: If you are eligible to make a change to your limited purpose dental and vision FSA due to a qualified change in status (as listed earlier in this section), the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status, as outlined in this chart.

If your change results in you no longer being eligible to participate or if you suspend your participation in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you will be reimbursed only for expenses incurred up to the date you stopped contributing to the plan. For dependent care expenses, you will be reimbursed up to the balance of your dependent care FSA if the expenses are incurred by December 31 of the year in which your contributions ended.

NOTE FOR EMPLOYEES WHO REPATRIATE AFTER AN INTERNATIONAL ASSIGNMENT

When you repatriate from an international assignment, you have the opportunity to elect medical and dental coverage with plans that are available where you live in the U.S. Since you are moving to an area where Global Choice is not available, in most cases that means you will elect medical coverage with an HSA Advantage plan.

If you participated in a health care FSA while you were enrolled in Global Choice, your participation in the health care FSA must continue for the remainder of that calendar year unless you experience a qualifying event.

Since health care FSAs are considered "other medical coverage," while you can participate in an HSA Advantage plan when you repatriate, you cannot make or receive contributions to a health savings account (HSA) while you are participating in the health care FSA. For details about the HSAs, see the Health Savings Account section.

In terms of your participation in a dependent care FSA, if applicable, assuming your arrangements change upon repatriation, you are eligible to make corresponding changes to your participation in a dependent care FSA.

KEY RESTRICTIONS

While FSAs can reduce your taxable income, you should be aware of the following restrictions when considering enrolling in an FSA(s):

- Once you sign up for an FSA(s), you elect to participate for the full calendar year (or the remainder of the calendar year, if you become eligible to enroll during the year). Once you enroll, your contribution amount is fixed for the calendar year unless one of the situations described in Changing Your Coverage earlier in this section applies to you.
- If you become eligible to participate in an FSA(s) during the year, only eligible expenses you incur after the effective date of the qualifying event are eligible for reimbursement.
- If you become eligible to increase the amount you contribute to an FSA(s) during the year, eligible expenses you incur prior to the effective date of the qualifying event are eligible for reimbursement up to the original amount you elected to contribute. Eligible expenses you incur after the effective date of the qualifying event are eligible for reimbursement up to the total amount available in your account.
- You cannot claim the same expenses through your health savings account (HSA) or as a deduction on your federal income tax return when you use an FSA. For more information, see Important Information about Taxes later in this section.
- If you and your spouse both participate in a dependent care FSA and you file a joint tax return, your contributions to the account cannot exceed a combined maximum of $5,000 per year. For more information, see Amount You May Contribute in the Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account (FSA) section.
- To be eligible for reimbursement from your limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you must be making contributions to your account when an eligible expense is incurred. In other words, even if an expense is normally considered eligible for reimbursement, that expense is not eligible for reimbursement if you are not making contributions to your limited purpose dental and vision FSA (e.g., you are on a leave of absence) when it is incurred.

Note that the rules for the dependent care FSA work differently. You can request reimbursement for eligible dependent care expenses incurred after you have stopped making contributions to your account, up to the remaining balance in your account.
- The FSAs do not offer a grace period. That means if you do not incur enough in eligible expenses during the calendar year to use all the available funds in your account(s), the IRS requires you to forfeit any excess balance in your account. You cannot receive a refund, carry balances over to pay for the next year's expenses or transfer money from one account to another. For more information, see How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement.
- You have until March 31 of the next year to submit claims for reimbursement for expenses incurred during the current year. Any money left in your account after that date is forfeited. For more information, see How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement later in this section.

Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs also apply to health care FSAs. In addition, references to eligible dental and vision expenses extend to the health care FSA.

Limited Purpose Dental and Vision Flexible Spending Account (FSA)

Since federal regulations prohibit employees who fund a health savings account (HSA) from having any other health care coverage, including a health care flexible spending account (FSA), participants in a company-sponsored HSA Advantage plan who fund an HSA have access to a limited purpose dental and vision FSA.

In addition, you may participate in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA if you:

- Participate in a company-sponsored medical plan available in Hawaii, the UnitedHealthcare (UHC) Out-of-Area plan, Global Choice or the TRICARE Supplement Plan; or
- Are enrolled in Medicare or TRICARE, elect coverage with an HSA Advantage plan and do not fund an HSA; or
- Waive company-sponsored medical coverage and have coverage with a plan that is not sponsored by the company, such as one that is sponsored by your spouse's employer. Note that in this case, if your spouse's plan is HSA eligible, having a company-sponsored health care FSA might disqualify your spouse from making or receiving contributions to his/her HSA.

You may use a limited purpose dental and vision FSA to pay for eligible dental and vision expenses that your own or your spouse's dental and vision plans through another employer do not cover or cover only in part, such as deductibles, copayments and orthodontia. Expenses must be incurred by you, your spouse or your eligible dependents. An eligible dependent is someone you claim as a dependent on your federal income tax return or an adult child up to age 26.

While this section aims to provide information on federal tax rules that apply to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs, it's important to note that state or local tax laws may also apply. Because tax laws are complex and subject to change, you are encouraged to consult a qualified tax or financial advisor with any questions. You may also obtain information from IRS Publication 969 (Health Savings Accounts and Other Tax-Favored Health Plans), available at www.irs.gov.

ABOUT THE HEALTH CARE FSA

A health care FSA works the same as a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, but can also be used for eligible medical expenses. Eligibility for a health care FSA is generally extended under the following circumstances:

- If you participate in a company-sponsored medical plan available in Hawaii, the UnitedHealthcare (UHC) Out-of-Area plan, Global Choice or the TRICARE Supplement Plan;
- If you are enrolled in Medicare or TRICARE, elect coverage with an HSA Advantage plan and do not fund an HSA; or
- If you waive company-sponsored medical coverage and have coverage with a plan that is not sponsored by the company, such as one that is sponsored by your spouse's employer. In this case, if your spouse's plan is HSA eligible, note that having a company-sponsored health care FSA might disqualify your spouse from making or receiving contributions to his/her HSA.

Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs in this section also apply to health care FSAs. In addition, references to eligible dental and vision expenses extend to the health care FSA.

Note: If you are eligible to enroll in a health care FSA, you may enroll in either the limited purpose dental and vision FSA or the health care FSA, but not both. If you have any questions about health care FSAs, including those related to eligibility, call the RBC.

If you participate in an HSA Advantage plan and fund an HSA, note that expenses paid through your HSA are not eligible for reimbursement from your limited purpose dental and vision FSA.

If you participate in an HSA Advantage plan and fund an HSA, you cannot open a health care FSA, even if it is your intention to use it only for eligible dental and vision expenses.

Amount You May Contribute

Each year that you participate in the account, you decide how much you want to contribute by estimating how much you anticipate your out-of-pocket dental and vision expenses will be for the upcoming calendar year. The annual minimum contribution amount is $100 and the annual maximum contribution amount is $2,750.

The amount you choose to contribute is deducted from your paycheck in equal installments throughout the year. If because of a situation described in Changing Your Coverage earlier in this section you become eligible to enroll in the middle of the year, you may still contribute the annual maximum to your account for that year. In this case, the amount you elect to contribute will be divided by the number of pay periods remaining in the year.

The company may have to reduce, change or cancel your limited purpose dental and vision FSA election at any time to satisfy IRS regulations. You will be notified if this affects you.

The list of eligible expenses for a limited purpose dental and vision FSA is limited. Be sure to understand what's eligible for reimbursement when estimating your expenses. For guidelines on eligible expenses, go to the BenefitWallet member portal, accessible via Desktop Benefits, or call the RBC.

HOW YOU SAVE WITH A LIMITED PURPOSE DENTAL AND VISION FSA— AN EXAMPLE

When you elect to participate in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you set up an account to reimburse yourself during the year for eligible expenses using pre-tax dollars.

For example, if you earn $70,000 per year and contribute the maximum amount of $2,750 to a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, here's how you could save compared to paying for the same expenses on an after-tax basis:

	Paying for expenses on a pre-tax basis through a limited purpose dental and vision FSA	Paying for expenses on an after-tax basis
Your annual pay	$70,000	$70,000
You pay for eligible expenses on a pre-tax basis through a limited purpose dental and vision FSA	$ 2,750	- 0 -
Your taxable income	$67,250	$70,000
Amount you pay in federal income and FICA taxes	$ 5,805	$ 6,345
You pay for eligible expenses on an after-tax basis	- 0 -	$ 2,750
Your take-home pay	$61,445	$60,905
Your take-home pay increases by	$ 540

Note: Taxes for this example are based on a family with four withholding allowances, married, filing jointly and using 2021 tax rates. In most states, you would also save on state income taxes. This example is for illustrative purposes only. Your situation would likely differ depending on a number of factors, including actual earnings, amount saved, where you live and tax law changes.

Remember: While the FSAs do not offer a grace period, you have until March 31 of the following year to submit claims for eligible expenses incurred during the current calendar year. After that time, any amount remaining in your FSA is forfeited and cannot be returned to you.

Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs also apply to health care FSAs. In addition, references to eligible dental and vision expenses extend to the health care FSA.

Estimating Your Eligible Expenses

To determine how much to contribute to a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you may wish to take the following steps:

- Review your own and your family's dental and vision expenses from the past year;
- Consider whether you expect your FSA-eligible expenses to increase or decrease in the coming year. For example, if you or a family member will be purchasing prescription eyewear, you may expect to incur additional expenses for the year;
- Review Eligible Dental and Vision Expenses later in this section for a partial listing of eligible expenses; and
- Review the services that your vision and dental plans do not cover or cover only in part.

Be sure to estimate your expenses carefully. Since IRS regulations require that you forfeit any money not used while you're contributing to the plan (generally by December 31), be sure you can use what you set aside. Tools to help you estimate expenses are available on the BenefitWallet member portal, accessible via Desktop Benefits.

Eligible Dental and Vision Expenses

Participants in an HSA Advantage plan may use a limited purpose dental and vision FSA for a variety of dental and vision expenses recognized by the IRS, including but not limited to:

- Contact lenses and supplies, such as saline and cleaning solutions;
- Dental examinations, if not reimbursed under a dental plan;
- Dental or vision plan deductible and coinsurance amounts;
- Eye surgery;
- Prescription eyeglasses, including lenses, frames and exams;
- Services by an optometrist; and
- Orthodontia. (Note that special reimbursement rules apply; see How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement later in this section.)

In some cases, you may be required to complete a letter of medical necessity.

Ineligible Dental and Vision Expenses

In general, dental and vision care expenses that do not qualify as medical deductions for federal income tax purposes are not eligible for reimbursement through a limited purpose dental and vision care FSA. Examples of ineligible expenses include but are not limited to:

- Any expenses paid through your HSA;
- Insurance premiums for continued coverage through COBRA;
- Cosmetic surgery, except to correct congenital abnormality, bodily injury or disfiguring disease;
- Cosmetics, such as toiletries and toothpaste;
- Any expense covered by a health plan;
- Expenses that are filed on a federal tax return for a tax credit or for which a deduction is taken;
- Expenditures for the general health of an individual, including expenses related to exercise, fitness, nutrition, recreation, vacation or membership in a spa or health club;
- Any expenses incurred in connection with an illegal operation or treatment;
- Insurance premiums, including premiums for employer-provided dental and vision coverage and for contact lens insurance;
- Teeth whitening products or services;
- Transportation expenses to and from work, even if a physical condition requires a special means of transportation; and
- Vitamins, when taken for general health purposes.

Orthodontia expenses are generally reimbursed either in the year that payment is due or in the year that payment is made (with proof of payment). For more information about eligible expenses, go to the BenefitWallet member portal, accessible via Desktop Benefits, or call the RBC.

With the limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you can only use your BenefitWallet debit card at dental and vision providers' offices. You cannot use your card at a pharmacy or convenience store, even if you are purchasing an item that is eligible for reimbursement, such as contact lens solution. To be reimbursed for eligible items you purchase outside of a dental or vision office, you must file a claim. For details, see How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement later in this section.

For detailed guidelines on eligible and ineligible dental and vision expenses, go to the BenefitWallet member portal, accessible via Desktop Benefits, call the RBC or review IRS Publication 502, available at www.irs.gov.

In accordance with the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act, OTC medications—such as acid controllers, antihistamines, baby rash ointments, cough medicines, laxatives, pain relievers and sleep aids—are now eligible for reimbursement from a health care FSA without a prescription.

Costs for OTC health care items that are not medicines (such as bandages, contact lens solutions, first-aid supplies and thermometers) continue to be eligible for reimbursement without a prescription. In addition, beginning in 2020, menstrual products have been added to the list of OTC health care items that are eligible for reimbursement.

ABOUT YOUR BENEFITWALLET DEBIT CARD

If you enroll in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA (a health care FSA, if eligible) for the first time, you will automatically receive a personalized, chip-enabled debit card from BenefitWallet. To activate your card, follow the instructions listed on the sticker on the front of the card. To request additional cards, call the RBC.

You can use your BenefitWallet debit card to pay for eligible services and supplies you receive in dental and vision providers' offices, as long as your provider accepts Visa.®

If you are eligible and have elected a health care FSA, you may also use your debit card at a variety of participating providers that accept Visa, including doctor offices, pharmacies and hospitals. Eligible expenses include medical and prescription drug copayments, deductibles and coinsurance, as well as OTC medications, such as pain relievers, cough suppressants, antihistamines and insulin, and a variety of OTC health care items, such as bandages, menstrual products, first-aid supplies and thermometers.

Because your debit card gives you immediate access to your funds, when you use your card at a participating provider, you don't need to pay first and then file a claim for reimbursement. If your qualified provider does not accept your debit card or if you purchase eligible items at a business that does not accept your card, you must pay for the eligible expenses up-front and file a claim for reimbursement, as described in How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement later in this section.

When you visit a participating provider, swipe your card and select "credit." (Note that some payment systems may provide the ability to select "debit" at the point of sale. Note that BenefitWallet does not automatically assign a PIN to your debit card. If you wish to create a PIN, contact BenefitWallet.) The amount of your transaction will automatically be deducted from your pre-tax FSA balance. As always, it's important to keep all of your receipts to verify that your purchases were eligible for reimbursement.

If you use your debit card for eligible expenses at a location that is not a qualified provider (such as a gas station or convenience store), your card will be declined. In this case, you must pay for the eligible expenses up-front and file a claim for reimbursement (as described in How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement later in this section).

In some cases, you may be required to provide additional documentation about your purchase. If this applies to you, you'll receive a notice in the mail; if the RBC has your email address, you'll receive an email notification; or you may go to Desktop Benefits to identify any transaction that requires documentation. You can provide any needed documentation by uploading it to the BenefitWallet member portal, accessible via Desktop Benefits, or by faxing or mailing it to BenefitWallet (using the contact information in How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement later in this section). To comply with IRS requirements, note that if you do not provide additional documentation within the time frame required, the amount of the eligible expense(s) that required the documentation may be deemed taxable and withheld from your pay.

If you have questions about using your debit card, or to report a lost or stolen card, call the RBC. Note that your debit card can only be used for limited purpose dental and vision/health care FSAs, not dependent care FSAs.

For Health Care FSA Participants:A Word about Your Debit Card and Electronic Substantiation

According to IRS guidelines, grocery and discount stores that sell OTC medications are required to track items purchased with FSA debit cards to ensure that such cards are used only for FSA-eligible expenses.

If you purchase an OTC medication or an eligible OTC health care item at an IRS-compliant retailer, you may be able to use your debit card and have the purchase electronically substantiated. In other words, these eligible expenses may be automatically verified—you should not have to provide any additional information.

Regardless of your purchase, you should keep all receipts in case you are asked to provide them to the IRS.

To review a list of IRS-compliant merchants, go to the BenefitWallet member portal, accessible via Desktop Benefits.

Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs also apply to health care FSAs.

A Note for Participants In a Health Care FSA

If your debit card transaction cannot be approved (i.e., the transaction was for an ineligible expense or you cannot substantiate that the transaction was for an eligible expense), the amount of that transaction will either be offset against future submitted claims, if any, or you will be required to pay back the amount of that transaction.

Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account (FSA)

You may use a dependent care flexible spending account (FSA) to reimburse yourself during the year for the care of your eligible dependents (such as day care or adult care) while you work. Your eligible dependent is:

- A qualifying child under age 13, whom you claim as a dependent for federal income tax purposes. For purposes of the plan, a qualifying child must reside with you for more than half the year and must not provide over half of his/her own support;
- Your legal spouse, who is physically or mentally incapable of self-care; or
- A qualifying relative who is physically or mentally incapable of self-care, provided:
 - You provide more than one half of that person's support,
 - You can claim that dependent as a dependent on your federal income tax return, and
 - The person is not a qualifying child of you or any other taxpayer.

Amount You May Contribute

Each year that you participate in the account, you decide how much you want to contribute by estimating how much you anticipate your out-of-pocket dependent care expenses will be for the upcoming calendar year. The annual minimum contribution amount is $100 and the annual maximum contribution amount is $5,000. If you are married and file separate tax returns, you may contribute $2,500 each (up to a combined maximum of $5,000).

The amount you choose to contribute is deducted from your paycheck in equal installments throughout the year. If you enroll in the middle of the year (for example, you are newly eligible or you have a qualified change in status), you may still contribute the annual maximum to your account for that year. In this case, the amount you elect to contribute will be divided by the number of pay periods remaining in the year.

The company may have to reduce, change or cancel your dependent care FSA election at any time to satisfy IRS regulations. You will be notified if this affects you.

Limitations

The amount you contribute to a dependent care FSA cannot exceed your compensation for the year. If you are married and your spouse's compensation is less than yours, the amount you contribute cannot exceed your spouse's income.

For example, if your income is $55,000 per year and your spouse's income is $3,500 per year, the maximum you may contribute to a dependent care FSA is limited to $3,500 for that year.

If your spouse is a full-time student or is incapable of self-care, his or her income is assumed to be:

- $250 per month, if you have one person for whom you incur eligible dependent care expenses; or
- $500 per month, if you have two or more persons for whom you incur eligible dependent care expenses.

You are encouraged to consult a qualified financial or tax advisor if you have questions about these limitations.

Only expenses incurred that allow you (and your spouse, if applicable) to work or attend school can be reimbursed through a dependent care FSA.

HOW YOU SAVE WITH A DEPENDENT CARE FSA—AN EXAMPLE

In years when you elect to participate in a dependent care FSA, you set up an account to reimburse yourself for eligible dependent care expenses using pre-tax dollars.

Considering this account? It's important to note that tax advantages generally apply only to those earning more than $100,000 per year.

For example, if you earn $70,000 per year and contribute $5,000 per year to a dependent care account, your take-home pay would actually decrease as compared to taking the dependent care tax credit.

	Paying for expenses on a pre-tax basis through a dependent care FSA	Paying for expenses on an after-tax basis with tax credit
Your annual pay	$70,000	$70,000
You pay for eligible expenses on a pre-tax basis through a dependent care FSA	$ 5,000	- 0 -
Your taxable income	$65,000	$70,000
Amount you pay in federal income and FICA taxes	$ 5,363	$ 5,345
You pay for eligible expenses on an after-tax basis	- 0 -	$ 5,000
Your take-home pay	$59,637	$59,655
Your take-home pay decreases by	$ 18

Note: Taxes for this example are based on a family with four withholding allowances, married, filing jointly and using 2021 tax rates. This example further assumes that a tax credit is claimed when expenses are paid on an after-tax basis. In most states, you might save on state income taxes. This example is for illustrative purposes only. Your situation would likely differ depending on a number of factors, including actual earnings, amount saved, where you live and tax law changes. You should consult a tax advisor to determine whether a dependent care FSA or a tax credit is best for you.

Estimating Your Eligible Dependent Care Expenses

To determine how much to contribute to a dependent care FSA, you may wish to take the following steps:

- Review your dependent care expenses from the past year;
- Consider whether you expect these expenses to increase or decrease in the coming year. For example, if you have a child who will be turning age 13 during the year, you cannot be reimbursed for dependent care expenses incurred on or after the child's 13th birthday;
- Take into consideration times when you may not need care, such as your vacation time and holidays; and
- Review the list of dependent care expenses eligible for reimbursement (see Eligible Dependent Care Expenses later in this section for a partial listing of eligible expenses).

It's a good idea to estimate your expenses carefully. Since IRS regulations require that you forfeit any money not spent by December 31, be sure you can use what you set aside. Tools to help you estimate expenses are available on the BenefitWallet member portal, accessible via Desktop Benefits.

Remember: While the FSAs do not offer a grace period, you have until March 31 of the following year to submit claims for eligible expenses incurred during the current calendar year. After that time, any amount remaining in your FSA is forfeited and cannot be returned to you.

Eligible Dependent Care Expenses

You may use a dependent care FSA for a wide variety of eligible dependent care expenses, including but not limited to:

- Expenses for an after-school program;
- Amounts paid for care performed outside the home for the care of your dependent or disabled spouse. In order to be reimbursed for expenses incurred by a dependent who is not a qualifying child, the dependent must regularly spend at least eight hours a day in your household;
- Amounts paid to a dependent care center, babysitter or nurse who cares for fewer than six individuals;
- Expenses for a licensed day care center that cares for six or more unrelated individuals;
- Amounts paid to a maid or cook if part of the services are provided to a person who qualifies for dependent care;
- The full amount paid to a nursery school (pre-kindergarten), even when the school provides lunch and educational services as long as these services are not itemized on the bill;
- Amounts paid to a relative who provides dependent care services, provided the individual is not a:
 - Dependent for whom a personal exemption deduction is allowed for federal income tax purposes, or
 - Child or stepchild who is under age 19 at the end of the calendar year; and
- Expenses for a summer day camp.

Ineligible Dependent Care Expenses

Certain expenses are not eligible for reimbursement through a dependent care FSA. Examples of ineligible expenses include but are not limited to:

- Babysitting expenses, when for non-work or non-school activities;
- Care in a convalescent nursing home;
- Custodial care for a dependent who resides outside your home;
- The cost of food, clothing and education;
- Expenses for any kindergarten program;
- Overnight camp;
- Expenses for any K-12 private schools.
- Services provided by one dependent to care for another;
- Expenses for which a dependent care tax credit is taken or that are reimbursed under a health care FSA;
- Transportation expenses furnished by anyone other than the provider;
- Tuition for schooling for the first grade or higher; and
- Dependent care that allows you or your spouse to do volunteer work.

How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement

Submitting FSA Claims

You may submit claims for eligible expenses (including any reimbursement requests you submit by March 31, 2022) in one of the following ways:

- File your claim online. From the Desktop Benefits homepage or by using the BenefitWallet mobile app, click on My Health & Insurance, then My Flexible Spending Accounts and follow these steps:
 - Click Reimburse Myself and follow the simple steps on the screen to enter information about your claim; and
 - Continue through the screens and submit the required documentation via the online upload feature.
- Print a Claim Submission form (available on Desktop Benefits or by calling the RBC) and follow the instructions on the form to submit it along with any supporting documentation. Claim forms can be mailed/faxed to:

BenefitWallet
PO Box 18009, Suite A
Norfolk, VA 23501
Fax: 877-841-1152.

BenefitWallet will send you an email if additional documentation is required to support your claim. To ensure you receive any correspondence, it is recommended that your email address be on file with the RBC. If you have any questions about filing a claim, call the RBC.

Guidelines for Submitting Reimbursement Requests

The following guidelines apply to all reimbursement requests:

- Limited purpose dental and vision FSA. For expenses where you cannot or do not use your debit card, you may request reimbursement for an amount up to your full annual election at any time, as long as your expense was incurred while you were actively participating in the plan.

For expenses that you are submitting for reimbursement, you must attach either an Explanation of Benefits (EOB) from the insurance company or the original itemized receipt or bill identifying:

 - Name and address of the provider or merchant;
 - The patient's name (itemized receipts may not have this information);
 - The date the service was rendered or the purchase was made;
 - The amount of the patient's responsibility for services or amount of purchase;
 - The type of services rendered or a description of the purchased item. (For prescriptions (applicable only to a health care FSA), the actual prescription documentation may need to be transmitted if the itemized receipt does not contain the prescription description); and
 - If applicable (for dual-purpose items), a letter of medical necessity.

Remember: Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs also apply to health care FSAs.

- Dependent care FSA. You may only be reimbursed up to the year-to-date payroll contributions made into your account. If you submit a request that exceeds your current available balance, you will be reimbursed for any remaining approved amount once the payroll contributions have been deposited into your dependent care FSA.

In order to be reimbursed for dependent care FSA expenses, you must submit either a signed affidavit from the dependent care provider (found on the claim form) along with the provider's tax identification number, name and address or you can provide an itemized bill from your provider that contains the:

If you elect to participate in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you automatically receive one BenefitWallet debit card. You can use this card to pay for eligible out-of-pocket expenses at dental and vision providers' offices that accept Visa.® For more information, see the inset box About Your BenefitWallet Debit Card earlier in this section.

Remember: While the FSAs do not offer a grace period, you have until March 31 of the following year to submit claims for eligible expenses incurred during the current calendar year. After that time, any amount remaining in your FSA is forfeited and cannot be returned to you.

Be sure to keep a copy of your bills and receipts for your records. Note that the same expense cannot be submitted to more than one FSA.

- Name and address of the provider;
- The dependent's name (itemized expense by dependent);
- The date(s) the services were rendered; and
- The tax identification number of the dependent care provider.

In all cases, you must provide independent third-party validation for expenses incurred.

Reimbursement can only be made for expenses incurred after you enrolled in an FSA(s). In addition, reimbursement can be issued only after eligible expenses are incurred, not when you are billed or when you pay for the services. You may not receive advance reimbursement for services not yet rendered. For example, if you pay for your child's summer day care program in March, but the program takes place in June and July, you must wait until the end of the program to submit your reimbursement request. (Note that this does not apply to orthodontia expenses; see the inset box A Word about Orthodontia Claims.)

In addition, eligible expenses are only reimbursed if they are incurred in the same calendar year as your contributions are withheld from your pay. (If you suspend your participation in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you will be reimbursed only for eligible expenses incurred up to the date you stopped contributing to the plan.) You have until March 31 of the following calendar year to request reimbursement from your account(s). Under current IRS regulations, any money left in your account after that date is forfeited.

The claims administrator may request additional documentation or proof of eligibility for reimbursement, if necessary. If you have a claim that is denied in whole or in part, you have the right to appeal the denial. For information on how to appeal a denied claim, refer to the Administrative section.

A WORD ABOUT ORTHODONTIA CLAIMS

The IRS recognizes that orthodontia services are generally provided over an extended period of time, often without a direct relationship between the date of treatment and when payments are due. For this reason, you can receive reimbursement for orthodontia expenses in the plan year that payment is due or in the plan year in which payment is made. Proof of payment is required in all cases.

Receiving Payment

The deadline to submit claims for eligible expenses incurred in 2021 is March 31, 2022. Reimbursement requests are processed daily. Checks are either mailed to your home address or deposited directly into your bank account. To request direct deposit, go to Desktop Benefits, select My Health & Insurance, and My Flexible Spending Accounts, which will open a separate BenefitWallet window. From here, select Direct Deposit Information.

Your Account Statement. All FSA participants will receive quarterly statements via email. If you don't have email or your email address is not on file with the RBC, BenefitWallet will send you an annual statement in the mail.

MANAGING YOUR FSA(S) ONLINE

It's easy to manage your FSA(s) online. From Desktop Benefits or the BenefitWallet mobile app, you can file a claim; check on the status of a current claim; verify your account balance; view a list of payments that have been made, including when they were paid; download claim forms; upload any needed documentation; enter new claims; or provide documentation for unsubstantiated debit card transactions. For more information about accessing your account(s) online, see Managing Your Account(s) earlier in this section.

As Your Needs Change

If You Take a Leave of Absence

Unless you cancel your enrollment in an FSA due to a qualified change in status before your medical or workers' compensation leave of absence, your FSA participation continues during your leave. Your payroll contributions stop on the last day you are paid by the company. If you return to work within the same calendar year, your payroll contributions resume when you return to work.

Whether you can make contributions and/or submit claims to your FSA for eligible expenses incurred during your leave depends on the type of FSA, as described in the following sections.

Limited Purpose Dental and Vision FSA

As long as you do not cancel your participation in your limited purpose dental and vision FSA prior to your leave, claims for eligible expenses incurred before the start date of your leave can be submitted during your leave. You can only submit claims for eligible expenses incurred during your leave if you are actively making contributions to your limited purpose dental and vision FSA during your leave.

Once your leave begins, the RBC will send you a bill so you can continue making contributions to your limited purpose dental and vision FSA. If you wish to continue making contributions, you pay the RBC directly. In this case, your debit card remains activated and you may submit claims for eligible expenses incurred during your leave.

To receive reimbursement, follow the steps outlined in the earlier section How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement.

If you do not wish to make contributions during your leave, you must wait for your payroll contributions to resume after you have returned to work before you can submit claims for eligible expenses incurred while you were on leave. Note that if you do not make contributions during your leave, your debit card is suspended during your leave. It generally takes two weeks from the date you return to work to reactivate your debit card.

Dependent Care FSA

As long as you do not cancel your participation in your dependent care FSA prior to your leave, you can submit claims for eligible expenses incurred before the start date of your leave during your leave. While you cannot make contributions to your dependent care FSA during your leave, you may submit claims for expenses incurred while you are on leave, provided your current account balance will cover those expenses.

To receive reimbursement, upload your claim form and supporting documents to the RBC via Desktop Benefits, or mail or fax a reimbursement form to the RBC. For details, see How to File FSA Claims for Reimbursement earlier in this section.

If You Leave the Company or Are Laid Off

In the event you leave the company or are laid off, you will receive a COBRA notification, which explains how you can elect to continue your participation in your limited purpose dental and vision FSA under COBRA. For details, see Extending Your Participation later in this section. Your participation in your dependent care FSA cannot be continued.

About Paid Parental Leave

There is no effect to your pay or benefits when you are on parental leave as you remain in an active status.

Unless otherwise stated, all references to limited purpose dental and vision FSAs also apply to health care FSAs.

Other Information

Important Information about Taxes

In some cases, you may be able to deduct certain dental and vision expenses from your income and receive a tax credit for certain dependent care expenses, instead of obtaining reimbursement through a limited purpose dental and vision and/or dependent care FSA. You are encouraged to consult a qualified financial or tax advisor to determine what is best for your personal financial situation.

All expenses submitted for reimbursement to an FSA are subject to review by the IRS. If the IRS determines that a particular expense does not qualify for reimbursement, the claims administrator will act according to IRS instructions. Employees who wish to appeal the decision of the IRS are responsible for any legal or other costs incurred in processing the appeal.

Dental and Vision Expenses

If you decide to reimburse yourself for eligible expenses through a limited purpose dental and vision FSA, you cannot also claim those same expenses through your HSA or as deductions on your income tax return.

If you are eligible to participate in a health care FSA, remember that under current IRS regulations, you may deduct only those medical expenses that exceed 7.5% of your adjusted gross income. By using pre-tax dollars to pay for eligible expenses, your tax advantage begins immediately.

Dependent Care Expenses

Current IRS regulations allow you to take a dependent care tax credit when you file your taxes. You may claim credit on qualified expenses up to $3,000 for one dependent and $6,000 for two or more dependents.

If you choose to reimburse yourself on a pre-tax basis through a dependent care FSA, those reimbursed expenses will reduce the amount of federal tax credits available to you. In other words, for each dollar reimbursed from your dependent care FSA, one less dollar of expenses may be claimed for a federal tax credit.

In some cases, using a dependent care FSA will result in greater tax savings. If your expenses are more than $3,000 for one dependent, the dependent care FSA may be especially advantageous because you can set aside up to $5,000, regardless of how many dependents you have.

When Participation Normally Ends

If you retire, terminate your employment or your employment otherwise ends, your participation in the FSA(s) ends on your last day paid. If you request to stop participating in your account(s) during the year due to a qualified change in status, your participation will end as soon as administratively possible, generally within two pay periods after you submit your request.

Only reimbursement requests for dental and vision expenses incurred on or before the date your participation ends will be reimbursed.

Dependent care expenses incurred in the same calendar year your participation ends may be reimbursed after your participation ends, up to the maximum amount in your account. You may submit requests for reimbursement of your eligible expenses until March 31 of the year following the year in which your participation ends.

Amendment and Termination

The FSAs are offered based on the current provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, which are subject to change. The company's FSAs may be amended or discontinued in the event of changes in the law or regulations, or for any other reason.

Any expenses for which you are reimbursed through a limited purpose dental and vision or dependent care FSA cannot also be claimed as itemized deductions or a tax credit on your federal income tax return. You are encouraged to consider your participation carefully before enrolling in an FSA(s).

If the Plan Is Terminated

If the company terminates the plan, your payroll deductions will cease. If there is any money in your account(s) when the plan terminates, you may request reimbursement for expenses incurred prior to the date of the plan's termination. All such reimbursement requests must be submitted within 60 days following the end of the year in which the plan is terminated. Any money remaining in your account(s) after that date is forfeited.

Extending Your Participation

Under some circumstances, you may be able to continue participation in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA on an after-tax basis under COBRA. If you elect to continue your limited purpose dental and vision FSA participation, you make after-tax contributions for the amount you elected in equal installments for the remainder of the year. Participation in a dependent care FSA cannot be extended.

As long as you elect COBRA coverage, are enrolled and continue after-tax contributions to your limited purpose dental and vision FSA through December 31, you may continue to request reimbursement for eligible expenses through March 31 of the following year. Remember that the plan does not have a grace period; eligible expenses must be incurred by December 31.

Your Rights

This section describes the FSAs in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan document, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan document will govern in all cases. See the Administrative section for information related to the administration of the FSAs.

As Your Needs Change

Other Important Information

- Short-term and long-term disability benefits replace all or part of your income in the event that a non-work-related illness or injury keeps you out of work.

- The company provides you with the opportunity to elect short-term disability (STD) coverage, which provides income replacement when you are disabled. The maximum STD period is 10 weeks, which includes an unpaid, five-weekday waiting period. You may choose STD coverage equal to 75% or 100% of your weekly base pay. You pay the full cost for any STD coverage you elect.

- You also have the option of electing long-term disability (LTD) coverage, which provides you with benefits when a non-work-related illness or injury keeps you out of work for more than 10 weeks. You may choose LTD coverage equal to either 50% or 60% of your base monthly earnings. You pay the full cost for any LTD coverage you elect. You must elect STD coverage in order to elect LTD coverage.

- You may have the option of electing occupational LTD coverage, which supplements workers' compensation benefits in the event you suffer a disability that is work-related. If you are eligible to elect coverage, you must be enrolled in the STD plan and the LTD plan, and you must choose the same coverage level as your LTD coverage (50% or 60% of your base monthly earnings).

Enrolling in Disability Coverage

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

Provided you enroll within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire (whichever is later), you are eligible to purchase short-term disability (STD) and long-term disability (LTD) coverage without completing a Statement of Health to show proof of good health. To elect LTD coverage, you must also elect STD coverage. You must be actively at work for coverage to begin.

If you meet the occupational LTD eligibility requirements (described later in this section), this option will appear on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet. A Statement of Health is not required. You must be actively at work for coverage to begin.

Enrollment During the Year

STD and LTD Coverage

If you do not enroll in STD or STD and LTD coverage within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire (whichever is later), you may apply for coverage at any time. In this case, you will be required to complete a Statement of Health to show proof of good health. It's important to note that applying for coverage at a time other than when you are first eligible, including during the annual benefits open enrollment period, means that MetLife may decline your application for coverage.

You may request an application and a Statement of Health at any time by calling the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231. Submit the completed application and Statement of Health to MetLife at the address on the form. You may be responsible for expenses associated with supporting information (such as a medical exam) for your Statement of Health. MetLife will send you a written notice explaining whether your application for coverage has been approved or denied. If your application is approved, your coverage becomes effective as of the date it is approved or, if you are not actively at work on that date, on the first day you are actively at work after your application is approved.

Occupational LTD Coverage

If you first become eligible to elect occupational LTD coverage during the year, such as if your salary increases to a level where you are eligible to elect the plan, the RBC will send you a Personalized Enrollment Worksheet listing occupational LTD as an available benefit option. To elect coverage, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

If you do not enroll in occupational LTD coverage when you are first eligible, you may enroll in the plan only during the annual benefits open enrollment period. A Statement of Health is not required. Remember: You must be enrolled in both the STD plan and the LTD plan if you are eligible for and wish to elect occupational LTD coverage.

When Coverage Becomes Effective

You must be actively at work for coverage to begin. Actively at work means that you are performing all of the material duties of your job where these duties are normally carried out. If you are not actively at work on the date your coverage is scheduled to begin, your coverage will become effective on the day you start or return to active work.

Cost of Coverage

Short-Term Disability Coverage

You pay the full cost of STD coverage. Rates are based on whether you elect the 75% coverage level or the 100% coverage level and are set as a flat rate per hundred dollars of your total base pay. The cost of any STD coverage you elect is deducted from your pay on an after-tax basis.

You may drop your STD, LTD and/or occupational LTD coverage at any time. If you drop STD or both STD and LTD coverage and later wish to re-apply, you may do so at any time. In this case, you will be required to complete a Statement of Health to show proof of good health. Re-enrolling in the occupational LTD plan is limited to the annual benefits open enrollment period; a Statement of Health is not required.

Remember that to elect LTD coverage, you must also elect STD coverage. That means if you drop STD coverage, you must also drop your LTD coverage.

Long-Term Disability Coverage

You pay for any LTD coverage that you elect. (You must elect STD coverage in order to elect LTD coverage.) Rates are based on whether you elect the 50% coverage level or the 60% coverage level and are set as a flat rate per hundred dollars of your total base pay. The cost of any LTD coverage you elect is deducted from your pay on an after-tax basis.

Occupational Long-Term Disability Coverage

If eligible, you pay for any occupational long-term disability coverage that you elect. Rates are based on whether you elect the 50% coverage level or the 60% coverage level (you must choose the same coverage level as your LTD coverage) and are set as a flat rate per hundred dollars of your total base pay. The cost of any occupational LTD coverage you elect is deducted from your pay on an after-tax basis.

HOW THE COST FOR DISABILITY COVERAGE IS CALCULATED

Rates for STD coverage are a flat rate per hundred dollars of total base pay. The premium you pay depends not only on your pay, but also on which coverage level you elect and your work location.

For example, if you make $35,000 per year, work in a state with no state disability insurance and elect STD 75% coverage at a cost of $0.19 per hundred dollars of pay, you will pay $66.50 per year ($2.56 per biweekly paycheck) for your coverage. Here's how the cost is calculated:

Your annual base pay	$35,000
Divided by 100	÷ 100
	350
Times cost per $100 of pay	x 0.19
Your annual cost for coverage	$66.50 ($2.56 per biweekly paycheck)

If you elect STD 100% coverage, your cost is $ 0.33 per hundred dollars of pay, or $115.50 per year ($4.44 per biweekly paycheck).

The cost for LTD coverage is calculated the same way. For example, if you make $35,000 per year and wish to elect LTD coverage at 50% at a cost of $0.15 per hundred dollars of base pay, your cost will be $52.50 per year ($2.02 per biweekly paycheck). If you elect LTD coverage at 60% at a cost of $0.23 per hundred dollars of pay, your cost would be $80.50 per year ($3.10 per biweekly paycheck).

Please note that these rates assume that you work in a state that does not have state disability insurance. If you work in California, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Hawaii or Puerto Rico, your rate per hundred dollars of pay would be calculated using the costs listed in this chart:

If you work in	Cost per hundred dollars of base pay for 50% LTD	Cost per hundred dollars of base pay for 60% LTD
California	$0.08	$0.13
Hawaii or New Jersey	$0.13	$0.20
New York	$0.14	$0.21
Puerto Rico	$0.15	$0.22
Rhode Island	$0.12	$0.19

Your cost for occupational LTD is calculated the same way, at a rate of $0.045 per hundred dollars of base pay for 50% coverage and $0.063 per hundred dollars of base pay for 60% coverage.

Remember, your cost for disability coverage is based on the full amount of your base pay, not just the amount you select to receive for a benefit (75% or 100% for STD; 50% or 60% for LTD). Rates for disability coverage are included in your benefits open enrollment materials each year. For more information about rates for disability coverage, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

The amount you pay for disability coverage is deducted from your pay on an after-tax basis. This means that any benefits you may receive from the disability plans are paid tax free. For more information, see Important Information about Taxes later in this section.

Short-Term Disability (STD) Coverage

The company provides you with the opportunity to purchase STD coverage equal to 75% or 100% of your weekly base pay. The maximum STD period is 10 weeks, which includes an unpaid, five-weekday waiting period.*

You are considered disabled if, due to a non-work-related illness or injury, you are:

- Under the regular care and attendance of a doctor; and
- Unable to perform all of the essential elements of your regular job with reasonable accommodation.

To be eligible for STD benefits, you must:

- Have been actively at work immediately prior to becoming disabled. (You also meet this requirement if you are continuously on properly authorized vacation time from your last day at work until the day before you become disabled); and
- Be considered disabled due to an approved non-work-related illness or injury for six or more consecutive weekdays (Monday–Friday), including holidays. In other words, the plan has a five-weekday waiting period. If you return to work on the sixth weekday, no STD benefits are payable.

To receive credit toward satisfying the five-weekday waiting period, make sure your doctor notes the first day of your illness or injury, even if you do not see the doctor until later. Once you satisfy the waiting period, the plan begins paying approved STD claims starting with your 6th weekday of disability. Please note: To qualify for benefits, you must always satisfy the waiting-period requirement.

You use your available vacation time (if any) during the five-weekday waiting period. Unless you request otherwise, you will receive as many vacation days beyond the initial five as you have available while MetLife is reviewing your claim. (Note: If you have no vacation time available, you are not paid for this time.)

You may “buy back” as many or as few vacation days that you used as you wish. You must elect whether and how many vacation days to buy back on the earliest of:

- Within 30 days of your return to work; or
- Within 30 days of transitioning from STD to LTD. Your buy back must be completed by December 31 of the year in which the short-term disability occurred.

You will be sent an STD Vacation Buyback form during your disability. You may also obtain this form from your Human Resources representative or via Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>. Buying back vacation time is always optional. If you prefer not to buy back the vacation time you have used, you should not submit an STD Vacation Buyback form.

Note that the annual maximum number of vacation days continues to apply. For more information about vacation time, refer to the Work/Life section.

*The STD plan provided by the state of Hawaii has a maximum benefit duration of 26 weeks.

HAVING A BABY?

Instead of using your available vacation time during the five-weekday waiting period for approved disability benefits, you are paid using paid parental leave. Unless your work location is based in Massachusetts, this happens automatically; no action on your part is required. If your work location is based in Massachusetts, you may have other options available to you. For details, see the appropriate A Guide for Expectant Parents, available on Desktop Benefits under At Your Fingertips.

Your STD Benefit Amount

The amount of your STD benefit is based on your annual base pay immediately prior to the date your disability began and whether you have elected the 75% coverage level or the 100% coverage level. Your annual base pay means your regular base pay (including additional pay received as a supervisor, group leader or instructor), not including overtime, shift premiums, performance bonuses or other incentive compensation.

The STD plan is optional, which means you must enroll in the plan if you want STD coverage. You may apply for STD at any time. However, if you do not apply when you are first eligible, or drop coverage and later wish to re-enroll, you will be required to complete a Statement of Health to show proof of good health. See Pre-Existing Conditions later in this section for more information.

The time you are out on disability counts toward any unpaid leave for which you may be eligible under the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA) (and similar state laws). For more information about FMLA leave, contact your Human Resources representative.

To avoid a delay in receiving STD benefits, it's important that you file your claim by the sixth weekday that you are absent from work. Note that you may file your claim sooner if you know in advance that you will be absent for six or more consecutive weekdays. For information on how to file a claim, see Applying for STD Benefits later in this section.

With both levels of coverage, your benefit may be reduced by other income or benefits you may be eligible to receive from other sources (see Other Income in the Short-Term Disability (STD) Coverage section for more information).

HOW STD BENEFITS INTEGRATE WITH VACATION TIME—AN EXAMPLE

When you are first out of work due to an illness or injury, you are paid using your available vacation time. If your approved disability lasts for six or more consecutive weekdays, you are eligible for STD benefits, beginning on the sixth weekday. Here's an example:

You are sick with a bad chest cold and call in sick on Wednesday, the 5th of the month. You call in sick again on Thursday and Friday. Your supervisor codes your time away from work as vacation time.

You see the doctor on Friday. Your doctor notes the first day of your disability as Wednesday, the 5th. Based on the diagnosis of severe bronchial pneumonia, your doctor recommends you remain out of work for another week, for a total of eight weekdays.

Since you know you will be out of work for more than six consecutive weekdays, you follow the steps to apply for benefits (outlined in the section Applying for STD Benefits) by the sixth weekday that you are absent from work. Note that you may file your claim sooner if you know in advance that you will be absent for six or more consecutive weekdays.

After you apply for benefits, MetLife obtains the necessary information, including your first day of absence. MetLife approves your claim in writing and your STD benefits are paid beginning as of Wednesday the 12th, the sixth weekday of your disability. Upon finding out your claim has been approved, your supervisor codes your remaining time absent as Medical Leave, beginning on Wednesday the 12th.

Applying for STD Benefits

To apply for STD benefits, follow these steps:

- Contact your supervisor to report your absence;
- Initiate your request for a leave online using the company's self-service application through MyInfo on the oneRTN homepage (click on Request a Leave of Absence); and
- Call MetLife to follow up. When you speak with a MetLife representative, you will be asked to provide certain information, including authorization to release medical information to MetLife.

You must complete this process by the sixth weekday that you are absent from work. You may call earlier if you know in advance that you will be out of work for six or more weekdays, for example, due to childbirth or scheduled surgery or because your doctor indicates you need to be out of work for an extended period of time.

Once you have applied for benefits, go online or call MetLife to check on the status of a benefit payment, a claim or a claims appeal. To discuss returning to work, you must speak with a MetLife representative.

MetLife is the claims administrator for the STD plans and has the sole discretionary authority to determine your eligibility for STD benefits. MetLife will notify you in writing as soon as possible if your claim has been approved or denied, including the period for which any benefits will be paid. MetLife reserves the right to periodically request that a physician of its choice or another medical review organization conduct an independent medical examination of employees receiving STD benefits. MetLife pays the full cost of the exam.

You are responsible for providing the medical documentation needed to substantiate your claim, as well as for completing and returning any forms related to your claim as requested by MetLife. Failure to submit to a requested medical examination or to provide any additional information upon request may result in the suspension or termination of your STD benefits. You are responsible for any expenses that your doctor charges to prepare forms, furnish medical records or handle other administrative tasks.

MetLife "fast tracks" certain common claims that can be easily verified, such as childbirth, scheduled surgeries, bronchitis and viral pneumonia. To avoid a delay in receiving benefits, it's important that you file your claim in a timely manner.

Once you have applied for benefits, go online or call MetLife to check on the status of a benefit payment, a claim or a claims appeal. To discuss returning to work, you must speak with a MetLife representative.

Other Income

Your STD benefit is reduced by any other income or benefits you may be eligible to receive from other sources, including, but not limited to:

- The gross amount you receive under any company salary continuance or sick pay plan;
- Gross amount of Social Security disability or retirement benefits;
- The gross amount you receive or for which you are eligible under any compulsory benefit act or law;
- The gross amount of any disability income benefit for which you are eligible under:
 - Any other group insurance plan offered by the company or another employer;
 - Any governmental retirement system as a result of your job with the company;
 - Any government disability benefits from any agency or source, not including military disability benefits; or
 - A state disability plan;
- The gross amount of benefits you receive under any of the company's retirement plans as follows:
 - Any disability benefit; or
 - Any retirement benefits.

Note that this does not apply to non-disability pensions from other employers, including the military;

- Payments from third parties who have caused your disability, for example, if you are involved in a car accident and receive compensation from the other driver or the other driver's insurance company;
- The gross amount you receive from the company or any employer for temporary part-time employment; and
- The gross amount you receive from self-employment in which you are actively engaged in the conduct of business.

If other income benefits are paid as a lump sum, the sum will be applied to reduce your STD benefits until exhausted. Please note that income from a private, non-group disability insurance policy is not considered a source of "other income" under the STD plans.

Pre-Existing Conditions

A pre-existing condition is an illness or injury for which you received medical advice or treatment during the three-month period immediately prior to the effective date of your STD coverage. Medical advice or treatment includes medical treatment, medical care or services, diagnostic tests or taking of prescribed drugs or medicines. For purposes of the STD plans, pregnancy is considered a pre-existing condition.

If you have a pre-existing condition, you are not eligible for STD benefits for any disability caused by that illness or injury until you have been covered under the plan for 12 consecutive months. The only exception is for new hires who are pregnant or become pregnant during the 31-day new hire enrollment period. In this case, the pre-existing condition limitation described here will be waived.

Remember: Applying for additional STD coverage at a time other than when you are first eligible, including during the annual benefits open enrollment period, requires that you complete a Statement of Health to show proof of good health. After reviewing your Statement of Health, MetLife will approve or decline your application.

Your STD benefits are coordinated with any other benefits you are eligible to receive while you are disabled, such as Social Security disability benefits. Before you enroll in the STD plan, be sure to carefully review any sources of income you may be eligible to receive in the event of a disability that would reduce your STD benefit.

As of January 1, 2006, STD and any resulting LTD benefits are not reduced by any amount you may be eligible to receive from a military disability pension. Other reductions may apply, if applicable.

Successive Disabilities

If you return to full-duty work without accommodations and become disabled again as a result of the same or a related illness or injury within three months, your benefits will be paid as though your disability had been continuous. In other words, your disability is considered one period of disability. For example, if you had received seven weeks of STD benefits before returning to work and then becoming disabled again, STD benefits will begin again on your first day of absence and you will have three weeks of STD benefits remaining. Any time you return to work with accommodations does not count toward this three-month period.

If you become disabled more than three months after you return to work without accommodations, whether from the same or an unrelated cause, your disability is considered a new claim with a new benefit period. In this case, you are only eligible for STD benefits if your new disability lasts for six or more consecutive weekdays, you were considered actively at work on the date immediately preceding your disability and your claim is approved. Again, any time you return to work with accommodations does not apply.

SPECIAL COVERAGE FOR APPROVED SCHEDULED INTERMITTENT TREATMENTS

Occasionally, employees who have serious illnesses and require substantial treatment are not disabled from performing the essential elements of their job. The company provides pay under a separate program for absences due to approved scheduled intermittent treatments. Covered treatments are:

- Cardiac rehabilitation,
- Chemotherapy (including blood work/diagnostics required to determine the course and/or efficacy of chemotherapy treatment),
- Dialysis (onsite at a dialysis center),
- Intermittent parenteral/intravenous therapy (not self-administered),
- Organ transplant preparation, and
- Radiation therapy.

To receive pay under this program, you must complete and return an application, available from your Human Resources department, Medical department or in the Benefit Forms section under My Resources on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>. Please note that this program is not part of the STD plans.

When STD Benefits Are Not Payable

The STD plans do not pay benefits for any disability resulting from any of the following:

- An occupational illness or injury. An occupational illness or injury is an illness or injury that happens in the course of, or is caused by, any work performed by you for wage or profit and that entitles you to benefits under a workers' compensation or occupational disease law (whether or not you actually receive these benefits);
- A pre-existing condition, unless your disability begins after you have been covered under the plan(s) for 12 consecutive months. Note that if you are or become pregnant during the 31-day new hire enrollment period, the pre-existing condition limitation will be waived;
- Absences for precautionary reasons or to avoid the possible occurrence of a condition;
- Attempted suicide or an intentionally self-inflicted injury;
- Participation in a felony; or
- War or war-like action in time of peace.

When STD Benefits End

Your STD benefit payments end on the earliest of the date you:

- Cease to be disabled, as determined by the claims administrator and according to the guidelines of the plan;
- Reach the maximum duration of coverage under the plan (10 weeks);

- Fail to provide objective proof of your continued disability;
- Cease to be treated by a physician;
- Refuse to allow a medical examination requested by the insurance company; or
- Die.

Long-Term Disability (LTD) Coverage

As long as you have elected STD coverage at either the 75% or 100% coverage level, you have the option of electing long-term disability (LTD) coverage, which provides you with benefits when an illness or injury keeps you out of work for more than the 10-week STD period.

For purposes of the LTD plan, you are considered disabled for the first 18 months after your date of disability if you are unable to perform the essential elements of your job with reasonable accommodation. After this initial 18-month period, you must also be unable to work at any job for which you are reasonably qualified by training, education or experience through the maximum age for receiving benefits.

As with the STD plans, you must be under the regular care and attendance of a doctor while you are disabled to be eligible for LTD benefits. All benefits under the LTD plan are paid from plan participants' premium payments and earnings on those payments. All premium payments are held in the Raytheon Employees' Disability Trust.

MetLife is the claims administrator for the LTD plan and has the sole discretionary authority to determine your eligibility for LTD benefits.

Your LTD Benefit Amount

The amount of your LTD benefits is based on your base monthly earnings up to $290,000 per year (for 2021; subject to change each year) and whether you have elected LTD coverage equal to 50% or 60% of your base pay. Base monthly earnings means:

- For exempt salaried employees: Earnings based on a 40-hour workweek, excluding bonuses, overtime or incentive pay and all other special compensation;
- For hourly or non-exempt salaried employees: Earnings are determined by multiplying your base rate of pay (including supervisor's differential, and excluding overtime and bonuses) by the number of hours you are regularly scheduled to work in a two-week period, not to exceed 40 hours per week.

If you have LTD coverage equal to 50% of your base pay, the maximum benefit is $11,250 per month. If you are enrolled in LTD coverage at 60%, the maximum benefit is $13,500 per month. With both levels of coverage, your benefit is reduced by any other income or benefits you may be eligible to receive from other sources (see Other Income in the Long-Term Disability (LTD) Coverage section for more information).

Employees who earn more than $285,000 per year may elect supplemental LTD coverage, which includes coverage for annual base pay up to $400,000 and occupational LTD. For more information on the supplemental LTD plan, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Receiving LTD Benefits

Because MetLife administers both the STD and LTD plans, you are not required to submit a separate claim for LTD benefits. While you are receiving STD benefits, MetLife remains in close contact with your doctor to monitor your condition. If you continue to be disabled beyond 10 consecutive weeks, MetLife automatically opens your claim for LTD benefits.

While you are receiving LTD benefits, you may be asked to provide proof of your continued disability. You are responsible for providing the medical documentation needed to substantiate your claim, as well as for completing and returning any forms related to your claim as requested by MetLife.

You may apply for LTD coverage at any time. However, if you do not apply when you are first eligible, or drop coverage and later wish to re-apply, you will be required to complete a Statement of Health to show proof of good health.

In order to qualify for LTD benefits, you must first receive the full period of STD benefits.

Your LTD benefits are coordinated with any other benefits you are eligible to receive while you are disabled, such as Social Security disability and retirement benefits. Before you enroll in the LTD plan, be sure to carefully review any sources of income you may be eligible to receive in the event of a disability that would reduce your LTD benefit.

If you receive pay from part-time or other employment while receiving LTD benefits, the amount of your LTD benefit will be reduced by 100% of the amount of your earnings. Part-time or other employment is any other work performed for pay, whether with Raytheon Technologies or any other company. This means that each dollar you earn through part-time or other employment, including self-employment, reduces your LTD benefit by one dollar.

MetLife

MetLife reserves the right to periodically request that a physician of its choice conduct an independent medical examination. There is no cost to you for any such examination. Any expenses that your doctor charges to prepare forms, furnish medical records or handle other administrative tasks is your responsibility.

As is the case with STD benefits, failure to submit to a requested medical examination or to provide any additional information upon request may result in the suspension or termination of your LTD benefits.

Other Income

Your LTD benefits will be reduced by the following forms of other income* or benefits you may be eligible to receive, whether or not you apply for such benefits. Other income or benefits include, but are not limited to:

- The gross amount of salary, wages or other periodic payment from employment or self-employment;
- The gross amount you receive or for which you are eligible under any compulsory benefit act or law;
- Workers' compensation payments made in error or prior to a determination that the claim was not payable under workers' compensation;
- The gross amount of benefits received from a state disability benefit plan;
- The gross amount of salary continuance paid from a regular company payroll;
- Payments from certain other company-sponsored plans, including all pensions of any type from retirement plans;
- Payments from third parties who have caused your disability, for example, if you are involved in a car accident and receive compensation from the other driver or the other driver's insurance company;
- Gross amount of Social Security disability or retirement benefits; and
- Any government disability benefits from any agency or source, not including military disability benefits.

*Please note that non-disability pensions from other employers, including the military, and private, non-group disability insurance are not considered sources of "other income" under the LTD plan and will not reduce your benefits. However, disability pensions from other sources, with the exception of the military, will offset LTD benefits. You will be required to sign a promissory note agreeing to repay benefits paid to you if such benefits should have been offset by income from other sources, in accordance with the terms of the plan.

A WORD ABOUT SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

When you are disabled, you may be eligible to receive primary and/or family Social Security benefits. In general, you are eligible to begin receiving these benefits after you have been disabled for at least five consecutive months. Benefits then continue for as long as you meet the definition of disability under Social Security law.

Your monthly Social Security disability benefit is equal to the amount you would receive in benefits at age 65. An additional 50% of your benefit is payable for your spouse and for each dependent child to age 17 (to age 18 if attending secondary school). Total family benefits are subject to maximums set by law. It's important that you report any changes in your marital status or your number of eligible dependents that impact the amount of your Social Security benefit to MetLife, since the change may also affect your LTD benefit amount.

While any cost-of-living increase you receive in Social Security benefits will not reduce your LTD benefit, your benefit will be reduced by an earnings adjustment made by the Social Security Administration.

Social Security benefits are not paid automatically—you must apply for them. It's important to note that your LTD benefits will be reduced by the amount MetLife estimates you are eligible to receive in Social Security disability benefits, even if you do not apply for them. For more information, contact your local Social Security office (to find your local office, go to www.ssa.gov or check your telephone directory).

Pre-Existing Conditions

If you have a pre-existing condition, you are not eligible for LTD benefits for a disability caused by that condition unless your disability begins more than 12 months from the date you became covered and you have completed six months of continuous service at your job while covered. A pre-existing condition is a condition for which you have received medical advice or treatment, including prescription drugs or medicines, within three months of the date you become covered under the plan.

Maximum Benefit Duration

Depending on your age when you first become disabled, LTD benefits may be paid up to the time limits shown in this chart:

Age at Disability	LTD Benefits Payable
Before age 62	To age 65
62	42 months
63	36 months
64	30 months
65	27 months
66	24 months
67	21 months
68	18 months
69 or over	12 months

Disabilities Due to Substance Abuse

If your disability is caused by the use of drugs or is alcohol related, you are eligible to receive LTD benefits for a maximum of two years. Your benefits may continue beyond this two-year period if you are enrolled in a treatment plan approved by your company-sponsored medical plan's managed mental health carrier. In this case, benefits continue until the earlier of the date you:

- No longer meet the LTD plan's definition of disabled; or
- Leave the approved treatment program.

Benefits may be paid for up to two periods of disability related to substance abuse in a ten-year period.

For more information, call MetLife.

Disabilities Due to a Mental or Nervous Condition

If your disability is related to stress or a mental or nervous condition, you are eligible to receive LTD benefits for a maximum of two years. Your benefits may continue beyond this two-year period if you are an inpatient in a hospital or enrolled in a treatment plan approved by your company-sponsored medical plan's managed mental health carrier. In this case, benefits continue until the earlier of the date you:

- No longer meet the LTD plan's definition of disabled;
- Are discharged from the hospital; or
- Leave or complete the approved treatment plan.

For more information, call MetLife.

There are certain limitations on LTD benefits for disabilities due to substance abuse or a mental or nervous condition. For more information, call MetLife.

Successive Disabilities

If you return to work without accommodations and become disabled again as a result of the same or a related illness or injury within three months, your benefits will be paid as though your disability had been continuous. In other words, your disability is considered one period of disability, and you are not required to complete a new waiting period before LTD benefits begin again. Any time you return to work with accommodations does not count toward this three-month period.

If you become disabled more than three months after you return to work without accommodations, whether from the same or an unrelated cause, your disability is considered a new claim. In this case, you are required to complete a new waiting period before being eligible for LTD benefits. Again, any time you return to work with accommodations does not apply.

When LTD Benefits Are Not Payable

The LTD plan will not pay benefits under the following circumstances:

- If you fail to provide satisfactory and objective medical proof that you are disabled;
- If you refuse to see an independent medical examiner at MetLife's request;
- If you are no longer being treated by or are not under the continuing care of a fully licensed physician for your disability;
- If you are receiving other pay from the company or another employer. For example, if your work provides earnings that are equal to or greater than your benefits under the plan;
- During the plan elimination period (while on STD); or
- Beyond the length of time outlined in the following section When LTD Benefits End.

In addition, the LTD plan does not pay benefits for any disability resulting from any of the following:

- A condition for which you were treated within three months of your date of hire, until you have been covered by the plan for 12 months;
- If you are eligible to receive benefits under workers' compensation or other occupational disability or similar law;
- Service in the armed forces;
- Absences for precautionary reasons or to avoid the possible occurrence of a condition;
- Intentionally self-inflicted injury or illness (including attempted suicide);
- Participation in a felony; or
- War, declared or undeclared.

When LTD Benefits End

Your LTD benefit payments end on the earliest of the date you:

- Cease to be disabled, according to the terms of the plan as determined by MetLife;
- Reach the maximum duration of coverage under the plan;
- Fail to provide proof of your continued disability;
- Cease being treated by a physician;
- Refuse to allow a medical examination requested by MetLife; or
- Die.

Occupational Long-Term Disability (LTD) Coverage

The occupational long-term disability (LTD) plan supplements state workers' compensation lost-time benefits in the event that such benefits are reduced because of state benefit limits. To be eligible to receive a benefit from the occupational LTD plan, you must have an annual salary that will allow you to qualify for plan benefits. (More information and examples are included later in this section.)

To be eligible to elect coverage, you must be enrolled in the STD plan and the LTD plan. Your occupational LTD coverage must equal your coverage with the LTD plan (either 50% or 60% of your base pay, up to $285,000). Employees who earn more than $285,000 per year (subject to change annually) may elect supplemental LTD coverage, which includes coverage for annual base pay up to $400,000 and occupational LTD. (For more information on the supplemental LTD plan, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.)

Eligibility for Benefits from the Occupational LTD Plan

If you are eligible for and enroll in the occupational LTD plan, to qualify for benefits:

1. You must be unable to work for more than 10 consecutive weeks because of a work-related illness or injury. Note that if you return to work without having been disabled for at least 10 consecutive weeks, you will not qualify for benefits from the occupational LTD plan, and
2. You must be receiving lost-time benefits from a workers' compensation claim through the Raytheon Workers' Compensation Program. To be eligible for lost-time benefits, you must be unable to work due to an occupational illness or injury. Note that if your lost-time benefits stop for any reason—including because of a claim settlement—any benefits you would otherwise be eligible to receive from the occupational LTD plan also stop, and
3. The maximum benefit limit for your state must cause a reduction in the lost-time benefits you would otherwise be eligible to receive, as described in this example:

Robert lives and works in Arizona. His annual salary is $75,000. Robert suffered a work-related injury 10 weeks ago and, under Arizona law, has been receiving workers' compensation lost-time benefits since that time. Based on his salary, Robert's full Arizona lost-time benefit would be calculated as $1,043.46 per week. However, the current weekly benefit maximum in Arizona is $771.78. As a result, Robert's actual lost-time benefit is reduced to that amount.

Robert has always purchased the 60% occupational LTD coverage option (which, as required, is the same percentage he elects for LTD coverage). His occupational LTD coverage protects 60% of his annual salary, or $865.38 per week. Because the current benefit limit in Arizona is lower than his actual lost-time benefit, Robert qualifies for benefits from the occupational LTD plan. His benefit is based on the difference between the amount of his pay protected by the plan ($865.38) and the amount he receives in lost-time benefits from Arizona ($771.78), which is limited by the state's benefit maximum. In this case, Robert's benefit from the occupational LTD plan is $93.60 per week ($865.38 - $771.78).

It's important to note that you must meet all three criteria to be eligible to receive benefits from the occupational LTD plan. For example:

John lives and works in California. His annual salary is $80,000. John suffered a work-related injury 10 weeks ago and, under California law, has been receiving workers' compensation lost-time benefits of $1,025.64 per week since that time.

California's current benefit limit is $1,299.43. John also has always purchased the 60% occupational LTD coverage option. However, he is not eligible for benefits from the occupational LTD plan because the current benefit limit in California ($1,299.43) is higher than his weekly workers' compensation lost-time benefits ($1,025.64).

As shown in these examples, the amount of your occupational LTD benefit is determined by subtracting your state's maximum benefit limit from the full amount of your state's workers' compensation lost-time benefit. The occupational LTD plan then pays the difference, if any, based on your occupational LTD coverage level (either 50% or 60% of your base pay, the same as you have elected for LTD coverage).

The occupational LTD plan is designed to provide financial protection in the event that any workers' compensation lost-time benefits you are eligible for are reduced because of your state's maximum benefit limit. (State benefit limits vary widely—see the examples in the Eligibility for Benefits from the Occupational LTD Plan section—and generally change each year.)

To avoid buying occupational LTD coverage you may not be able to use—even if you might otherwise become eligible for workers' compensation lost-time benefits—be sure you know your state's maximum benefit limit and the date it may change as well as how the occupational LTD plan works. Only then can you make an informed decision about whether this plan is right for you.

The occupational LTD plan is optional, which means you must enroll in the plan if you want occupational LTD coverage. If you do not enroll in occupational LTD coverage when you are first eligible, you may enroll in the plan only during the annual benefits open enrollment period. A Statement of Health is not required.

You should determine the limit for your state before electing this coverage. For more information about the occupational LTD plan, call MetLife.

Important Information about Taxes

Under current tax regulations, benefit payments you receive from company-paid plans, such as vacation time, are subject to federal, FICA and state income taxes at the time payments are made. Currently, benefits from any disability coverage for which you pay using after-tax dollars (STD at either 75% or 100%, LTD at either 50% or 60% or occupational LTD at either 50% or 60%) are not taxable.

The company complies with all state and federal laws regarding the taxation of disability benefits. You are encouraged to consult a tax advisor for additional information.

Claims Appeal Procedure

The procedure to be followed to appeal a denied claim is explained in the Administrative section. It is important to note that under the applicable STD, LTD and occupational LTD plan documents, any action at law or in equity must be commenced within one year of the denial of the appeal from an initial claim denial, regardless of any state or federal statutes establishing provisions relating to limitations of actions.

Your Rights

This section describes your disability coverage in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan documents, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan documents will govern in all cases.

See the Administrative section for information related to the administration of the disability plans.

Other Important Information

- The company provides you with the opportunity to purchase optional life insurance coverage for yourself equal to one to eight times your annual base pay at favorable group rates. You must be actively at work for coverage to begin. Depending on the amount of coverage you elect and when you apply, you may be required to submit a Statement of Health with your application.

- You may purchase between $10,000 and $250,000 of life insurance coverage for your spouse. You must be actively at work for this coverage to begin. Depending on the amount of coverage elected, your spouse may be required to provide a Statement of Health.

- You may purchase between $5,000 and $25,000 (in increments of $5,000) of life insurance coverage for your dependent child(ren). You must be actively at work for this coverage to begin. If you have more than one child and elect coverage for your dependent children, all of your children are covered at the same amount for one premium. A Statement of Health is never required for your dependent child(ren).

- The amount you pay in premiums for yourself or your eligible family members is deducted from your pay using after-tax dollars.

Enrolling in Life Insurance Coverage

Eligible Dependents

In addition to life insurance coverage for yourself, you can elect life insurance coverage for your eligible dependents. Your eligible dependents include your:

- Legal spouse;
- Children from live birth up to age 26. This includes natural children, legally adopted children and stepchildren, regardless of residency, financial dependence, student status or marital status, as well as unmarried foster children. Note that foster children must reside with you, the employee;
- Children from live birth up to age 26 for whom you are a legal guardian. If you, or your spouse is not the child's parent (or step-parent), you must have a court order designating you, or your spouse as the child's legal guardian or as the person who has legal responsibility for the care, control and custody of the child that is equivalent to the responsibility of a legal guardian. The child must also be a dependent, as defined by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), of you or your spouse; and
- Unmarried children age 26 and older who are disabled as well as other dependents age 26 and older for whom you have legal guardianship who are disabled, if approved by Prudential to be disabled. In general, to qualify, the disabled child must have become disabled before age 26 and be incapable of self-sustaining employment because of intellectual disability, serious mental illness, physical sickness or injury. Coverage may continue for as long as your coverage continues and as long as your child remains incapacitated and is otherwise eligible for coverage.

Note that in order to cover an eligible dependent, you will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate, birth certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and you meet the actively at work requirements described in the next section. Complete details are on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>.

Effective Date of Coverage

Your effective date of coverage under the life insurance plans depends on the plan (employee optional, spouse optional or dependent children optional) and:

- When you elect coverage (as a new hire, during annual benefits open enrollment or at another time of year);
- For employee optional and spouse optional life insurance, if a Statement of Health is required and if so, whether or not the Prudential Insurance Company of America (Prudential), the plans' insurer, approves your application; and
- If you are actively at work on the date coverage would otherwise go into effect.

For purposes of all the life insurance plans, the actively at work requirement means that you are actively at work on a full-time basis at the employer's place of business or at any other place that the employer's business requires you to go. You are considered actively at work during a normal vacation if you were actively at work on your last regularly scheduled workday, provided you are not disabled.

If you are not actively at work on the date coverage is scheduled to begin, your coverage becomes effective on the first day you return to active employment. For example, if you apply to increase your current employee optional coverage, whether during annual benefits open enrollment or at another time during the year, you must be actively at work on the effective date of your coverage for your increased coverage amount to be in effect.

The life insurance plans are insured by the Prudential Insurance Company of America. Prudential is one of the world's largest financial services institutions and one of the nation's leading providers of group insurance.

Can't locate one or more of the documents that are required to cover an eligible dependent? For a fee, Vitalchek can provide official government certificates (e.g., birth, marriage, divorce). For more information, go to www.vitalchek.com.

The company provides you with company-paid coverage through the business travel accident (BTA) insurance plan. For information, see the Business Travel Accident Insurance section.

In addition, you may elect coverage through the company's accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) plan for yourself, as well as for your spouse and/or your dependent child(ren). For information about the AD&D plan, see the AD&D Insurance section.

For additional details regarding the effective date of coverage for each life insurance plan, see the applicable section that follows.

Naming Your Beneficiary

If you elect employee optional life insurance, you will be asked to name a beneficiary(ies)—the person(s) who would receive benefits under the plan upon your death. Note that the beneficiary(ies) you designate for any employee optional life insurance you elect are also the beneficiary(ies) for the BTA plan.

If you elect coverage under the spouse optional and/or dependent children optional life insurance plan, you are automatically the beneficiary for any coverage you elect.

You may name anyone you wish as your beneficiary. You may also name a contingent beneficiary(ies)—the person(s) who would receive benefits under the plan if your primary beneficiary(ies) dies before you.

You may name more than one person as your beneficiary. In this case, you must indicate what percentage of your benefit you would like each named beneficiary to receive. Otherwise, benefits will be distributed equally among all of your named beneficiaries.

You may change your beneficiary designation(s) online at any time for any reason through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> by clicking on Prudential's beneficiary website link under At Your Fingertips. After you provide or update your beneficiary designation(s), be sure to click SUBMIT to save your information. If you prefer, you may complete a scannable beneficiary form, available online or by calling Prudential at 844-4-RAY-LIF, prompt 4. Changes become effective as of the date you make the change.

If you made your initial beneficiary designation(s) with a paper form through the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC)—and you want to know who your current beneficiaries are before making your online designation—just call Prudential at 844-4-RAY-LIF, prompt 4. Once you've named your beneficiary online, you can view and change your designation online at any time.

Note that if there is no beneficiary named at the time of your death, benefits will be paid to your spouse, child, parent, brothers and sisters or to your estate, as determined by Prudential. Note also that if you and a covered dependent die within a 24-hour period and you are the beneficiary for your dependent's coverage, the same beneficiary who receives payment of your life insurance will also receive your dependent's. If a beneficiary or a payee is a minor or incompetent to receive payment, payment will be made to that person's guardian.

Having up-to-date beneficiaries for your life insurance is important, especially if you've had a life event change—such as marriage, birth, or divorce. You can designate and make changes to your beneficiary(ies) any time through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> by clicking on Prudential's beneficiary website link under At Your Fingertips.

If you designate a trust as a beneficiary, be sure to leave the tax ID field blank (whether you make the designation online or by using a scannable beneficiary form), even if the trust's tax ID is the same as your (the employee's) Social Security number.

Employee Optional Life Insurance

The company provides you with the opportunity to purchase life insurance coverage for yourself from one to eight times your annual base pay. Your annual base pay means your regular base pay plus supervisory or group leader pay, but not including overtime, shift premiums, performance bonuses or other incentive compensation. You pay 100% of the cost of employee optional life insurance coverage through payroll deduction using after-tax dollars.

The amount of coverage you choose is rounded to the next highest thousand. For example, if your annual base pay is $44,800 and you elect employee optional life insurance coverage equal to two times your annual base pay, your optional life insurance coverage amount will be $90,000 ($$44,800 \times 2 = $89,600$, which is rounded to $90,000). If your annual base pay changes during the year, the amount and the cost of your employee optional life insurance coverage will be adjusted accordingly.

Enrolling in Employee Optional Life Insurance

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

As a new employee, you may elect employee optional life insurance coverage equal to one times your annual base pay up to and including $250,000 without completing a Statement of Health if you enroll within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later. In this case, your coverage becomes effective on your date of hire, provided you are actively at work on that date. (For a description of actively at work, see Effective Date of Coverage earlier in this section.)

For coverage in an amount greater than one times your annual base pay or greater than $250,000 of annual base pay, you must submit a Statement of Health with your application. In this case, your coverage becomes effective on the date Prudential approves your coverage, as long as you are actively at work on that date. If your application is not approved, you will still receive the guaranteed optional coverage amount of one times your annual base pay (to a maximum of $250,000 of annual base pay) as long as you are actively at work on the date you are notified that your application was not approved.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

If you enroll in employee optional life insurance for the first time during an annual benefits open enrollment period, you may purchase coverage equal to one times your annual base pay (to a maximum of $250,000 of annual base pay) without providing a Statement of Health. You may also elect to increase your current coverage level by one times your annual base pay (to a maximum of $250,000 of annual base pay) without completing a Statement of Health. In either case, your coverage becomes effective the following January 1, provided you are considered actively at work on that date. If you are not considered actively at work on January 1, coverage becomes effective on the first day you are actively at work.

If you wish to elect optional coverage for more than one times your annual base pay or for more than $250,000 of annual base pay (either to enroll for the first time since you were first eligible as a new hire, or to increase the amount of your current coverage), you will be required to complete and submit a Statement of Health.

If your application is approved, your coverage will become effective on the following January 1 or on the date the application is approved if after that date. In all cases, you must be considered actively at work in order for your coverage to go into effect.

If your application is not approved and:

- For the first time since you were first eligible, you elected coverage of more than one times your annual base pay or your annual base pay is more than $250,000, you will receive the guaranteed optional coverage amount of one times your annual base pay (to a maximum of $250,000 of annual base pay).

Calculating the Amount of Life Insurance Coverage That's Right for You

To calculate the amount of life insurance coverage you need, go to Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> and link to Prudential at www.prudential.com/raytheon from the My Resources page.

For more detailed information on when a Statement of Health is required, see the Summary of Enrollment Options Chart later in this section.

- You elected to increase the amount of your coverage by more than one times your annual base pay or more than $250,000 of annual base pay, you will automatically be guaranteed coverage at the next coverage level or an additional $250,000, whichever is less. For example, if your current coverage is two times your annual base pay and during annual benefits open enrollment you apply to increase your coverage to five times your annual base pay, your coverage will automatically be increased to three times your annual base pay (to a maximum of $250,000 of annual base pay).

In either case, the guaranteed coverage amount becomes effective on January 1 of the following year, or on the date you are notified that your application was not approved if after January 1. You must be considered actively at work in order for the guaranteed coverage amount to go into effect.

At Other Times During the Year

Because you pay for employee optional life insurance coverage on an after-tax basis, you may apply to enroll in or increase your coverage at any time during the year. In this case, you must provide a Statement of Health—regardless of the amount of coverage you request. Note that in this case, there are no guaranteed levels of coverage.

Cost of Coverage

The cost of employee optional life insurance coverage is deducted from your paycheck on an after-tax basis. As a new hire, your cost is based on your annual base pay, your age on your date of hire and whether or not you are a tobacco user. You are considered a tobacco user if you have used tobacco products within the last 31 days.

During annual benefits open enrollment, your cost is based on your annual base pay, your age as of January 1 of each calendar year, as well as whether or not you are a tobacco user.

For the most part, the rates for employee optional life insurance are established using these age brackets:

- | | | | |
|----------------|----------------|----------------|-------------------|
| • Under age 25 | • Age 35 to 39 | • Age 50 to 54 | • Age 65 to 69 |
| • Age 25 to 29 | • Age 40 to 44 | • Age 55 to 59 | • Age 70 and over |
| • Age 30 to 34 | • Age 45 to 49 | • Age 60 to 64 | |

This means that you pay less for your coverage when you are younger and your rates increase gradually as you age. Rates are provided in your new hire materials as well as during annual benefits open enrollment. For more information about rates, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Although your cost for employee optional life insurance is based on your age when you are hired, it is adjusted during the calendar year when you either receive a change to your annual base pay or reach a new five-year age category.

What the Employee Optional Life Insurance Plan Does Not Cover

No benefits are payable under the employee optional life insurance plan if the covered person commits suicide while sane or insane within two years of the effective date of coverage. Instead, the company will pay the beneficiary an amount equal to any premiums paid.

If the covered person commits suicide more than two years after the effective date of coverage but within two years of any increase in the coverage amount, benefits will be paid based on the amount of coverage in effect prior to the increase in coverage amount. In addition, the company will pay the beneficiary an amount equal to any premiums paid for the increased amount.

Spouse Optional Life Insurance

You may purchase life insurance for your spouse regardless of whether or not you have elected employee optional life insurance for yourself. Coverage for your spouse is available in the following amounts:

- $10,000 to $50,000 in increments of $10,000,
- $75,000, or
- $100,000 to $250,000 in increments of $50,000.

Enrolling in Spouse Optional Life Insurance

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

As a new employee, you may elect spouse optional life insurance in the amount of $10,000 within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later, without your spouse being required to complete a Statement of Health. Coverage for your spouse becomes effective on your date of hire, provided you are actively at work on that date. (For a description of actively at work, see Effective Date of Coverage earlier in this section.)

If you wish to elect spouse optional life insurance coverage in an amount greater than $10,000, your spouse will be required to complete and submit a Statement of Health. In this case, coverage will become effective when your spouse's application is approved, as long as you are considered actively at work on that date. If the application is not approved, he/she will still receive the guaranteed coverage amount of $10,000, again, as long as you are actively at work.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

If you enroll in spouse optional life insurance for the first time during an annual benefits open enrollment period, you may purchase coverage equal to $10,000 for your spouse or elect to increase coverage by one level up to $100,000 without completing a Statement of Health. Coverage goes into effect on January 1 of the following year, as long as you are considered actively at work.

Your spouse must complete and submit a Statement of Health for approval by Prudential if you enroll in coverage in an amount greater than $10,000, increase coverage by more than one level or increase coverage to more than $100,000. If your application is approved, coverage will become effective on January 1 of the following year or on the date the application is approved if after that date. In either case, you must be actively at work for coverage to go into effect. If the application is not approved, he/she will still receive the guaranteed coverage amount of $10,000, or coverage will be increased by one level but to no more than $100,000. In this case, as long as you are actively at work, your coverage goes into effect on January 1 of the following year or on the date you receive notification that your application was not approved if after that date.

At Other Times During the Year

Because you pay for spouse optional life insurance coverage on an after-tax basis, you may apply for coverage any time during the year. In this case, you must provide a Statement of Health for any amount of spouse optional life insurance you apply for, and there are no guaranteed levels of coverage.

Cost of Coverage

You pay 100% of the cost of spouse optional life insurance coverage through payroll deductions using after-tax dollars. As a new hire, your cost is based on your spouse's age, as well as whether or not the covered individual is a tobacco user. Your spouse is considered a tobacco user if he/she has used tobacco products within the last 31 days.

During annual benefits open enrollment, your cost is based on your spouse's age as of January 1 of each calendar year, as well as whether or not he/she is a tobacco user.

For more detailed information on when a Statement of Health is required, see the Summary of Enrollment Options Chart later in this section.

Note: Any spouse on active military duty is excluded from coverage.

For the most part, the rates for spouse optional life insurance are established using these age brackets:

- Under age 25
- Age 25 to 29
- Age 30 to 34
- Age 35 to 39
- Age 40 to 44
- Age 45 to 49
- Age 50 to 54
- Age 55 to 59
- Age 60 to 64
- Age 65 to 69
- Age 70 and over

This means that you pay less for coverage when your spouse is younger and your rates increase gradually as he/she ages. Rates are provided in your new hire materials as well as during annual benefits open enrollment. For more information about rates, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Your cost for spouse optional life insurance is adjusted during the calendar year if your spouse reaches a new five-year age category.

HOW THE COST FOR EMPLOYEE AND SPOUSE OPTIONAL LIFE INSURANCE IS CALCULATED—AN EXAMPLE

Rates for optional life insurance for yourself and your spouse are set as a flat rate per thousand dollars of coverage, based on each person's age during benefits open enrollment (as of January 1 each year) and tobacco user status.

To determine the annual cost for coverage for yourself, simply calculate:

Your annual base pay x the amount of coverage (rounded to the next highest thousand dollars) ÷ 1,000 x the annual rate for coverage

Here's how your cost for coverage would be calculated if you were 34 years old and not a tobacco user with an annual base pay of $34,500. This example assumes you have applied for coverage equal to three times your pay at an annual rate of $0.504 per thousand dollars of coverage:

Your annual base pay	$ 34,500
Times amount of coverage	x 3
	$ 103,500
Rounded to next highest $1,000	$ 104,000
Divided by 1,000	÷ 1,000
	104
Times annual rate of coverage	x 0.504
Your annual cost for coverage	$ 52.42
Your monthly cost for coverage	÷ 12
	$ 4.37

To determine the cost for coverage for your spouse, simply calculate:

Spouse's coverage amount ÷ 1,000 x the annual rate for coverage

Here's how the cost for your spouse's coverage would be calculated for $50,000 of coverage if he/she was 35 years old and not a tobacco user:

Spouse's coverage amount	$ 50,000
Divided by 1,000	÷ 1,000
	50
Times annual rate of coverage	x 0.780
Annual cost for coverage	$ 39.00
Your monthly cost for coverage	÷ 12
	$ 3.25

Rates are provided during annual benefits open enrollment. For more information about rates, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Dependent Children Optional Life Insurance

You may purchase life insurance for your eligible dependent child(ren) regardless of whether or not you have elected employee optional life insurance for yourself. You may elect between $5,000 and $25,000 (in increments of $5,000) in life insurance coverage for your dependent child(ren). If you have more than one child and elect this coverage, each of your dependent children is covered at the same amount for one premium. Dependent life insurance for a newborn child becomes effective when the child is born.

Enrolling in Dependent Children Optional Life Insurance

You may purchase coverage for your dependent child(ren) within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later; during an annual benefits open enrollment period; or at any time during the year.

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

You may enroll in any available amount of dependent children optional life insurance without providing a Statement of Health. Coverage goes into effect on your date of hire, provided you are actively at work on that date. (For a description of actively at work, see Effective Date of Coverage earlier in this section.)

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

You may enroll in any available amount of dependent children optional life insurance without providing a Statement of Health. Optional coverage elected during annual benefits open enrollment becomes effective the following January 1, as long as you are considered actively at work on that day.

At Other Times During the Year

You may apply for coverage for your eligible dependent child(ren) any time during the year. In other words, you are not limited to annual benefits open enrollment or if you have a change in status. A Statement of Health is not required for dependent children optional life insurance, regardless of when you apply. Dependent children coverage becomes effective on the date you elect coverage, as long as you are actively at work on that day.

Cost of Coverage

You pay 100% of the cost of this coverage through payroll deductions using after-tax dollars. There is one flat monthly rate regardless of the number of children covered. Rates are provided in new hire materials as well as during annual benefits open enrollment. For more information about rates, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

For more detailed information on when a Statement of Health is required, see the Summary of Enrollment Options Chart later in this section.

Note: Any dependent child on active military duty is excluded from coverage.

If you or your spouse is required to provide a Statement of Health, Prudential will notify you if your application for coverage has been approved, or send you a written notice explaining that your application has been denied. The amount and effective date of your coverage will depend on when you elect coverage and if your application is approved or denied.

For information on the status of a completed Statement of Health application, call Prudential.

You may decrease or cancel any or all of your optional life insurance coverages at any time. The change you request will become effective as soon as administratively possible. For more information, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Accelerated Benefit Option

If you are diagnosed with a terminal illness with 24 or fewer months to live, you may elect to have a portion of your life insurance benefit paid to you before your death. If you have purchased spouse optional life insurance, this benefit is also available to your spouse should he/she be diagnosed with a terminal illness with 24 or fewer months to live.

You may request an accelerated benefit of up to 80% of your coverage amount—with a maximum benefit of $500,000 for the employee optional life insurance plan (in the case of your spouse, to a maximum benefit of $200,000 for the spouse optional life insurance plan).

The elected payment is made in one lump sum (unless you or your legal representative selects another payment option). Upon your death, the remaining benefit is paid to your beneficiary.

It's important to note that any accelerated benefit you receive may affect eligibility for public assistance programs, such as Medicaid, aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) and supplemental security income (SSI). In addition, accelerated benefits may be taxable, based on the tax laws in effect at the time the benefit is paid. You are strongly encouraged to consult with the appropriate social services agencies and/or a qualified tax or financial advisor before taking advantage of this plan feature.

To apply for an accelerated benefit, request a claim form from the RBC by calling 800-358-1231. After you have completed your portion and your doctor has completed the physician portion, return the form to Prudential at the address on the form. Prudential will notify you in writing of:

- The amount of your life insurance policy;
- The amount you have requested to be accelerated; and
- The amount payable to your beneficiary if you accelerate your life insurance benefit.

Approval of your claim is subject to an independent medical review by the insurance carrier. You cannot increase your life insurance coverage once your claim for an accelerated benefit is approved. Please note that the accelerated benefit option is not available under the dependent children optional life insurance plan.

HOW AN ACCELERATED BENEFIT IS CALCULATED—AN EXAMPLE

The accelerated benefit you are eligible to receive is based on the amount of your life insurance coverage. This example shows how the benefit would be calculated if you had $50,000 in coverage and requested 60% of your coverage amount as an accelerated benefit. (Note that you can request up to 80% of your coverage amount.)

Your current coverage	$ 50,000
Times amount accelerated	x 0.60
Equals accelerated benefit	$ 30,000

In this case, the total remaining benefit payable to your beneficiary upon your death is $20,000 ($50,000 coverage amount minus $30,000 accelerated benefit).

If you experience a change in status (such as marriage, divorce or the birth of a child), you may want to update your beneficiary information. For instructions, see Naming Your Beneficiary earlier in this section.

If you have purchased spouse optional life insurance, the accelerated benefit option is also available to your spouse should he/she be diagnosed with a terminal illness with 24 or fewer months to live.

How Benefits Are Paid

Life insurance death benefits of $5,000 or more are generally deposited into a Prudential Alliance Account,® an interest-bearing account in the beneficiary's name. Note that an Alliance Account is not available for payments of less than $5,000, payments to individuals residing outside the United States and its territories as well as certain other payments. In these cases, payments are made by check.

Alliance Accounts earn continuous interest as long as they remain open. Beneficiaries have the option of withdrawing the full amount immediately, writing drafts against the balance (Alliance Account drafts are considered checks under federal law for certain purposes) or leaving the funds in the account to collect interest. As Your Needs Change

Changes to Your Pay

The amount of your employee optional life insurance will be adjusted if you receive a change in your annual base pay. Your new coverage and appropriate payroll deductions will become effective as of the date of the change.

If You Take a Leave of Absence

If you take a leave of absence for a reason other than total disability, your life insurance coverage may end. For information about continuing your coverage while on leave, contact the RBC at 800-358-1231. Note that your life insurance coverage is not affected if you take a paid parental leave.

If You Become Disabled

If you:

- Become totally disabled,
- Are unable to work at any occupation, and
- Were covered by employee optional life insurance before your disability began, then the full amount of your coverage will continue for 24 months following your date of disability or until you are no longer disabled, whichever comes first, as long as you continue to make the required payments for any employee optional coverage. The RBC will bill you for these payments.

WAIVER OF PREMIUM

If you are disabled, on a MetLife-approved "waiver of premium" and terminate your employment prior to age 65, the amount of your active employee optional life insurance coverage will continue under the provisions of the waiver of premium until your waiver ends. The date your waiver ends varies depending on your disability status, your coverage when you were an active employee and plan provisions.

When your waiver of premium ends, you are eligible to convert or port your active employee optional life insurance coverage (see Coverage After Your Employment Ends later in this section for details).

For questions related to a waiver of premium, call MetLife at 877-ASKMET7 (877-275-6387). For questions related to converting or porting your active employee optional life insurance coverage, call Prudential at 844-4-RAY-LIF.

Reminder: To continue the premium waiver, you must provide proof of your continued disability to MetLife three months before the end of each calendar year that you are disabled, or more often if MetLife requests it. During your first two years of disability, MetLife has the right to have its doctor examine you as often as is reasonable. After two years, MetLife can require an exam no more than once a year.

If You Are Laid Off

If you are laid off, any employee optional, spouse optional and/or dependent children optional life insurance coverage ends (see When Coverage Normally Ends later in this section). Your coverage may be continued through Prudential's portability and/or conversion features; see Coverage After Your Employment Ends later in this section.

Coverage at Age 65 and Beyond

If you continue working beyond age 65, any employee optional, spouse optional and dependent children optional life insurance coverage continues without reduction for as long as you are an active employee.

Other Important Information

When Coverage Normally Ends

Employee Optional Life Insurance

If your employment ends while your life insurance coverage is in effect, any employee optional life insurance coverage ends 31 days after your employment termination date. During this 31-day period, you can apply for Prudential's portability and/or conversion options (described in Coverage After Your Employment Ends later in this section).

Spouse Optional Life Insurance and Dependent Children Optional Life Insurance

Life insurance coverage under the spouse optional and/or dependent children optional life insurance plans will end on the earliest of:

- The date your dependent is no longer eligible as a dependent under the terms of the plan;
- The date you terminate your employment;
- The date you are no longer regularly scheduled to work 20 or more hours per week; or
- The date of your death.

In the event of any of the above, your spouse optional and/or dependent children optional life insurance coverage may be continued through Prudential's portability and/or conversion features, as described in the following section.

Coverage After Your Employment Ends

Prudential offers two features—portability and conversion—that allow you to continue your life insurance coverage(s) after your employment ends.

Upon termination of employment, Prudential will mail you a personalized notice regarding your portability and/or conversion options. The notice will list the date on which your legacy Raytheon group coverage(s) ends (in other words, 31 days after your employment termination date). Note that this 31-day period is also known as the application period.

If you do not act to take advantage of the portability and/or conversion options during the application period, i.e., before the date shown on the notice you receive from Prudential, your life insurance coverage(s) end. Any accrued and unused vacation time does not extend the application period.

Portability (Available for All Types of Life Insurance)

If your employment ends, the portability feature allows you to continue your employee optional, spouse optional and/or dependent children optional life insurance group coverage at the same or lower benefit amount. Note that the portability feature is not available for your dependent child(ren) over the age of 26 (regardless of disability status), or if your spouse and/or dependent child(ren) is confined for medical care or treatment, at home or elsewhere, on the day your employee optional life insurance coverage ends. In these cases, spouse and/or dependent children optional coverage can be converted; see Conversion later in this section for more information.

Note that your coverage will be under a different policy, subject to plan design and state availability. A Statement of Health may be required to port, such as if you elect to increase your coverage.

While your cost for any continued coverage is competitive, it will likely be higher than your current cost. You may continue between $10,000 and $2 million (but not more than five times your annual base pay) of your employee optional life insurance. Generally, there is no minimum time for you to be covered by the plan before you can take advantage of the portability feature.

Conversion (Available for All Types of Life Insurance)

With the conversion option, you can convert any employee optional, any spouse optional and/or any dependent children optional life insurance coverage from a group policy to an individual policy without a medical exam.

Because your converted coverage is not group coverage, your individual policy may not provide some of the features available through the group plan. You may be eligible for a term insurance policy that provides some of these benefits if you provide evidence of insurability (proof of good health) by having a medical exam.

If you have questions about Prudential's portability and/or conversion features, call Prudential.

Assigning Your Benefits

Assigning your benefits means that you transfer all rights, title and interest in your life insurance coverage to someone else. You may assign ownership of your life insurance with the written consent of Prudential. Contact the RBC at 800-358-1231 for the appropriate forms to assign your insurance. Because there are important legal and tax questions involved, you are strongly encouraged to seek professional advice before making this decision.

Your Rights

This section describes optional life insurance plans in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan documents, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan documents will govern in all cases. See the Administrative section for information related to the administration of the life insurance plans.

Enrolling in Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD&D) Coverage

With the AD&D insurance plan, you and your insured family members are covered 24 hours a day in the case of death, loss or dismemberment as a result of a covered accident, whether at work, at home or while traveling.

Coverage Levels

When you enroll in the AD&D plan, you may choose from four coverage levels. This allows you to choose the coverage level that best meets your specific family situation while ensuring that you pay only for the coverage you actually need.

The four coverage levels are:

- Employee only;
- Employee and spouse;
- Employee and child(ren); or
- Employee and family (spouse and children).

If you are married to a Raytheon Technologies employee and you are both eligible for legacy Raytheon benefits, you may each elect “employee only” coverage or one of you may cover the other as a dependent under either the “employee and spouse” or “employee and family” level of coverage. No employee may be covered as both an employee and a dependent. In addition, only one of you may elect dependent coverage for your eligible children. You are encouraged to review your personal situation to see which option best fits your family’s needs.

Eligible Dependents

You may enroll your eligible dependents for AD&D coverage. Eligible dependents include your:

- Spouse. A spouse means your legal spouse. This includes your common-law spouse if your common-law marriage was established in a state that legally recognizes common-law marriage; all requirements of that state have been met; and the common-law marriage has not ended.

Note that a spouse from whom you are divorced or legally separated is not eligible for coverage. Note also that a party to a civil union is not a spouse;

- Children before their 26th birthday for whom you are the legal guardian, including natural children (from the moment of birth), legally adopted children, stepchildren and foster children (from the moment of placement in your home), regardless of residency, financial dependence, student status or marital status;
- Children and other dependents up to their age of majority (usually 18) for whom you are a legal guardian. If you or your spouse is not the child’s parent (or step-parent) and the child is not a foster or adopted child, you must have a court order designating you or your spouse as the child’s legal guardian or as the person who has legal responsibility for the care, control and custody of the child that is equivalent to the responsibility of a legal guardian. (Please note that if the court order extends the guardianship beyond the age of majority, the child’s coverage will still end no later than the child’s 26th birthday.) In all cases, the child must also meet the IRS definition of a dependent of you or your spouse; and
- Eligible dependent children who are age 26 and older, who are incapable of self-sustaining employment by reason of mental or physical incapacity, and/or whose disability is approved by the dependent’s health plan, and who are primarily dependent on you for support and maintenance, as long as your coverage is in force. Once enrolled, your dependent must remain continuously covered and remain incapacitated. Note that you may be required to submit satisfactory proof of the eligible dependent child(ren)’s incapacity and dependency to the insurance company.

If your covered dependent becomes ineligible for coverage during the year (for example, due to divorce or legal separation), you must remove your dependent from your coverage as of the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for your dependent child who reaches age 26 automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday. For more information, see Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Can’t locate one or more of the documents that are required to add a dependent to your company-sponsored AD&D plan? For a fee, Vitalchek can provide official government certificates (e.g., birth, marriage, divorce). For more information, go to www.vitalchek.com.

Note that if you are eligible to add a dependent to your AD&D plan, you will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate, birth certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received. Complete details are on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>.

Cost of Coverage

The cost of your AD&D coverage is based on:

- The amount of coverage you choose; and
- Your level of coverage.

Each coverage level has a flat rate for each thousand dollars of coverage. For rates, call the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231.

Your cost for coverage is deducted from your paycheck before taxes are withheld. In other words, you pay no federal income taxes or Social Security taxes on the amount you pay. In most cases, you also pay no state income taxes.

HOW THE COST OF AD&D INSURANCE IS CALCULATED—AN EXAMPLE

Rates for AD&D insurance are set as a flat rate per thousand dollars of coverage, based on the level of coverage you elect (employee only; employee and child(ren); employee and spouse; or employee and family). To determine the annual cost for coverage, simply calculate:

Your annual base pay x the amount of coverage you elect (rounded to the next highest thousand dollars) ÷ 1,000 x the annual rate of coverage for the level of coverage

Here's how your cost for coverage would be calculated, assuming you had an annual base salary of $34,500 and applied for coverage equal to three times your pay. This example assumes you applied for the employee and spouse level of coverage at an annual rate of $0.264 per thousand dollars of coverage:

Your annual base pay	$ 34,500
Times amount of coverage	x 3
	$103,500

Rounded to the next highest $1,000	$104,000
Divided by 1,000	÷ 1,000
	104

Times annual rate of coverage	x 0.264
Your annual cost for coverage	$ 27.46

Rates for AD&D insurance are provided in your new hire materials as well as during annual benefits open enrollment. For more information, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Initial Enrollment for New Employees

You are eligible to enroll in AD&D insurance for yourself and your eligible family members within 31 days of the date shown on your Personalized Enrollment Worksheet or your date of hire, whichever is later.

This coverage remains in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You may change your coverage level during the next benefits open enrollment period, held each fall. You are permitted to make certain changes sooner if you meet the guidelines outlined in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

In order to be eligible for any change in AD&D coverage, you must satisfy the actively-at-work requirements. This means in order for your coverage to become effective, you must be performing all of the material duties of your job with Raytheon Technologies where these duties are normally carried out. Coverage for your dependents generally begins at the same time as your coverage, or as soon as the dependent becomes eligible and his/her verification documents are confirmed (see Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information).

Be sure you understand the enrollment procedures and enroll for the coverage you want when you're first eligible. Once your coverage begins, it will be in effect for the remainder of the calendar year. You are not permitted to change your elected coverage during the year unless you meet certain criteria described in Changing Your Coverage later in this section.

Changing Your Coverage

After you make your initial enrollment elections as a new employee, you are permitted to make changes to your AD&D coverage as outlined in this section. In all cases, if you are adding eligible dependents, all necessary verification documents must be confirmed before a dependent's coverage becomes effective. See Eligible Dependents earlier in this section for more information.

Annual Benefits Open Enrollment

Each year, the company conducts a benefits open enrollment during which you may enroll in, increase or decrease your AD&D coverage.

Any changes you make become effective the following January 1, provided you satisfy the actively-at-work requirements (defined in Initial Enrollment for New Employees earlier in this section). If you are actively at work on your last scheduled working day, you will be deemed actively at work on a scheduled non-working day, provided you are not disabled. If you do not satisfy these requirements on the date a change is to become effective, your coverage will not become effective until you do satisfy them.

At Other Times of the Year

Outside of the annual benefits open enrollment period, you may make changes to your AD&D coverage (add or drop coverage, or add or remove dependents) only in the event of the following:

- If you have a qualified change in status, as follows:
 - Marriage.
 - Divorce or legal separation.
 - Gain or loss of an eligible dependent, such as a child reaching age 26.
 - Change in your, your spouse's or your dependent's employment status, for example:
 - Gain or involuntary loss of coverage,
 - Change from full time to part time or vice versa,
 - Transfer between different contracts or positions, providing there is a change in the plans that are available to you or a significant change in the cost of coverage (for example, to or from a Service Contract Act position), or
 - Begin or end an unpaid leave of absence.

Note that in the situations above, the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. For details, see the following inset Making Changes to Your Coverage Outside the Annual Open Enrollment Period.

- If your spouse's employer holds open enrollment at a time other than the company's and, as a result of its benefit offerings, you would like to make a change.

If any of these situations apply to you, you can make your change through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Coverage for a newborn or adopted child becomes effective as of the child's birth date or, for adoptions, the custody date, provided you have elected dependent child coverage and call the RBC at 800-358-1231 within 31 days of the birth or custody date to add the child.

MAKING CHANGES TO YOUR COVERAGE OUTSIDE THE ANNUAL OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIOD

Remember: If you are eligible to make a change to your AD&D coverage due to a qualified change in status (as listed earlier in this section), the change(s) you make must be due to and consistent with your change in status. This means you cannot add or remove other still-eligible dependents from your coverage.

Event	What Happens/Action Required
You gain an eligible dependent by marriage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You have six months from the date of your marriage to add your spouse to your coverage. You must provide dependent eligibility verification (such as a marriage certificate or joint tax return). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed.
You divorce, legally separate or your common law marriage to your spouse terminates	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must remove your dependent from your coverage on or before the date that person is no longer eligible for coverage. Coverage for that dependent ends as of 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before the event that makes him/her ineligible for coverage. If you don't remove your previously eligible dependent from your coverage as of the date of the event, you must reimburse National Union Fire Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, PA (the plan's underwriter) for any claims incurred after that date.
You gain an eligible dependent by birth or adoption	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You must enroll your child within 31 days of his/her birth/adoption, even if you already have dependent coverage. You will need to provide dependent eligibility verification (birth certificate or proof of custody). Your dependent's coverage will not be effective until the verification documents are received and confirmed. Once the verification documents are confirmed, coverage is effective as of the birth or custody date. If you make your change before the date of the qualified change, coverage becomes effective as of the date of the qualified change.
Your child ages out of the plan	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If your child reaches age 26, his/her coverage automatically ends at 11:59:59 p.m. local time on the day before his/her 26th birthday.
You take or return from a personal leave	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Coverage ends on your last day worked. You have the option of converting your coverage to an individual policy. For more information about converting your coverage, see If You Take a Leave of Absence later in this section or call the RBC at 800-358-1231. When you return to work, you will have two options: Enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave (covering the same dependent(s)) or drop coverage completely.

Naming Your Beneficiary

When you elect AD&D coverage, you will be asked to name a beneficiary(ies)—the person(s) who would receive benefits under the plan upon your death. To make beneficiary designations through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>, click on My Life.

You are automatically the beneficiary for your spouse and dependent children in the event of their death. Benefit payments for all other losses are paid to the person who suffered the loss. If the person to whom benefits are to be paid is a minor child or not competent to give a valid release for payment, the payment is made to the individual's legal guardian.

You may change your beneficiary at any time for any reason through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231. Changes become effective as of the date you make the change.

AD&D Insurance for Yourself

The company provides you with the opportunity to purchase AD&D insurance for yourself—from one to five times your annual base pay. Your annual base pay means your regular base pay plus supervisory or group leader pay, but not including overtime, shift premiums, bonuses or other incentive compensation. Your coverage amount is called your principal sum.

Coverage under this plan is in addition to any optional life insurance you elect for yourself. You pay 100% of the cost for this insurance on a pre-tax basis.

AD&D Insurance for Your Spouse and/or Dependent Child(ren)

When you elect AD&D insurance for yourself, you can also purchase AD&D insurance for your spouse and/or dependent child(ren). Coverage under this plan is in addition to any optional life insurance you elect for your family. You pay 100% of the cost for this coverage on a pre-tax basis.

If you elect coverage for your spouse, he or she will automatically receive coverage equal to 60% of your coverage amount, called the principal sum. If both you and your covered spouse die within 90 days of, and as a direct result of, the same covered accident, your spouse's principal sum is increased to equal your principal sum.

If you elect coverage for your children, each dependent child will be covered at an amount equal to 20% of your principal sum. If your dependent child suffers a dismemberment or loss of use in a covered accident, the child's coverage for that loss is increased to 40% of your principal sum. Coverage for a newborn or adopted child becomes effective as of the child's birth date or, for adoptions, the custody date, provided you have elected dependent child coverage and call the RBC at 800-358-1231 within 31 days of the birth or custody date to add the child.

If you experience a qualified change in status (such as marriage, divorce or the birth of a child), you may want to update your beneficiary information. To do so, go to Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

If you elect AD&D coverage for your spouse and/or child(ren), the amount of their principal sum depends on your annual base pay and the amount of coverage you elect for yourself. For example, if your annual base pay is $50,000 and you elect coverage equal to two times your annual base pay or $100,000, your spouse's principal sum would be $60,000 ($$100,000 \times .60$) and each child's principal sum would be $20,000 ($$100,000 \times .20$).

What the AD&D Plan Covers

Amount of Coverage

Benefits are paid based on the insured person's principal sum, depending on the loss, as shown below:

If, due to a covered accident, you or a covered family member	The plan pays this percentage of the insured person's principal sum
Dies	100%
If, due to a covered accident, you or a covered family member loses	The plan pays this percentage of the insured person's principal sum
Both hands or both feet	100%
Sight of both eyes	100%
One hand and one foot	100%
One hand and the sight of one eye	100%
One foot and the sight of one eye	100%
Speech and hearing in both ears	100%
Permanent total loss of use of both arms and both legs	100%
Permanent total loss of use of both arms or both legs	75%
Permanent total loss of use of one arm and one leg	75%
One hand, one foot or sight in one eye	50%
Speech	50%
Hearing in both ears	50%
Permanent total loss of use of one arm or one leg	50%
Thumb and index finger of one hand	25%
Hearing in one ear	25%

Loss means:

- For a hand or a foot: Complete severance through or above the wrist or ankle joint;
- For sight of an eye: Total and irrecoverable loss of the entire sight of that eye;
- For hearing in an ear: Total and irrecoverable loss of the entire ability to hear in that ear;
- For speech: Total and irrecoverable loss of the entire ability to speak;
- For thumb and index finger: Complete severance through or above the metacarpophalangeal joint of both digits;
- For loss of use of an arm: Loss of use of the entire arm from the shoulder joint, including the attached hand;
- For loss of use of a leg: Loss of use of the entire leg from the hip joint, including the attached foot;
- For permanent total loss of use: In this case, loss means complete and irreversible loss of functional, normal or characteristic use of the entire arm or leg due to:
 - Complete and irreversible paralysis;

For purposes of the plan, an injury means bodily injury that:

- Is sustained as a direct result of an unintended, unanticipated accident that occurs while your coverage is in force, and
- Directly (independent of sickness, disease, mental incapacity, bodily infirmity or any cause) causes a covered loss.

- Atrophy; or
- An arthritic condition.

The injury resulting in permanent total loss of use must occur within 365 days of the accident that caused the injury. The loss must continue for 12 consecutive months before payment can be made, except in the case of complete and irreversible paralysis, where there is no 12-consecutive-month waiting period.

If you suffer more than one loss in any one accident, only the largest eligible percentage for any one injury will be paid.

Bereavement and Trauma Counseling

The AD&D plan provides benefits for counseling if you or a covered family member suffers death, dismemberment, coma or loss of use as the result of a covered accident. The plan will pay up to $150 per counseling session for a maximum of 10 sessions for the insured person and all of his/her immediate family members combined with respect to all losses caused by the same accident. Counseling expenses must be incurred within one year of the date of the covered accident. Note that bereavement and trauma counseling expenses related to or resulting from any condition for which the insured person is entitled to benefits paid or payable under any Workers' Compensation Act or other similar law are not covered.

Carjacking Benefit

If you or a covered family member suffers a specified covered loss as the result of a carjacking, the AD&D plan pays an additional benefit of 10% of the largest principal sum under the accidental death, accidental dismemberment, coma or loss of use benefit, up to a maximum of $50,000. Only one benefit per covered person is payable for all losses as a result of the carjacking.

Children's Additional Indemnity for Dismemberment and Loss of Use Benefit

When a covered dependent child suffers a covered accidental dismemberment or loss of use, an additional benefit equal to the amount payable under the Accidental Dismemberment or Loss of Use benefit will be paid to or on behalf of an insured dependent. This amount is in addition to the benefit payable for the loss suffered and is based on your principal sum.

Coma Benefit

If an injury renders you or a covered family member comatose within 90 days of the date of an accident that caused that injury, and if the coma continues for a period of 30 consecutive days, the plan pays a monthly benefit of 1% of your own or your affected covered family member's principal sum for up to 100 months. No benefit is provided for the first 30 days of the coma.

Benefits cease on the earliest of the following dates: The date the person ceases to be comatose due to that injury, the date the insured person dies or the date the total amount of monthly coma benefits paid for all injuries caused by the same accident equals 100% of that person's principal sum.

Common Disaster Benefit

If you have family coverage and you and your insured spouse both suffer accidental death within 90 days of the same accident and a benefit is payable for both insured persons, the insured spouse's principal sum is increased to equal 100% of your principal sum.

Day Care Benefit

If you have family coverage and die in a covered accident, the AD&D plan pays benefits for day care expenses for your insured dependent children under age 13 who are enrolled in a day care facility or who enroll within 90 days of your death. The maximum benefit payable for each eligible child is the lesser of the actual cost the day care center charges that year for your dependent child's care; 5% of your principal sum; or $7,500 per year for a maximum of four years.

Elder Survivor Benefit

If you suffer an accidental death, the AD&D plan pays a benefit equal to 10% of your principal sum, to a maximum of $50,000, to or on behalf of any surviving elder dependent. For purposes of the AD&D plan, elder dependent means your parent, parent-in-law, grandparent, grandparent-in-law, great-grandparent or great-grandparent-in-law (whether natural, step or adoptive) who is primarily dependent upon you for support and maintenance.

Family Extension Benefit

If you have family coverage and a benefit is payable under the plan due to your accidental death, coverage for your insured dependents who remained insured from the date of the accident to your date of death will continue at no cost until the earliest of:

- 12 months from your date of death;
- The date your insured spouse remarries;
- The date your insured dependent child is no longer a dependent; or
- The date the policy ends.

Group Medical/Dental Premium Continuation Reimbursement Benefit

If you have family coverage and die in a covered accident, your covered spouse and/or dependent children are eligible to receive an amount equal to the lesser of the cost of the COBRA premium for continued coverage or 10% of your total principal sum. The maximum benefit is $10,000 per year, for up to three consecutive years to pay for premiums to continue group medical and/or dental coverage provided by the company.

Home Alteration and Vehicle Modification Benefit

The AD&D plan pays a one-time benefit for covered home alteration and vehicle modification required if you or a covered family member suffers a dismemberment or loss of use due to a covered accident that requires use of a wheelchair, provided use of a wheelchair was not required prior to the accident. The maximum benefit under this provision is $25,000 for all losses caused by the same accident that are incurred within one year of the covered accident. Covered home alteration and vehicle modification expenses do not include any expenses for or resulting from any condition for which the insured person is entitled to benefits under any workers' compensation or similar act.

Permanent Total Disability

If you or a covered family member is under age 70 and suffers a covered permanent total disability within 365 days of the covered accident, the AD&D plan pays a monthly benefit equal to 1% of your or your covered family member's principal sum starting with the 13th consecutive month of the covered permanent total disability. Permanent total disability means that you or your covered family member is permanently unable to perform the material and substantial duties of any occupation for which you or your covered family member is qualified by reason of education, experience or training.

Benefits are payable after you or a covered family member has remained permanently totally disabled for at least 12 consecutive months. The permanent total disability benefit continues until the earliest of the date you or your covered family member:

- Is no longer permanently totally disabled,
- Die, or
- Receive the permanent total disability benefit maximum (an amount equal to 100% of your or your covered family member's principal sum).

Rehabilitation Benefit

The AD&D plan pays benefits for medically necessary rehabilitation expenses required if you or a covered family member suffers a dismemberment or loss of use due to a covered accident. Expenses must be incurred within two years of the covered accident. The maximum benefit under this provision is $25,000 for all injuries caused by the same accident. Note that rehabilitative expenses related to or resulting from an injury for which the insured person is entitled to benefits paid or payable under any Workers' Compensation Act or other similar law are not covered.

Seat Belt and Air Bag Benefit

The AD&D plan pays an additional seat belt and/or air bag benefit if you or a covered family member suffers a covered accidental death while operating or riding in a private passenger automobile.

The seat belt benefit is payable if the death occurs while wearing a properly fastened, original, factory installed seat belt. (Children must be in a properly installed and fastened child-restraint device as defined by state law.) If proper seat belt use is verified, the AD&D plan pays an additional benefit equal to 25%, to a maximum of $100,000, of your or your covered family member's principal sum.

The air bag benefit is payable if the death occurs while in a seat protected by a properly functioning, original, factory-installed air bag that inflated upon impact in the same accident. In this case, the AD&D plan pays an additional benefit equal to 10%, to a maximum of $50,000, of your or your covered family member's principal sum.

Severe Burn Benefit

The AD&D plan pays benefits if you or a covered family member suffers a covered severe burn, as shown below.

Specified Body Area	Maximum Payable Percentage of Principal Sum
Face, neck and head	99%
Hand and forearm, below elbow joint (right or left)	22.5%
Upper arm, below shoulder joint to elbow joint (right or left)	13.5%
Torso, below neck to shoulder joints and hip joints (front or back)	36%
Thigh, below hip joint to knee joint (right or left)	9%

Travel Benefits

When you enroll in AD&D insurance, you or a covered family member has access to travel benefits while more than 100 miles from either your home or place of employment. Benefits are provided through AIG Accident and Health.

Emergency Evacuation Benefit

The AD&D plan will pay benefits for covered emergency evacuation expenses for a medically necessary evacuation if you or a covered family member suffers an injury or emergency sickness while more than 100 miles from home (as defined by the plan). A medically necessary evacuation is one ordered by a physician due to the severity of the accident or emergency sickness.

The plan will also pay benefits equal to the cost of an economy-class airfare ticket to:

- Return your dependent child(ren), who were traveling with you, to your home (in this case, a one-way economy airfare(s) may apply);
- Bring one person to and from the hospital or other medical facility where the covered person is confined, if more than 100 miles from home (in this case, a single round-trip economy airfare may apply); and
- Bring one non-medical person from the place of the medical emergency to the place where the insured person is evacuated if more than 100 miles from home (not to exceed the cost of an economy-class round-trip airfare ticket).

For covered expenses to be paid under the AD&D plan, all arrangements must be made by AIG Travel, as described in AIG Travel Assistance Services later in this section.

Repatriation of Remains Benefit

If you or a covered family member dies in a covered accident or due to an emergency sickness while more than 100 miles from home (as defined by the plan), the AD&D plan pays benefits for covered expenses to return the body home. Covered expenses include:

- Embalming or cremation;
- The most economical coffin or receptacle adequate for transportation of the remains; and

To receive this benefit, your dependent(s) must have been covered by the plan at the time of your death. An institution of higher learning means any accredited institution that provides education or training beyond the 12th grade level, including but not limited to, any state university, private college or trade school. The maximum benefit is equal to the lesser of the actual tuition (excluding room and board); 5% of your principal sum; or $7,500 per year for dependent children and $5,000 per year for your spouse. Benefits are payable for up to four consecutive years. Proof of enrollment is required.

- Commission of or attempt to commit a felony;
- Sickness, disease or infections of any kind, except bacterial infections due to an accidental cut or wound, botulism or ptomaine poisoning; or

As Your Needs Change

Changes to Your Pay

The amount of your AD&D insurance will be adjusted to reflect any changes in your annual base pay. Your new coverage will be effective as of the date your annual base pay changes. Your payroll deductions for the cost of your coverage change when the amount of your coverage changes.

If You Take a Leave of Absence

Medical Leave

If you're on an authorized medical leave of absence, AD&D coverage for you and your covered family members will continue for up to 12 months as long as you make the required premium payments during your leave. If you are on a medical leave for 12 or more months, you will have the option to convert your coverage to an individual policy. For more information about converting coverage, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Workers' Compensation Leave

If you're on an authorized workers' compensation leave of absence due to a work-related (occupational) illness or injury, AD&D coverage for you and your covered family members will continue for up to 12 months. If you are on a workers' compensation leave for 12 or more months, you will have the option to convert your coverage to an individual policy. For more information about converting coverage, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

Family and Medical Leave

If you take an authorized family and medical leave, the cost of AD&D coverage for you and your covered family members will be withheld from any vacation time paid to you while on family and medical leave, or from your pay on a retroactive basis when you return from your leave. Therefore, AD&D coverage for you and your covered family members will be continued for up to 12 weeks (or as required by state law) while on leave. The amount of time off for which you are eligible for may vary based on state regulations. For more information, see the Work/Life section or contact your Human Resources representative.

Other Types of Leave

If you take an authorized leave of absence other than a medical, workers' compensation, industrial, family and medical or paid parental leave, AD&D coverage for you and your covered family members will end on your last day worked. You will have the option to convert your coverage to an individual policy. For military leave of absence, you may continue your dependents' AD&D coverage under the plan as long as you continue to pay the cost on their behalf. For more information about continuing coverage, call the RBC at 800-358-1231.

If You Are Laid Off

If you are laid off, coverage ends on your last day worked. Coverage may be converted to a non-group policy, as described later in this section.

About Paid Parental Leave

There is no effect to your pay or benefits when you are on parental leave; you remain in an active status.

If You Die

If you die as the result of a covered accident, coverage for your insured spouse and/or insured dependent children may continue for up to 12 months at no cost. Coverage ends if your spouse remarries during this 12-month period. For more information, see Family Extension Benefit earlier in this section.

Other Important Information

When Coverage Normally Ends

AD&D coverage for you and your covered family members will end when you:

- Terminate employment;
- No longer meet the plan's eligibility requirements; or
- Fail to pay the required premiums.

Your coverage will also end if the plan is terminated for all employees.

Converting to a Non-Group Policy

You may convert your coverage to an individual policy if you are on a medical or workers' compensation leave of absence for 12 or more months or if you leave the company prior to age 79 for any reason. In order to apply for conversion, you must contact the RBC at 800-358-1231 to request a conversion application within 31 days from the date your coverage will end. For your application to be considered, it must be completed and returned to Reuben Warner Associates (contact information is on the form) within 31 days of the date your coverage ends. For more information about converting coverage, contact Reuben Warner Associates at 800-421-3005.

- All employees are automatically enrolled in the BTA plan on their first day of work. The company pays the full cost of this coverage.

- Coverage begins when you leave your home, place of regular employment or permanent assignment and continues until you return to your home, place of regular employment or permanent assignment, whichever occurs first. Enrolling in Business Travel Accident (BTA) Insurance Coverage

The business travel accident (BTA) plan provides accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) coverage if you are injured or die as a result of a covered accident while you are traveling on company business, including travel between company facilities. The plan also provides coverage for your eligible spouse and/or dependent children when they are accompanying you or on their way to join you, and when the trip is authorized and/or paid for by the company.

You are automatically enrolled in BTA insurance on your first day of work. The company pays the full cost of this coverage. There are no enrollment forms to complete.

Naming Your Beneficiary

Your beneficiary(ies) is the person(s) who would receive benefits under the plan upon your death. When you are hired, you will be asked to name a beneficiary(ies) for any employee optional life insurance coverage you purchase. The person you name as beneficiary for your employee optional life insurance is automatically the beneficiary for your BTA coverage. If you have not elected employee optional life insurance coverage, you can choose a beneficiary for your BTA coverage by completing the accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) section of the Beneficiary Designation form, available through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> or by calling the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231.

What the BTA Plan Covers

Amount of Coverage

The BTA plan's AD&D benefit, called a principal sum, is equal to four times your annual base pay rounded to the next highest $1,000, with a minimum of $50,000 up to a maximum of $5 million. (Note that benefits may vary depending upon your position or location.) Your annual base pay means your regular base pay, not including overtime or any other compensation.

The benefit for which you are eligible is based on the loss you experience, as shown in this chart:

If, due to a covered accident, you lose	The BTA plan pays this percentage of the principal sum
Your life	100%
Both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes	100%
One hand and one foot	100%
One hand or foot and sight of one eye	100%
Speech and hearing in both ears	100%
Use of all four limbs	100%
Use of any two limbs	75%
Speech or hearing in both ears	50%
One hand or one foot	50%
Sight of one eye	50%
Use of one limb	50%
Thumb and index finger of the same hand	25%
Hearing in one ear	25%

With BTA insurance, you are covered in the event of a covered accidental death, dismemberment or loss while traveling on company business.

For purposes of the plan, an injury means bodily injury that:

- Is sustained as a direct result of an unintended, unanticipated accident that is external to the body and that occurs while your coverage is in force, and
- Directly (independent of sickness, disease, mental incapacity, bodily infirmity or any other cause) causes a covered loss.

Loss means:

- For a hand or a foot: Complete severance through or above the wrist or ankle joint.
- For a thumb and index finger: Complete severance through or above the metacarpophalangeal joints of both digits.
- For sight of an eye: Total and irrecoverable loss of the entire sight of that eye.
- For speech: Total and irrecoverable loss of the ability to speak.
- For hearing in an ear: Total and irrecoverable loss of the entire ability to hear in that ear.
- For loss of use of an arm: Loss of use of the entire arm from the shoulder joint, including the attached hand.
- For loss of use of a leg: Loss of use of the entire leg from the hip joint, including the attached foot.
- For permanent total loss of use: In this case, loss means complete and irreversible loss of functional, normal or characteristic use of the entire arm or leg due to complete and irreversible paralysis; atrophy; or an arthritic condition.

To be eligible for BTA benefits, you must suffer a loss within 365 days of an accident that occurs while you are traveling on company business. If more than one loss arises out of the same accident, the plan will pay only one benefit equal to the largest eligible percentage for any one injury. The most the plan will pay is the principal sum.

Additional Principal Sum Applies to Injuries Sustained from a Test Aircraft

An additional principal sum amount of $500,000 applies if a covered injury is sustained while boarding, operating, riding or alighting from any aircraft being used for test-flight purposes or any aircraft considered experimental. In order for benefits to be paid, the aircraft and the pilot must meet Federal Aviation Administration requirements or the requirements of a similar governing authority, where applicable.

Accident Medical Expense Benefit

If you incur eligible medical expenses as the result of a covered accident within 180 days of the date of the accident that caused the injury, the BTA plan will pay benefits that are in excess of benefits payable for medical expenses under a:

- Valid and collectible workers' compensation claim, including Canadian Workers' Compensation and California Unemployment Compensation Disability Benefits, etc.; or
- Group hospital, surgical or major medical plan sponsored by the company.

A list of eligible medical expenses follows:

- Hospital semi-private room and board (or, when medically necessary, room and board in an intensive care or cardiac care unit); hospital ancillary services (including, but not limited to, use of the operating room or emergency room); or use of an ambulatory medical center;
- Services of a physician or a registered nurse (R.N.);
- Ambulance service to or from a hospital;
- Laboratory tests;
- Radiological procedures;
- Anesthetics and the administration of anesthetics;
- Blood, blood products and artificial blood products, and the transfusion thereof;
- Physical therapy and occupational therapy;
- Rental of durable medical equipment;
- Artificial limbs, artificial eyes or other prosthetic appliances; and
- Medicines or drugs administered by a physician or that can be obtained only with a physician's written prescription.

Benefits payable under this plan provision are in addition to any other benefits you may be eligible to receive from the plan for any loss you experience as a result of the same accident. In other words, your benefit due to a loss from the same covered accident will not be reduced by benefits payable under this provision of the plan. The maximum benefit payable is $5,000 for any one covered accident. Expenses must be incurred within 26 weeks of the date of the covered accident.

Carjacking Benefit

If you or a covered family member suffers a specified covered loss as the result of a carjacking, the BTA plan pays an additional benefit of 10% of the largest principal sum payable under the accidental death, accidental dismemberment or loss of use benefit, up to a maximum of $50,000. Only one benefit is payable for all losses as a result of the carjacking.

Family Member Benefit

Benefits are payable if your spouse and/or dependent children experience accidental death or dismemberment in a covered accident while traveling with you on company business, while on his or her way to join you or while relocating. Benefits for your spouse and/or dependent children are based on the amount of your BTA coverage:

- For your spouse, the maximum benefit payable is 50% of your principal sum, to a maximum of $250,000; and
- For your dependent children, the maximum benefit payable is 10% of your principal sum, to a maximum of $50,000.

Benefits are paid on the loss experienced, as outlined in Amount of Coverage earlier in this section.

Permanent Total Disability Benefit

Under the BTA plan, you are also eligible for a benefit if you become permanently and totally disabled within 365 days of a covered injury, provided you are under age 75 at the time you become disabled. Permanently and totally disabled means that you are permanently unable to perform the material and substantial duties of any occupation for which you are qualified by reason of education, experience or training.

If you are disabled for 12 consecutive months, during the 13th consecutive month, you will be paid the principal sum of your BTA coverage less any other benefit that has been paid or is payable under other coverage for which you are eligible as the result of the same accident.

Return of Pet

If your pet is traveling with you and is left unattended following your death in an area that is outside a 100-mile radius from your current place of primary residence, the BTA plan pays the reasonable cost, to a maximum of $1,000, to transfer your pet to your home (as defined by the plan). Reasonably incurred costs are for transportation expenses only. Expenses to kennel the pet are not reimbursable.

Return of Vehicle

In the event of your death in an area that is outside a 100-mile radius from your current place of primary residence or place of vehicle rental, the BTA plan pays the reasonable cost, to a maximum of $2,000, to transfer your motor vehicle to your home (as defined by the plan).

Seat Belt and Air Bag Benefit

The BTA plan pays an additional seat belt and/or air bag benefit if you or an covered family member suffers a covered accidental death while operating or riding in a private passenger automobile.

The seat belt benefit is payable if the death occurs while wearing a properly fastened, original, factory installed seat belt. (Children must be in a properly installed and fastened child-restraint device as defined by state law.) If proper seat belt use is verified, the BTA plan pays an additional benefit equal to 25%, to a maximum of $100,000, of your or your covered family member's principal sum.

The air bag benefit is payable if the death occurs while in a seat protected by a properly functioning, original, factory-installed air bag that inflated upon impact in the same accident. In this case, the BTA plan pays an additional benefit equal to 10%, to a maximum of $50,000, of your or your covered family member's principal sum.

Severe Burn Benefit

The BTA plan pays benefits if you or a covered family member suffers a covered severe burn, as shown below.

Specified Body Area	Maximum Payable Percentage of Principal Sum
Face, neck and head	99%
Upper arm, below shoulder joint to elbow joint (right or left)	13.5%
Torso, below neck to shoulder joints and hip joints (front or back)	36%

Travel Benefits

The BTA plan provides you or a covered family member with access to travel benefits while more than 100 miles from either your home or place of employment. Benefits are provided through AIG Accident and Health.

Bedside Visitor Benefit

If you or your covered family member is confined to a hospital or other medical facility for three or more days due to an illness (that begins while coverage under the plan is in force) or injury and the place of confinement is outside a 100-mile radius from your or your covered family member's place of primary residence, the plan will pay for expenses reasonably incurred (but not to exceed the cost of one round-trip economy airfare ticket) to bring one person chosen by you or your covered family member to and from the hospital or other medical facility where you or your covered family member is confined. The plan will also pay for lodging and meals for up to five days (not to exceed $200 per day for lodging and $50 per day for meals) for such person in the area of such place of confinement, but only while you or your covered family member remains so confined. For this benefit to be payable, AIG Travel must make all arrangements and must authorize all expenses in advance.

Emergency Evacuation Benefit

The BTA plan will pay benefits for covered evacuation expenses for a medically necessary evacuation if you or a covered family member suffers an injury or emergency sickness while more than 100 miles from home or permanent place of assignment or residence (as defined by the plan). A medically necessary evacuation is one ordered by a physician due to the severity of the accident or emergency sickness.

The plan will also pay benefits equal to the cost of an economy-class airfare ticket to:

- Return your dependent child(ren), who were traveling with you, to your home or permanent place of assignment or residence (in this case, a one-way economy airfare(s) may apply);

- Bring one person to and from the hospital or other medical facility where the covered person is confined, if more than 100 miles from home or permanent place of assignment or residence (in this case, a single round-trip economy airfare may apply); and
- Bring one non-medical person from the place of the medical emergency to the place where the insured person is evacuated if more than 100 miles from home or permanent place of assignment or residence (not to exceed the cost of an economy-class round-trip airfare ticket).

For covered expenses to be paid under the BTA plan, all arrangements must be made by AIG Travel, as described in the section AIG Travel Assistance Services.

Repatriation of Remains Benefit

If you or a covered family member dies in a covered accident or due to an emergency sickness while more than 100 miles from home or permanent place of assignment or residence for all expatriate insured persons (as defined by the plan), the BTA plan pays benefits for covered expenses to return the body home. Covered expenses include:

- Embalming or cremation;
- The most economical coffin or receptacle adequate for transportation of the remains; and
- Transportation of the remains by the most direct and economical method of transportation and route possible.

ATTENDOR BENEFIT

If a repatriation of remains benefit becomes payable under the plan, the plan will also pay for expenses reasonably incurred (but not to exceed the cost of one round-trip economy airfare ticket) for one person (referred to as the attendor) to accompany your or your covered family member's remains from the place where death occurred to your place of primary residence. The plan will also pay for the attendor's lodging and meals for up to seven days (not to exceed $300 per day), but only while the attendor is away from his or her place of primary residence in connection with accompanying your or your covered family member's remains as described above. For this benefit to be payable, AIG Travel must make all arrangements and must authorize all expenses in advance.

Weekly Accident Disability Benefit

Under the BTA plan, you are eligible for a weekly disability benefit of 70% of your annual base pay for up to one year if you become disabled within 180 days of a covered accident. Totally disabled means that you are unable to perform each and every duty of your occupation.

The maximum benefit payable is $500 per week less any disability benefits you receive or are eligible to receive from any other company-sponsored plan or other sources, such as state-mandated plans or Social Security disability benefits. Benefits are payable for a maximum of 52 weeks for any disability caused by the same accident.

Weekly benefits will continue until the earliest of the date that:

- The benefit is paid for the maximum number of weeks allowed under the plan;
- You no longer qualify as disabled, as defined by the plan;
- You fail to provide proof of your disability when requested by the insurance company;
- You return to work; or
- You die.

You may be required to periodically provide the insurance company with proof of your continued disability. Failure to provide proof may result in suspension or termination of your benefits.

What the BTA Plan Does Not Cover

Business travel accident benefits are not payable for losses caused by:

- Any loss related to an accident that occurs while you are on vacation, commuting between home and work, on a leave of absence or not actively employed;
- Full-time active duty in the armed forces, National Guard or organized reserve corps of any country or international authority. Note that unearned premium for any period for which you are not covered due to your active duty status will be refunded;
- Infections of any kind, regardless of how contracted. The exceptions are for bacterial infections directly caused by botulism; ptomaine poisoning; and an accidental cut or wound that is independent from and in the absence of any underlying sickness, disease or condition, including but not limited to diabetes;
- Sickness, disease, mental incapacity or bodily infirmity, whether the loss results directly or indirectly from any of these;
- Suicide or any attempt at suicide, as well as intentionally self-inflicted injury or any attempt at intentionally self-inflicted injury; or
- Travel or flight in or on (including getting in or out of, or on or off of) any vehicle used for aerial navigation, whether as a passenger, pilot, operator or crew member, unless specifically provided by the policy.

How to File a Claim

If you or your beneficiary need to file a claim, contact your local Human Resources representative, who can provide information about filing a claim. To claim death benefits, you or your beneficiary must provide a completed claim form together with a certified copy of the death certificate and any other documentation required by the insurance company.

If a Claim Is Denied

There are specific procedures to be followed if you or your beneficiary decides to appeal a denied claim. See the Administrative section for more information on claims processing and appeal procedures. If you decide to request a review of a claim, send your written request to:

AIG, Accident and Health Claims Division
P.O. Box 25987
Shawnee Mission, KS 66225-5987

How Benefits Are Paid

Upon approval of the claim, benefits are paid in a lump sum. In the event of a covered accidental dismemberment or loss of use, benefits are payable to you. In the event of your death, benefits are paid to your beneficiary. If the person to whom benefits are to be paid is a minor child or not competent to give a valid release for payment, the payment is made to the individual's legal guardian.

As Your Needs Change

Changes to Your Pay

The amount of your BTA coverage will be adjusted to reflect any changes in your annual base pay. Your new coverage will become effective as of the date your annual base pay changes.

If You Take a Leave of Absence

Because the BTA plan covers only accidents that happen while you are traveling on company business, you are not covered for accidents that occur while you are on a leave of absence, except as described in this section.

If you are traveling at the request of the company while on leave, you are covered at four times your annual base pay rounded to the next highest $1,000, up to a maximum of $500,000, until you return to your home or permanent job location, whichever occurs first. While you are traveling at the request of the company, you are covered 24 hours a day for travel for business and pleasure.

If you are on a "home leave" (leave to travel while you are stationed in a country other than your home country), you are covered 24 hours a day for the duration of your home leave. This coverage includes the travel from and return trip to the country in which you are stationed. Home leave does not have to include travel to your home country.

If You Are Laid Off

If you are laid off, your coverage ends on your last day worked.

Coverage at Age 65

Your coverage under the BTA plan continues unchanged for as long as you work at the company, regardless of your age.

Other Important Information

When Coverage Normally Ends

Your coverage under the BTA plan ends on your last day worked or on the date you are no longer eligible.

Converting to a Non-Group Policy

BTA coverage cannot be converted.

Assigning Your Benefits

Assigning your benefits means that you transfer all rights, title and interest in your BTA insurance to someone else. You may assign ownership of your BTA insurance with the written consent of the insurance company. Contact the RBC at 800-358-1231 for the appropriate forms to assign your insurance. Because there are important legal and tax questions involved, you are strongly encouraged to seek professional advice before making this decision.

Your Rights

This section describes your BTA insurance in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan document, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan document will govern in all cases. See the Administrative section for information related to the administration of the BTA plan.

This document provides only a brief description of the coverage(s) available. The policy contains reductions, limitations, exclusions and termination provisions.

IMPORTANT: This program provides accident insurance only. It does not provide comprehensive/ major medical coverage and does not satisfy the minimum essential coverage requirements of the Patient Protection Affordable Care Act.

BTA insurance is underwritten by National Union Fire Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, PA., a Pennsylvania insurance company, with its principal place of business at 175 Water Street, 15th Floor, New York, NY 10038. It is currently authorized to transact business in all states and the District of Columbia; NAIC No. 19445.

- If you are eligible to participate in the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP), you may enroll in the plan as of your first day of work, regardless of how many hours per week you are regularly scheduled to work. Your participation will begin as soon as administratively possible after you enroll.

- You may elect to save as little as 1% of your eligible compensation through convenient payroll deduction. When you save:
 - On a pre-tax basis, your contributions are deducted from your pay before taxes are withheld, reducing your taxable income.
 - On an after-tax basis, your contributions are deducted from your pay after federal, state and local income taxes are withheld. Earnings are tax-deferred as long as they remain in your account.
 - Using the plan's Roth 401(k) feature, your contributions are made on an after-tax basis. Your assets grow tax free as long as you meet certain distribution requirements.

Your total RAYSIP contributions—pre-tax, after-tax and Roth 401(k)—are limited to a maximum of 50% of your eligible compensation, up to certain limits set by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) each year.

Enrolling in the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (WAYSIP)

If you are eligible to participate in the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (WAYSIP), you may enroll as of your first day of work, regardless of how many hours per week you are regularly scheduled to work. You may elect to make pre-tax, after-tax and/or Roth 401(k) contributions to the plan. Your contributions begin as soon as administratively feasible after you enroll. Contributions to your account are not made retroactively to your date of employment or re-employment.

You may enroll at any time through Fidelity NetBenefits® or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line. Both systems will walk you through the steps to:

- Set up your password;
- Select the percentage of eligible compensation you want to save, in increments of 1%;
- Decide whether to make pre-tax, after-tax and/or Roth 401(k) contributions;
- Decide whether to have your pre-tax contributions automatically spill over to after-tax contributions once you reach the pre-tax contribution maximum (see Contributions You Make to Your Account later in this section);
- Choose how you want to invest your savings; and
- Choose the voluntary Edelman Financial Engines account management program that best fits your needs (for a description, see Investing the Money in Your Account later in this section).

You must also name your beneficiary(ies), as described in the following section. Shortly after you enroll, you will receive a confirmation statement from Fidelity Investment Institutional Operational Company, Inc. (Fidelity) verifying your elections.

If you are hearing impaired, you will not be required to establish a password. Instead, each time you call 800-847-0348, the Savings and Investment Service Line's toll-free TDD number, you will be asked to identify yourself by providing certain personal information (for example, your Social Security number and date of birth).

Naming Your Beneficiary

When you first join the plan, you will be asked to name your beneficiary(ies)—the person(s) or legal entity(ies) (e.g., trust(s) or charity(ies)) that will receive your account balance in the event of your death. To name or change your beneficiary(ies), go to NetBenefits. This makes it easy to review and update your beneficiary(ies) as needed. If you prefer, you may submit a paper Beneficiary Designation form (available by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line). If you submit a paper form, you will need to call the Savings and Investment Service Line each time you wish to review and/or update your beneficiary(ies).

If you are married and wish to name—or later wish to change—your beneficiary to someone other than your spouse, federal law requires that your spouse provide written, notarized consent in the “Spousal Consent” section of the Beneficiary Designation form. Note that the plan recognizes a common law marriage if the marriage was established at a time when the state in which it was established permitted common law marriages.

If you are not married, you may name anyone you wish as your beneficiary.

Note that if you are married on the date of your death, your spouse is automatically your beneficiary, unless you have provided written, notarized consent from your spouse for your designation of someone other than him/her as your beneficiary.

More information is available through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

If you are a new employee, a WAYSIP enrollment kit will be mailed to your home. Your kit includes the information you need to make your enrollment and investment decisions as well as a Beneficiary Designation form.

It is your responsibility to keep your beneficiary designation up to date. You can update or change your beneficiary designation at any time through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Contributions You Make to Your Account

There are three types of contributions you may make to RAYSIP:

- Pre-tax, which are deducted from your pay before taxes are withheld, reducing your taxable income;
- After-tax, which are deducted from your pay after federal, state and local income taxes are withheld. Earnings are tax-deferred as long as they remain in your account; and
- Roth 401(k), an after-tax option that allows your assets to grow tax-free if you meet certain distribution requirements.

Your contributions can be as little as 1% of your eligible compensation and are made in increments of 1%. Contributions cannot exceed 50% of your eligible compensation, up to certain limits set by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). For 2021, there is a $290,000 compensation limit (subject to annual cost of living adjustments). For more information about IRS limits, see IRC Limits on Contributions later in this section.

For the purpose of plan contributions, your eligible compensation includes your base pay as well as any Achievement Awards or spot awards. Eligible compensation does not include reimbursed expenses, such as moving expenses or tuition reimbursement, if eligible; certain amounts paid after termination of employment; or payments made under certain special compensation programs.

To help you determine your maximum RAYSIP contribution, use the 401(k) Estimator tool. This tool can be found under MyInfo Home in the My Tools & Resources section of RTXConnect.

INCREASE THE AMOUNT YOU SAVE—AUTOMATICALLY

Increasing your savings can go a long way toward helping you build a comfortable nest egg for retirement. To make sure you don't miss an opportunity to increase the amount you save, such as when your pay increases, Fidelity offers the Annual Increase Program.

When you sign up, you elect to automatically increase the percentage of pay you save in RAYSIP, on a date that you choose, by 1%, 2% or 3% of your pay. You may also consider using this feature to automatically direct a portion of an anticipated annual merit increase toward RAYSIP. For more information or to elect this feature, go to NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Pre-Tax Contributions

You may contribute from 1% to 50% of your eligible compensation to RAYSIP on a pre-tax basis in increments of 1%. For 2021, the maximum amount you can contribute to the plan on a pre-tax and/or Roth 401(k) basis combined is $19,500.

When you save on a pre-tax basis, your contributions are deducted from your pay before federal and, in most cases, state and local income taxes are withheld. This reduces your taxable income. Withdrawals of pre-tax contributions are taxable.

It's important to note that you have only limited access to any money you set aside on a pre-tax basis. You may only access your money before age 59½ through loans or through withdrawals due to certain limited hardships. For more information, see Accessing the Money in Your Account later in this section.

You may elect to save as little as 1% of your eligible compensation to the plan through convenient payroll deduction. Your total RAYSIP contributions—pre-tax, after-tax and Roth 401(k)—are limited to a maximum of 50% of your eligible compensation, up to certain limits set by the IRS each year.

After-Tax Contributions

You may contribute from 1% to 50% of your eligible compensation to RAYSIP on an after-tax basis in increments of 1%. While there are no specific after-tax contribution limits, after-tax contributions are considered when calculating other contribution maximums as outlined in IRC Limits on Contributions later in this section.

When you save on an after-tax basis, your contributions are deducted from your pay after federal, state and local income taxes are withheld. Earnings on your after-tax contributions are tax-deferred as long as they remain in your account. Unlike with Roth 401(k) contributions, taxes are payable on the earnings on any after-tax contributions.

When you make after-tax contributions to your account, you have greater access to your savings while you are working. That's because you may access after-tax savings at any time through loans or withdrawals. For more information, see Accessing the Money in Your Account later in this section.

Roth 401(k) Contributions

You may contribute from 1% to 50% of your eligible compensation to RAYSIP through the plan's Roth 401(k) feature in increments of 1%. For 2021, the maximum amount you can contribute to the plan on a pre-tax and/or Roth 401(k) basis combined is $19,500.

A Roth 401(k) is an after-tax contribution option that allows your assets to grow tax-free. While Roth 401(k) contributions are deducted from your pay after taxes have been withheld, your earnings are tax-free as long as you meet the IRS requirements for a qualified distribution—one that is taken:

- At least five tax years from the year of your first Roth 401(k) contribution, and
- After you have either reached age 59½ or become disabled, or in the event of your death.

For more information about the Roth 401(k) feature, go to NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line. You are encouraged to consult with a tax advisor to determine if Roth 401(k) contributions are right for you.

CONVERTING EXISTING RAYSIP ACCOUNT BALANCES TO A ROTH 401(K)

If you choose, you may convert eligible funds from your RAYSIP accounts to a Roth 401(k) account (called an Roth In-Plan Conversion).

To be eligible for conversion, funds must be considered immediately distributable. Examples of immediately distributable funds are shown in this chart:

Your Age	RAYSIP Accounts Eligible for Conversion
Up to 59½	After-tax
59½ and Above	Pre-tax and after-tax, up to your entire account balance

You may elect to convert any amount of funds from eligible accounts to a Roth 401(k); there are no limits. Conversion is a taxable event; see your tax advisor for more information. Outstanding loans are not eligible for conversion.

For more information about in-plan conversions, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

CATCH-UP CONTRIBUTIONS

If you will have reached at least age 50 during any given calendar year, you may make an additional “catch-up” contribution of up to $6,500 (in 2021) to RAYSIP beyond the IRS contribution and compensation limits. Your catch-up contribution can be made with pre-tax and/ or Roth 401(k) contributions. (Note that you do not have to wait until you reach the $19,500 limit before making your catch-up contribution.)

You may make a catch-up contribution election through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Any earnings on your pre-tax catch-up contributions are not taxable as long as they remain in your account. This means that taxes are deferred until you withdraw the money from your account. Taxes are payable on the money you withdraw.

Any earnings on Roth 401(k) catch-up contributions are not taxable if you meet certain distribution requirements. See Roth 401(k) Contributions later in this section for details.

THE BENEFIT OF PRE-TAX SAVINGS

When you make pre-tax contributions to RAYSIP, it actually costs you less to save the same amount of money when compared with saving on an after-tax basis.* For example, suppose you are single, your eligible compensation is $35,000 per year and you decide to save 10% of your compensation, or $3,500, in the plan. By saving with pre-tax dollars, you lower your taxable income and save money. Here’s how:

	You save 10% on a pre-tax basis	You save 10% on a Roth 401(k)* or after-tax basis
Your eligible compensation	$35,000	$35,000
You save 10% in the plan on a pre-tax basis	$ 3,500	-0-
Your taxable income	$31,500	$35,000
Your federal income and FICA tax	$ 4,753	$5,173
You save 10% in the plan on an after-tax basis	-0-	$ 3,500
Your take-home pay	$26,747	$26,327
Your tax savings for this calendar year	$ 420

*While your immediate tax consequences mimic after-tax savings, with Roth 401(k) contributions, tax benefits are realized later. Specifically, if your withdrawal of Roth 401(k) contributions and any related earnings meets IRS regulations, no part of your distribution is taxable. However, if you withdraw pre-tax contributions and any associated earnings, or any earnings associated with after-tax contributions, the plan is required to withhold 20% of any withdrawal for federal taxes, plus any applicable state taxes. An additional 10% penalty usually applies to the withdrawal of previously untaxed money (such as pre-tax contributions and earnings on both pre-tax and after-tax contributions to your account) made before age 59½.

Taxes for this example are based on filing single with one exemption using 2021 federal tax withholding tables. In most states you would also save on state income taxes, which are not shown in this example. This example is for illustrative purposes only. Your situation would likely differ depending on a number of factors, including actual earnings, amount saved, where you live and tax law changes. Remember, with pre-tax and after-tax contributions, taxes will generally be due on at least a portion of any distribution you take from your plan account.

Rollover Contributions

In certain circumstances, you may also make a tax-deferred rollover contribution to your account as of or after your date of employment or re-employment, even if you choose not to contribute to the plan. If you are an active employee of the company and receive an eligible rollover distribution from another qualified savings and/or retirement plan (other than a retirement plan sponsored by the company), from a Simplified Employee Pension—Individual Retirement Account (SEP—IRA), and/or from an individual retirement account (IRA) you have as a result of a previous rollover from an employer’s plan, you may be able to defer taxes and penalties by rolling your distribution over into RAYSIP. You may also be eligible to roll over other forms of retirement savings, including:

- 403(b) and 457 plan accounts;
- After-tax retirement savings from a previous employer’s retirement plan;
- Qualified domestic relations order (QDRO) distributions received from another qualified employer’s retirement plan; or
- Distributions received as the beneficiary of a participant in another qualified employer’s retirement plan.

In addition to simplifying the management of your retirement funds, rolling other retirement accounts into your RAYSIP account may save you money—particularly with IRAs, as most IRA administrators charge annual fees that are likely higher than similar fees associated with RAYSIP.

Rollovers must be received within 60 days of your receipt from the other qualified savings and/or retirement plan or IRA. Otherwise, your rollover must be treated as a taxable withdrawal.

To initiate and track the progress of a rollover contribution, go to NetBenefits and click on the Rollover tab. Here you’ll find easy-to-follow steps to complete a rollover, a list of the distribution options available for your account with a former employer and instructions on how to submit a copy of the rollover check from your smartphone. If you have any questions about making a rollover contribution to the plan, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Changing or Stopping Your Contributions

You may change or stop the amount you contribute to your account at any time through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line. If you stop your contributions, you may restart them at any time through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Any change you request, including stopping or starting contributions, will become effective as soon as administratively feasible. You will receive written confirmation of your requested change from Fidelity.

If your employment ends, your current contribution percentage election will remain on record for 35 days from your last day worked, unless you go online or call to change it. After 35 days, to comply with IRS regulations, Fidelity will automatically set your contribution percentage to zero. If you are re-employed or receive any payments after your termination date, the contribution percentage on record for you at that time—whether your most recent election or zero—will apply until you change it or stop contributions.

If you are on a leave of absence for military service, your participation in RAYSIP continues. For information about how contributions are affected during a military leave of absence, see If You Take a Leave of Absence later in this section.

Owning the Money in Your Account

You always own, or are vested in, the value of your contributions, including investment earnings on those contributions.

Investing the Money in Your Account

When you first enroll in RAYSIP, you are asked to choose how to invest the money in your account. The investment elections you choose apply to all your contributions—pre-tax, after-tax and Roth 401(k). If you do not make an investment election, your contributions will be invested automatically in the Janus Henderson Balanced Fund Class N until you change the investment direction. For information about the Janus Henderson Balanced Fund Class N, see the chart Choose the Investment Approach That's Right for You later in this section.

The plan offers 16 core investment options, including three asset allocation funds. Asset allocation funds are designed to meet specific investment objectives and offer a “one-stop shopping” approach to investing.

In addition, for experienced investors who are comfortable managing risk and having the responsibility of more closely monitoring their investments, the plan offers Fidelity BrokerageLink, a self-directed account that allows you to invest in a broad range of mutual funds and exchange traded funds (ETF). (Note that at least 10% of your RAYSIP contributions must be invested among the core investment options.) You make your investment choices in increments of 1%, and change your investment choices as your needs change.

To encourage you to diversify the money in your RAYSIP account (see the inset box Importance of Diversifying Your Retirement Savings to learn more), no more than 20% of your RAYSIP contributions may be directed to the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund. Funds may not be transferred from another investment option into the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund—either by action you take or action taken by Edelman Financial Engines Professional Management—if more than 20% of your total account balance is invested in the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund.

The Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund invests primarily in Raytheon Technologies common stock. It also invests in a small amount of short-term cash investments, so that the fund can buy or sell every business day without the usual trade settlement period associated with stock transactions.

Your RAYSIP account statement (see the section Your Account Statement) shows any balance you have in the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund in “units.” The value of a unit includes the market value of the Raytheon Technologies common stock, plus any short-term cash or liquid investments held by the fund (usually from ¾% to 1¼%). Using unitization for this fund does not change the market value of your investment.

Core Investment Options

To help you build an investment portfolio with varying amounts of risk and return that are appropriate for you, the company and Fidelity offer a streamlined lineup of 16 core investment options, including three asset allocation funds. Asset allocation funds are designed to meet specific investment objectives and offer a “one-stop shopping” approach to investing. The lineup is structured to focus on an analysis of the characteristics of each investment option’s general investment categories, not on the actual options and their holdings, which can change frequently and often overlap between investment options, creating a false sense of diversification.

You can invest in any combination of these options, giving you a wide range of investment choices to help meet your personal goals.

Changing Your Core Investment Options

You may make changes to your investment strategy by transferring your current investments and/or your future contributions as often as you wish, subject to certain restrictions on frequent trading imposed by the funds. For example, you may not exchange money directly from the Raytheon Fixed Income Fund to the BlackRock Government Short-Term Investment Fund Class 3. In this case, money must be invested in other funds for 90 days before it can be invested in the BlackRock Government Short-Term Investment Fund Class 3. For information on short-term trading restrictions, frequent trading policies and/or fees for any specific fund, see the fund’s prospectus/investment facts available on NetBenefits.

You may change your investment elections in the core investment options through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line. The change you request will become effective as of the date of your request, provided your request is confirmed by the close of the New York Stock Exchange (normally 4:00 p.m. ET). Changes confirmed after the close of the market or on weekends or holidays will receive the next available closing price.

You will receive written confirmation of the change from Fidelity once it has been processed. (Note that the minimum exchange amount is the lesser of $250 or 100% of your balance in the fund from which the exchange is being made.)

BEFORE YOU INVEST, BE SURE TO KNOW ...

All investment funds offer a different potential rate of return and associated level of risk. Risk means the possibility that your investment may go up or down. High-risk investments may fluctuate more over the short term but may offer the potential for higher returns over longer periods of time. Rate of return means the percentage of gain or loss on the money invested over a specific period of time.

For detailed information about RAYSIP’s core investment options, see the fund’s prospectus/investment facts available on NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line. These materials provide valuable information about each fund’s investment goals, risk level, performance and any applicable fees.

Most people’s financial goals vary over time. When you’re young, you may be saving for shorter-term goals, such as buying a home or paying for your child’s college education. Later, you may be more concerned about saving for retirement.

With RAYSIP, you can change your investment choices and contributions from time to time, as your needs change. Prior to making any investment decision, you should consider your current situation and your future needs carefully.

You are encouraged to consult with a qualified investment professional if you have any questions. It’s important to note that past performance of an investment is no guarantee of future performance.

The WAYSIP core investment options are subject to change. To review the current fund offerings, go to NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

WAYSIP offers 16 core investment options across a broad risk spectrum. You can invest in any combination of these professionally managed core investment options. Note that 10% of your total WAYSIP account must be invested in the core investment options (you can allocate up to 90% of your account balance to a Fidelity BrokerageLink account, described later). If you do not make an investment election, your contributions will be invested automatically in the Janus Henderson Balanced Fund Class N, until you change the investment direction.

For detailed information about each option, see the fund's prospectus/ investment facts available on NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line. These materials provide valuable information about each fund's investment goals, risk level, performance and any applicable fees.

¹For a description of collective investment trusts, see the inset box About Collective Investment Trusts on the next page.

²The Growth Oriented Allocation Index Fund and the Income Oriented Allocation Index Fund are relatively new CITs/funds; therefore, performance history is limited.

³This is an asset allocation option. The portfolio of underlying funds for each fund will be rebalanced at every month-end, if needed, to pre-set equity and fixed income targets.

⁴This is an asset allocation option. It normally invests 35% to 65% of its assets in equity securities and the remaining assets in fixed-income securities and cash equivalents. It typically invests at least 25% of its assets in fixed-income securities.

⁵Regarding our asset allocation funds, approach to diversification and asset allocation does not ensure a profit or guarantee against loss. In addition, keep in mind that you will need to periodically re-evaluate your risk tolerance and adjust your investments accordingly.

ABOUT COLLECTIVE INVESTMENT TRUSTS

Some RAYSIP investment options are collective investment trusts (CITs). CITs are tax-exempt, pooled investment vehicles maintained by a bank or trust company for investment by tax-qualified employee benefit plans and governmental retirement plans.

While CITs are exempt from registration with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), they are considered “plan assets” and therefore subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as well as oversight by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (in the case of national bank trustees), local banking and trust law and SEC (in the case of registered adviser trustees).

BECOMING A SHAREHOLDER

One of the investment options available through RAYSIP is the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund. When you hold stock in the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund, you become a part owner of the company. This means that you are eligible to vote confidentially on important issues at the stockholders’ annual meeting, including electing members to the Board of Directors.

Here’s how voting works:

- You will receive a packet of information in the mail or via email before the annual meeting. This packet will include an explanation of each issue requiring shareholder voting action, a ballot (also called a “proxy”) and instructions on how to complete the ballot, including the deadline by which the ballot must be returned.
- Read the information in the packet carefully, then decide how you wish to vote on each issue.
- Mark the ballot with your votes, sign and date it, then mail it to the transfer agent before the voting deadline.
- The Plan Trustee will vote your shares as you have requested at the annual meeting.

It’s important to note that you must return your ballot by the voting deadline or your votes cannot be counted.

DIVIDEND PAYOUT FEATURE FOR THE RAYTHEON TECHNOLOGIES STOCK FUND

With the Dividend Payout feature, you have the option of choosing to receive the dividends paid on your Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund balance as a cash payment without a penalty or to reinvest them.

By going to NetBenefits or calling the Savings and Investment Service Line, you can:

- Find out if a dividend has been declared for the quarter (the company’s Board of Directors decides if a dividend will be paid);
- See what date the Board of Directors has selected for payout; and
- Elect to receive your dividends in cash, if you wish.

You must make your election at least 10 days before the dividend payment date. Once you’ve made this election, you will continue to receive dividend payments as cash until you elect otherwise.

When you choose to receive your dividend payment in cash, it will be taxable in the year it is received. After the end of the year, you will receive a Form 1099-DIV indicating the total dividends you received as cash for the year.

Note that while any cash received is taxable as ordinary income, there isn’t a 10% penalty associated with this transaction. This means that the Dividend Payout feature allows you to obtain cash from your RAYSIP account to use for any purpose without incurring the 10% early withdrawal penalty normally associated with distributions made before you turn age 59½.

If you have elected to receive dividends in cash, but payments out of your account are not permitted (because of a QDRO) or monies are undeliverable due to an incorrect address, your dividends will continue to be reinvested in your Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund account.

If you wish to continue to reinvest your dividend proceeds in the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund, no action is necessary. Your dividends will continue to be reinvested on a tax-deferred basis. The choice is up to you.

FIDELITY BROKERAGELINK®

With Fidelity BrokerageLink,® WAYSIP provides you with the opportunity to invest in a broad range of investment options beyond the plan's core investment options. BrokerageLink provides access to the Fidelity Funds Network,® which offers thousands of Fidelity and non-Fidelity mutual funds, and exchange traded funds (ETFs). This additional flexibility and choice may help you build a retirement portfolio that's more tailored to your individual goals.

While many mutual funds and ETFs are available through BrokerageLink, you cannot use the program to invest in any of the core investment options available through WAYSIP, tax-exempt securities, employer securities (including all types of equities, such as common stock, preferred stock, convertible stock and options), physical certificates, precious metal, limited partnerships (including investments that may generate unrelated business taxable income, such as limited partnerships and ETFs with a limited partnership structure), futures contracts, commodities, currencies, currency options, CAPS or options. In addition, you may not invest in any other issue/ security that may result in a WAYSIP-prohibited transaction.

Participating in BrokerageLink

To participate in BrokerageLink, you must establish a Fidelity BrokerageLink account with at least $2,500. Future transfers carry a $1,000 minimum. To open an account, you'll need a BrokerageLink kit, which is available:

- Through NetBenefits:
 - Under Quick Links, click on BrokerageLink.
 - Review the materials under Learn More and Review BrokerageLink Plan Information.
 - Click on Open an Account and follow the instructions.
- By calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Once you receive your kit, complete and return the Fidelity BrokerageLink Participant Acknowledgment Form. Approximately two weeks after Fidelity receives your form, you will receive your account number and the Expand Your World of Investment Choices handbook.

Once your BrokerageLink account is open, you can direct up to 90% of your future WAYSIP contributions to this service; 10% of your WAYSIP contributions must be invested among the core investment options. You may also choose to transfer up to 90% of your existing contributions and any associated earnings to BrokerageLink. (Note that transfers are not allowed from the Raytheon Fixed Income Fund.)

Although there isn't an annual fee for the service, a SEC sales fee and brokerage commissions apply. For a complete list of fees, refer to the BrokerageLink Fact Sheet and commission schedule in the Participant Acknowledgment Form.

For more information about BrokerageLink, go to NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Changing Your Investments with BrokerageLink

Any changes you make to BrokerageLink investments—in terms of exchanges you make from a core investment option into your BrokerageLink account—go through a two-step process, as described here:

- 90% of your transfer amount is immediately available to trade through a Fidelity Retirement Brokerage Services Representative. To allow for market fluctuation, the remaining 10% is held in the Fidelity BrokerageLink core account, Fidelity® Government Cash Reserves, during the required settlement period.
- The following business day, the remaining portion of your transfer amount (or 100% if you did not take action the prior business day) is available for trading online or through a representative.

For questions about BrokerageLink trading, refer to your BrokerageLink kit, go to NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

IMPORTANCE OF DIVERSIFYING YOUR RETIREMENT SAVINGS

To help achieve long-term retirement security, you should give careful consideration to the benefits of a well-balanced and diversified investment portfolio. Spreading your assets among different types of investments can help you achieve a favorable rate of return, while minimizing your overall risk of losing money. This is because market or other economic conditions that cause one category of assets, or one particular security, to perform very well often cause another asset category, or another particular security, to perform poorly. If you invest more than 20% of your retirement savings in any one company or industry, your savings may not be properly diversified. Although diversification is not a guarantee against loss, it is an effective strategy to help you manage investment risk.

In deciding how to invest your retirement savings, you should take into account all of your assets, including any retirement savings outside of RAYSIP. No single approach is right for everyone because, among other factors, individuals have different financial goals, different time horizons for meeting their goals and different tolerances for risk.

It is also important to periodically review your investment portfolio, your investment objectives and the investment options under RAYSIP to help ensure that your retirement savings will meet your retirement goals.

The Department of Labor website provides sources of information on investing and diversification.

Professional Help Available through Edelman Financial Engines

To help you build a diversified portfolio for your RAYSIP account, the company partners with Edelman Financial Engines, Inc., a leading, independent provider of investment advisory services for 401(k) plan participants. Edelman Financial Engines Advisors LLC is an independent, registered investment advisor and wholly owned subsidiary of Edelman Financial Engines, Inc., which was co-founded in 1996 by Nobel Prize-winning economist Bill Sharpe. Edelman Financial Engines helps participants with their overall retirement picture by offering personalized plans for saving and investing for retirement and retirement income.

Since different individuals have different investment styles—from hands-off to hands-on—the company offers two Edelman Financial Engines programs:

- Professional Management, which is designed to help participants who do not have the time, interest or expertise to actively manage their investment accounts. With Professional Management, Edelman Financial Engines investment professionals create, implement, monitor and manage a diversified retirement plan just for you. If you choose to participate in Professional Management, your current RAYSIP account is analyzed. Then, based on your personal situation—preferred risk tolerance, desired retirement age and other retirement income sources you may have, if you choose to provide this information—a customized investment strategy is created and implemented for you using the core investment options.

Your account is regularly monitored and your RAYSIP investment options are actively managed (bought or sold, as necessary) to keep pace with changes in your retirement horizon, the economy and investment markets.

You will receive quarterly, printed Retirement Updates and always have access to investment advisors by calling 800-601-5957 (the Advisor Center is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. ET).

The cost to participate in this program is 0.28% (.0028) for the first $100,000 in your RAYSIP account balance. That’s about $2.33 a month for each $10,000 in your account. Discounts apply for higher account balances. Fees are deducted directly from your account on a quarterly basis. There are no commissions or transaction fees for the program, and you can end your participation at any time. For a complete fee schedule, contact Edelman Financial Engines.

- Online Advice, which is designed for RAYSIP participants who are confident in making investment decisions or executing investment recommendations from Edelman Financial Engines on their own and monitoring their accounts over time.

While Edelman Financial Engines’ investment models typically recommend that less than 20% of your RAYSIP account balance be invested in the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund, you can direct Edelman Financial Engines to invest up to 20% of your account balance in the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund. If you enroll in Professional Management, your Edelman Financial Engines’ analysis will include a recommended target percentage for the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund.

When it comes to navigating your financial future, Edelman Financial Engines can help you understand where you are, where you want to go and how to get there. In addition, Edelman Financial Engines puts your interests first, and does not sell investments or receive commissions for providing investment advice.

Professional Management

is available to all RAYSIP participants, but can be especially helpful to those who are not active, hands-on, educated investors, or to those who have portfolios that aren’t appropriately diversified.

If you have a BrokerageLink account, you will receive a separate quarterly statement from BrokerageLink, which will contain more detailed transaction and account information.

Every effort is made to report the information on your statement accurately. However, you are responsible for verifying that your deferral percentages are correct and that any transactions you or Professional Management made during the quarter (e.g., investment fund changes or fund transfers) are reflected. If you find an error, you must call the Savings and Investment Service Line within 90 days of receiving your statement. It may not be possible to correct errors reported after that time.

You can learn the value of your account or view/request a statement of your account at any time through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line. Accounts are valued at the close of the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) each business day.

To learn the current value of your account or view/request a statement of your account at any time, go to NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Accessing the Money in Your Account

Borrowing Against Your Account

WAYSIP is designed primarily to help you build savings for the future. However, there may be times when you need access to the money in your account before you retire.

While you are still employed with the company, you may borrow against your account balance for any reason. Unlike a withdrawal from your account, you pay no current federal income taxes on the amount you borrow, provided you repay the loan within the specified time period.

The minimum you may borrow is $500. The maximum you may borrow is the lesser of 50% of your account balance (which is the total of your investments in the core investment options and BrokerageLink) or $50,000, minus your highest outstanding loan balance during the previous 12 months. If the amount you wish to borrow is more than is available in your core investment options, you will need to move any needed balance from your BrokerageLink account to the core investment options before your loan will be processed. You may have two loans outstanding at a time. Once you have paid off a loan, there is a 21-day waiting period before you can initiate another loan. If you obtain a loan from your WAYSIP account, there is a $50 loan origination fee. This fee will be deducted from your WAYSIP account on the first business day following the quarter in which your loan was taken.

The funds for any individual loan proportionately reduce the amount in each investment option, and then from your contributions, again proportionately reduce the amount in each investment option.

When you borrow from your account, you repay the loan with automatic after-tax deductions from your pay. Loan payments are reinvested proportionally into the source(s) from which they were redeemed, and into fund(s) based on current investment elections. Your entire payment, including any interest, is reinvested in the same investment options and in the same percentages that you have selected for your current contributions.

The interest charged on your loan is a fixed rate equal to the prime rate published by Reuters on the last business day of the quarter (March, June, September and December) preceding the quarter in which the loan is made. The interest rate is fixed for the duration of the loan. You will not be charged any fees to continue a loan.

To apply for a loan, you may call the Savings and Investment Service Line, or you can request a loan from your WAYSIP account through NetBenefits. With this feature, you have the ability to model and initiate a loan online any time—virtually 24 hours a day, seven days a week. In most cases, you will receive a check within 10 business days of your request. Instead of waiting for a check, you may have the proceeds transferred electronically to your bank account. This feature also gives you the ability to set up or change your bank account information online via NetBenefits or through a Customer Service Representative, available by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Repaying Your Loan. Based on the reason for your loan, you may choose the repayment schedule that works best for you. The maximum repayment period for a loan to purchase your principal home or residence is 15 years. The maximum repayment period for all other loans is five years. You may also repay the full balance or any portion of the balance of your loan at any time in a lump-sum payment. Please note that loan repayments must be made in substantially level payments of principal and interest. For information, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

If you have an outstanding loan and are approved for a leave of absence or are laid off, you may make arrangements to continue to repay your loan either online at NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line. You can continue making payments on your loan by arranging for a “one-time” payment every two weeks through Automated Clearing House (ACH)—the nation’s conduit for electronic funds transfer (EFT)—or you can choose not to make loan payments for up to 12 months or the length of your layoff period, whichever is less. At the end of this 12-month period, if you haven’t been re-employed by the company, Fidelity will convert your status to “terminated” on its system and send you

While WAYSIP is a great way to save for retirement, you have access to certain money in your account to meet shorter-term financial goals while you are still an active employee.

information about repaying your loan with automatically recurring ACH payments. If you have missed any payments during the 12-month period, you will be required to become current in your payments in addition to arranging for automatically recurring ACH payments. If you fail to both make up your missed payments and arrange for automatically recurring ACH payments, the loan will be defaulted and the outstanding balance will be treated as a taxable distribution from the plan and may be subject to applicable income taxes and penalties. For more information, see Important Information about Taxes later in this section.

If you are not actively at work, you will be required to make payments in the same frequency as you had been making payroll payments while you were actively at work; the loan will not be re-amortized to monthly payments.

If you are re-employed by the company before the end of the 12-month layoff period, you must notify the Global People Services (GPS) HR Support Center to resume loan repayments from your pay when you return to work. If you had chosen not to make payments during that period, you will be required to become current in the payments that you missed.

If your employment ends, Fidelity will send you an ACH instruction packet that will describe how to continue repaying your loan on a monthly basis. You can arrange for a “one-time” payment each month or set up automatically recurring monthly ACH payments either online at NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line. Note that if no payments are made within 90 days of your termination, the loan will be defaulted and the outstanding balance will be treated as a taxable distribution from the plan and may be subject to applicable income taxes and penalties. You will be sent a notice advising you of the specifics about your loan before your loan is defaulted. For more information, see Important Information about Taxes later in this section.

Special rules apply to repayment of loans during military service. For more information, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER (EFT) SERVICES AVAILABLE

The electronic funds transfer (EFT) service allows participants to transfer funds electronically between their bank account and Fidelity. Offered by Fidelity, this service enables participants to electronically authorize Fidelity to debit or credit their checking or savings account.

For example, in the event you need to take a loan or withdrawal from your RAYSIP account, you may arrange for an EFT to your bank account. Once you set up an EFT through NetBenefits, your proceeds from any loan or withdrawal will be automatically deposited in your bank account within one or two business days—offering you quicker access to your money.

Electronic transactions are processed through ACH. If you have any questions about this service, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Withdrawals During Employment

You may make withdrawals from your after-tax contributions and any rollover contributions at any time for any reason. When you withdraw your after-tax contributions, a pro rata share of the earnings on those contributions must be withdrawn at the same time. The earnings withdrawn are taxed as ordinary income for the year in which the withdrawal is made. When you withdraw your rollover contributions, both the rollover contributions and earnings become taxable.

If you are age 59½ or older, you may withdraw pre-tax contributions and earnings on those contributions for any reason without penalty. Pre-tax contributions and earnings on those contributions are taxed as ordinary income when withdrawn.

Roth 401(k) contributions and earnings on those contributions can be withdrawn tax-free for any reason provided the withdrawal is a qualified distribution, meaning it is taken at least five tax years from the year of the first Roth 401(k) contribution and after you reach age 59½ or become disabled, or in the event of your death.

Hardship Withdrawals

Under the Internal Revenue Code (IRC), you may make withdrawals from your pre-tax contributions (as well as earnings on these contributions) before you reach age 59½ for hardship reasons, as described in this section. You must be able to demonstrate that you do not have any other sources to meet that hardship need, including taking any other available distributions from the plan.

Subject to IRS rules and tax implications, contributions and any associated earnings to a Roth 401(k) account may be eligible for a hardship withdrawal. Contact the Savings and Investment Service Line or a tax advisor if this situation applies to you.

Hardship withdrawals may only be made for the following reasons:

- The purchase of your principal residence (not including mortgage payments);
- Tuition, fees, and room and board expenses for the next 12 months of post-secondary education for you, your spouse, your children or any other eligible dependents;
- Certain medical expenses not covered by insurance for you, your spouse, your children or any other eligible dependents;
- The prevention of eviction or foreclosure on your principal residence;
- To pay for burial or funeral expenses for your deceased parent, spouse, child or another eligible dependent;
- To repair damage to your principal residence that qualifies as a casualty deduction under Section 165 of the IRC. (Examples of casualty deductions include damage as a result of car accidents, fires, earthquakes, hurricanes, tornadoes, floods and vandalism); and
- To pay for expenses and losses (including loss of income) you incur on account of a disaster declared by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, Public Law 100–707. To qualify, at the time of the disaster, your principal residence or principal place of employment must have been located in an area designated by FEMA for individual assistance with respect to the disaster.

If you have questions about an event that may qualify for a hardship withdrawal, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Applying for a Withdrawal

To apply for a withdrawal, go to NetBenefits or call the Savings and Investment Service Line. In most cases, you will receive a check within 10 business days of your request. Instead of waiting for a check, you may have the proceeds transferred electronically to your bank account (see Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) Services Available earlier in this section). (Electronic transfers typically are processed within two to three business days after you make your request.) This feature also gives you the ability to set up or change your bank account information online via NetBenefits or through a Customer Service Representative. While proof of your hardship is not required, the IRS may require proof in the event you are audited.

There is no minimum withdrawal amount. The amount you withdraw will be taken proportionately from each fund in which you are investing.

Taxes on Withdrawals. Under current federal law, money you withdraw (other than after-tax contributions or Roth 401(k) contributions and associated earnings that are considered a qualified distribution) is taxable as part of your income for the year in which the withdrawal was made. The plan is required to withhold 20% of any withdrawal for federal taxes, plus any applicable state taxes. An additional 10% penalty usually applies to the withdrawal of previously untaxed money (such as pre-tax contributions and earnings on both pre-tax and after-tax contributions to your account) made before age 59½.

When you make a withdrawal from your account, you are generally required to pay taxes on all or a portion of the withdrawal amount. You are encouraged to consult a qualified tax advisor before applying for a withdrawal.

Receiving Payment from Your Account

Once you are eligible to receive a distribution from your account, you make a distribution election (see Distributions below). The Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund balance, if any, may be paid out in stock if you choose.

Pre-Tax and After-Tax (Excluding Roth 401(k) Contributions)

You are eligible to receive the value of your pre-tax and after-tax (excluding Roth 401(k) contributions, described later) contributions and their associated earnings when you:

- Leave the company for any reason;
- Become totally and permanently disabled; or
- Die.

When one of these events occurs, Fidelity will send you or your beneficiary information about distributions from the plan. Information may also be requested by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Roth 401(k) Contributions

You are eligible to receive the value of your Roth 401(k) contributions and their associated earnings tax-free when you make a qualified distribution, meaning one that is taken:

- At least five tax years from the year of the first Roth 401(k) contribution; and
- After you reach age 59½, become disabled or die.

If you make a distribution that is not qualified, any earnings are taxable.

To make a distribution of your Roth 401(k) contributions, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Distributions

If the Value of Your Account Is $1,000 or Less

If the value of your account is $1,000 or less, within approximately six months of your termination of employment (or earlier upon your request), your account balance will either be paid out to you in one lump sum and taxes will be withheld, or upon your request, rolled over to another employer's retirement plan or to an IRA. In this case, you avoid the tax withholding. Fidelity reviews all account balances each quarter.

If the Value of Your Account Is More Than $1,000

If the value of your account is more than $1,000, you may request a distribution at any time following your termination of employment or leave your money in the plan. You have the option of rolling over your account balance to an IRA or another employer's retirement plan, if applicable, and avoiding the tax withholding.

In all cases, Fidelity will advise you of your options before a distribution is made.

WAYSIP offers the following distribution options:

- Lump sum (with taxes withheld) or to avoid the tax withholding, a lump-sum rollover to another employer's retirement plan or to an IRA;
- Recurring, automatic monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or annual installments where you choose the date of the distribution (such as the 1st or the 15th of the month);
- Fixed-dollar installments;
- Ad hoc, partial distributions withdrawn by selected source (e.g., employee pre-tax), fund (e.g., Janus Henderson Balanced Collective Fund Fee Class I) or on a pro rata basis across all sources and funds.

Note that you may change any of your prior installment elections at any time.

If you were part of the AST Base 401(k) Plan, the Henggeler Computer Consultants, Inc. 401(k) Plan or the Visual Analytics, Inc. Retirement Plan and had frozen Money Purchase Pension Plan Assets as part of that transfer, you are eligible to receive an annuity based on those frozen assets. Those assets are also protected by joint and survivor annuity rules and will require your spouse's notarized consent for most withdrawals and distributions.

If you were part of the Sensintel 401(k) plan, you are permitted to take an annuity distribution from the portion of your WAYSIP account that resulted from the transfer of assets from the Sensintel 401(k) plan.

Minimum Required Distributions*

Minimum required distributions (MRDs) are annual minimum amounts that you must withdraw from your RAYSIP account starting with the year you reach 72 years of age or, if later, the year you terminate employment. While you must take your first MRD for the year in which you turn age 72, you can elect to delay this first payment until April 1 of the following year. For all years following the year you turn 72, including the year after you reached 72 if you elected to delay the first payment until the following April 1, you must take the MRD by December 31 of each year. When applicable, Fidelity will calculate your MRD amounts.

*If you reached age 70½ prior to January 1, 2020, you were/are required to take an MRD starting with the year you reached age 70½.

Important Information about Taxes

Pre-Tax Contributions

As long as the money remains in RAYSIP, your pre-tax savings, any catch-up contributions and any investment earnings on any contributions to your account are not taxable. Taxes apply only when you make a withdrawal or receive a distribution from your account.

You may elect to have all or a portion of any payment you are eligible to receive from RAYSIP paid directly to you or paid as a direct rollover into another employer's retirement plan or IRA.

In some cases, you may be required to pay an additional 10% tax on any payment you receive from the plan before you reach age 59½ if you do not roll it into an IRA or another employer's retirement plan. This additional 10% tax does not apply if payment is made because:

- Your employment with the company ends due to retirement during or after the year in which you reached age 55;
- Your account is distributed due to permanent and total disability; or
- Payment is used to pay medical expenses above the IRS threshold.

For more information about the additional 10% tax, go to www.irs.gov or call the Internal Revenue Service at 800-829-3676 and request a copy of Form 5329.

After-Tax and Roth 401(k) Contributions

Because you made these contributions to RAYSIP using after-tax dollars, any payment to you of after-tax contributions, Roth 401(k) contributions or earnings on Roth 401(k) contributions from RAYSIP is not subject to taxes. (Note that earnings on after-tax contributions will be subject to taxes.)

Rollover Option. You may choose to roll over any after-tax contributions, Roth 401(k) contributions or earnings on Roth 401(k) contributions to a rollover IRA or certain defined contribution plans.

Payments Made Directly to You

Mandatory Withholding. If you choose to have payment made directly to you, the plan administrator is required by federal law to withhold 20% of any eligible payment. This amount is sent to the IRS as income tax withholding to be credited against your taxes for the year in which payment is made. For example, if your distribution is $10,000, you will receive $8,000 and $2,000 will be withheld. State tax withholding may also apply. If you receive the payment before you reach age 59½, you may also be required to pay an additional 10% tax, as described earlier.

Rollover Option. In some cases, you may be able to continue deferring taxes on your money by rolling it over into a rollover IRA or your new employer's retirement plan. If the check is made out to you, you must make the rollover within 60 days of the date you receive the check or your payment will be subject to applicable taxes. In addition, if you wish to roll over 100% of the taxable distribution, you must add, or make up for, the 20% that had been withheld. If you roll over only the 80% that you received, you will be taxed on the 20% that was withheld and not rolled over.

This section provides information on federal tax rules that may apply to taxable distributions you receive under the plan. Other rules may apply under your state or local tax laws.

Because tax laws are complex and subject to change, you are encouraged to consult a qualified tax or financial advisor before receiving payment under the plan. You may also obtain information about payments from qualified retirement plans from the IRS. To request a copy of Publication 575, Pension and Annuity Income and/or Publication 590, Individual Retirement Accounts, go to www.irs.gov or call 800-829-3676.

For information on rolling over your Roth 401(k) account, contact your tax advisor.

For more information about IRAs, including limits on how often you can roll over between IRAs, go to www.irs.gov or call 800-829-3676 and request a copy of Publication 590, Individual Retirement Accounts.

For example, if you have an eligible distribution of $10,000 that you choose to have paid directly to you, you will receive $8,000 and $2,000 will be withheld for federal income taxes. You have the option of deferring taxes on all or part of your eligible distribution by rolling it over to an IRA or another employer's retirement plan within 60 days of receipt.

You may elect to roll over the full $10,000 by rolling over the $8,000 you received plus an additional $2,000 to make up for the $2,000 that was withheld. In this case, taxes are deferred on the full $10,000 distribution and you may get a refund of the $2,000 withheld when you file your federal income taxes for the year in which the distribution was made.

PAYMENTS ELIGIBLE TO BE ROLLED OVER

Certain payments from the plan are considered "eligible rollover distributions." This means that you can defer paying taxes on these payments by rolling them into an IRA, another employer's retirement plan or another eligible retirement vehicle that accepts rollover contributions. Generally, you can roll over the taxable portion of any payment you receive from the plan. You may also roll over after-tax contributions to an IRA (or through a direct rollover described in the next section).

You may not roll over required minimum payments from the plan. In general, you must receive a distribution of your account after you reach age 72, unless you continue working for the company. This required minimum payment cannot be rolled over.

For more information about eligible rollover distributions, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

Payments Made as Direct Rollovers

You may choose to directly roll over all or any eligible portion of your payment from the plan. In this case, the distribution is paid from the plan to an IRA or another employer's retirement plan that accepts rollovers. If the direct rollover is to an IRA or certain defined contribution plans, you may also roll over after-tax contributions, Roth 401(k) contributions and any associated earnings. If you choose a direct rollover, any applicable taxes are not withheld or applied to the applicable rollover distribution. Any applicable taxes are only applied once you receive a distribution from the plan into which your money is rolled over.

If you wish to have your distribution made as a direct rollover, call the Savings and Investment Service Line to initiate the rollover. You will need to give the Customer Service Representative the exact name of the IRA or plan into which the payment is being rolled over. The check will be made payable to the receiving plan or IRA and sent to you for deposit to the new plan or IRA.

Direct Rollover to an IRA. If you wish to have your eligible rollover distribution paid to an IRA, you must open an IRA to receive the rollover. To do so, contact an IRA sponsor, usually a financial institution. If you are uncertain as to how to invest your money, you may temporarily establish an IRA to receive payment while you make your decision. In this case, you should consider whether or not the temporary IRA will allow you to move all or a part of your payment to another IRA or qualified account without penalties or limitations.

Direct Rollover to Another Employer's Plan. If you wish to direct your rollover to your new employer's eligible retirement plan, you must first determine whether or not that plan will accept a rollover contribution and what, if any, restrictions or eligibility requirements apply. It's important to note that employer plans are not legally required to accept rollover contributions. If your new employer's plan does not accept rollover contributions, you may want to consider rolling your money into an IRA, as described earlier.

Payments Made to Surviving Spouses, Alternate Payees or Other Beneficiaries

Beneficiaries, surviving spouses or alternate payees (i.e., an individual whose interest in the plan results from a QDRO) can take a distribution from the plan at any time. Payments made to a surviving spouse, alternate payee or other beneficiary are not subject to the 10% penalty, even if the individual is younger than age 59½ when payment is received.

To request a distribution or a rollover, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

For information on rolling over your Roth 401(k) account, contact your tax advisor.

If a portion of your RAYSIP account is invested in the Raytheon Technologies Stock Fund, you may receive the stock "in kind" (i.e., in shares instead of cash) and roll over the shares to an IRA. You may benefit by consulting your financial advisor for information regarding special tax treatment of your stock fund's net unrealized appreciation (NUA). For information about the tax basis of your stock account, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

However, if a beneficiary, surviving spouse or alternate payee does not elect to take a distribution immediately (and for an alternate payee, if the QDRO does not specify otherwise), the plan will automatically make distributions to the beneficiary, surviving spouse or alternate payee in a lump sum in the following April or October, whichever comes first.

Notification will be sent to the beneficiary, surviving spouse or alternate payee before a distribution is made.

Payment to a Surviving Spouse or an Alternate Payee. Surviving spouses and alternate payees may elect to receive payment directly or roll payment over to an IRA, an employer’s retirement plan or another eligible retirement vehicle. If payment is made directly to the surviving spouse or alternate payee, the payee may further elect to keep the payment or roll it over.

Payment to Another Beneficiary. A beneficiary other than a surviving spouse or alternate payee may elect to receive payment directly or roll payment over to an IRA.

As Your Needs Change

If You Take a Leave of Absence

If you take a leave of absence, call the Savings and Investment Service Line for information about how your participation and loan payments, if applicable, may be affected.

Military Leave

If you are on a leave of absence for military service, you remain a RAYSIP participant. For your RAYSIP contributions, you may choose:

- To deduct your RAYSIP contributions from the differential pay you receive from the company during your military service; or
- When you are eligible for re-employment under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act of 1994 (USERRA) and return to employment, to make elective deferrals or after-tax contributions on a corrective basis to replace the deferrals or contributions that could have been made if you had not been on military leave.

Any replacement contributions must be made on or after your date of re-employment and before the end of the period that is three times the period of the military service you are returning from, to a maximum of five years.

A Word about Withdrawals. While you are on a leave of absence for military service, you are permitted to take withdrawals of pre-tax and pre-tax catch-up contributions. This is in addition to your after-tax contributions and any rollover contributions, which are available for withdrawal at any time for any reason (see Withdrawals During Employment earlier in this section for more details).

If this applies to you, call the Savings and Investment Line.

If You Transfer

If you transfer to another business unit:

- That has adopted the plan, you will continue as an active participant.
- Not covered by this plan, your funds will remain in the plan and you will not be able to make future contributions to your account.
- That has adopted the plan from one that has not adopted the plan, you are immediately eligible to begin participating in the plan.

Note: If your company email address is on file at Fidelity and you leave the company, your email address will be deleted. If you wish to continue to receive Fidelity notices via your personal email address, you will need to update your profile (from NetBenefits, click on Profile in the upper right hand portion of the home screen and update your email address in the “Contact Information From You” area). If Fidelity does not have an email address on file, all correspondence will be delivered by regular mail.

If You Are Laid Off

You may not make RAYSIP contributions if you are laid off. You may, however, continue to participate in RAYSIP in accordance with its terms:

- You may leave your money in the plan if the value of your RAYSIP account is more than $1,000.
- You may request an immediate distribution of all your vested RAYSIP funds.
- If you have a loan, you may make arrangements to continue to repay your loan either through NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line. You also have the option of temporarily suspending your loan payments for up to 12 months or the length of your layoff period, whichever is less. For details about loan repayment options and guidelines, see Borrowing Against Your Account earlier in this section.

In addition, during the first 12 months following your layoff date:

- You may take a full layoff withdrawal of all your vested accounts; and
- If eligible, you may be able to take out a loan from your RAYSIP account.

You will receive information from Fidelity regarding loan repayments and distribution options for your RAYSIP account balances. To apply for a hardship withdrawal or loan, or if you have any questions, call the Savings and Investment Service Line.

If You Terminate Employment

If you terminate employment, you'll need to review your RAYSIP account. Specifically, if your RAYSIP account balance is:

- More than $1,000, you may leave your account in the plan or request a distribution. If you elect to take a distribution, you may:

- Take a lump-sum or a partial distribution with the following options:
 - Recurring, automatic installment payments (as frequently as monthly),
 - Ad hoc, partial distributions withdrawn by selected source, e.g., employee pre-tax or Roth, or by fund, e.g., Janus Henderson Balanced Collective Fund Fee Class I, or withdrawn on a pro-rata basis across all sources and funds, or
- Roll over your distribution to an IRA, Roth IRA, or another employer's plan.

Note that if you have a RAYSIP account balance when you reach age 72, your account will be subject to a Minimum Required Distribution (MRD), which is an annual minimum amount that the IRS requires you to withdraw from your account starting with the year you reach age 72, or, if later, the year you retire. While you must take your first MRD for the year in which you turn age 72, you can elect to delay this first payment until April 1 of the following year. For all years following the year you turn 72, you must take the MRD by December 31 of each year. When applicable, Fidelity will calculate your MRD amounts.

Note that the MRD rule for Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) requires that distributions begin in the year you turn 72 regardless of your employment status. In addition, note that if you reached age 70½ prior to January 1, 2020, you were/are required to take an MRD starting with the year you reached age 70½.

- $1,000 or less, you must take a distribution or roll over your account. You cannot leave it in the plan. If applicable, you will receive correspondence from Fidelity relative to this requirement.

Please note that you may take distributions of your company stock in cash, or, in the case of lump-sum or ad hoc distributions, in shares. Finally, you may change any of your prior installment "elections" at any time.

If you have one or more outstanding RAYSIP loans, Fidelity will send you instructions on how to continue repaying your loan(s) through ACH. Note that if no payments are made within 90 days of your retirement date, the loan will be defaulted. In this case, the outstanding balance will be treated as a taxable distribution from the plan and may be subject to applicable income taxes and penalties.

If You Die

If you die, the value of your account is payable to your designated beneficiary(ies). If you have not named a beneficiary or your designated beneficiary does not survive you, payment will be made in the following order of priority:

- Your spouse. Note that the plan recognizes a common law marriage if the marriage was established at a time when the state in which it was established permitted common law marriages;
- Your children;
- Your parents;
- Your brothers and sisters; or
- The executor/administrator of your estate.

If no beneficiary can be located, the value of your account may be forfeited.

Other Important Information

Fees

WAYSIP charges the following types of fees:

- General administrative fees incurred for expenses such as recordkeeping, trustee, communication materials, education, retirement planning, audit, legal, consulting and other administrative expenses;
- Investment management fees associated with management and operating expenses of investment options; and
- Loan origination fees for those who take out a loan.

General administrative fees are deducted from each plan participant's account on a quarterly basis. All administrative fees for the quarter are divided equally among all plan participants. Your quarterly account statement will show the administrative fees charged to your account for the preceding quarter.

Investment management fees are deducted from each investment fund and are reflected in the fund's net asset value. For details on the management fees for a specific fund, refer to the fund's prospectus/investment facts, available on NetBenefits or by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

In addition, if you choose to participate in Professional Management, your WAYSIP account is charged 0.28% for the first $100,000 in your WAYSIP account balance (discounts apply for higher account balances). Fees are deducted directly from your account on a quarterly basis. There are no commissions or transaction fees for the program, and you can end your participation at any time. For more information about Professional Management, see Professional Help Available through Edelman Financial Engines earlier in this section.

IRC Limits on Contributions

Under the IRC, the total amount that you can contribute to pre-tax and Roth 401(k) accounts combined during any calendar year is limited. For 2021, the maximum amount is $19,500. This amount is adjusted periodically. This limit applies to all pre-tax and Roth 401(k) savings plans in which you participate in one calendar year, even if the plans are with different employers. If you find you have exceeded this limit after the end of a year, contact Fidelity by March 15 of the following year and request a refund of excess contributions. You will need to provide a copy of all W-2 forms to Fidelity to document excess contributions due to you.

Note that WAYSIP is subject to various nondiscrimination limitations imposed under the IRC. These limitations may affect the amount you may contribute to your account. You will be notified if these restrictions affect you.

To view a breakdown of fees, see the WAYSIP Plan Administrative Costs notice that is posted quarterly on the NetBenefits homepage or from Quick Links under Plan Information and Documents. The notice is also available by calling the Savings and Investment Service Line.

To help you determine your maximum WAYSIP contribution, the GPS HR Support Center offers the 401(k) Estimator tool. To access the tool, go to <https://myinfo.ray.com>. From MyInfo, click on the 401(k) icon.

Plan Security

Your account is held in trust for your exclusive benefit and is at all times invested according to your instructions, except for certain investment restrictions. However, unlike a pension plan, your account is not insured by the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (PBGC). The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), a federal law, specifically excludes individual account plans, such as WAYSIP, from PBGC coverage.

Your Rights

This section describes WAYSIP in general terms. If any conflict arises between this description and the plan document, or if any point is not covered, the terms of the plan document will govern in all cases. If you have any questions about WAYSIP, your participation in it or this section of your handbook, call the Savings and Investment Service Line at 800-354-3966 (TDD# 800-847-0348). Outside the United States, call Fidelity collect by dialing the International Access Code (IAC) and then 877-833-9900. IACs can be found at www.att.com/traveler.

Time Away from Work

Vacation Time and Holidays

The company provides a variety of time-away-from-work benefits, including vacation time and holidays. For information about the policies in effect at your location, contact your Human Resources office.

Sick Leave

You earn sick leave as required by law if you work in a state or municipality that mandates paid sick leave or if your contract is covered by Executive Order 13706. Accrual rates, usage, carryover limits and allowable reasons vary by statute.

When using sick leave, note the following:

- You may use your accrued sick leave as soon as it is earned—there is no waiting period.
- Generally, you may use accrued sick leave to care for your own or a covered family member's medical needs, purposes related to domestic violence and public health emergencies.
- While you must coordinate all requests to use accrued sick leave with your supervisor, you are not required to provide medical documentation.
- Unused sick leave hours are not paid out at termination. Under certain circumstances that vary by statute, hours may be reinstated upon rehire.

If you have questions about sick leave, call Payroll at 877-291-9990.

Paid Parental Leave

Employees who are parents know that adding to your family can be one of life's most joyous—and overwhelming—events. To help you through this life-changing time, the company offers paid parental leave.

Eligible employees may take up to three weeks of paid parental leave for the:

- Birth of a child, or
- Adoption of a child once the court adoption placement agreement is complete and the child resides with the employee.

For purposes of this benefit, a parent is the child's biological, adoptive or legal mother or father. Note that a legal father is a biological or non-biological father. A non-biological mother is a same-sex spouse or partner of a birth mother. In all cases, you will need to provide proof of your relationship to the child.

To be eligible, you must be on the active payroll and be regularly scheduled to work 20 or more hours per week. Certain groups are excluded; see the legacy Raytheon Parental Leave policy for details.

Your parenting status determines how and when you can take parental leave. For details, see the applicable version of A Guide for Expectant Parents, available on Desktop Benefits, or refer to the legacy Raytheon Parental Leave policy.

While you are out on parental leave, you are in an active employment status, meaning your pay and benefits continue uninterrupted. As such, parental leave is considered creditable hours toward overtime, and vacation time continues to accrue according to the vacation policy.

Note that parental leave is separate from—and in addition to—any benefits you may be eligible to receive from a state-sponsored family leave program, such as is available in California, New York and Washington state. To request and complete the requirements for additional benefits granted by your state, if applicable, contact your state's Department of Labor.

If your legacy Raytheon work location is based in Massachusetts, you may also be eligible for the Massachusetts Paid Family and Medical Leave (MA PFML) program. For a description of MA PFML, see the inset box later in this section.

Bereavement Leave

You are eligible for up to three days of bereavement leave for the death of an immediate family member. The following are considered immediate family members: Your spouse, your child, your parent, your sibling, your grandchild, your grandparent, your son- or daughter-in-law, your sibling's spouse, your spouse's parent or step-parent, your spouse's sibling and your spouse's grandparent. For specific definitions, refer to the legacy Raytheon Bereavement Leave policy.

If you are on an international assignment, your bereavement leave will be administered in accordance with the applicable international policy.

You may use your vacation time for any additional time off or to take time off due to the death of a person who is not a member of your immediate family.

Family and Medical Leave

Under the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA), eligible employees can take up to 12 weeks (or more if required by state law or otherwise noted) of unpaid leave for certain family or medical reasons, including:

- The birth of a child;
- The placement of a child with you for adoption or foster care;
- The treatment of a serious health condition for yourself, your child, your spouse or your parent;
- The care of your child, your spouse, your parent or other next of kin who is a service member with a serious illness or injury incurred during active duty in the armed forces (note that FMLA leave for this reason is available for up to a maximum of 26 weeks, is available only once during any 12-month period and is combined with all other FMLA leave available in that period); or
- Any qualifying exigency that arises from your child's, spouse's or parent's active duty in the armed forces, including an order or call to duty. (For more information, contact your Human Resources representative.)

A serious health condition is any injury, illness or impairment that requires:

- Inpatient care in a hospital, hospice or residential medical facility; or
- Continuing care by a physician that consists of two or more visits or continuing treatments.

To be eligible for FMLA leave, you must have been a Raytheon Technologies employee for at least 12 months and have worked 1,250 hours or more in the past year.

If you are on a family and medical leave and make arrangements to continue to pay for your benefits, you are entitled to continue medical, vision, dental and life insurance coverage during your leave. If any of these coverages lapse while you are on a leave, you will be able to reinstate your coverage upon your return to work without being subject to pre-existing condition exclusions or providing proof of good health. For more information on continuing benefits while on a family and medical leave, refer to the Administrative section.

FMLA is a U.S. federal law that applies only to employees who are based in the United States or in a U.S. territory.

Beginning January 1, 2021, eligible employees may be entitled to:

- Up to 12 weeks of paid family leave in a benefit year (defined later in this inset box) for the birth, adoption or foster care placement of a child, or because of a qualifying exigency

- Up to 12 weeks of paid family leave in a benefit year to care for a family member with a serious health condition.

Eligible employees may be eligible for up to 26 total weeks, in the aggregate, of MA PFML in a benefit year. A benefit year is a rolling calendar of 52 weeks, which is calculated on weeks beginning on Sundays (the prior Sunday if your leave starts mid-week).

The weekly benefit amount is based on your earnings, with a maximum benefit of $850 per week. While you are out on MA PFML, your benefits continue uninterrupted.

Note that eligible leaves through this program run concurrently with other leaves of absence you may be eligible for, such as a medical leave of absence (including if you are collecting benefits from a company-sponsored short-term disability (STD) or long-term disability (LTD) plan), the company's paid parental leave program and leaves available through the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA), as applicable.

Are you an expectant parent? If you are expecting to add to your family by birth or adoption, whether you are the birth mother, legal father, non-biological mother or adoptive parent, you may be eligible for MA PMFL benefits in addition to the company's paid parental leave program. For details, see the document A Guide for Expectant Parents for legacy Raytheon employees with a Massachusetts-based work location, available on Desktop Benefits under the At Your Fingertips section.

Private Plan Exemption

To satisfy Family and Medical Leave law obligations, employers have the option of applying to the Massachusetts Department of Family and Medical Leave for approval through a private plan. The company was approved for a private plan exemption for both family and medical leave.

The company's state-approved, private plan confers all of the same rights, protections and benefits provided to employees under the Family and Medical Leave law. This includes right to job-protected leave and protection from discrimination and retaliation. For more information, go to www.mass.gov/DFML.

The company's private plan is self-insured. No contributions are required of employees to take advantage of the benefits provided under this program.

FOR EMPLOYEES WHO WORK IN NEW YORK

If you work in the State of New York, you are eligible for New York Paid Family Leave (NYPFL). NYPFL provides partially paid job-protected leave for you (the employee) to:

- Bond with your newborn, newly adopted or newly placed foster child (within one year of birth, adoption or placement),
- Care for a covered family member with a serious health condition, and
- Address specific qualifying events if a covered family member is called to active military duty.

For information about eligibility, the amount and length of the NYPFL benefit, employee funding of the NYPFL benefit and the process to take a leave, call MetLife at 888-48CLAIM (888-482-5246). Note that NYPFL runs concurrently with FMLA as applicable. In addition, if you are eligible for the paid parental leave benefit, the NYPFL will run concurrently with parental leave. You cannot take NYPFL at the same time as New York statutory disability benefits.

FOR EMPLOYEES WHO WORK IN WASHINGTON STATE

With Washington state's Paid Family & Medical Leave Program, employees who work in the state of Washington have access to up to 12 weeks of partially paid leave (up to 18 weeks under limited special circumstances) to:

- Care for yourself or a loved one in the event of serious illness or injury,
- Bond with a new child who joins your home through birth, adoption or foster placement, and
- Address certain military-connected events if you have a family member in active duty service.

About Payroll Deductions

Both you and the company make contributions to this program, with you contributing 63% of 0.4% (0.004) of your gross wages each pay period through payroll deduction, and the company contributing 37% of 0.4% (0.004).

For example, if your gross wages are $50,000 per year and you work a full year, you and the company will contribute a combined total of $200 to the program for the year ($$50,000 \times .004 = \200). You will contribute $126 (63% of $200) and the company will contribute $74 (37% of $200). Contributions are divided by the number of pay periods in a year that apply to you. Note that the combined total of 0.4% of your gross wages is subject to change in future years.

You are eligible to apply for leave when you experience a qualifying event as long as you have worked at least 820 hours (an average of about 16 hours a week) in the 12-month period leading up to the date your leave begins.

Claims will be filed with the Washington Employment Security Department (ESD), and benefit payments will come from ESD.

Note that any Paid Family & Medical Leave will run concurrently with FMLA as applicable. In addition, if you are eligible for the paid parental leave benefit, any Paid Family & Medical Leave will run concurrently with parental leave.

Questions about this benefit? Go to www.paidleave.wa.gov or send an email to paidleave@esd.wa.gov.

Jury Duty

The company will release employees from work in order to serve on a jury. You should inform your supervisor as soon as possible if you are called for jury duty. For a description of the jury duty policy, see Policies and Procedures on oneRTN at <http://home.ray.com>.

Annual Military Reserve Duty

The company will pay you the difference between your regular company pay, including shift and supervisory differentials, and your reserve unit pay for up to 120 hours each calendar year. Information about your rights under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act of 1994 (USERRA) can be found in the Administrative section. For more information on the military reserve duty policy, see Policies and Procedures on oneRTN at <http://home.ray.com>.

The Rstars Recognition Program—Honoring You!

The Rstars recognition program offers a variety of ways for leaders and employees to show their thanks and appreciation for one another's values-driven contributions and performance. The Rstars online recognition center supports Spot, eThanks, Service and Achievement Award programs, and provides a single platform through which employees may give and receive recognition (both monetary and non-monetary rewards).

Spot awards recognize notable performance and are issued as points that can be redeemed for merchandise or gift cards from a catalog of thousands of items. An eThanks is a real-time, non-monetary display of appreciation to thank colleagues who go above and beyond.

Service awards honor your dedication and years of service with the company. Starting on your fifth anniversary and continuing every five years, you will receive a framed certificate, a new badge clip and your choice of merchandise. You will be notified when you reach your service anniversary date with instructions on how to select and redeem your service award gift.

Achievement Awards are cash awards that recognize exceptional performance. They are issued and approved through Rstars, and delivered in your paycheck. Eligibility for Achievement Awards and all programs is governed by policy.

Questions on Rstars? Contact the Rstars Program Headquarters at 888-565-7635 or email rstars@itagroup.com. Representatives are available to answer calls Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eastern Time (ET), excluding holidays. Bright Horizons Back-Up Care™ Program

The Bright Horizons Back-Up Care™ program makes it easier to balance the competing demands of work and life by providing temporary child and adult back-up care when you need to work and your regular care is not available. Bright Horizons, a national leader in dependent care, administers the program.

With the Bright Horizons Back-Up Care program, you have access to back-up child care services for infants, preschoolers and school-age children through age 12 in the following ways:

- Center-based back-up child care;
- In-home child care; and
- In-home child care for mildly ill children (such as those with a fever, diarrhea or a rash).

In addition, the program provides back-up elder/adult care, including medical care (such as the administration of medication, or blood pressure or diabetes monitoring) and non-medical care (such as meal preparation, bathing, grooming and companion services).

COVID-19 Update

Bright Horizons' highest priority is the health and well-being of its staff and the families they serve. In the interest of limiting the opportunity for transmission of COVID-19, Bright Horizons is taking a number of precautionary measures. For details, go to www.brighthouse.com.

You can use these services up to 30 times per dependent each year for planned needs and last-minute emergencies, such as:

- School vacations;
- To cover for a regular caregiver who needs time off, is ill or is on vacation;
- During a transition back to work after maternity leave;
- To temporarily accommodate a flexible work schedule;
- When a full-time center is closed;
- To give the regular caregiver or stay-at-home spouse a day off; or
- To assist during employee relocation.

In order to use the program, you must register your dependent(s) ahead of time. To register:

- Call 877-BH-CARES (877-242-2737); or
- Go to <http://backup.brighthorizons.com>; and click on "SIGN UP." When completing the online form, enter "Raytheon" as the employer username and "Benefits4You" as the employer password.

You can register at any time and are encouraged to make reservations up to one month before you will need care. You can always cancel your reservation, without charge, up to 24 hours before care is scheduled to begin. Of course, if you need emergency care, you can call at any time to check availability.

About the Caregivers

The Bright Horizons Back-Up Care program is offered through Bright Horizons Family Solutions. All network child-care centers are accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), or meet or exceed state licensing requirements. In addition, in-home care is provided by agencies that abide by state-issued regulatory requirements.

In accordance with state licensing requirements, all participating agencies perform extensive screening processes for employees; perform criminal background checks and health exams; provide proof of credentials; and thoroughly verify employment references. Caregivers are trained in stress management, working with older adults and handling behavioral issues with children.

Mildly ill child care is likely provided by a certified nurse assistant, or by a home health aide who specializes in pediatric care and is under the supervision of a registered nurse. These caretakers are state-certified, which requires specific education, supervised experience and training.

Program Costs

Copayments

In addition to the convenience of offering this benefit, the company subsidizes the cost of care you use. The amount you pay depends on the service you use:

- Center-based care: $15 per child per day, with a maximum of $25 per family per day.
- In-home care: $4 per hour (with a four-hour minimum).

You may incur additional charges for evening/weekend care, if available, and for medical care.

Imputed Income

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requires that the company-subsidized portion of the cost of services that you use be treated as taxable, imputed income. Since the company subsidizes the cost of the services you receive through the Bright Horizons Back-Up Care program, you will need to pay income tax on the fair market value of the services you receive. (Fair market value, or FMV, is the average cost of a service you would pay if you purchased these or similar services on your own.)

Did you know that you can tap into the largest on-line database of child, elder and pet caregivers as well as housekeeping and tutoring services? With Bright Horizons, you also get preferred enrollment access and discounts for regular center-based child care. For details and to take advantage of discounts, go to <https://clients.brighthorizons.com/raytheon> and click on "USE IT" for the Enhanced Family Supports program you are interested in. Questions? Call 877-BH-CARES (877-242-2737).

In search of parenting resources? With the World at Home program, Bright Horizons offers online activities and resources for kids of all ages. With on-demand parenting webinars and home activity kits, resources can help you create guided learning opportunities for your children. For details, go to <https://worldathome.brighthorizons.com>.

The month after you use the Bright Horizons Back-Up Care program, the FMV for that service will appear on your pay advice as imputed income and the appropriate taxes will be withheld, decreasing your net pay for that pay period.

For example, if you use the Bright Horizons Back-Up Care program for in-home care for an eight-hour day, you would pay approximately $28 in taxes (regardless of your tax bracket, taxes are calculated using a 22% federal tax rate).

If you use center-based care for an eight-hour day, the estimated taxes would be approximately $8, because the FMV of providing center-based services is less than in-home care.

These costs are in addition to any copayments that you pay at the time you use the services. Note that these are only examples.

Adoption Assistance Program

In addition to being a lengthy and emotional process, adopting a child can also be expensive. The Adoption Assistance Program is designed to help you meet some of the expenses related to adopting a child up to age 17.

Eligible employees can receive up to $6,000 in adoption assistance benefits when adopting an eligible child. This amount applies to each finalized adoption. Benefits are designed to help offset out-of-pocket costs, including legal expenses, travel, agency fees and certain medical expenses.

Some or all of the adoption assistance benefits may be taxable to you if your adjusted gross income (joint income, if married) for tax purposes is more than the IRS limit. You should consult your tax advisor to determine the extent to which, if any, adoption assistance benefits may be taxable to you.

To apply for adoption assistance benefits, complete an adoption assistance application form, which is available:

- Through Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>; or
- By calling the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231, Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. ET.

If you have any questions about adoption assistance benefits, call the RBC.

Transportation Benefit

The Transportation Benefit, currently offered in most U.S. states, provides savings on commuting expenses through pre-tax payroll deductions. Only Raytheon Technologies commuting expenses are eligible, including mass transit costs, vanpool expenses and parking. To find out if your state is eligible or for more information on the Transportation Benefit, call WageWorks® at 877-924-3967, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. ET, or go to www.wageworks.com.

This program helps you save on certain commuting expenses by deducting them from your paycheck on a pre-tax basis. WageWorks®, a national leader in transportation benefit administration, administers the Transportation Benefit.

Depending on your individual tax bracket, the Transportation Benefit can help you save up to 30% on the following commuting-related expenses:

- Parking located either at or near your workplace or at a location from which you commute to work, such as a vanpool pick-up site or a “park and ride” site; and
- Transit vouchers and fares for public or private mass transit, as well as vanpooling fares (as long as it meets standard vanpool criteria, such as the size of the vehicle).

You can elect to set aside up to $240 per month for parking-related expenses plus an additional $125 per month toward mass transit and/or vanpooling expenses on a pre-tax basis (maximum contributions are subject to change, based on federal legislation). Any transit passes or vouchers you buy are mailed to your home.

To enroll in this program, go to www.wageworks.com and click on “Commuter.”

You can enroll in the Transportation Benefit at any time during the year; however, a full month is required for processing your request. For example, to participate in the benefit beginning in January, you must enroll by December 1. You can sign up for, change or stop deductions at any time during the year, on a month-to-month basis. (Note: This differs from flexible spending accounts (FSAs), which require you to elect the amount you wish to set aside for the entire year.)

Only your Raytheon Technologies work-commuting expenses are eligible. You may not use your account to reimburse your spouse’s or other dependents’ commuting expenses. If you’re paying for parking where you work, are participating in a vanpool or use public transportation as part of your commute, you can save money through the Transportation Benefit. If you have any questions, call 877-924-3967, toll free.

Note: Because of IRS limits on this pre-tax benefit, you may not purchase additional passes/vouchers from the company if you decide to participate in this program.

If eligible, you may take up to three weeks of paid parental leave for the adoption of a child once the court adoption placement agreement is complete and the child resides with you. If your work location is based in Massachusetts, you may have additional options available to you. For details, see the appropriate A Guide for Expectant Parents, available on Desktop Benefits under At Your Fingertips, or refer to the legacy Raytheon Parental Leave policy.

Medical, Vision and Dental Coverage, Employee Assistance Program, Limited Purpose Dental and Vision Flexible Spending Accounts and Health Care Flexible Spending Accounts

Under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA), you and your covered family members may extend your medical, vision and dental coverage; Employee Assistance Program; and/or your participation in a limited purpose dental and vision flexible spending account (FSA) or a health care FSA (available only if you do not participate in an HSA Advantage plan) if coverage ends because of a “qualifying event” (described in this section). You and your covered family members may extend coverage for a certain period of time by paying the full group rate plus an administrative charge (usually 2%).

You and your covered family members each have an independent right to elect extended coverage. You or your covered family members do not have to prove good health in order to continue coverage under COBRA. If you decide to extend coverage, you will receive the same coverage as active employees and their covered family members. After you have elected extended coverage, you have the same rights as similarly situated active employees to add dependents and make other changes in your coverage.

If you are enrolled in an HSA Advantage plan and your employment is terminated (including by retirement) and you choose to continue coverage, you may continue to make contributions to your health savings account (HSA). If you become enrolled in Medicare Part A, Part B and/or Part D, while you can continue your participation in an HSA Advantage plan, you can no longer make contributions to your HSA and company contributions must stop.

COVID-19 Update

During the national emergency related to COVID-19, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act passed by Congress in 2020 allows for the extension of certain deadlines.

If you or a covered dependent is eligible to extend medical benefits through COBRA, you have until 120 days after the national emergency (or “outbreak period”) ends to enroll in COBRA continuation coverage. If your COBRA enrollment deadline has already passed, call the RBC to enroll.

This section provides an overview of COBRA continuation coverage. For questions related to your specific situation, call the RBC.

When you elect continued coverage under COBRA, you have the same rights as an active employee to change your coverage options during the annual benefits open enrollment period or if you experience a qualified change in status.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU ELECT COBRA COVERAGE

In all cases, assuming COBRA coverage begins within the same plan year, only claims for the person(s) electing COBRA coverage will transfer from an active plan to COBRA.

For example, if you have family coverage and one of your children elects COBRA medical coverage in July because he/she has aged out of your active plan, only his/her claims incurred while on your active plan—and not those of other family members—will transfer to his/her COBRA coverage (deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s)). In addition, since his/her claims are removed from your active plan, the deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s) for the family members remaining on the active plan are adjusted accordingly.

Note that if COBRA coverage crosses over into the next plan year, all deductible(s), out-of-pocket maximum(s), benefit maximums or plan allowances reset accordingly.

If You or a Covered Dependent Elects COBRA Coverage for This Plan ...

... Keep in Mind the Following ...

Medical

Assuming COBRA begins within the same plan year, any claims the person electing COBRA has incurred that apply toward the plan’s deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s) while he/she was covered by the active plan will transfer and be applied to his/her COBRA coverage. To ensure an accurate accounting, contact the plan carrier.

If You Take a Personal Leave

- If you elect COBRA and return to work within the same calendar year, the cumulative totals will transfer back to your active plan.
- You have two options when you return to work: Enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave (both the same plan and covering the same dependent(s)) or drop coverage completely.
- If you did not elect COBRA coverage while on leave and you enroll in the same coverage you had before going out on leave, your plan’s deductible(s) and out-of-pocket maximum(s) start over when you return to work.

Dental, Vision	Assuming COBRA begins within the same plan year, any amounts the person electing COBRA has incurred that apply toward a plan's deductible, benefit maximum or plan allowance (as applicable) while he/she was covered by the active plan will transfer and be applied to his/her COBRA coverage. If you return in the same calendar year and enroll in the same coverage, any previously accrued deductible, benefit maximum or plan allowance (as applicable) continues to apply.
EAP	LifeResources offers up to eight EAP counseling sessions per problem per year, at no cost to you. Qualifying Events

The time period for which you may extend coverage is determined by the reason your coverage ends (called the “qualifying event”) and by whether the coverage is for you or for your covered family members. It is important to note that only employees and family members who actually are covered under a company-sponsored medical plan, vision plan, dental plan or Employee Assistance Program; or who are participating in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA or a health care FSA on the date of the qualifying event are eligible to elect extended coverage. Only the coverage in effect on the date of the qualifying event can be extended. For example, if you are not enrolled in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA on the date of the qualifying event, you are not eligible for extended limited purpose dental and vision FSA coverage.

You have a qualifying event if:

- Your employment is terminated (for any reason other than gross misconduct); or
- Your becoming ineligible for coverage is due to reduced work hours.

If one of these qualifying events occurs, you and each of your covered family members may extend coverage for 18 months. The company will notify you of your right to elect extended coverage under COBRA. Your cost for continuing coverage during this period will be no more than 102% of the group cost.

The following are considered qualifying events for your covered family member(s):

- Your enrollment for Medicare benefits (under Part A, Part B, Part D or all three);
- Your spouse, if he or she becomes divorced or legally separated from you, the employee;
- Your dependent no longer meets the plan’s definition of a dependent (for example, if a dependent child reaches the maximum age limit for coverage); or
- Your death.

In the case of one of these qualifying events, your covered family members may continue coverage for 36 months, provided they remain eligible for coverage under the plan during that time.

If one of these events occurs during the 18 months that you have continued coverage, each of your covered family members (but not you) will be entitled to extend coverage for a total of 36 months.

If You Become Disabled While Covered under COBRA

If you are, or your dependent is, totally disabled at any time during the first 60 days of COBRA coverage, coverage for you and your covered dependents may continue beyond the initial 18 months (as long as you or your dependent remains disabled), up to an additional 11 months, for a total of 29 months.

To be eligible for 29 months of continued coverage, Social Security must determine that you or your dependent qualifies for disability benefits under the Social Security Administration’s definition of disability. This determination must be made within the initial 18-month eligibility period. The cost for the additional 11 months of coverage will be 150% of the group cost.

Notification Period

If there is a dependent qualifying event (such as divorce, legal separation or loss of dependent status), you or your eligible family members must notify the Raytheon Benefit Center (RBC) at 800-358-1231 within the later of 60 days of the event or 60 days of the date coverage would otherwise end. You then will receive a COBRA Continuation Coverage Election Notice and full details about continuing your coverage. If you do not notify the RBC within this 60-day time period, your eligible family members will not be allowed to elect COBRA coverage.

If you participate in a limited purpose dental and vision FSA or a health care FSA and experience a qualifying event (as described here), your FSA can only be continued under COBRA for the duration of the plan year in which the qualifying event occurs. In other words, any COBRA-elected FSA will expire at the end of the plan year during which you experienced a qualifying event.

Election Period

Once a qualifying event occurs and you or one of your covered family members has been notified of your right to continue coverage, you or your dependent will have 60 days in which to elect coverage. This 60-day period begins on the later of the date you were notified of the continuation option or the date coverage would otherwise end.

When COBRA Coverage Ends

COBRA continued coverage will end for you and each of your covered family members when the earliest of the following occurs:

- You or your covered family members fail to pay any required premium.
- You or your covered family members become entitled to Medicare benefits (under Part A, Part B, Part D or all three).
- You or your covered family members become covered under another health plan.
- The plan is terminated for all employees.
- The maximum continuation period expires.

Alternatives to COBRA

Besides COBRA, note that other coverage continuation options may be available for you and your covered family member(s) through the Health Insurance Marketplace (also known as the Health Insurance Exchange), which is operated by the federal government or your state, or other group health plan coverage options (such as a spouse's plan) through what is called a "special enrollment period."

Applying for Benefits

The previous sections in this document summarize the procedures for claiming benefits under the plans. You should follow those procedures when you are required to file a claim for a benefit. Note that claim procedures may vary by plan carrier. For more information and the appropriate claim form, see the applicable plan document or contact the applicable plan carrier.

If you do not receive benefits to which you feel you are entitled, you may file a written appeal with the appropriate claims administrator, listed in the Plan Directory later in this section. The information that follows outlines the steps you can take if your claim is denied.

If Your Claim Is Denied

If your claim is denied in whole or in part, you will generally receive a written explanation within a specified number of days (varies by plan) following the receipt of your claim. The explanation will include, though may not be limited to, the specific reasons for the denial of your claim, the specific references in the plan documents that support the denial, a description of any material or information you must provide to perfect your claim, the reasons why that material or information is necessary and the procedure available for further review of your claim.

If more than the stated number of days are needed to review your claim, you will receive a written notice of the reason for the delay and the date by which you can expect to hear of a final decision. The claims administrator must request missing or incomplete information prior to the expiration of the time period in which the claims administrator is to rule on the claim.

The claims administrator for each company-sponsored benefit plan is also the claims fiduciary.

ABOUT THIS SECTION

The Applying for Benefits section provides information about appealing denied claims for the following plans:

- UnitedHealthcare (UHC),
- Prescription drug (CVS Caremark),
- Vision (VSP),
- Dental (Delta Dental),
- Life insurance (Prudential),
- Accidental death & dismemberment (AD&D) (AIG),
- Business travel accident (BTA) (AIG),
- Disability plans (MetLife,) and the
- Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP) (Fidelity).

The following flow charts outline the appeals process for each of the above. For more information about these steps, a description of the external review process (by Independent Review Organizations (IROs)) for the health plans and information that applies only to RAYSIP, see later in this section.

UnitedHealthcare (UHC), CVS Caremark and Delta Dental Benefit Determination Appeals Process

*For CVS, the first level appeal step is bypassed if urgent.
For Delta Dental, all references to days are business days.

Note: The IRO has no affiliation with or interest in the plan, the claims administrator or the company.

SPECIAL RULES FOR CLAIMS WITH UHC, CVS CAREMARK AND DELTA DENTAL

As shown in the flow chart above, claims related to UHC, CVS Caremark and Delta Dental are divided into three categories: urgent, pre-service and post-service.

The timeframe within which you must submit a written application to appeal a denied claim is 180 days after you receive the claim denial notice. If the claims administrator provides a second level of internal appeal, the timeframe within which you must request that second level of appeal is 60 days after you receive the notice of denial of the first-level appeal.

An urgent claim is where application of the time periods for non-urgent care determinations could either seriously jeopardize the life or health of the claimant or the ability of the claimant to regain maximum function or, in the opinion of a physician with knowledge of the claimant's medical condition, would subject the claimant to severe pain that could not be adequately managed without the care or treatment that is the subject of the claim.

A pre-service claim is a claim for a benefit under a group health plan where the terms of the plan require approval of the benefit in advance of obtaining care.

A post-service claim is any claim that is not categorized as a pre-service claim, including claims involving reimbursement of the cost of care that has already been provided.

Your Right to Appeal a Denied Claim

As outlined in the flow charts above and on the prior pages, you have a right to appeal a denied claim. You must submit a written application to the appropriate claims administrator within a specified number of days (varies by plan) after you receive the claim denial notice.

For the names and addresses of the claim administrators to contact for appeals, refer to the Plan Directory later in this section.

You have the right to submit written comments, documents, records and other information relating to your claim. You will be provided, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records and other information relevant to your claim.

The applicable administrator will conduct a full and fair review of your appeal and will generally notify you of the decision (or give notice if the decision is delayed) within a specified number of days (varies by plan). If more than the specified number of days are needed to review your appeal, you will receive a written notice of the reasons for the delay and the date by which you can expect to hear of a final decision. The decision will be in writing.

If the decision is adverse, it will contain the specific reason or reasons for the adverse determination; reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination is based; a statement that you are entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records and other information relevant to your claim; and a statement of your right to bring a civil action under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA).

Final Decision

Each claims administrator has the authority to make final decisions with respect to paying claims. The plan administrator is responsible for making final decisions with respect to all other issues that may arise under the plans. For some plans, the claims administrator and the plan administrator are the same.

In making a final decision, the applicable claims administrator and plan administrator have full discretionary power to interpret the meaning of plan provisions and determine all relevant questions arising under a plan, including, but not limited to, eligibility for benefits.

For more information, see Your Rights under ERISA later in this section.

Time Limit and Forum for Court Actions

Under the terms of the benefit plans, any civil action at law or in equity must be commenced within a specified number of days (varies by plan). In addition, if your benefits are provided under an insurance policy, that policy or the relevant insurance certificate may establish another limitations period for bringing a court action to challenge a benefit denial.

Additional Internal Review Provisions for Health Claims

These additional internal review provisions apply to health claims.

You have the right to review the file on your health plan claim. The claims administrator must provide you, free of charge, with any new or additional evidence considered by, relied on or generated by the claims administrator in connection with your claim as well as any new or additional rationale. This must be done as soon as possible and at a time that will give you a reasonable opportunity to respond before the final internal decision on your claim.

The claims administrator's notice of denial of your claim will contain information sufficient to identify the claim involved, including the date of service, the claim amount (if applicable) as well as a statement describing the availability, upon request, of the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning.

Requests for these codes do not constitute a request for an internal appeal or the external review described later in this section.

If the claims administrator fails to comply with the required internal claims review procedure, you will be deemed to have exhausted the internal claims and appeals process, and you may initiate the external review process described later or pursue any available remedies under Section 502(a) of ERISA. The exception is if the failures are de minimis and do not cause, and are not likely to cause, prejudice or harm to you. If the claims administrator determines that the failures fall within this exception, you may request a written explanation of the failure, and the claims administrator must provide the written explanation within 10 days. If the external review described later or a court rejects your request for immediate review on the basis that the claims administrator's procedural failures were de minimis, the claims administrator must notify you (within 10 days after such rejection) of your right to resubmit and pursue internal appeal of your claim. The time for resubmitting your claim will begin to run from the time you receive the notice of your right to resubmit it. A decision to rescind your health plan coverage is subject to the same internal review procedures as the denial of a claim.

External Review (by an Independent Review Organization (IRO))

Medical, Prescription Drug, Vision and Dental Claims

These additional external review provisions apply to the health claims described in this section. If the claim arises under an insured health program, an external review may be conducted in accordance with the external review procedures applicable to the insurance company that provides the plan.

The External Review Program offers an independent process for a review of the denial of a requested administrative or clinical service or procedure, or of the denial of payment for an administrative or clinical service or procedure.

A Note for Residents of California or Hawaii

Most disputes under health plans available in California and Hawaii and listed as fully insured in the Plan Directory must be resolved through arbitration rather than in court. You may contact the insurance carrier for more information about mandatory arbitration.

The external review will be performed through an Independent Review Organization (IRO) by an independent physician who is qualified to decide whether the requested service or procedure is a covered service under the plan. Neither the IRO nor the reviewing physician can have any material affiliation with or interest in the plan, the claims administrator or the company.

The particular IRO used for the review will be assigned by the claims administrator on a rotating basis from a list of accredited IROs that the plan has contracted to perform external reviews. Neither you nor the claims administrator will have an opportunity to meet with the reviewer or otherwise participate in the reviewer's decision. The IRO acts as a claims fiduciary of the plan with respect to the external reviews that are delegated to the IRO and that are binding on the plan.

The program is available:

- After you exhaust the other appeal procedures described earlier in the Applying for Benefits section and you receive a decision that is unfavorable; or
- If, after exhausting or being deemed to have exhausted your internal appeals on a health claim (for an administrative or clinical service or procedure), you are not satisfied with the final determination.

Even if you have not exhausted the internal appeal process, you may request expedited external review of a denied claim if you have requested expedited internal appeal and the claim involves a medical condition for which the timeframe for completion of an expedited internal appeal would seriously jeopardize life or health or would jeopardize the ability to regain maximum function. You may also request expedited external review of a denied internal appeal if the appeal denial concerns an admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which you received emergency services but you have not yet been discharged from the facility.

If the conditions for requesting external review are satisfied, you or an authorized representative may request an external review of the adverse benefit determination by contacting the toll-free customer service number on your plan ID card or by sending a written request to the address on your plan ID card. All requests for external review must be made within 120 days of the date you receive the adverse benefit determination. There is no charge to you for this external review.

Within five business days after receipt of your request for external review, the claims administrator will complete a preliminary review of your request to determine whether:

- You are or were covered under the plan at the time the health care item or service was requested or was provided;
- The adverse benefit determination or the final adverse benefit determination does not relate to your failure to meet the plan's eligibility requirements;
- You have exhausted the internal appeal process, unless you are not required to exhaust it for reasons described earlier; and
- You have provided all the information and forms required to process an external review.

Within one business day after completion of the preliminary review, the claims administrator will issue a written notice to you. If the request is complete but not eligible for external review, the notice will include the reasons for its ineligibility and contact information for the Employee Benefits Security Administration. If the request is not complete, the notice will describe the information or materials needed to make the request complete, and you may provide the needed materials by the end of the four-month filing period or the 48-hour period after receipt of the notice, whichever is later.

If there is any information or evidence that you or your physician wishes to submit in support of the request that was not previously provided, you may include this information with the request for an external review. Within five business days after assigning the request to an IRO, the claims administrator will forward your request for independent review to the IRO, together with:

- All documents and information relied upon by the claims administrator in making a decision on the case; and
- All other information or evidence that you or your physician has already submitted to the claims administrator.

The IRO will send you a notice that you may submit additional information in writing within 10 business days after receipt of this notice. The IRO will consider the additional information and forward it to the claims administrator.

The IRO will review the internal claim denial for which external review has been requested, without being bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the claims administrator's internal review. The IRO will consider the documents and information that were provided in a timely manner as well as other information that the IRO considers relevant. The IRO will issue you and the claims administrator a written notice of its decision within 45 days after receiving the request for external review. If the reviewer needs additional information to make a decision, the prescribed time may be extended.

If you request expedited external review:

- The claims administrator's preliminary review to determine whether the request meets the requirements for standard external review must be performed expeditiously; and
- If the request meets the requirements, the claims administrator must notify you of such and send the relevant materials to the assigned IRO expeditiously.

The IRO will issue a notice of its external review decision as expeditiously as your medical condition or circumstances require but no later than 72 hours after receiving the request for expedited external review. If the notice is not in writing, the IRO will issue a written confirmation within 48 hours after notifying you of its decision.

The reviewer's decision will include the clinical basis (if appropriate) for the determination. The IRO will provide you and the claims administrator with the decision, a description of the qualifications of the reviewer as well as any other information deemed appropriate by the IRO or required by applicable law.

If the final external review decision is to approve your claim, the plan will provide benefits for the claimed service or procedure pursuant to the final external review decision and in accordance with the terms and conditions of the plan, regardless of whether the plan intends to seek judicial review of the decision and unless or until there is a judicial decision otherwise. If the final external review decision is to deny your claim, the plan will not be obligated to provide benefits for the service or procedure, but you may still have the right to bring a civil action under section 502(a) of ERISA.

For more information about your external appeal rights and the independent review process, contact the claims administrator at the toll-free customer service number on your plan ID card.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT RAYSIP

Except as otherwise outlined here, the plan administrator will make all determinations as to the right of any person to accounts under the plan. Any such determination will be made pursuant to the following procedures, which shall be conducted in a manner designed to comply with section 503 of ERISA:

1. With respect to a RAYSIP account, claims should be filed by a claimant as soon as practicable after he/she knows or should know that a dispute has arisen with respect to an account, but at least 30 days prior to the claimant's actual retirement date or, if applicable, within 60 days after the death, disability or severance from service of the participant whose account is at issue. Claims should be mailed to:
*Fidelity Institutional Retirement Services Company
 Raytheon Claims & Appeals Unit
 P.O. Box 770003
 Cincinnati, OH 45277-1060*
2. In the event a claim is wholly or partially denied by the claims administrator, the administrator will respond in writing within 90 days following receipt of the claim. The letter will include:
 - a. The specific reason(s) for the denial;
 - b. Specific reference to pertinent plan provisions on which the denial is based;
 - c. A description of any additional material or information necessary for the claimant to perfect the claim;
 - d. An explanation as to why such material or information is necessary; and
 - e. An explanation of the plan's claim review procedure.
3. A claimant who wishes to appeal a denial should file a request for review by a Benefit Appeals Committee (BAC) within 60 days following receipt of the denial of a claim. The appeal should be mailed to:
*Benefit Appeals Committee
 c/o Fidelity Institutional Retirement Services Company
 Raytheon Claims & Appeals Unit
 P.O. Box 770003
 Cincinnati, OH 45277-1060*
Members of the BAC will be appointed by the chief human resources officer of Raytheon Technologies, or his or her delegate. Neither the person who made the initial adverse determination nor a subordinate of this person will be appointed to the BAC.
4. Within 30 days of receipt of a request for review, the BAC will hear the case. The claimant will have the opportunity to review pertinent documents and to submit issues and comments in writing. Within a reasonable amount of time following BAC's consideration of the claimant's position, typically not to exceed 30 days, the BAC will inform the claimant in writing of the decision. The letter will include the reasons for the decision and will cite pertinent provisions in the plan.

Except as otherwise outlined above, the plan administrator is the fiduciary to whom the plan grants full discretion, with the advice of counsel, to interpret the plan; to determine whether a claimant is eligible for benefits; to decide the amount, form and timing of benefits; and to resolve any other matter under the plan that a claimant raises or the administrator identifies. All questions arising from or in connection with the provisions of the plan and its administration, not herein provided to be determined by the Board of Directors, shall be determined by the administrator, and any determination made will be conclusive and binding upon all persons affected thereby.

Exhaustion of Plan Remedies and Limitation of Action

No action at law or in equity may be brought to recover benefits under the plan unless and until the claims review procedures outlined above have been complied with and exhausted.

In addition, no action at law or in equity may be brought to recover benefits under the plan unless such action is brought within one year after the date the participant's initial claim for benefits or, if later, appeal of an adverse benefit determination, is denied by the BAC or deemed denied.

In the case of RAYSIP, any such action may be brought only in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts, Boston Division.

Coordination of Benefits

The company's benefit plans include non-duplication coordination of benefits (COB) provisions, under which payments from a company-sponsored plan may be reduced due to other coverage. Certain COB rules are described below. Check with your plan carrier for more detailed information about COB.

When You Are Covered by More than One Plan

If you're covered under another plan (for example, if you're covered as a dependent under your spouse's medical or dental plan), that plan's benefits will be coordinated with the benefits provided under your company-sponsored plan. The intent is to allow you to receive the maximum payments to which you're entitled—without overpaying you.

If you and/or your covered dependents are in another plan with a COB provision, rules have been established to determine which plan is "primary"—meaning that plan will pay first. Then, if the other plan has a COB provision, the other plan will pay the difference, up to plan limits and customary amounts for that procedure or service (but no more than would have been paid if there was no other coverage). Usually, the plan that covers a person as an employee is primary for that person.

Birthday Rule

If both you and your spouse have family coverage and one of your dependent children incurs eligible expenses, the plan of the parent whose birthday (month and day—but not year) falls earlier in the year will be primary. For example, if your birthday is April 2, 1972, and your spouse's birthday is April 1, 1974, your spouse's plan will pay first. (If you and your spouse have the same birthday, the plan of the person who has had plan coverage for the longer time will be primary. Questions? Contact your plan carrier.)

For dependents of divorced or separated parents with coverage under two or more plans, the primary plan will be determined in the following order (unless stated otherwise by a divorce decree):

- The plan of the parent with a court order setting responsibility for health care expenses;
- The plan of the parent with custody of the child;
- The plan of the spouse of the parent with custody of the child;
- The plan of the parent not having custody of the child; and
- The plan of the spouse of the parent not having custody.

A plan without a COB provision will always be the primary plan.

You should first submit your claim to the primary plan. Once you receive an Explanation of Benefits (EOB) statement from the primary plan, any remaining expenses should be sent to the secondary plan for consideration.

The primary plan for dependent children is determined by the birthday rule—the plan of the parent whose birthday falls earlier in the year pays first.

DETERMINING WHICH PLAN IS PRIMARY

Note that in all cases, for purposes of COB, an allowable expense is a health care expense that is covered by one of your health plans (at least in part).

When a Covered Person Is Receiving COBRA Continuation Coverage Under a Company-Sponsored Plan or Another Plan

If you are receiving COBRA continuation coverage—whether through a company-sponsored plan or another plan—and also have active employee medical coverage elsewhere, such as through your spouse's employer, your coverage with the active plan is primary and your COBRA coverage is secondary.

When a Covered Person Qualifies for Medicare

As permitted by law, in most cases, your company-sponsored medical plan will pay benefits secondary to Medicare when you become eligible for Medicare, even if you don't elect it.

There are, however, Medicare-eligible individuals for whom the company-sponsored medical plan pays benefits first and Medicare pays benefits second:

Raytheon Benefit Center
<https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com>
 800-358-1231

DETERMINING WHICH PLAN IS PRIMARY (continued)

- Employees with active current employment status age 65 or older and their spouses age 65 or older (domestic partners are excluded as provided by Medicare);
- Individuals with end-stage renal disease, for a limited period of time; and
- Disabled individuals under age 65 with current employment status and their dependents under age 65.

For additional information about how your active coverage coordinates payment of allowable expenses with COBRA or Medicare, contact your plan carrier.

Coordination with Other Types of Coverage

In addition to coordinating benefits with other group insurance plans, the plans will coordinate with "Personal Injury Protection" (PIP) (no-fault) coverage, and provisions of any motor vehicle or homeowner's policy covering hospital, medical, dental or other health care expenses. In all cases, the other coverage is primary.

If your coverage is with UHC and you are involved in an automobile accident in a no-fault state, UHC will send you a notice stating that you are required to complete a PIP summary payout sheet, which shows that maximum benefits under auto insurance have been paid. You must complete the PIP summary payout sheet and return it to UHC within 45 days of the date on the notice. If this information is not received within 45 days of the date on your notice, UHC will deny the claim(s).

If you're covered by more than one plan and need assistance determining which plan should receive bills first, contact your plan carrier.

Subrogation and Recoveries (All Plans Except UHC)Claims Against Others

A participant or beneficiary who recovers from a third party, whether through voluntary payment, settlement or a court action, and without regard to the characterization of such recovery for pain and suffering, mental anguish, punitive damages, or any other basis for recovery, is obligated to repay the plan for amounts paid to or on behalf of the participant or beneficiary for claims (including, for example, claims for disability or lost wages) or for treatment of an injury or illness resulting from the wrongful conduct of the third party. In addition, the plan will be subrogated to, and have a lien against, all of the rights of the participant or beneficiary to any recovery.

The plan's right to recovery is not limited by the application of any "make whole" theory and the amount thereof is not limited or reduced because the third party is found to be liable only in part, because the third party's resources are limited, or for any other reason.

You (and your dependents, or, if you are not legally competent, your legal representative) must inform the plan administrator when it appears that a third party is or may be liable for any condition for which covered services or benefits are provided. If requested to do so, you must complete and sign the applicable subrogation form from the plan before any benefits will be paid under that plan. You and your dependents must cooperate with the claims administrator and the plan administrator in the filing and processing of any and all claims you have from time to time.

At the plan's request, you and your dependents must take such action, furnish such information and assistance, and execute such documents as the claims administrator and the plan administrator may require to facilitate enforcement of the plan's rights. If you fail to do so, the plan will be entitled to deny your claim or any portion thereof. You and your dependents:

- Must do nothing after acceptance of benefits under the plan to prejudice the subrogation rights of the plan;

- Must not release any third party from any liability without the consent of the claims administrator or the plan administrator; and
- Must notify any third party and any other individual or entity acting on behalf of the third party of the plan's right to reimbursement.

If you or any of your dependents fail to cooperate with the claims administrator and the plan administrator and to satisfy your obligations under this provision, the applicable administrator may deny the claim or any portion thereof, and your coverage under the plan may be terminated.

If you or your dependent (or any trust established on behalf of you or your dependent) receives money from any third party in connection with a claim that implicates the plan's recovery rights, regardless of the characterization of the payment, you, your dependent or the trust shall hold such money in trust for the plan to the extent of the plan's recovery rights. The plan's rights shall not be affected by a release of any third party entered into without the consent of the plan administrator or by a judgment obtained in litigation in which the plan is not joined as a party. The plan may take any and all actions necessary or convenient to enforce its recovery rights.

Additional Rights of Recovery for Overpayments or Mistaken Payments

All company-sponsored health and welfare plans also have the right to recover benefits it has paid on your or your dependent's behalf that were:

- Made in error;
- Made due to a mistake in fact;
- Advanced during the time period of meeting the calendar-year deductible; or
- Advanced during the time period of meeting the calendar-year out-of-pocket maximum.

Benefits paid because you or your dependent misrepresented facts are also subject to recovery.

If the plan provides a benefit for you or your dependent that exceeds the amount that should have been paid, the plan will:

- Require that the overpayment be returned when requested; or
- Reduce a future benefit payment for you or your dependent by the amount of the overpayment.

Subrogation and Reimbursement (UHC)

The plan has a right to subrogation and reimbursement. Unless otherwise stated, references to "you" or "your" in this Subrogation and Reimbursement section include you, your estate and your heirs and beneficiaries.

Subrogation applies when the plan has paid benefits on your behalf for a sickness or injury for which any third party is allegedly responsible. The right to subrogation means that the plan is substituted to and shall succeed to any and all legal claims that you may be entitled to pursue against any third party for the benefits that the plan has paid that are related to the sickness or injury for which any third party is considered responsible.

SUBROGATION, AN EXAMPLE

Suppose you are injured in a car accident that is not your fault, and you receive benefits under the plan to treat your injuries. Under subrogation, the plan has the right to take legal action in your name against the driver who caused the accident and that driver's insurance carrier to recover the cost of those benefits.

This section describes the subrogation process for UHC. For information related to Kaiser Permanente, see the plan's Evidence of Coverage booklet.

The right to reimbursement means that if it is alleged that any third party caused or is responsible for a sickness or injury for which you receive a settlement, judgment or other recovery from any third party, you must use those proceeds to fully return to the plan 100% of any benefits you receive for that sickness or injury. The right of reimbursement shall apply to any benefits received at any time until the rights are extinguished, resolved or waived in writing.

REIMBURSEMENT, AN EXAMPLE

Suppose you are injured in a boating accident that is not your fault, and you receive benefits under the plan as a result of your injuries. In addition, you receive a settlement in a court proceeding from the individual who caused the accident. You must use the settlement funds to return to the plan 100% of any benefits you received to treat your injuries.

The following persons and entities are considered third parties:

- A person or entity alleged to have caused you to suffer a sickness, injury or damages, or who is legally responsible for the sickness, injury or damages.
- Any insurer or other indemnifier of any person or entity alleged to have caused or who caused the sickness, injury or damages.
- The plan sponsor in a workers' compensation case or other matter alleging liability.
- Any person or entity who is or may be obligated to provide benefits or payments to you, including benefits or payments for underinsured or uninsured motorist protection, no-fault or traditional auto insurance, medical payment coverage (auto, homeowners or otherwise), workers' compensation coverage, other insurance carriers or third party administrators.
- Any person or entity against whom you may have any claim for professional and/or legal malpractice arising out of or connected to a sickness or injury you allege or could have alleged were the responsibility of any third party.
- Any person or entity that is liable for payment to you on any equitable or legal liability theory.

You agree as follows:

- You will cooperate with the plan in protecting its legal and equitable rights to subrogation and reimbursement in a timely manner, including, but not limited to:
 - Notifying the plan, in writing, of any potential legal claim(s) you may have against any third party for acts which caused benefits to be paid or become payable.
 - Providing any relevant information requested by the plan.
 - Signing and/or delivering such documents as the plan or its agents reasonably request to secure the subrogation and reimbursement claim.
 - Responding to requests for information about any accident or injuries.
 - Making court appearances.
 - Obtaining the plan's consent or its agents' consent before releasing any party from liability or payment of medical expenses.
 - Complying with the terms of this section.

Your failure to cooperate with the plan is considered a breach of contract. As such, the plan has the right to terminate your benefits, deny future benefits, take legal action against you, and/or set off from any future benefits the value of benefits the plan has paid relating to any sickness or injury alleged to have been caused or caused by any third party to the extent not recovered by the plan due to you or your representative not cooperating with the plan. If the plan incurs attorneys' fees and costs in order to collect third-party settlement funds held by you or your representative, the plan has the right to recover those fees and costs from you. You will also be required to pay interest on any amounts you hold which should have been returned to the plan.

- The plan has a first priority right to receive payment on any claim against any third party before you receive payment from that third party. Further, the plan's first priority right to payment is superior to any and all claims, debts or liens asserted by any medical providers, including but not limited to hospitals or emergency treatment facilities, that assert a right to payment from funds payable from or recovered from an allegedly responsible third party and/or insurance carrier.
- The plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights apply to full and partial settlements, judgments, or other recoveries paid or payable to you or your representative, your estate, your heirs and beneficiaries, no matter how those proceeds are captioned or characterized. Payments include, but are not limited to, economic, non-economic, pecuniary, consortium and punitive damages. The plan is not required to help you to pursue your claim for damages or personal injuries and no amount of associated costs, including attorneys' fees, shall be deducted from the plan's recovery without the plan's express written consent. No so-called "Fund Doctrine" or "Common Fund Doctrine" or "Attorney's Fund Doctrine" shall defeat this right.
- Regardless of whether you have been fully compensated or made whole, the plan may collect from you the proceeds of any full or partial recovery that you or your legal representative obtain, whether in the form of a settlement (either before or after any determination of liability) or judgment, no matter how those proceeds are captioned or characterized. Proceeds from which the plan may collect include, but are not limited to, economic, non-economic, and punitive damages. No "collateral source" rule, any "Made-Whole Doctrine" or "Make-Whole Doctrine," claim of unjust enrichment, nor any other equitable limitation shall limit the plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights.
- Benefits paid by the plan may also be considered to be benefits advanced.
- If you receive any payment from any party as a result of sickness or injury, and the plan alleges some or all of those funds are due and owed to the plan, you and/or your representative shall hold those funds in trust, either in a separate bank account in your name or in your representative's trust account.
- By participating in and accepting benefits from the plan, you agree that:
 - Any amounts recovered by you from any third party shall constitute plan assets to the extent of the amount of plan benefits provided on behalf of the covered person,
 - You and your representative shall be fiduciaries of the plan (within the meaning of ERISA) with respect to such amounts, and
 - You shall be liable for and agree to pay any costs and fees (including reasonable attorney fees) incurred by the plan to enforce its reimbursement rights.
- The plan's rights to recovery will not be reduced due to your own negligence.
- By participating in and accepting benefits from the plan, you agree to assign to the plan any benefits, claims or rights of recovery you have under any automobile policy—including no-fault benefits, personal insurance protection/personal injury protection (PIP) benefits and/or medical payment benefits—other coverage or against any third party, to the full extent of the benefits the plan has paid for the sickness or injury. By agreeing to provide this assignment in exchange for participating in and accepting benefits, you acknowledge and recognize the plan's right to assert, pursue and recover on any such claim, whether or not you choose to pursue the claim, and you agree to this assignment voluntarily.
- The plan may, at its option, take necessary and appropriate action to preserve its rights under these provisions, including but not limited to, providing or exchanging medical payment information with an insurer, the insurer's legal representative or other third party; filing an ERISA reimbursement lawsuit to recover the full amount of medical benefits you receive for the sickness or injury out of any settlement, judgment or other recovery from any third party considered responsible and filing suit in your name or your estate's name, which does not obligate the plan in any way to pay you part of any recovery the plan might obtain. Any ERISA reimbursement lawsuit stemming from a refusal to refund benefits as required under the terms of the plan is governed by a six-year statute of limitations.

- You may not accept any settlement that does not fully reimburse the plan, without its written approval.
- The plan has the authority and discretion to resolve all disputes regarding the interpretation of the language stated herein.
- In the case of your death, giving rise to any wrongful death or survival claim, the provisions of this section apply to your estate, the personal representative of your estate, and your heirs or beneficiaries. In the case of your death, the plan's right of reimbursement and right of subrogation shall apply if a claim can be brought on behalf of you or your estate that can include a claim for past medical expenses or damages. The obligation to reimburse the plan is not extinguished by a release of claims or settlement agreement of any kind.
- No allocation of damages, settlement funds or any other recovery, by you, your estate, the personal representative of your estate, your heirs, your beneficiaries or any other person or party, shall be valid if it does not reimburse the plan for 100% of its interest unless the plan provides written consent to the allocation.
- The provisions of this section apply to the parents, guardian, or other representative of a dependent child who incurs a sickness or injury caused by any third party. If a parent or guardian may bring a claim for damages arising out of a minor's sickness or injury, the terms of this subrogation and reimbursement clause shall apply to that claim.
- If any third party causes or is alleged to have caused you to suffer a sickness or injury while you are covered under this plan, the provisions of this section continue to apply, even after you are no longer covered.
- In the event that you do not abide by the terms of the plan pertaining to reimbursement, the plan may terminate benefits to you, your dependents or the employee, deny future benefits, take legal action against you, and/or set off from any future benefits the value of benefits the plan has paid relating to any sickness or injury alleged to have been caused or caused by any third party to the extent not recovered by the plan due to your failure to abide by the terms of the plan. If the plan incurs attorneys' fees and costs in order to collect third party settlement funds held by you or your representative, the plan has the right to recover those fees and costs from you. You will also be required to pay interest on any amounts you hold which should have been returned to the plan.
- The plan and all administrators administering the terms and conditions of the plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights have such powers and duties as are necessary to discharge its duties and functions, including the exercise of its discretionary authority to:
 - Construe and enforce the terms of the plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights, and
 - Make determinations with respect to the subrogation amounts and reimbursements owed to the plan.

Right of Recovery

The plan also has the right to recover benefits it has paid on you or your dependent's behalf that were:

- Made in error.
- Due to a mistake in fact.
- Advanced during the time period of meeting the calendar-year deductible; or
- Advanced during the time period of meeting the out-of-pocket maximum for the calendar year.

Benefits paid because you or your dependent misrepresented facts are also subject to recovery.

If the plan provides a benefit for you or your dependent that exceeds the amount that should have been paid, the plan will:

- Require that the overpayment be returned when requested.
- Reduce a future benefit payment for you or your dependent by the amount of the overpayment.

If the plan provides an advancement of benefits to you or your dependent during the time period of meeting the deductible and/or meeting the out-of-pocket maximum for the calendar year, the plan will send you or your dependent a monthly statement identifying the amount you owe with payment instructions. The plan has the right to recover benefits it has advanced by:

- Submitting a reminder letter to you or a covered dependent that details any outstanding balance owed to the plan.
- Conducting courtesy calls to you or a covered dependent to discuss any outstanding balance owed to the plan.

Your Rights under ERISA

As a participant in the benefit plans of legacy Raytheon Company that are subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as amended, you are entitled to certain rights and protections. ERISA provides that all plan participants are entitled to:

Receive Information about Your Plan and Benefits

- Examine, without charge, at the plan administrator's office and at other specified locations, such as worksites and union halls, all documents governing the plan, including insurance contracts and collective bargaining agreements and a copy of the latest annual report (Form 5500 series) filed by the plan with the U.S. Department of Labor and available at the Public Disclosure Room of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.
- Obtain, upon written request to the plan administrator, copies of documents governing the operation of the plan, including insurance contracts, collective bargaining agreements and copies of the latest annual report (Form 5500 series) and updated summary plan description. The administrator may make a reasonable charge for the copies.
- Receive a summary of the plan's annual financial report. The plan administrator is required by law to furnish each participant with a copy of this summary annual report.
- With respect to the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP), you are entitled to obtain a statement that shows the value of your contributions to your account, including any investment earnings on those contributions. At any time, you can see the current value and vested status of your account online through Fidelity NetBenefits® at www.netbenefits.com/raytheon. Quarterly statements of your account also contain this information, and are available at NetBenefits or will be mailed to you if you have chosen not to receive them through NetBenefits. The plan must provide these statements free of charge.

Continue Group Health Plan Coverage

With respect to any group health plan, continue health care coverage for yourself and/or your spouse or dependents if there is a loss of coverage under the plan as a result of a qualifying event. You or your dependents may have to pay for such coverage. Review this summary plan description and the documents governing the plan on the rules governing your COBRA continuation coverage rights.

The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) provides you with certain rights and protections for benefits offered by the company.

Prudent Actions by Plan Fiduciaries

In addition to creating rights for plan participants, ERISA imposes duties upon the people who are responsible for the operation of the employee benefit plans. The people who operate your plans, called fiduciaries of the plans, have a duty to do so prudently and in the interest of you and other plan participants and beneficiaries. No one, including your employer, your union or any other person, may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a pension or welfare benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA.

Enforce Your Rights

If your claim for a pension or welfare benefit is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you have a right to know why this was done, to obtain copies of documents relating to the decision without charge and to appeal any denial, all within certain time schedules.

Under ERISA, there are steps you can take to enforce these rights. For instance, if you request a copy of plan documents or the latest annual report from a plan and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in a federal court. In such a case, the court may require the plan administrator to provide the materials and pay you a fine that accrues on a daily basis (based on amounts set by the Department of Labor, and subject to a cap) from the time the materials were due to you until you receive the materials, unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the control of the administrator. If you have a claim for benefits that is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or federal court.

In addition, if you disagree with the plan's decision or lack thereof concerning the qualified status of a domestic relations order or a medical child support order, you may file suit in federal court.

If it should happen that plan fiduciaries misuse a plan's money or if you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in a federal court. The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you have sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees, for example, if it finds your claim is frivolous.

Assistance with Your Questions

If you have any questions about the plans, you should contact the plan administrator. If you have any questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, or if you need assistance in obtaining documents from the plan administrator, you should contact the nearest office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory, or the:

Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries

Washington, DC 20210

You may also obtain certain publications about your rights and responsibilities under ERISA by calling the publications hotline of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.

ERISA also requires companies to disclose the following detailed information so that it is available for your reference:

Your Rights under HIPAA

Medical Coverage

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) is a federal law that requires health plans to protect the confidentiality of your private health information, and to make it easier for you and your family members to have continued medical coverage when changing from one employer to another.

Non-Discrimination Rules

Under HIPAA, no medical plan can have enrollment rules based on health factors. This means that a health plan cannot require evidence of insurability (proof of good health) and cannot exclude individuals who cannot pass a physical exam (including late enrollees).

Special Enrollment Opportunities

If you decline company-sponsored coverage for yourself or your eligible family members because of other medical or vision insurance coverage, you may be able to enroll yourself and/or your dependents in a company-sponsored medical or vision plan, or change your medical or vision plan election in the future, provided that you request enrollment within 31 days of when your other coverage ends.

This special enrollment right is available only if one of the following conditions is met:

- You or a family member becomes ineligible for coverage under another employer's medical or vision plan or other medical or vision insurance;
- An employer's contributions for the other coverage stop; or
- In the case of COBRA coverage (excluding the company's COBRA plans), because the maximum COBRA period has expired.

As with the scenario above, if you are on company-sponsored coverage and one of the above conditions is met, you will have the opportunity to drop your company-sponsored coverage. If you are enrolling in benefits coverage elsewhere, check the other plan administrator's rules regarding special enrollment opportunities.

In addition, if you or a dependent gains or loses eligibility for Medicaid, Medicare or a state children's health plan, or if you or a dependent becomes eligible or ineligible for state assistance for coverage under the plan, you may be able to enroll or end coverage for yourself or your dependents, provided you request enrollment within 31 days of the date eligibility was gained or lost or within 60 days in the case of a Medicaid or state assistance event.

You also have a special enrollment opportunity if:

- You marry; or
- You or your spouse acquires a dependent through your marriage or the birth, adoption or placement for adoption of the dependent.

Privacy Rights

HIPAA also requires that health plans protect the confidentiality of your private health information. A complete description of your rights under HIPAA's privacy rules can be found in the HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices for Protected Health Information, which is available on Desktop Benefits at <https://raytheon.benefitcenter.com> (click on the link to Notice of Privacy Practices under My Resources in the Other Benefits section) or by calling the RBC at 800-358-1231.

The Health Benefits Plan will not use or further disclose information that is protected by HIPAA ("protected health information") except as necessary for treatment, payment, health plan operations and plan administration, or as permitted or required by law. By law, the plan has required all of its business associates to also observe HIPAA's privacy rules. In particular, the plan will not, without authorization, use or disclose protected health information for employment-related actions and decisions or in connection with any other benefit or employee benefit plan of the plan sponsor.

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) requires that health plans protect the confidentiality of your private health information.

Under HIPAA, you have certain rights with respect to your protected health information, including certain rights to see and copy the information, receive an accounting of certain disclosures of the information and, under certain circumstances, amend the information. You also have the right to file a complaint with the plan or with the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services if you believe your rights under HIPAA have been violated.

If you have any questions about the privacy of your health information or wish to file a complaint under HIPAA, contact:

HIPAA Privacy Officer

Your Rights under FMLA

The Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA) allows eligible employees in the United States to take up to 12 weeks (or more if required by state law or otherwise noted) of unpaid leave in a rolling 12-month period for certain family or medical reasons, including:

- The birth of a child;
- The placement of a child with you for adoption or foster care;
- The treatment of a serious health condition for yourself;
- The care of your child, your spouse, your same-sex domestic partner or your parent with a serious health condition;
- For any qualifying exigency that arises from your child's, spouse's or parent's active duty in the armed forces as a member of the National Guard or Reserves, including an order or call to duty. (For more information, contact your Human Resources representative); or
- An eligible employee who is the spouse, child, parent or next of kin of a current member of the armed forces who has a serious injury or illness incurred in the line of duty while on active duty is allowed to take up to 26 workweeks, in a single 12-month period, to care for such a service member. (Note that 26 workweeks is a maximum leave entitlement that would include FMLA leave taken for other reasons, within the 12-week limit for such other reasons.)

A serious health condition is any injury, illness or impairment that requires:

- Inpatient care in a hospital, hospice or residential medical facility; or
- Continuing care by a physician that consists of two or more visits or continuing treatments.

Provided there are at least 50 employees within a 75-mile radius of your worksite, you are eligible for FMLA leave if you are a part- or full-time employee who has:

- Been with the company for at least one year; and
- Worked at least 1,250 hours in the previous 12 months.

When the need for your leave is foreseeable, you must ordinarily provide the company with 30 days of advance notice of your need to take FMLA leave. The company may require medical certification of the need for a leave due to a serious medical condition and may request a second and third opinion, at the company's expense. A "fitness for duty" report might also be requested before you return to work.

During your FMLA leave, you are entitled to the following benefits:

- The company must maintain your group health plan coverage on the same conditions as coverage would be provided if you had been continuously employed during the entire period of your leave.
- You are entitled to new or changed group health plan coverage on the same basis as if you were not on leave.
- You must be given notice of any opportunity to change your group health plan coverage.

The FMLA policy applies to all employees who are based in the United States or in a U.S. territory or possession, including employees in any business or subsidiary company. More information is available on oneRTN.

- If you do not retain your group health plan coverage during your leave, you are entitled to have coverage reinstated when you return from leave, without any requirements to requalify, such as any waiting period, physical examination or pre-existing condition exclusion.

Paying for Continued Coverage

During your FMLA leave, you must continue to pay for your coverage. If, while you are on FMLA leave, premiums are raised or lowered, you will be required to pay the new premium rates.

If you fail to return at the end of an unpaid FMLA leave, the company may recover premiums it paid for the cost of your coverage during the unpaid portion of that leave. The amount the company may recover would be limited to only the company's share of the allowable premiums as would be calculated under COBRA, less the 2% administrative fee. If permitted by applicable federal or state laws, the company's recovery of premiums would be through deductions from any sums owed to you by the company. The company could also initiate legal action to recover premiums. The company cannot recover premiums it pays for the cost of your group health plan coverage during a paid leave.

When Coverage May End

The company's obligation to provide group health plan coverage ends upon the earliest of the following:

- You inform the company of your intent not to return to work from FMLA leave.
- You fail to return from FMLA leave and terminate your employment.
- You exhaust your FMLA entitlement.

If one of these events occurs, you would become eligible for continued coverage under COBRA (see Continued Coverage under COBRA earlier in this section).

Your Rights under USERRA

The company's leave policies comply with the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act of 1994 (USERRA). USERRA applies to persons who perform service voluntarily or involuntarily, in the uniformed services, including the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, Coast Guard and Public Health Service commissioned corps, as well as the reserve components of each of these services. Federal training or service in the Army National Guard and Air National Guard also gives rise to rights under USERRA. In addition, under the Public Health Security and Bioterrorism Response Act of 2002, certain disaster-response work (and authorized training for such work) is considered service in the uniformed services.

Uniformed service includes active and inactive duty for training (such as drills), initial active duty training and funeral honors duty performed by National Guard and reserve members, as well as the period for which a person is absent from a position of employment for the purpose of an examination to determine fitness to perform such duty.

Medical, Vision and Dental Coverage

If you perform service in the uniformed services for more than 30 days, you may continue medical, vision and/or dental coverage for yourself and your covered dependents while performing uniformed service. Continued coverage becomes effective on the date your military leave of absence begins. You are required to pay the full cost of your coverage, plus a 2% administrative fee.

Coverage Following Reemployment

If you have continued medical, vision and/or dental coverage under USERRA, you are eligible to receive coverage under the plan as a regular employee for yourself and your covered dependents, provided you return to work before your reemployment rights expire, based on your period of uniformed service. If your period of uniformed service was:

Once you know that you will be in uniformed service for more than 30 days, call the RBC at 800-358-1231 for more detailed information about your right to elect continued coverage under USERRA.

- Less than 31 days: You must return to work by the beginning of the first full regularly scheduled work period on the first full calendar day following the completion of service, plus the time required to return home safely and have an eight-hour rest period;
- At least 31 days but less than 181 days: You must return to work within 14 days of your release from uniformed service; or
- 181 days or more: You must return to work no later than 90 days after your release from uniformed service.

Upon reemployment, you and your covered family members will not be required to complete any waiting period.

When USERRA Coverage Ends

Your continued coverage under USERRA ends on the earliest of the following dates:

- The last day of the 24-month period beginning on the effective date of your military leave of absence;
- The date you fail to make a required USERRA premium payment; or
- The date your reemployment rights expire.

RAYSIP

If you take an authorized military leave of absence, you may choose to continue to have RAYSIP contributions deducted from the pay you receive from the company during your military service. Whether or not you choose to continue your RAYSIP deductions during your leave, you may make up the missed RAYSIP contributions, if eligible, within a certain timeframe after you return to active employment with the company.

In all cases, your RAYSIP contributions are based on the full compensation you would have earned from the company during your military leave. For more information about your rights under USERRA and the timeframe in which your makeup contributions must be made, call the Raytheon Savings and Investment Service Line at 800-354-3966.

Your Rights under HEART

RAYSIP

Under the Heroes Earnings Assistance and Relief Tax Act of 2008 (HEART), if you die or become disabled while performing qualified military service, you will receive RAYSIP benefits as if you had returned to active employment on the day before the date of your death or disability and then terminated your employment on the date of your death or disability.

Your Rights under NMHPA

Medical Coverage

Under the federal Newborns' and Mothers' Health Protection Act of 1996 (NMHPA), group medical plans, such as the Health Benefits Plan, and health insurance issuers offering group insurance coverage with maternity benefits generally may not, under federal law, restrict benefits for any hospital length of stay in connection with childbirth for the mother or newborn child to less than 48 hours following a normal vaginal delivery or less than 96 hours following a caesarean section. However, federal law generally does not prohibit the mother's or newborn's attending provider, after consulting with the mother, from discharging the mother or her newborn earlier than 48 hours (or 96 hours as applicable). In any case, plans and issuers may not, under federal law, require that a provider obtain authorization from the plan or the health insurance issuer for prescribing a length of stay not in excess of these periods.

Your Rights under WHCRA

Medical Coverage

The federal Women's Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998 (WHCRA) imposes certain requirements on group medical and health plans, such as the Health Benefits Plan, that provide medical and surgical benefits for mastectomies.

Under WHCRA, a participant in the Health Benefits Plan who elects breast reconstruction in connection with a mastectomy is entitled to coverage for the following services, in consultation with her attending physician:

- Reconstruction of the breast on which the mastectomy has been performed;
- Surgery and reconstruction of the other breast to provide a symmetrical appearance; and
- Prostheses and coverage of physical complications at all stages of the mastectomy.

Deductibles, coinsurance and/or copayments apply, consistent with other benefits under the plan. All other terms and conditions of the plan apply to this coverage.

Assignment of Benefits

The plans summarized in this document are used exclusively to provide benefits to you, and, in some cases, to your eligible dependents (including survivors, if you die). Except for a very limited right of assignment of life insurance benefits to family members and assignment of RAYSIP benefits under a qualified domestic relations order, generally neither you nor the company, nor anyone else can assign, transfer or attach your benefits or use them for collateral.

Qualified Domestic Relations Orders

Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan

Federal law generally prohibits assignment or attachment of your benefits from the Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP), except under a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO). A QDRO is a court order, issued in connection with a divorce or family support proceeding, which orders the plan to pay benefits to someone other than you. The company must obey these court orders, and any such payment will not violate the rule of non-assignability of benefits. A QDRO applies only to RAYSIP.

The plan administrator may be required to begin making payments from your RAYSIP account while you are still working. These payments could even exhaust the total value of your account. The plan administrator has no discretion in these matters.

The plan administrator has delegated QDRO administration to the Raytheon QDRO Benefit Center. Each domestic relations order attempting to attach assets in an ERISA plan must meet certain qualification requirements. The Raytheon QDRO Benefit Center reviews all domestic relations orders received by the plan to determine whether they are qualified under ERISA. You may obtain a copy of the procedures that the plan uses to govern determinations on whether a domestic relations order is a QDRO from the plan administrator, without charge.

For additional information, call the Raytheon QDRO Benefit Center at 888-823-6512.

Qualified Medical Child Support Orders

Medical Coverage

As required by law, the company's medical plans recognize qualified medical child support orders (QMCSOs). A QMCSO is a court order or an order issued by a state administrative agency under state law that requires an alternate recipient (for example, a child or stepchild) to be covered as a dependent under a plan participant's group health plan. Generally, a QMCSO is issued as part of a paternity or divorce settlement or other determination of child support obligation.

The company's medical plans honor QMCSOs that meet the legal requirements for such orders. It's important to note that a QMCSO cannot require a type or form of benefit or an option that is not currently available under the plan to which the order is directed.

A QMCSO must be filed with the plan administrator, who reviews it to decide if it meets the conditions of a legally qualified QMCSO. If it does, the alternate beneficiary is considered a beneficiary for the purposes of ERISA and is enrolled as a dependent of the employee. If the plan administrator receives a QMCSO relating to you, you will be notified and then informed of the decision if the QMCSO is qualified. You can obtain a copy of the plan's procedures governing QMCSO determinations from the plan administrator, without charge. QMCSOs should be filed with the:

Cherry Hill, NJ 08034-5243

Important Information about the Defined Contribution (401(k)) Plan

Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan

The Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP) is considered a defined contribution plan under ERISA. This plan provides you with an individual account.

If you participate in RAYSIP, you may make pre-tax, after-tax and/or Roth 401(k) contributions. The benefits you receive are determined by the amounts you contribute and any investment gains or losses less plan fees charged to your account. For a more detailed summary of RAYSIP features, see the RAYSIP section of this handbook.

All contributions to RAYSIP are held in trust and invested according to the terms of the plan documents. The trustee for the plan is:

Fidelity Management Trust Company
82 Devonshire Street, MM1M
Boston, MA 02129
800-354-3966 or 617-330-3050 (TDD# 800-847-0348)

Benefits under RAYSIP are not insured by the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (PBGC), because the PBGC does not insure benefits under defined contribution plans.

IRS Approval

The Raytheon Savings and Investment Plan (RAYSIP) was established as a qualified retirement plan and has received a favorable determination letter from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) with respect to its qualification.

The plan may change from time to time or be discontinued to comply with IRS regulations, any changes in the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) or any other applicable law or for any other reason. If material changes are made, you will be notified.

Plan Costs

Here is a summary of how each benefit plan described in this document is paid for:

- The company pays the full cost of your business travel accident (BTA) insurance. If you participate in an HSA Advantage plan, the company makes a contribution to your HSA.
- You pay the full cost of your medical coverage; vision coverage; dental coverage; employee optional life insurance; spouse optional life insurance; dependent children optional life insurance; accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) insurance; short-term disability (STD) coverage; long-term disability (LTD) coverage; occupational LTD coverage (if eligible) and employee contributions to RAYSIP. If you open an FSA(s), your account(s) are funded with your contributions. Lastly, if you enroll in any voluntary benefits—e.g., the group legal plan and/or auto/homeowners insurance—you pay the full cost of coverage.

Other Important Information

Right to Amend or Terminate Plans

The company reserves the right to amend or terminate any of the plans at any time. Such amendments or modifications may be retroactive to meet statutory requirements or for any other reason.

If RAYSIP were terminated, you would become fully vested in your account(s). The plan's assets would be divided among all participants as specified under ERISA. None of these assets could revert to the company or any subsidiary.

Each plan document describes the procedure for amending or terminating the plan.

- RAYSIP may be terminated by a vote of the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors or the Raytheon Technologies Pension Administration and Investment Committee, or its delegate, may amend the plan.
- The welfare plans may be amended or terminated by the Board of Directors or the Raytheon Technologies Pension Administration and Investment Committee or its delegate.
- The Raytheon Technologies Pension Administration and Investment Committee, or its delegate, has authority to adopt amendments to the benefit plans.

In contrast to decisions relating to administration of the plans, including the decision to grant or deny benefits, a decision to amend or terminate a plan is a business decision that can be made solely in the best interests of the company.

Discretionary Authority to Administer Plans

The plan administrator has authority to make decisions in connection with the administration of the plans (other than decisions regarding the payment of claims that are made by others acting as claims administrator, as described elsewhere in this section). In making those decisions, the plan administrator has full discretionary power to interpret the plan provisions and determine all relevant questions arising under the plans.

IMPORTANT NOTE

Your eligibility or your right to benefits under these plans should not be interpreted as a guarantee of employment. Participation in these plans does not interfere with the company's right to terminate your employment at any time, whether or not for cause, with or without notice.

Plan Directory

The Plan Directory lists the names and addresses of the companies that are involved in administering claims under the legacy Raytheon benefit plans and the extent to which benefits under a plan are guaranteed under a contract or policy of insurance issued by the issuer and the nature of any administrative services provided by the issuer.
